No director or officer of this corporation shall have any personal liability to the corporation or to any of the corporation stockholders for monetary damage for conduct as a director or officer; provided, however, that the elimination of personal liability of a director or officer shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director or officer for:

A. Any breach of the director's or officer's duty of loyalty to the corporation or stockholders;

Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Article, the corporation shall indemnify any director or officer made a party to any proceeding because the director or officer is or was a director or officer, against any liability incurred in the proceeding if

(b) the director or officer reasonably believed that the director's or officer's conduct was in the best interests of the corporation, or at least not opposed to its best interests; and

The termination of a proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent is not, of itself, determinative that the director or officer did not meet the standard of conduct described herein.

The corporation may not indemnify a director or officer:

(a) in connection with a proceeding by or in the right of the corporation in which the director or officer was adjudged liable to the corporation; or

The authority to indemnify as set forth in the Article is in accordance with the Oregon

Business Corporation Act. Provisions of this Article with regard to indemnification shall not be construed to limit the provisions of this Article eliminating the personal liability of a director or officer to the corporation or its stockholders for monetary damage for conduct as a director or officer, nor shall it limit in any way the right of the corporation to pay for or reimburse the reasonable expenses incurred by a director or officer who is a party to a proceeding, in advance of final disposition of the proceeding.
