Service Planning

(1) FUNCTIONAL NEEDS ASSESSMENT. A services coordinator must complete a functional needs assessment using a person-centered planning approach initially and at least annually for each child to assess the service needs of the child.

(a) The functional needs assessment must be conducted face-to-face with the child and the services coordinator must interview the parent or guardian, other caregivers, and when appropriate, any other person at the request of the parent or guardian.

(b) The functional needs assessment must be completed:

(A) Within 30 days of entry into the CIIS program;

(B) Within 60 days prior to the annual renewal of an ISP; and

(C) Within 45 days from the date the parent or guardian requests a functional needs reassessment.

(c) The parent or guardian must participate in the functional needs assessment and provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment and reassessment within the time frame required by the Department.

(A) Failure to participate in the functional needs assessment or provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment within the applicable time frame results in the denial of service eligibility. In the event service eligibility is denied, a written Notification of Planned Action must be provided as described in OAR 411-318-0020.

(B) The Department may allow additional time if circumstances beyond the control of the parent or guardian prevent timely participation in the functional needs assessment or reassessment or timely submission of information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment.

(d) No fewer than 14 days prior to conducting a functional needs assessment, the services coordinator must mail a notice of the assessment process to the parent or guardian. The notice must include a description and explanation of the assessment process and an explanation of the process for appealing the results of the assessment.

(2) INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT PLAN.

(a) A child who is accessing waiver or Community First Choice state plan services must have an authorized ISP.

(A) The services coordinator must facilitate and develop an ISP through a person-centered service planning process.

(B) The ISP must be authorized by the services coordinator:

(i) No more than 90 days from the date of eligibility determination made by the CDDP according to OAR 411-320-0080; or

(ii) No later than the end of the month following the month in which the level of care determination was made; and

(iii) Annually thereafter.

(b) The services coordinator must develop, with the input of the child (as appropriate), parent or guardian, and any other person at the request of the parent or guardian, a written ISP prior to purchasing supports with CIIS funds and annually thereafter that identifies --

(A) The service needs of the child;

(B) The most cost effective services for safely and appropriately meeting the service needs of the child; and

(C) The methods, resources, and strategies that address the service needs of the child.

(c) The ISP must include, but not be limited to, the following:

(A) The legal name of the child and the name of the parent or guardian of the child;

(B) The projected dates of when specific supports are to begin and end;

(C) Home and community-based service and setting options:

(i) Based on the needs of the child and preferences of the child and the parent or guardian;

(ii) Chosen by the parent or guardian; and

(iii) Integrated in and support full access to the greater community;

(D) Opportunities to engage in greater community life, control personal resources, and receive services in the greater community to the same degree of access as children not receiving home and community-based services;

(E) The strengths and preferences of the child;

(F) The service and support needs of the child;

(G) The goals and desired outcomes of the child;

(H) The providers of services and supports, including unpaid supports provided voluntarily;

(I) Risk factors and measures in place to minimize risk;

(J) Individualized backup plans and strategies, when needed;

(K) People important in supporting the child;

(L) The person responsible for monitoring the ISP;

(M) Language, format, and presentation methods appropriate for effective communication according to the needs and abilities of the child receiving services and the people important in supporting the child;

(N) The written informed consent of the parent or guardian;

(O) Signatures of the child (as appropriate), parent or guardian, participants in the ISP planning process, and all people and providers with whom the ISP was shared in its entirety, or as described below in subsection (d) of this section;

(P) Self-directed supports; and

(Q) Provisions to prevent unnecessary or inappropriate services and supports.

(d) The child (as appropriate) and the parent or guardian decides on the level of information in the ISP that is shared with providers. To effectively provide services, providers must have access to the necessary information from the ISP that the provider is responsible for implementing. A provider identified to deliver a service or support included in an ISP must acknowledge through a signature on a written agreement receipt of the necessary information.

(e) An ISP must be reviewed with the child (as appropriate) and parent or guardian prior to implementation. The ISP is distributed to the parent or guardian and other people involved in the ISP as described above in subsection (d).

(f) Changes in services authorized in the ISP must be consistent with needs identified in a functional needs assessment and behavior criteria and documented in an amendment to the ISP that is signed by the parent or guardian and the services coordinator.

(g) An ISP must be reviewed and revised:

(A) At the request of the child or parent or guardian;

(B) When the circumstances or needs of the child change; or

Scope of CIIS and Limitations

(1) CIIS are intended to support, not supplant, the naturally occurring services provided by a legally responsible primary caregiver and enable the primary caregiver to meet the needs of caring for a child on the ICF/ID

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Behavioral Model Waiver. CIIS services are not meant to replace other available governmental or community services and supports. All services funded by the Department must be provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines and based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities.

(2) The use of CIIS funds to purchase supports is limited to:

(a) The service level for a child as determined by a functional needs assessment and behavior criteria. The functional needs assessment determines the total number of hours needed to meet the identified needs of the child. The total number of hours may not be exceeded without prior approval from the Department. The types of services that contribute to the total number of hours used include attendant care, skills training, hourly relief care, and State Plan personal care service hours as described in OAR chapter 411, division 034; and

(b) Other services and supports determined by a services coordinator to be necessary to meet the support needs identified through a person-centered planning process and consistent with the Expenditure Guidelines.

(b) Required to maintain the health and safety of a child;

(c) Cost effective;

(d) Considered not typical for a parent or guardian to provide to a child of the same age;

(e) Required to help the parent or guardian to continue to meet the needs of caring for the child;

(f) Included in an approved ISP;

(g) Provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines;

(h) Based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities; and

(i) After September 1, 2018, delivered in a home and community-based setting that meets the qualities described in OAR 411-004-0020.

(4) When conditions of purchase are met and provided purchases are not prohibited under OAR 411-300-0155, CIIS funds may be used to purchase a combination of the following supports based upon the needs of a child as determined by a services coordinator and consistent with a functional needs assessment, initial or annual ISP, and the OSIPM or OHP Plus benefits the child qualifies for:

(B) Be an Oregon resident who meets the citizenship and alien status requirements of OAR 461-120-0110;

(C) Be receiving Medicaid Title XIX benefits under OSIPM or OHP Plus. This does not include CHIP Title XXI benefits;

(G) Reside in the family home; and

(H) Be safely served in the family home. This includes, but is not limited to, a qualified primary caregiver demonstrating the willingness, skills, and ability to provide direct care as outlined in an ISP in a cost effective manner, as determined by a services coordinator within the limitations of OAR 411-300-0150, and participate in planning, monitoring, and evaluation of the MFC services provided.

(b) TRANSFER OF ASSETS.

