409 SEN. BAKER: Refers to Section 21, on page 9 - could a nonunified elementary school district contract with a community college district to provide classes for their high school students?

158 SEN. TROW: Are there safeguards in place so instructors don't teach classes they are not prepared to teach?

GARST: Local school districts are concerned about that issue and would need proof someone is clearly competent in a particular area.

> Explains Rep. Milne and Rep. Luke want to eliminate specific reference to the CAM on line 4 in the -3 amendment. Also, remove the period on line 5.

> Will work with a Senate Judiciary work group on legislation stipulating community college instructors teaching at a high school go through the same criminal background check as high school teachers.

SEN. GOLD: Concerned by eliminating CAM it will leave out language related to college or university preparation.

GARST: Academic or professional/technical should encompass advanced level courses the high schools cannot provide.

> Further discussion on the language.

GARST: We have shared this language with them and have not heard from them.

> The issue arose from language in HB 3565.

SEN. TROW: What kind of qualifications do we want these community college people to have as they deal with an increasing number of high school students?

SEN. GOLD: Suggests "learning programs as outlined in ORS Chapter 329" so the language would be permissive.

SEN. TROW: Need to hear from TSPC on this issue.

SEN. BAKER: Role of community colleges is changing and there is a need for flexibility.

SEN. SHANNON: What is happening now works. The least we do is the best.
