RULE SUMMARY

ORS 809.605 requires DMV to adopt rules specifying which traffic offenses count for the purpose of determining that a person is a habitual offender under ORS 809.600(2). By administrative rule, those offenses are used to determine who qualifies for DMV's Driver Improvement programs, and whether a person has violated the terms of a hardship or probationary permit or has committed a serious traffic violation while operating a commercial motor vehicle. OAR 735-064-0220 specifies those traffic offense convictions DMV will use for the above described purposes.

OAR 735-072-0035 is used only in the Driver Improvement Programs and contains a list of traffic offenses where it takes five offenses listed to equal one driver improvement violation.

During the 2009 legislative session, several bills were enacted creating new traffic offenses or amending current traffic offense statutes, requiring changes in OAR 735-064-0220 and 735-072-0035 to implement these laws.

DMV further amended these two rules by listing convictions that involve all-terrain vehicles, motor assisted scooters, snowmobiles, equipment violations and local ordinances in OAR 735-072-0035. These convictions will no longer be used for determining a habitual offender revocation, hardship and probationary permit violations, or to describe a motor vehicle traffic control violation. Instead, these convictions will be listed in OAR 735-072-0035 to determine when a person has attained a driver improvement violation under both the Adult and Provisional Driver Improvement Programs. DMV removed any conviction that carries its own suspension or revocation of driving privileges sanction, e.g. failure to install or use an ignition interlock device. Other changes include moving repealed statutory references and obsolete ACD codes into new sections and listing offenses in alphabetical order.