(A) As of October 1, 2014, a child receiving medical benefits under OAR chapter 410, division 200 requesting Medicaid coverage for services in a nonstandard living arrangement (see OAR 461-001-0000) is subject to the requirements of the rules regarding transfer of assets (see OAR 461-140-0210 to 461-140-0300) in the same manner as if the child was requesting these services under OSIPM. This includes, but is not limited to, the following assets:

(i) An annuity evaluated according to OAR 461-145-0022;

(ii) A transfer of property when a child retains a life estate evaluated according to OAR 461-145-0310;

(iii) A loan evaluated according to OAR 461-145-0330; or

(iv) An irrevocable trust evaluated according to OAR 461-145-0540.

(B) When a child is considered ineligible for MFC services due to a disqualifying transfer of assets, the parent or guardian and child must receive a notice meeting the requirements of OAR 461-175-0310 in the same manner as if the child was requesting services under OSIPM.

(2) INELIGIBILITY. A child is not eligible for MFC services if the child:

(a) Resides in a medical hospital, psychiatric hospital, school, sub-acute facility, nursing facility, intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, residential facility, or other 24-hour residential setting;

(b) Does not require waiver services or Community First Choice state plan services as evidenced by a functional needs assessment;

(c) Receives sufficient family, government, or community resources available to provide for his or her care; or

(d) Cannot be safely served in the family home as described in section (1)(a)(H) of this rule.

(3) REDETERMINATION. The Department redetermines the eligibility of a child for MFC services using the clinical criteria at least every six months, or as the status of the child changes.

(4) TRANSITION. A child whose reassessment score on the clinical criteria is less than 45 is transitioned out of MFC services within 30 days. The child must exit from MFC services at the end of the 30 day transition period.

(a) When possible and agreed upon by the parent or guardian and the services coordinator, MFC services may be incrementally reduced during the 30 day transition period.

(b) The services coordinator must coordinate and attend a transition planning meeting prior to the end of the transition period. The transition planning meeting must include a CDDP representative if eligible for developmental disability services, the parent or guardian, and any other person at the request of the parent or guardian.

(5) EXIT.

(a) MFC services may be terminated:

(A) At the oral or written request of a parent or legal guardian to end the service relationship; or

(ii) The child does not require waiver services or Community First Choice state plan services;

(iii) There are sufficient family, government, community, or alternative resources available to provide for the care of the child;

(iv) The child cannot be safely served in the family home as described in section (1)(a)(G) of this rule;

(v) The parent or guardian either cannot be located or has not responded after 30 days of repeated attempts by a services coordinator to complete ISP development and monitoring activities and does not respond to a notice of intent to terminate;

(vi) The services coordinator has sufficient evidence that the parent or guardian has engaged in fraud or misrepresentation, failed to use resources as agreed upon in the ISP, refused to cooperate with documenting expenses of MFC funds, or otherwise knowingly misused public funds associated with MFC services;

(vii) The child is incarcerated or admitted to a medical hospital, psychiatric hospital, sub-acute facility, nursing facility, intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, or other 24-hour residential setting and it is determined that the child is not returning to the family home or is not returning to the family home after 90 consecutive days; or

(viii) The child does not reside in Oregon.

(b) In the event MFC services are terminated, a written Notification of Planned Action must be provided as described in OAR chapter 411, division 318.

(6) WAIT LIST. If the maximum number of children allowed on the Hospital Model Waiver are enrolled and being served, the Department may place a child eligible for MFC services on a wait list. A child on the wait list may access other Medicaid-funded services or General Fund services for which the child is determined eligible.

(a) The date of the initial completed application for MFC services determines the order on the wait list. A child who previously received MFC services that currently meets the criteria for eligibility as described in section (1) of this rule is put on the wait list as of the date the original application for MFC services was complete.

(b) Children on the wait list are served on a first come, first served basis as space on the Hospital Model Waiver allows. A re-evaluation is completed prior to entry to determine current eligibility.

Service Planning

(1) FUNCTIONAL NEEDS ASSESSMENT. A services coordinator must complete a functional needs assessment using a person-centered planning approach initially and at least annually for each child to assess the service needs of the child.

(a) The functional needs assessment must be conducted face-to-face with the child and the services coordinator must interview the parent or guardian, other caregivers, and when appropriate, any other person at the request of the parent or guardian.

(b) The functional needs assessment must be completed:

(A) Within 30 days of entry into MFC services;

(B) Within 60 days prior to the annual renewal of an ISP; and

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(C) Within 45 days from the date the parent or guardian requests a functional needs reassessment.

(c) The parent or guardian must participate in the functional needs assessment and provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment and reassessment within the time frame required by the Department.

(A) Failure to participate in the functional needs assessment or provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment within the applicable time frame results in the denial of service eligibility. In the event service eligibility is denied, a written Notification of Planned Action must be provided as described in OAR 411-318-0020.

(B) The Department may allow additional time if circumstances beyond the control of the parent or guardian prevent timely participation in the functional needs assessment or reassessment or timely submission of information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment.

(d) No fewer than 14 days prior to conducting a functional needs assessment, the services coordinator must mail a notice of the assessment process to the parent or guardian. The notice must include a description and explanation of the assessment process and an explanation of the process for appealing the results of the assessment.

(2) INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT PLAN.

(a) A child who is accessing waiver or Community First Choice state plan services must have an authorized ISP.

(A) The services coordinator must facilitate and develop an ISP through a person-centered service planning process.

(B) The initial ISP must be authorized by the services coordinator no later than the end of the month following the month in which the level of care determination was made, and at least annually thereafter.

(b) The services coordinator must develop, with the input of the child (as appropriate), parent or guardian, and any other person at the request of the parent or guardian, a written ISP prior to purchasing supports with MFC funds and annually thereafter that identifies --

(A) The service needs of the child;

(B) The most cost effective services for safely and appropriately meeting the service needs of the child; and

(C) The methods, resources, and strategies that address the service needs of the child.

(c) The ISP must include, but not be limited to, the following:

(A) The legal name of the child and the name of the parent or guardian of the child;

(B) The projected dates of when specific supports are to begin and end;

(C) Home and community-based service and setting options

(i) Based on the needs of the child and preferences of the child and the parent or guardian;

(ii) Chosen by the parent or guardian; and

(iii) Integrated in, and support full access to the greater community;

(D) Opportunities to engage in greater community life, control personal resources, and receive services in the greater community to the same degree of access as children not receiving home and community-based services;

(E) The strengths and preferences of the child;

(F) The service and support needs of the child;

(G) The goals and desired outcomes of the child;

(H) The providers of services and supports, including unpaid supports provided voluntarily;

(I) Risk factors and measures in place to minimize risk;

(J) Individualized backup plans and strategies, when needed;

(K) People important in supporting the child;

(L) The person responsible for monitoring the ISP;

(M) Language, format, and presentation methods appropriate for effective communication according to the needs and abilities of the child receiving services and the people important in supporting the child;

(N) The written informed consent of the parent or guardian;

(O) Signatures of the child (as appropriate), parent or guardian, participants in the ISP planning process, and all people and providers with whom the ISP was shared in its entirety, or as described below in subsection (d) of this section;

(P) Self-directed supports; and

(Q) Provisions to prevent unnecessary or inappropriate services and supports.

