Why are Sentencing Guidelines needed?

Prior to 1977, Oregon had an indeterminate sentencing system in which judges imposed a sentence but the Parole Board had complete discretion to release an offender at any time within the sentence imposed. In 1977, as a result of a 1975 Governor's Task Force on Corrections, the Oregon Legislature adopted sweeping criminal justice changes.

One of these changes was the creation of the Parole Board release matrix to provide uniform terms of confinement for offenders, based on severity of offense and history of criminal activity. Control of the length of prison terms for offenders remained in the hands of the Parole Board, but release decisions were more consistent. Following the creation of the matrix, prison terms for offenders convicted of serious crimes against persons increased nearly 53% over the next six years.

Since 1977, judges have continued to control the decision to sentence offenders to state institutions. The Parole Board and the use of early release have become the system's release valves to alleviate the increased number of inmates.

During 1977, Oregon's prisons averaged a daily population of 2,926 inmates. When the population reached 3,196 in 1982, U.S. District Court Judge James Burns termed the crowded conditions "lunacy". Early in 1988, institutional capacity was exceeding 4,400 and prisoners were routinely released seven months early to relieve crowding.

The Department of Corrections and the Parole Board have tried every correctional management tool possible, from adjustments in the matrix to increases in early release, to manage offenders sent to state institutions. To accommodate even short lengths of prison stay for lesser offenders in our present crowded prison situation, more serious offenders must have their terms shortened. Until control is imposed at the "front end" of the sentencing system, standards for how offenders are to be dealt with cannot be set. Decisions about incarceration and release will continue to be made on a crisis basis.

Sentencing guidelines similar to those successfully operated in Minnesota and Washington offer Oregonians the best opportunity for effective control of correctional resources.

Legislative Purpose

In enacting law calling for development of the guidelines, the Oregon Legislature made the following formal findings:

- Within the present criminal justice system it is impossible to insure that the sentencing decisions of judges will result in reasonably uniform and proportional use of state and local correctional resources, and
- Decisions as to imprisonment and term of imprisonment must be made on a systematic basis that will maintain institutional populations within a level that the Legislative Assembly and the people are prepared to provide.

The Legislature declared the primary function of sentencing in Oregon to be:

- Appropriate punishment for each criminal offender, and
- Insuring security of the public in person and property.

In addition, the Legislature stated its intention to allow judges necessary discretion for appropriate sentencing in individual cases.

Legislative Assignment

The 1987 Oregon Legislature assigned the task of creating sentencing guidelines for commitment of felons to state institutions to the Oregon Criminal Justice Council. The Council was directed to design guidelines which control:

- commitment to state and local correctional facilities;
- terms of confinement;
- imposition and duration of parole and probation;
- standards for probation revocation.

Sentencing guidelines submitted to the 1989 Oregon Legislature will become law unless the Legislature acts to amend or repeal them. These guidelines become effective September 1, 1989 and apply to all offenses committed after that date.

Goals for the Guidelines

Based on Legislative directive, the sentencing guidelines are designed to accomplish the following goals:

- Assure that defendants with similar criminal histories convicted of similar offenses receive substantially similar penalties.
- Impose harsher sentences for serious personal and property offenders with lengthy criminal records.
- Reduce uneven use by counties of state incarceration space, so that counties are able to commit

SUBJECT: Sentencing Guidelines

DATE: July 19, 1988

As you know, the Criminal Justice Council is making great progress in its work on sentencing guidelines. The issues they will resolve include the length of sentence that should be imposed for each type of crime; which offenders should be sent to prison, which to county jail, and which should not be incarcerated at all; whether offenders should receive time off their sentences for good behavior, or for participation in a job or education program; how parole should work and whether the Parole Board should be retained; when probation or parole should be revoked; how the guidelines mechanism should be adjusted to keep pace with capacity; and whether additional prison capacity is needed.

