Nurse Plus 24/7

The Corvallis Clinic Occupational Medicine's Nurse Plus 24/7 program offers a cost-effective solution for businesses' injury care needs. Through this program, a nurse trained in occupational medicine is available to assist your supervisors when an accident occurs any time of day or night.

Many area employers find Nurse Plus 24/7's professional service valuable. Businesses often leave supervisors with the responsibility of making medical decisions for injured workers. Employers and workers who are left on their own to work through the myriad phone calls, appointments and paperwork cost companies money and time. Sometimes workers are treated in emergency rooms when conservative Sometimes workers are treated in emergency rooms when conservative treatment may have been just as effective. And physicians who treat injured workers are not always aware of the significance of the OSHA 300 log for reporting injuries.

The Corvallis Police Department started using Nurse Plus 24/7 in 2008 and has seen results. Police supervisors and injured officers receive assurance from a trained nurse, even while they are still on the scene. "Our staff knows a knowledgeable, professional and trained person is ready to answer questions large and small when officers are injured or have fears of a blood-borne pathogen exposure," Capt. Jonathan Sassaman said. "The result is a better and more efficient way to get important information and assistance to our staff." He "absolutely recommends" NursePlus 24/7: "The immediate availability of a trained person who can assess injury and/or exposure while the event is unfolding has been priceless."

The Corvallis Clinic is a physician-led medical clinic dedicated to quality patient care and exceptional service. The Clinic is the largest multi-specialty medical group in the mid-Willamette Valley.