(d) The child (as appropriate) and the parent or guardian decides on the level of information in the ISP that is shared with providers. To effectively provide services, providers must have access to the necessary information from the ISP that the provider is responsible for implementing. A provider identified to deliver a service or support included in an ISP must acknowledge through a signature on a written agreement receipt of the necessary information.

(e) An ISP must be reviewed with the child (as appropriate) and parent or guardian prior to implementation. The ISP is distributed to the parent or guardian and other people involved in the ISP as described above in subsection (d).

(f) Changes in services authorized in the ISP must be consistent with needs identified in a functional needs assessment and clinical criteria and documented in an amendment to the ISP that is signed by the parent or guardian and the services coordinator.

(g) An ISP must be reviewed and revised --

(A) At the request of the child or parent or guardian;

(B) When the circumstances or needs of the child change; or

Scope of MFC Services and Limitations

(1) MFC services are intended to support, not supplant, the naturally occurring services provided by a legally responsible primary caregiver and enable the primary caregiver to meet the needs of caring for a child on the Hospital Model Waiver. MFC services are not meant to replace other available governmental or community services and supports. All services funded by the Department must be provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines and based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities.

(2) The use of MFC funds to purchase supports is limited to:

(a) The service level for a child as determined by a functional needs assessment and clinical criteria. The functional needs assessment determines the total number of hours needed to meet the identified needs of the child. The total number of hours may not be exceeded without prior approval from the Department. The types of services that contribute to the total number of hours used include attendant care, skills training, hourly relief care, and private duty nursing.

(b) Other services and supports determined by a services coordinator to be necessary to meet the support needs identified through a person-centered planning process and consistent with the Expenditure Guidelines.

(3) To be authorized and eligible for payment by the Department, all MFC services and supports must be:

(a) Directly related to the disability of a child;

(b) Required to maintain the health and safety of a child;

(c) Cost effective;

(d) Considered not typical for a parent or guardian to provide to a child of the same age;

(e) Required to help the parent or guardian to continue to meet the needs of caring for the child;

(f) Included in an approved ISP;

(g) Provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines;

(h) Based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities; and

(i) After September 1, 2018, delivered in a home and community-based setting that meets the qualities described in OAR 411-004-0020.

(4) When conditions of purchase are met and provided purchases are not prohibited under section (26) of this rule, MFC funds may be used to purchase a combination of the following supports based upon the needs of a child as determined by a services coordinator and consistent with a functional needs assessment, clinical criteria, initial or annual ISP, and the OSIPM or OHP Plus benefits the child qualifies for:

(a) Community First Choice state plan services:

Behavior support services may be authorized to support a primary caregiver in their caregiving role and to respond to specific problems identified by a child, primary caregiver, or a services coordinator. Positive behavior support services are used to enable a child to develop, maintain, or enhance skills to accomplish ADLs, IADLs, and health-related tasks.

- (i) When interventions in behavior are necessary, the interventions must be performed in accordance with positive behavioral theory and practice.

- (ii) The least intrusive intervention possible to keep the child and others safe must be used.

- (iii) Abusive or demeaning interventions must never be used.
 - (iv) The strategies must be adapted to the specific disabilities of the child and the style or culture of the family.

- (D) Develop a written Behavior Support Plan using clear, concrete language that is understandable to the primary caregiver and the provider that describes the assessment, strategies, and procedures to be used;

- (E) Develop emergency and crisis procedures to be used to keep the child, primary caregiver, and the provider safe. When interventions in the behavior of the child are necessary, positive, preventative, non-aversive interventions that conform to OIS must be utilized. The use of protective physical intervention must be part of the Behavior Support Plan for the child. When protective physical intervention is required, the protective physical intervention must only be used as a last resort and the provider must be appropriately trained in OIS;

- (F) Teach the primary caregiver and the provider the strategies and procedures to be used; and

- (G) Monitor and revise the Behavior Support Plan as needed.

- (b) Behavior support services may include:

- (b) Community nursing services exclude private duty nursing care.
 - (c) A Nursing Service Plan must be present when MFC funds are used for community nursing services. A services coordinator must authorize the provision of community nursing services as identified in an ISP.

(c) Environmental modifications must be tied to supporting assessed ADL, IADL, and health-related tasks as identified in the ISP for the child.

(d) Environmental modifications are limited to $5,000 per modification. A services coordinator must request approval for additional expenditures through the Department prior to expenditure. Approval is based on the service and support needs and goals of the child and the determination by the Department of appropriateness and cost effectiveness. In addition, separate environmental modification projects that cumulatively total up to over $5,000 in a plan year must be submitted to the Department for review.

(e) Environmental modifications must be completed by a state licensed contractor with a minimum of $1,000,000 liability insurance. (m) Upgrades in materials that are not directly related to the health and safety needs of the child are not paid for or permitted.

(n) Environmental modifications are subject to Department requirements regarding material and construction practices based on industry standards for safety, liability, and durability, as referenced in building codes, materials manuals, and industry and risk management publications.

(C) Within 45 days from the date the parent or guardian requests a functional needs assessment.

(c) The parent or guardian must participate in the functional needs assessment and provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment and reassessment within the time frame required by the Department.

(A) Failure to participate in the functional needs assessment or provide information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment within the applicable time frame results in the denial of a service eligibility. In the event service eligibility is denied, a written Notification of Planned Action must be provided as described in OAR 411-318-0020.

(B) The Department may allow additional time if circumstances beyond the control of the parent or guardian prevent timely participation in the functional needs assessment or reassessment or timely submission of information necessary to complete the functional needs assessment or reassessment.

(d) No fewer than 14 days prior to conducting a functional needs assessment, the services coordinator must mail a notice of the assessment process to the parent or guardian. The notice must include a description and explanation of the assessment process and an explanation of the process for appealing the results of the assessment.

(2) INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT PLAN.

(a) A child who is accessing waiver or Community First Choice state plan services must have an authorized ISP.

(A) The services coordinator must facilitate and develop an ISP through a person-centered service planning process.