These are issues that will have a very direct impact on the operations of Corrections in the future, and they will obviously draw a lot of attention from the legislature and the public. This being the case, you may well want a briefing on the Council's proposals before they become final. I suggest a small group (probably Hardy Meyers, Jack Beatty, Kathleen Bogan and one or two others) some time in the first part of August. Let me know if you're interested, and I'll set it up with Joan.

Jan Bargaen of the House Majority Office called regarding Carolyn Wood. She would like to get together with him while he's in her area on Labor Day weekend. However, they realize this may not be possible. She has another request: apparently Parks Div. did a study which showed big economic development potential in the Gorge due to windsurfing and the need to develop some water front camp/park sites. However, when their 20 Year Plan came out, the Gorge area was completely left out. Carolyn Wood would like a letter from the Gov. saying how this was a huge oversight, and he appreciates her bringing it to his attention, etc. She would probably want a photo opportunity with him at a later date.

I think this schedule is very tight. Probably too tight. Any reaction? Coos Bay won't really get going before 11:30, however, and I don't think Neil wants to be much later in The Dalles.

There is room for four plus pilot. At present, Irv is counting himself, Neil and Margie. One seat open, assuming we don't have security on board. Suggestions? Ted K? Legislator, and if so who? BOARD

July 13, 1988

The Honorable Neil Goldschmidt
Governor of Oregon
State Capitol
Salem, OR 97310

Dear Gov. Goldschmidt:

The past year has been an auspicious one in the Oregon wine industry -- Drouhin's purchase of land in our state, a 1987 harvest with a promising vintage that doubled its previous crush, exchanges with Burgundy and Bordeaux and notoriety of our premium wines in major metropolitan markets.

In past years, Oregon's governor has graciously proclaimed September as Oregon Wine Month. This year, we indeed have cause to celebrate our industry with Oregonians.

On behalf of the Oregon wine industry, I would like to request that you help us to kick-off Oregon Wine Month at the 1988 Oregon Wine Showcase on Sept. 6 in Portland.

Your official proclamation, the release of purple balloons representing our 70 licensed and bonded wineries and the presentation of Oregon wines to over 750 people from Oregon's retail and restaurant trade will be a fitting celebration to our successes and the support you personally give to our industry.

Showcase will be held at the Monarch Motor Hotel this year from 3 to 8 p.m. Your official duties would be brief -- 20 minutes or so -- and then you would be free to sample Oregon's best. If your busy schedule could allow an appearance between 4 and 6 p.m., we would be grateful.

Thank you for your consideration, and for your support of Oregon wines.

Louis Scherzer
Winner, ODDA Founder's Awards

Dear Louis,

As Governor and an old friend, I am pleased and proud to congratulate you for receiving one of the ODDA's first Founder's Awards.

I admire the Oregon Downtown Development Association for the many improvements that they have encouraged since 1983, but those improvements took place because of your enthusiastic financial creativity. You were the persuasive force to acquire monetary support of ODDA; your willingness to contribute your expertise for grants created an exchange that has profited all of us throughout Oregon. Downtown areas have begun to look more vital, which in turn generates optimism among the business community and downtown visitors.

As you have revived Oregon's downtowns, you have helped our economy in two ways. Initially, renovations and new buildings create more employment and the purchase of goods and services. When the renovations are completed, business interests continue to provide the same type of vitality to the economy.

Louis, I've seen your positive effect throughout Oregon. On behalf of many, I extend our gratitude for your enthusiasm and your ability to solve problems for our downtowns.

Once again, Louis, you have my warmest congratulations. I'm proud that you're a such a vital contributor to Oregon's economic recovery.

Winner, ODDA Founder's Award

Dear Bill,

As Governor and an old friend, I am pleased and proud to congratulate you for receiving one of the ODDA's first Founder's Awards.

The life you've brought back to downtown areas was inspired by the past as you helped to renovate historic buildings, thereby preserving their former vitality to function once again now and for the future. Your efforts allow us to appreciate the finest examples of older architecture. It seems especially appropriate that one of your projects now houses a museum, containing the past within the past.