(P) Self-directed supports; and

(Q) Provisions to prevent unnecessary or inappropriate services and supports.

(d) The child (as appropriate) and the parent or guardian decides on the level of information in the ISP that is shared with providers. To effectively provide services, providers must have access to the necessary information from the ISP that the provider is responsible for implementing. A provider identified to deliver a service or support included in an ISP must acknowledge through a signature on a written agreement receipt of the necessary information.

(e) An ISP must be reviewed with the child (as appropriate) and parent or guardian prior to implementation. The ISP is distributed to the parent or guardian and other people involved in the ISP as described above in subsection (d).

(f) Changes in services authorized in the ISP must be consistent with needs identified in a functional needs assessment and medically involved criteria and documented in an amendment to the ISP that is signed by the parent or guardian and the services coordinator.

Scope of MICP Services and Limitations

(1) MICP services are intended to support, not supplant, the naturally occurring services provided by a legally responsible primary caregiver and enable the primary caregiver to meet the needs of caring for a child on the MICP. MICP services are not meant to replace other available governmental or community services and supports. All services funded by the Department must be provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines and based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities.

(2) When multiple children in the same family home or setting qualify for MICP services, the same provider may provide services to all qualified children if services may be safely delivered by a single provider, as determined by the services coordinator.

(3) The use of MICP funds to purchase supports is limited to:

(a) The service level for a child as determined by a functional needs assessment. The functional needs assessment determines the total number of hours needed to meet the identified needs of the child. The total number of assessed hours may not be exceeded without prior approval from the Department. The types of services that contribute to the total number of hours used include attendant care, skills training, and state plan personal care service hours as described in OAR chapter 411, division 034; and

(b) Other services and supports determined by a services coordinator to be necessary to meet the support needs identified through a person-centered planning process and consistent with the Expenditure Guidelines.

(4) To be authorized and eligible for payment by the Department, all MICP services and supports must be:

(a) Directly related to the disability of a child;

(b) Required to maintain the health and safety of a child;

(c) Cost effective;

(d) Considered not typical for a parent or guardian to provide to a child of the same age;

(e) Required to help the parent or guardian to continue to meet the needs of caring for the child;

(f) Included in an approved ISP;

(g) Provided in accordance with the Expenditure Guidelines;

(h) Based on the actual and customary costs related to best practice standards of care for children with similar disabilities; and

(i) After September 1, 2018, delivered in a home and community-based setting that meets the qualities described in OAR 411-004-0020.

(5) When conditions of purchases are met and provided purchases are not prohibited, MICP funds may be used to purchase a combination of the following supports based upon the needs of a child as determined by a services coordinator and consistent with a functional needs assessment, initial or annual ISP, and the OSIPM or OHP Plus benefits the child qualifies for:

(a) Community First Choice state plan services:

(A) Behavior support services as described in section (6) of this rule;

(G) Assistive devices as described in section (12) of this rule;

(H) Assistive technology as described in section (13) of this rule;

(I) Chore services as described in section (14) of this rule;

(J) Community transportation as described in section (15) of this rule; and

(K) Transition costs as described in section (16) of this rule.

(b) Home and community-based waiver services:

(A) Case management;

(B) Family training as described in section (17) of this rule;

(C) Environmental safety modifications as described in section (18) of this rule;

(D) Vehicle modifications as described in section (19) of this rule;

(E) Specialized medical supplies as described in section (20) of this rule;

(G) Individual-directed goods and services as described in section (22) of this rule.

(c) State Plan personal care services as described in OAR chapter 411, division 034.

(6) BEHAVIOR SUPPORT SERVICES. Behavior support services may be authorized to support a primary caregiver in their caregiving role and to respond to specific problems identified by a child, primary caregiver, or a services coordinator. Positive behavior support services are used to enable a child to develop, maintain, or enhance skills to accomplish ADLs, IADLs, and health-related tasks.

(a) A behavior consultant must:

(A) Work with the child and primary caregiver to identify:

(i) Areas of the family home life that are of most concern for the child and the parent or guardian;

(ii) The formal or informal responses the family or the provider has used in those areas; and

(iii) The unique characteristics of the child and family that may influence the responses that may work with the child.

(B) Assess the child. The assessment must include:

(i) Specific identification of the behaviors or areas of concern;

(ii) Identification of the settings or events likely to be associated with, or to trigger, the behavior;

(iii) Identification of early warning signs of the behavior;

Subject: The Department of Human Services, Office of Child Welfare Programs, is making rule changes to do the following:

- Establish requirements when a child or young adult in substitute care is missing;

- Expand implementation of Differential Response to additional counties;

- Update the BRS Rates Table.

Each change is described in detail below. Rule text showing changes is available at http://www.dhs.state.or.us/policy/child_welfare/policy_releases.htm.

When a Child or Young Adult in Substitute Care is Missing.

Temporary rules adopted on October 1, 2015 and November 24, 2015 are being permanently adopted to implement provisions of section 104 of the Preventing Sex Trafficking and Strengthening Families Act of 2014 relating to the Department's responsibilities when a child or young adult in substitute care is missing. Specifically, the amendments do the following:

State that when a child or young adult in substitute care is missing, the caseworker must:

- Make immediate efforts to locate the child or young adult; and

- Notify the court and legal parties to the case that the child or young adult is missing. (OAR 413-080-0053)

State that when a child or young adult in substitute care is located, the caseworker must:

- Determine and address the primary factors that contributed to the missing status of the child or young adult;

- Determine the child or young adult's experiences while missing;

- Determine if the child or young adult is a victim of sex trafficking or is at risk of being a victim of sex trafficking; and

- Notify the court and legal parties to the case that the child or young adult has been located. (OAR 413-080-0053).

State that monthly face-to-face contact is a required CPS (Child Protective Services) assessment activity (OAR 413-015-0415) and if a caseworker is unable to make face-to-face contact with a child or young adult because the child or young adult is missing, the caseworker must follow the protocols in OAR 413-080-0053 described above. (OAR 413-080-0054(1)(f)).

Add definitions for "monthly face-to-face contact," "sex trafficking," and "young adult." (OAR 413-080-0050(12) and (23) and OAR 413-015-0115(25) and (55)).

Clarify that reports of a missing child or young adult must be documented in the Department's electronic information system. (OAR 413-015-0211(2)(c)(D)).

Require BRS (Behavior Rehabilitation Services) providers to immediately report to the Department information about a missing child or young adult placed with a BRS program. (OAR 413-090-0087).

Differential Response Implementation.

The Department is also permanently adopting temporary amendments to OAR 413-015-9000 adopted on October 12, 2015 relating to Oregon's Differential Response (DR) system. DR is an approach to child protection that promotes partnering with parents, family, communities, and neighborhoods to keep children safe. Oregon began implementation of DR on a county-by-county basis in May 2014. The amendments specify DR implementation dates for the following counties:

- November 2, 2015 for Jackson and Josephine

- November 16, 2015, for Coos and Curry

- December 1, 2015, for Clackamas

BRS Rates

The updated BRS (Behavior Rehabilitation Services) Rates Table adopted by temporary rule on August 26, 2015 is being permanently adopted. The table is incorporated by reference and adopted as Exhibit 1 in OAR 413-090-0085 to provide the current rates at which the Department compensates BRS contractors, in accordance with Oregon Health Authority OAR 410-170-0110. The updated table changes rates, depending on type of service and placement model, as follows:

(52) "Third-party abuse" means abuse by a person who is not the child's parent, not the child's caregiver or other member of the child's household, and not a person responsible for the child's care, custody, and control. Examples of persons who could be considered as a third-party under this definition include school personnel, day-care providers, coaches, and church personnel.

Screening Activities

The screener must complete the following activities:

(1) Gather information. When gathering information, the screener must do both of the following:

(a) Accept reports of child abuse and neglect regardless of where the child resides or where the alleged child abuse or neglect may have occurred. If the report is about a child that does not reside in the county where the report is received, the screener must forward the completed screening report form to the local child welfare office in the county or state where the child resides. The screener must forward the screening report form on the same day the report is received and confirm that it has been successfully forwarded.

(b) Accept and handle anonymous reports of child abuse and neglect in the same manner as other reports, gather the same information from the anonymous reporter as the screener would from any other reporter, and encourage the reporter to provide identifying information.

(2) If appropriate, refer the person to community services and resources.

(3) Determine the type of information received, Child Protective Services or Family Support Services, and where and when to document the information received.

(a) Child Protective Services. This type of information is related to reports of alleged child abuse or neglect.

(A) Child Protective Services information is documented in the Department's electronic information system.

(B) The time line for screeners to complete and document their actions, and document information gathered, unless a CPS supervisor grants the screener an extension as provided in OAR 413-015-0220, is:

(i) Immediately when a "within 24 hours" response time line is assigned;

(ii) Within the same day when a "within five days" response time line is assigned; or

(iii) No later than the next working day after the screening determination is made when the report is closed at screening.

(b) Family Support Services. This type of information is not a report of alleged child abuse or neglect, and it does not include information that indicates a child is unsafe.

(A) This information is documented in the Department's electronic information system using a screening report form.

(B) The time line for screeners to complete and document their actions, and document information gathered is within two days of receiving the request for services.

(C) Family Support Services information falls within one of the categories described below:

(i) Request for Placement — Information falls within this category when:

(I) A parent or guardian requests out-of-home placement of their child due solely to obtain services for the emotional, behavioral, or mental disorder or developmental or physical disability of the child;

(II) The parent or guardian requests the Department take legal custody of their child; or

(III) The court has ordered a pre-adjudicated delinquent into the care of the Department.

(ii) Request for Independent Living Program Services — Information falls within this category when a former foster child qualifies for Independent Living Program (ILP) services, is not a participant on an open case, and requests to enroll in the Department's ILP.

(iii) Request for Post Legal Adoption and Post Guardianship Services — Information falls within this category when a family requests post legal adoption or post guardianship services, if the adoption or guardianship occurred through the Department.

(iv) Request for Voluntary Services — Information falls within this category when it does not meet the criteria in subparagraphs (i), (ii), or (iii) of this paragraph, a parent or caregiver requests assistance with a child in the home, and all of the following apply:

(I) Other community resources have been utilized and determined to be ineffective.

(II) Members of the extended family and other responsible adults who are well known to the child have been explored or utilized and determined to be unsafe, unavailable, unwilling, or ineffective as support for the family.

(III) The parent or caregiver is temporarily or will be temporarily unable to fulfill parental responsibilities due to a diagnosed medical condition or a mental health diagnosis.

(IV) The parent's or caregiver's inability to fulfill parental responsibilities is temporary and immediate, and will be alleviated with short term services or short term services will transition the family to community services.

(V) A Child Welfare program manager approves the request for voluntary services.

(4) When the screener receives Child Protective Services information, the screener must complete the screening activities described below.

(a) The screener must gather the following information, which is critical to effectively identify if there is a report of child abuse or neglect as defined in ORS 419B.005 and if the information alleges that behaviors, conditions, or circumstances could result in harm to the child:

(A) The type of alleged child abuse or neglect and the circumstances surrounding the report;

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(B) How the alleged child abuse or neglect or the surrounding circumstances are reported to affect the safety of the child;

(C) Information that identifies how the child is vulnerable; and

(D) Reported parent or caregiver functioning and behavior.

(b) After gathering and documenting the information required in subsection (a) of this section, if the report is about a condition or circumstance that occurred in a Children's Care Provider (CCP) or a behavior of a CCP, the screener must complete the requirements in paragraphs (A) through (C) of this subsection. CPS screening activities for CCP referrals are complete after the completion of the activities in paragraphs (A) through (C) of this subsection and additional screening activities in this rule do not apply:

(A) Immediately pend the screening information to the Office of Adult Abuse Prevention and Investigation (OAAPI) screener's workload;

(B) Immediately send an e-mail to the OAAPI screener to let the screener know that a screening report has been assigned to the screener's workload; and

(C) When the report is new information on an open Department case:

(i) Notify the CPS supervisor;

(ii) Notify each assigned case worker and their respective supervisors of all new information received on the same day the information is received, and document this notification in the Department's electronic information system case notes; and

(iii) Complete notification on the same day the information is received.

(c) Gather information from individuals who can provide firsthand information necessary to determine the appropriate Department response. This may include individuals who have regular contact with the child, doctors, teachers, or others who have evaluated or maintain records on the child, people who are in an established personal or professional relationship with the parent or caregiver and who can judge the quality and nature of the parent or caregiver behavior, and those who have records or reason to know things about the parent or caregiver as a result of their involvement with or exposure to the parent or caregiver.

(d) Research Department history of every identified child, parent, caregiver, and household member for information about current or previous Department involvement relevant to the current child abuse or neglect report. If the research reveals an "unable to locate" disposition that has not been assessed, the screener must reference that assessment, the date the assessment was completed, and those allegations not able to be assessed in the current report summary.

(e) Inquire regarding possible Indian or Alaskan Native heritage (for further direction see OAR 413-015-0215(5)).

(f) Request relevant information when available and appropriate from law enforcement agencies (LEA), including domestic disturbance calls, arrests, warrants, convictions, restraining orders, probation status, and parole status.