Your work has a double impact upon the Portland economy. First, jobs and goods and services are required in renovations. Second, the renovated buildings house new business interests to continue enriching our economy.

Bill, I admire the energy you've generously contributed to the projects you've helped to complete in Portland. Your inspiration to others throughout Oregon has a positive cultural and economic impact upon all of us. On behalf of many, I extend our gratitude to your rare ability to express visions so practically and concretely.

Once again, Bill, my heartiest congratulations. I'm proud of your inspirations to the downtowns of Oregon.

GOVERNOR NEIL GOLDSCHMIDT TO PRESENT LOUIS SCHERZER AND BILL NAITO WITH 1988 ODDA FOUNDER'S AWARD

Wednesday, September 7
10:45am
Press Conference Room
Oregon State Capital Building
Salem, Oregon

On September 7, at the Oregon State Capital, Governor Neil Goldschmidt will present Bill Naito and Louis Scherzer with the Oregon Downtown Development Association (ODDA) 1988 Founder's Award. Naito and Scherzer will be honored for more than five years of relentless support of the Oregon Downtown Development Association and its mission to revitalize and maintain the heritage and economic health of Oregon's downtowns and older business districts.

In late 1982, Naito and Scherzer were two of the ODDA Founders who worked to establish the Oregon Downtown Development Association, in an attempt to address the growing decentralization of Oregon's communities and the deterioration of its downtown core areas.

Naito and Scherzer, through their continued support, both financially and in shared professional expertise, have helped ODDA help nearly 920 new businesses open in Oregon's downtowns. These businesses have created over 2,535 new permanent full-time jobs in towns like Albany, Grants Pass, Hillsboro, La Grande and Astoria. In addition, we've seen over 640 commercial buildings constructed or rehabilitated, representing a private investment of over $29 million in those same downtowns.

Naito and Scherzer continue to play active roles as ODDA Board of Advisors members, lending support and participating in numerous ODDA events including the recently completed five year planning process, in addition to their on-going corporate fundraising efforts for the organization.

Re: Oregon's Downtowns: A 5-Year Progress Report
Naito/Scherzer ODDA Founder's Award Presentation by Governor Neil Goldschmidt
ODDA 1988-89 Key Statewide Programs Kick-off

Are Oregon's Downtowns a part of the "Oregon Comeback" promised by Governor Neil Goldschmidt? Statistics compiled by the recently completed Oregon Downtown Development Association 5-Year Planning process says...Yes! The results are staggering...During the past 5 years, ODDA has helped nearly 920 new businesses open in Oregon's downtowns. These businesses have created over 2,535 new permanent full-time jobs in towns like Albany, Grants Pass, Hillsboro, La Grande and Astoria. In addition, we've seen over 640 commercial buildings constructed or rehabilitated, representing a private investment of over $29 million in those same downtowns.

However, in the next five years Oregon's downtowns and older business districts will find it tougher to compete in the marketplace.

Apathy, competition from malls and mass merchandisers, lack of downtown management, crime, and reluctant property owners are but a few of the problems facing Oregon downtowns in the 1990's.

The Nation's Seventh Main Street State

Identifying these problems and addressing current and future needs of Oregon's downtowns has been the mission of the Oregon Downtown Development Association's 5-Year Planning Task Force, that recently concluded its assessment/planning work.

5-Year Planning participants determined that "Key Factors" driving Oregon's downtowns into the 1990's are the need for convenience, quality, service, niche marketing, quality of environment, and a ever increasing aging population.

The Oregon Downtown Development Association, after careful review of the data produced by the 5-Year planning process, has developed a 1988-93 5-Year strategic plan and has targeted seven key ODDA service programs to be implemented in 1988-89. These key programs are:

Statewide Downtown Business Recruitment, Advanced "Main Street Approach" Training, Downtown Assessment Teams, Retail Standards Agreements, Training Linkages, Regional Workshops, and last, a Small Towns Revitalization Program directed at communities with populations of 5,000 or less.