(g) Determine the location and corresponding law enforcement jurisdiction of the family's residence and the site where the alleged child abuse or neglect may have occurred.

(h) Immediately comply with "Department Responsibilities During Screening and Assessment of a Child Abuse or Neglect Report Involving the Home of a Department Certified Foster Parent or Relative Caregiver", OAR 413-200-0404 to 413-200-0424, when information is related to a Department approved and certified home that is a foster home, relative caregiver home, or home of a pre-adoptive family.

(i) Immediately comply with the Child Welfare "Fatality Protocol" when information is related to the death of a child.

(5) Explain to reporters the information in all of the following subsections:

(a) That the Department will not disclose the identity of the reporter unless disclosure is to an LEA for purposes of investigating the report, disclosure is required because the reporter may need to testify as a witness in court, or the court orders the Department to disclose the identity of the reporter.

(b) That anyone making a report of child abuse or neglect in good faith, who has reasonable grounds to make the report, is immune from liability in respect to making the report and the contents of the report.

(c) The Department's decisions about paragraphs (A) through (C) of this subsection. If the decisions have not been made when the report is completed, the screener must notify the reporter that, if contact information is provided, diligent efforts will be made to contact him or her at a later date and inform him or her of the decisions:

(A) Whether contact with the child was made;

(B) Whether the Department determined child abuse occurred; and

(C) Whether services will be provided.

(d) If applicable, that the information reported does not meet the screening criteria to be documented and retained in the Department's electronic information system.

(e) That mandatory reporters should consider maintaining a record of their report to document compliance with ORS 419B.010 and 419B.015.

Additional Screening Activities

In the specific circumstances described below, the screener must complete additional activities to complete the screening process.

(1) The screener receives information on an open CPS assessment.

(a) When a screener receives duplicate information (same alleged victim, same alleged perpetrator, same allegation of child abuse or neglect, and same incident dates) on an open CPS assessment, the screener must:

(A) Inform the reporter that a new screening report will not be documented because the information has already been received;

(B) Provide the reporter with the assigned caseworker's name and phone number; and

(C) Provide contact information about the reporter and any information the screener received to the assigned caseworker.

(b) When a screener receives information that constitutes a new report of child abuse or neglect as defined in ORS 419B.005 on an open CPS assessment, the screener must:

(A) Document the information in a new screening report form; and

(B) Notify the assigned CPS worker and their supervisor of all new information received on the same day the information is received, and document this notification in the Department's electronic information system.

(c) When a screener receives information that constitutes a closed at screening on an open CPS assessment, the screener must:

(A) Document the information in a new screening report form; and

(B) Notify the assigned CPS worker and their supervisor of all new information received on the same day the information is received, and document this notification in the Department's electronic information system.

(2) The screener receives new information on an open Department case.

(a) When a screener receives new information on an open Department case, the screener must:

(A) Consult with a CPS supervisor;

(C) Complete notification on the same day the information is received.

(b) When a screener receives a new report of child abuse or neglect, as defined in ORS 419B.005, but there is no open CPS assessment, the screener must document the information in a new screening report form.

(c) The information received by a screener on an open Department case that will not be documented in a new screening report form but must be documented in the Department's electronic information system's case notes includes:

(A) Additional information on an open case that does not meet the criteria for a new CPS assessment or closed at screening;

(B) When an in-home protective action plan, initial safety plan, or ongoing safety plan is violated, but the violation is not a new incident of child abuse or neglect;

(b) If the screener determines there is a report of abuse or neglect of the child of the minor parent with the minor parent as an alleged perpetrator and another report with the minor parent as an alleged victim, the screener must document the information in the following manner to determine when to use the mother or father's name as the case name:

(A) The allegation with the minor parent as an alleged perpetrator must be documented with the mother or father of the alleged victim as the case name (the mother or father being a minor does not preclude them from being the case name); and

(B) The allegation with the minor parent as an alleged victim must be documented with the mother or father of the minor parent as the case name.

(5) When a screener receives a report of a child fatality alleged to be the result of abuse or neglect or involving a child known to the Department, the screener must:

(a) Consult with a CPS supervisor;

(b) Refer to the Child Welfare "Fatality Protocol";

(c) Complete a screening report form identifying in the Department's electronic information system that the report involves a child fatality;

CPS Assessment Activities

The required CPS assessment activities are outlined below. The activities are described in a logical order in these rules, but the order in which they occur is controlled by the specific circumstances in a given case.

(1) Review Records.

(a) The assigned CPS worker must:

(A) Thoroughly review the documentation in the referral;

(B) Thoroughly review the paper and electronic records maintained by the Department for historical information on the family and the child that may be useful in completing the CPS assessment;

(C) Thoroughly review available Self-Sufficiency records; and

(D) Make diligent efforts to contact another state's child welfare agency to obtain records, if any, when the CPS worker has information that the family has lived in another state.

(b) The CPS worker must review the documents to identify information related to:

(A) Present danger safety threats or impending danger safety threats;

(B) History or a pattern of abuse or neglect;

(C) Child and family support systems and protective capacity; and

(D) Worker safety.

(2) Addressing Prior Allegations That Have Not Been Assessed

Because the Department was Unable to Locate the Family. The assigned CPS worker must address in the current assessment any allegations not previously assessed because the Department was unable to locate the family as follows:

(a) Discuss the prior unassessed allegations during interviews;

(b) Consider all information about prior unassessed allegations when determining child safety; and

(c) Document the consideration of prior unassessed allegations in interviews, observations, and dispositional findings.

(3) Contact Collateral Sources.

(a) The CPS worker must contact collateral sources who can clarify or supplement the information in the referral and in records already reviewed.

(A) The CPS worker must contact the assigned Self-Sufficiency worker, if any.

(B) The CPS worker may contact other collateral sources including, but not limited to:

(i) Individuals who have regular contact with the child;

(ii) Doctors or others who have evaluated or maintain records on the child;

(iii) People who are in an established personal or professional relationship with the parent or caregiver and who can judge the quality and nature of the parent or caregiver behavior and functioning; and

(iv) People who have records or information about the parent or caregiver as a result of their involvement with, or exposure to, the parent or caregiver.

(b) The CPS worker must gather information from collateral sources throughout the CPS assessment.

(c) The CPS worker must:

(A) Protect the identity of collateral sources to the extent possible.

(B) Consult with the district attorney or the assistant attorney general to obtain a court order for records from a collateral source, if the source is unable or unwilling to share information with the Department.

(4) Consult with CPS Supervisor.