Yes, I asked Mike McCracken to notify the Commission members of this meeting. He knows this is an opportunity for the Commission to share their major concerns with the Governor. Mike will see if this is covered by the open meetings laws. Let Lana know place. I assume it is in the Guv's Conference Room.

July 30, 1988

Dear Bill:

This note was in my heart to say to you while we were together. Until we are together again - this letter will have to do.

You were good to my children; you cared for their State - its land, its workers, its promise of a good life - an independent and safe life for all.

Race, religion and station played no part in selection of the list of the eligible - for you, all human kind was automatically entitled - and for the least able to speak for themselves, you battled.

I shouldn't have been surprised about how you generously looked into my parents' welfare - for I saw you do the same for so many wonderful elders among us - most of all your mother, of course, special human that she is - but all around you were brought under your watchful protective view.

I'll miss your humor in the face of my intense full court pressing of requests for your help. I'll miss your helping me to be better - better prepared, better thought through, and better as Governor.

- If I could borrow your gentle persistent sense of purpose
- If I could perfectly imitate your civility
- If I could as willingly as you stand second for the just cause of friend or foe - I wouldn't miss you so much.

But miss you I do, friend - and miss you I will.

Until next session...

Love and thank you,

Neil Goldschmidt
Governor

Association of Oregon Faculty

In this meeting you might:

- Indicate an understanding that faculties across the country were one of the losers in the period of Great Inflation, losing real income, which has not been made up, and could not be made up in recession-bound Oregon (in spite of two legislative sessions);
- Note that successful recruiting and retention efforts over time will require improved compensation (a practical complement to the claims of equity);
- Observe that cries of "more pay for faculty" alone are not compelling to either the general public or to legislators: average income in Oregon, decline in blue collar jobs (forest products going like gangbusters with 17,000 fewer workers), "downsizing," give-backs, demands for greater productivity, "two economies" of Oregon, towns decimated, legislators' belief that higher ed "has had its turn";
- Make clear that the context requires some greater vision, some better case for higher ed be made than a cry for salaries in order to win public and legislative support;
- Outline the constraints imposed by revenue forecasts, budget and spending cap, noting desirability of dealing with corrections separately;
- Indicate that faculties' interest in helping to solve the other problems would be helpful and might open the door wider to the possibility of addressing faculties' concerns.

Roger will be present for this meeting. I will be meeting with OSU faculty and administrators in Newport.

Dear Mr. McCoy:

The Governor has asked me to thank you for inviting him to address the Association of Oregon faculties statewide annual meeting in May.

Governor Goldschmidt appreciates the opportunity you have extended to him. Unfortunately, due to the already heavy demands on his schedule at that time, he will be unable to accept your kind invitation.

I am holding your request to meet privately with the Governor until a time when it might be possible to schedule. I don't have a date in mind at this time due to the travelling he is now committed to do for the Children's Agenda.

Thank you again for writing. Please accept the Governor's best wishes for your statewide conference.

Sincerely,

Joan Smith

Dear Governor Goldschmidt:

During our last meeting, I was buoyed by your willingness to listen to the concerns of Oregon faculty and especially your final remark "Let's meet again." The commitment and need to continue our dialogue concerning the direction of higher education is certainly welcome and justified.

You are moving quickly to establish a structure and direction for the State System that attempts to match your vision and philosophy as to what that system should be. As you move in that direction, I would welcome another opportunity to meet with you privately to discuss how AOF can assist in those efforts.

For your information we are making considerable progress in developing data as to the future shortages of faculty due to retirement as we discussed. In addition, Mark and I heard very clearly your direction concerning the need for pro higher education legislators. We are working to that end and would like to also share those thoughts with you.

In our meeting I candidly expressed that there was confusion and concern on Oregon campuses relative to your plans for higher education. At that time I offered AOF assistance in communicating and addressing those concerns to Oregon's faculty. As you know, that same, or even greater, level of confusion and concern persists today.