(a) The CPS worker must consult with a CPS supervisor or designee:

(A) When the CPS worker has reasonable cause to believe the alleged perpetrator is an employee of any program, office, or division of the Department of Human Services or Oregon Youth Authority (OYA);

(B) When a referral involves the home of a Department certified foster parent or relative caregiver;

(C) When a referral involves allegations that child abuse or neglect occurred in a private child-caring agency;

(D) When a CPS worker receives notification from a screener that a closed at screening or new referral was created on an open CPS assessment;

(E) Prior to a decision to place a child in protective custody, or after placement if consultation before placement will delay the safety intervention;

(F) Prior to initiating court action, or after initiating court action if consultation before will delay the safety intervention;

(G) Prior to developing an initial safety plan with a Department certified foster parent or relative caregiver;

(H) When the referral involves a child fatality;

(I) When making a disposition in a complicated or sensitive situation or case; or

(J) When closing an assessment with the disposition of "unable to locate".

(b) Subject to the discretion of the CPS supervisor, the CPS worker will consult with a CPS supervisor or designee at additional key points during the assessment, such as:

(A) Before making initial contact with the family; or

(B) When a referral indicates potential danger to the worker.

(5) Contact and Work with Other Entities. The CPS worker may need to work with representatives of other entities to gather and analyze safety-related information, develop a sufficient protective action plan, initial safety plan, or ongoing safety plan, and to complete the CPS assessment.

(a) The CPS worker may, as appropriate, notify or consult with other Department of Human Services programs or other agencies, including but not limited to the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation Services and Animal Control.

(b) The CPS worker must report to or contact and work with other entities as follows:

(A) Office of Child Care. The CPS worker must notify and coordinate with the Compliance Unit of the Office of Child Care when a report involves a registered day-care home or a licensed day-care center, as required by ORS 419B.020(1).

(B) Oregon Youth Authority (OYA). The CPS worker must notify OYA when the allegation involves an OYA certified foster home.

(C) Office of Adult Abuse Prevention and Investigation (OAAPI). The CPS worker must notify the OAAPI when an allegation involves a child with intellectual or developmental disabilities in a residential group home licensed by the Office of Developmental Disabilities Services.

(D) Office of Licensing and Regulatory Oversight. The CPS worker must notify the Office of Licensing and Regulatory Oversight Children's Care Licensing Unit when the allegation involves a licensed private child-caring agency which is not a Children's Care Provider (CCP).

(E) Community Mental Health Program, Community Developmental Disabilities Program, or Adult Protective Services. The CPS worker must make a report to the Community Mental Health Program, Community Developmental Disabilities Program, or the local Adult Protective Service office when the CPS worker has reasonable cause to believe:

(i) That any person 18 years of age or older with a mental illness, a developmental disability or a physical disability, or any person 65 years of age or older, with whom the CPS worker comes into contact while acting in an official capacity, has suffered abuse.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(ii) That any person with whom the CPS worker comes into contact, while acting in an official capacity, has abused a person 18 years of age or older with a mental illness, a developmental disability or a physical disability, or any person 65 years of age or older.

(F) Indian Tribes. If the CPS worker knows or has reason to know that the child is an Indian child, the CPS worker must give notice within 24 hours to the Indian child's tribe that a CPS assessment is being conducted unless the screener documented completion of this notification in the referral.

(G) Probation and Parole. The CPS worker must contact probation and parole when the allegation involves a parent or caregiver, or alleged perpetrator who is supervised by probation or parole.

(H) Law Enforcement. If the screener did not cross report, the CPS worker must contact one or more law enforcement agencies (LEA) in accordance with the protocols of the local MDT agreement and in accordance with cross reporting rules, OAR 413-015-0300 to OAR 413-015-0310. When there is a joint response involving a CPS worker and LEA staff, the CPS worker is still responsible for all of the activities necessary to complete a CPS assessment which are summarized in OAR 413-015-0400. The CPS worker must, in consultation with a CPS supervisor, determine whether to coordinate assessment activities with LEA in the following situations:

(i) Presence of danger. When the CPS worker has information that indicates that the child is unsafe right now.

(ii) Family cooperation. When the CPS worker has information that the family may not allow the CPS worker to observe the alleged victim or other children in the home.

(iii) Protective custody. When the CPS worker has information that a child may need to be placed in protective custody for the child's safety.

(iv) Child interview. When the CPS worker and the LEA officer must each interview a child, it is preferable to coordinate the interviews to reduce the number of interactions with the child.

(v) Worker safety. When the CPS worker has information that indicates the family behaviors, conditions, or circumstances could pose a danger to the CPS worker.

(vi) Crime committed. When the CPS worker suspects or receives a report that a crime may have been committed.

(I) Public or Private Schools. The CPS worker may interview a child at school when the worker believes it will be the best environment in which to assure a child's safety when making contact with the child. ORS 419B.045 provides requirements for CPS investigations that are conducted on school premises. The CPS worker must do following:

(i) Notify the school administrator that a CPS assessment must be conducted. If the school administrator is a subject of the CPS assessment, then notification is not required.

(ii) Report to the school office, provide identification, inform school personnel of the CPS assessment, and provide the name of the child to be interviewed.

(iii) Request information from school personnel regarding the disabilities of the child, if any, prior to an interview with the affected child.

(iv) Interview the child out of the presence of other persons, unless the CPS worker believes the presence of a school employee or other person would facilitate the interview. If the CPS worker believes that a school employee does not need to be present, but the school employee insists on being present during the interview, the worker may confer with the CPS supervisor for assistance in handling the situation.

(v) Discuss further actions with the child at the conclusion of the interview.

(vi) Inform school personnel when the interview has been completed.

(vii) Inform school personnel if the child is taken into protective custody.

(viii) Inform school personnel that the CPS worker will notify parents of the interview.

(ix) Contact the CPS supervisor if school officials refuse to allow the assessment to take place on school property.

(J) Multi-Disciplinary Teams (MDTs). Department district managers must develop interagency agreements regarding assessment of child abuse and neglect, as necessary, with local MDTs. Requirements for MDT protocols are set out in ORS 418.747.

(6) Obtain Interpreters and Translation. The CPS worker must obtain the services of a competent interpreter and competent written translation service for families, including hearing-impaired family members, who have limited or no means of communicating in or reading English.

(7) Determine Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) Status and Comply with ICWA, if Applicable. The CPS worker must initiate the process to determine the child's ICWA status and notify the Indian child's tribe if ICWA applies. To initiate this process, the CPS worker must:

(a) Assure completion of a form CF 1270, "Verification of ICWA Eligibility", to assist in determining ICWA eligibility.

(b) Contact the child's tribe when an Indian child is the subject of a CPS assessment. Federally recognized tribes must be notified within 24 hours after information alleging abuse or neglect is received by the Department.