You and I can accomplish many things in private talks, and I hope those will continue. I do believe there is an urgent need for a discussion with general rank and file faculty both on individual campuses and in a statewide faculty forum. I understand you may be visiting several smaller campuses as you complete your initial budget meetings.

AOF would like to invite you to address its statewide annual meeting this April or May. The agenda is being left

Dear Ms. Smith:

As a follow up to our conversation of Monday, August 22nd, please be advised that the meeting arranged by International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (I.L.W.U.) President Jim Herman with Governor Neil Goldschmidt, has been confirmed for 3:30 P.M., Thursday, September 8, 1988. The meeting will be held at the Red Lion/City Center, on 4th and Lincoln in Southwest Portland. The meeting will convene in the "Aloha Room," on the second level.

Representing the I.L.W.U., consistent with our conversation of Monday, will be:

I.L.W.U. President Jim Herman
I.L.W.U. Vice-President Randy Vekich
I.L.W.U. Oregon Area International Representative Dick Wise
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Local 8 Longshore, Portland
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Oregon Area Local 40 Marine Clerks, Portland
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Oregon Area Local 92 Walking Bosses and Foremen, Portland
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Local 12 Longshore, Coos Bay
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Local 50 Longshore, Astoria
Two (2) representatives I.L.W.U. Local 53 Longshore, Newport

This will bring to approximately fifteen (15) the number of I.L.W.U. representatives who will be attending this meeting. At this point, we assume the Governor will have with him at least one aide and his driver. As such, we have made arrangements for a room that will accommodate between twenty (20) and twenty-five (25) people very comfortably. We have also arranged to have coffee, tea, soft drinks and some fruit and cookies available.

As to the subjects that we wish to discuss with the Governor, and which I agreed to convey to you, please be advised that they are as follows:

- (1) I.L.W.U. involvement in performing traditional and normal longshore work in loading and unloading ocean going ships and barges at facilities built on Port of Portland property.
  - (a) A discussion of the recently agreed to STC site in the Rivergate Industrial district.

- (2) I.L.W.U. involvement in performing traditional and normal longshore work in loading and unloading ocean going ships and barges at facilities built on State of Oregon property at Tongue Point in Clatsop County.
  - (a) Discussion of the proposed "Columbia-Astoria Rail Services" automobile import terminal at Tongue Point.
  - (b) Discussion of the proposed space rocket tower construction site, also at Tongue Point.
- (3) I.L.W.U. involvement in performing traditional and normal longshore work in loading and unloading ocean going ships and barges at facilities built on Port of Coos Bay property located on the area known as the "North Spit" in Coos County.
- (4) I.L.W.U. appointment to and participation on port commissions.
  - (a) Particularly, at this time, the Port of Portland.
- (5) Discussion of the log export question, which is extremely important to the I.L.W.U.

While other subjects may be discussed, these are the ones I believe are of primary concern to our 1200 plus members, and their families, working in Oregon seaports.

Assuming there are some subjects that Governor Goldschmidt would like to discuss with us, if you would please convey those topics to us at your earliest convenience, we will do our best to be prepared to respond on September 8th.

Should you or the Governor have any further questions that I may be able to help with, please do not hesitate to call me at 221-0342.

Oregon Commission on Uniform State Laws

December 11, 1987

Special Projects Assistant

Re: Requested Meeting with Governor Goldschmidt and the President of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws

Dear Governor Goldschmidt:

Currently, Oglesby Young, Win Calkins (whom you most recently reappointed), D. Joe Willis and Rupert Bullivant (a life member) are serving as Commissioners from the State of Oregon, and participate in the affairs of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws (NCCUSL). Your Commissioners would like to bring the Annual Meeting of the National Conference to Oregon. Towards that end, we request that the Governor of Oregon invite the President of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws to meet with you and the Oregon Commissioners at a mutually convenient time in early 1988.

We have done some advance work on this, and it is clear that the President of the National Conference (Mr. Michael Sullivan from Minneapolis, Minnesota) would attend the meeting. The advance work that we have done also makes us believe that a personal meeting with the Governor, which would include the official invitation to bring the Annual Meeting here, could help substantially in achieving our goal.

If we are successful in bringing the NCCUSL Annual Meeting here, it will be the first time in its long history that the Annual Meeting would be held in Oregon. The meeting is normally held in a major city somewhere near the location of the American Bar Association Convention. The ABA Convention is so large that only the very largest cities in the country can accommodate it. It is our hope and belief that if we can make the breakthrough and land the NCCUSL meeting here once, we can bring it back here repeatedly in future years.

Honorable Neil Goldschmidt
December 11, 1987
Page 2.

The NCCUSL consists of Commissioners and legislative counsel from all fifty states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the insular possessions of the United States. Many of these are the most accomplished legislative and legal leaders in the country. They are certainly the kinds of ambassadors we would like to have for the State of Oregon if we can once bring them here and show them what Oregon has to offer for a convention held in the summer. A convention of this nature would draw approximately 400 people to Oregon for ten days of meetings, as well as additional time they spend visiting the state. The Annual Meeting also has in attendance of anywhere from fifty to seventy-five or more reporters, advisors and lobbyists. The Annual Meeting has always enjoyed good media attention, and certainly would add to Oregon's efforts to promote convention trade.

If we can succeed in bringing this prestigious meeting to Oregon, it obviously would be of great benefit to the state.

We are dedicated to the effort to make this venture a success and we would urge your support and help in making it a reality. We have enclosed a short document describing the National Conference, and stand ready to provide additional background material through your staff to facilitate the requested meeting.

We look forward to your help in successfully achieving this goal.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

PURPOSE

It is the purpose of the National Conference of Commissioners Uniform State Laws to promote uniformity in state law on all subjects where uniformity is desirable and practicable. To accomplish this, Commissioners participate in drafting acts on various subjects endeavor to secure consideration of the approved acts in the various states.

ORGANIZATION

The National Conference is composed of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws from each state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico usually four in number. In addition, the principal officer of the state agency, such as the legislative reference bureau, charged with responsibility of drafting legislation for the state is an associate member of the Conference.

The governors of the states have appointed lawyers, judges, legislators, and law school professors as Commissioners. While the usual term is three years, it is common practice for governors to reappoint without regard to their political affiliation, Commissioners who have actively participated in the work of the Conference. If a Commissioner has served by official appointment for twenty or more years, he may become a life member. All Commissioners are members of the Bar.

The organizational plan of the Conference makes its non-partisan nature self-evident. While the state Commissioners are obligated to endeavor to procure consideration of uniform acts, they represent no special interest.

A small staff is maintained at the Conference headquarters in Chicago to serve the organization's administrative needs.

HISTORY

The Conference, one of the oldest of state organizations designed to encourage interstate cooperation, was organized in 1892 to promote uniformity by voluntary action of each state government. Since its organization, the Conference has drafted over two hundred uniform laws on numerous subjects and in various fields of law, many of which have been widely enacted.

With the development of rapid transportation and communication, the states have become increasingly interdependent socially and economically so that a single transaction may cross many state lines and involve citizens in many states. A confusion of laws among the several states may present, in some fields, a deterrent to the free flow of goods, credit, services, and persons between the states; restrain full economic and social development; and generate pressures for federal intervention to compel uniformity. The Conference seeks to alleviate these problems.

The Conference occasionally drafts model acts on subjects which do not directly affect relationships among the states, but which involve problems common to many if not all of the states. On other occasions, it drafts model legislation on subjects where state legislation could help implement international treaties of the United States or where world uniformity would be desirable.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The Conference is considered a state organization. The major portion of its financial support comes from state appropriations. The expenses are apportioned among the states based upon their population and financial abilities. Individual Commissioners receive no salary or compensation and in many cases they pay their own expenses to attend the annual conference.

The American Bar Association also makes a yearly contribution to the conduct of Conference business. Where a proposed uniform act requires extensive research, expert draftsmen working on a sustained basis, and numerous meetings of advisors, the Conference has sought financial help from foundations and other public spirited persons and groups. Because the Conference, composed of Commissioners designated by the states, prepares uniform acts for states and is supported by states, the Internal Revenue Service has recognized it as qualified to receive tax deductible contributions under the federal law as contributions to state government or organizations of state government for public purposes.

PROCEDURES

The Conference meets annually to consider drafts of proposed uniform legislation. Proposals that uniform acts be drafted, received from many sources, are referred to a Committee on Scope and Program which makes an investigation, sometimes hears interested parties, and reports to the Conference whether the subject is one on which it is desirable and feasible to draft a uniform law.

If the Conference decides to accept a subject, a special committee of state Commissioners is appointed to prepare a draft of an act. Tentative drafts are not submitted to the Conference until they have received extensive committee consideration.

A draft act must be discussed and considered section by section by the entire Conference at no fewer than two annual meetings before the Conference may decide by a vote of states whether to promulgate the draft as a uniform act. Each state is entitled to one vote, and an act is not promulgated unless a majority of the states represented at an annual meeting and at least twenty jurisdictions have approved the draft.

In addition, each uniform act may be submitted for consideration to the American Bar Association. The drafting committees of the Conference establish liaison with the American Bar Association and other interested groups throughout the drafting process.

PUBLICATIONS

The text of each approved uniform and model act, with notes and comments, is published in pamphlet form by the Conference.

In addition, it publishes annually a Handbook of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws which contains the proceedings of the annual Conference and basic statistical data about the various uniform and model acts promulgated by the Commissioners, including a list of the acts adopted and the states which have adopted them.

Copies of the acts and the Handbook may be obtained, at a nominal charge, by writing the Conference headquarters in Chicago.

Dear Mr. Young:

Oregon has made much use of the work of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. The work is impressive. The annual meeting of the National Conference would be, I think, an assembly of excellent people with good ideas as well as an economically worthwhile event.

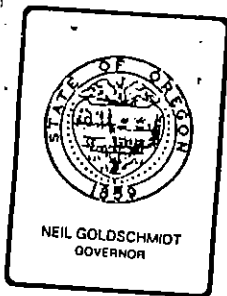

I can support your proposal to site the meeting in Oregon. In connection with this, I would be pleased to meet with Mr. Sullivan. The problem, of course, is finding the mutually convenient time. With the knowledge that I support the Oregon Commission's objectives on the annual meeting, you would be best served by working with Joan Smith, my Assistant for Scheduling (378-3100).

The arguments advanced by the Commission are persuasive. I look forward to meeting Mr. Sullivan but, if circumstances prevent us from having a face-to-face conversation, I trust you will continue to extend the invitation to the national conference.

Sincerely,

Neil Goldschmidt

If we can succeed in bringing this prestigious meeting to Oregon, it obviously would be of great benefit to the state.

We are dedicated to the effort to make this venture a success and we would urge your support and help in making it a reality. We have enclosed a short document describing the National Conference, and stand ready to provide additional background material through your staff to facilitate the requested meeting.

We look forward to your help in successfully achieving this goal.

Dear Mr. Young:

Oregon has made much use of the work of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. The work is impressive. The annual meeting of the National Conference would be, I think, an assembly of excellent people with good ideas as well as an economically worthwhile event.

I can support your proposal to site the meeting in Oregon. In connection with this, I would be pleased to meet with Mr. Sullivan. The problem, of course, is finding the mutually convenient time. With the knowledge that I support the Oregon Commission's objectives on the annual meeting, you would be best served by working with Joan Smith, my Assistant for Scheduling (378-3100).

The arguments advanced by the Commission are persuasive. I look forward to meeting Mr. Sullivan but, if circumstances prevent us from having a face-to-face conversation, I trust you will continue to extend the invitation to the national conference.

Sincerely,

Neil Goldschmidt
Governor