(c) If the Indian child is enrolled or eligible for enrollment in a federally recognized tribe, notify the child's tribe if the child may be placed in protective custody.

(d) Consult with the local Department ICWA liaison, a supervisor, or the ICWA manager if the worker has questions regarding the involvement of a tribe or the ICWA status of a child.

(e) Make a diligent attempt to address the following when determining the placement resource:

(A) Contact the tribe's social services department;

(B) Search for relative resources;

(C) Search for available Indian homes; and

(D) Contact other Indian tribes and other Indian organizations with available placement resources.

(f) Unless the Indian child's tribe has established a different order of preference, comply with the ICWA placement preference, which is:

(A) Placement with a member of Indian child's extended family.

(B) Placement with a foster family that is licensed, approved or specified by the Indian child's tribe.

(C) Placement with an Indian foster home licensed or approved by an authorized non-Indian licensing authority.

(D) Placement with an institution for children approved by an Indian tribe or operated by an Indian organization which has a program suitable to meet the Indian child's needs.

(8) Determine Refugee Status and Comply with the Refugee Children Act, if applicable. During a CPS assessment, the CPS worker must consider whether the child is a refugee child. Under ORS 418.925, a "refugee child" is a "person under 18 years of age who has entered the United States and is unwilling or unable to return to the person's country because of persecution or a well-founded fear of persecution on account of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular group or political opinion, or whose parents entered the United States within the preceding 10 years and are or were unwilling or unable to return to their country because of persecution or a well-founded fear of persecution on account of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular group or political opinion."

(a) If it appears that a child is a refugee child, the CPS worker must ask about the child or parents' country of origin, length of time the child or parents have been in the United States, reasons why the child or parents came to the United States, and ethnic and cultural information relevant to the child's status as a refugee. The CPS worker does not have to make a legal determination that the child and parent are refugees, but if the child or the parents indicate they are refugees, then the CPS worker must proceed as if they are, until or unless it is known that they are not refugees.

(b) The CPS worker may not take a refugee child into protective custody unless, in addition to the other requirements for taking a child into custody, the CPS worker determines that:

(A) Removal is necessary to prevent imminent serious emotional or physical harm to the child; and

(B) Reasonable efforts to alleviate the harm through remedial or preventive services do not alleviate the harm, have failed, or are not practical in an emergency situation.

(c) Unless it is a voluntary placement, no refugee child may remain in placement more than five days unless there has been a judicial determination, supported by clear and convincing evidence that:

(A) Preventative or remedial services provided by the Department have failed to alleviate the need for removal; and

(B) Return to the home will likely result in psychological or physical damage to the child.

(d) When a refugee child is placed in care, the juvenile court petition must include, in addition to the information required by ORS 419B.809, the following information:

(A) A specific and detailed account of the circumstances that led the Department to conclude that the child was in imminent danger of serious emotional or physical harm;

(B) Specific actions the Department has taken or is taking to alleviate the need for removal;

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(C) Assurance that the Department has complied with placement preferences listed in ORS 418.937 and listed in subsection (e) of this section; and

(D) Assurance that the Department is making or has made diligent efforts to locate and give notice to all affected refugee family members and to the Refugee Child Welfare Advisory Committee that the petition has been filed.

(e) The CPS worker must consider the refugee child's culture and tradition when making any placement decision for a refugee child and, unless shown to be inappropriate and inconsistent with the best interests of the child, place the child with the following in order of preference:

(A) Natural parents.

(B) Extended family member.

(C) Members from the same cultural heritage.

(D) Persons with knowledge and appreciation of the child's cultural heritage.

(f) The CPS worker may determine that placement under subsection (e) of this section is inappropriate and inconsistent with the best interests of the child if:

(A) The preferred placement presents a threat to the child's safety;

(B) The extreme medical, physical, or psychological needs of the child cannot be met in the placement; or

(C) There is an informed request from either of the child's biological parents not to use a placement, if the request is consistent with stability, security, and the individual needs of the child.

(g) When a juvenile court petition is filed and a refugee child is placed in care, the CPS worker must staff the case with the Refugee Child Welfare Advisory Committee (RCWAC). The CPS worker must contact the International Case Consultant for the Department to arrange a time for the staffing. In preparation for the staffing, the CPS worker must:

(A) Invite the CPS supervisor to the staffing; and

(B) Be prepared to discuss the reasons for the CPS referral, the information indicating that family members are refugees, and their country of origin.

(9) Take Photographs. The CPS worker must, during the CPS assessment, take photographs and document, as necessary, child abuse or neglect and the observable nature of any present danger safety threat or impending danger safety threat.

(a) As provided in ORS 419B.028, a law enforcement officer or the CPS worker may take photographs for the purpose of documenting the child's condition at the time of the CPS assessment.

(b) As provided in ORS 419B.028, if the CPS worker conducting a CPS assessment observes a child who has suffered suspicious physical injury and the CPS worker is certain or has a reasonable suspicion that the injury is or may be the result of abuse, the CPS worker, in accordance with the protocols and procedures of the county multi-disciplinary team described in ORS 418.747, will immediately photograph or cause to have photographed the suspicious physical injuries. Regardless of whether the child has previously been photographed or assessed during a CPS assessment, the CPS worker will photograph or cause to be photographed any suspicious injuries if the CPS worker is certain or has a reasonable suspicion the suspicious injuries are the result of abuse:

(A) During the assessment of a new allegation of abuse; and

(B) Each time, during the assessment, an injury is observed that was not previously observed by the assigned CPS worker.

(c) When a child is photographed pursuant to subsection (b) of this section:

(A) The person taking the photographs or causing to have the photographs taken must, within 48 hours or by the end of the next regular business day, whichever occurs later:

(i) Provide hard copies or prints of the photographs and, if available, copies of the photographs in an electronic format to the designated medical professional; and

(ii) Place hard copies or prints of the photographs and, if available, copies of the photographs in an electronic format in the Department record labeled with the case name, case number, child's name, and date taken.

(B) If a county multidisciplinary team staffing of the case is held, photographs of the injury will be made available to each team member involved in the case staffing at the first meeting regarding the child's case.

(d) The CPS worker must document injuries, hazardous environments, and the observable nature of any present danger safety threat or impending danger safety threat in the assessment narrative by use of photographs, written description, or illustrations.

(e) Photographs of the anal or genital region may be taken only by medical personnel.

(10) Obtain Medical Assessment. The CPS worker must, during the CPS assessment as required in this section, facilitate a medical assessment of the child and obtain the child's medical history when necessary to assure child safety, determine treatment needs, reassure the child and family, or assist in analyzing safety-related information.

(a) When the CPS worker determines that the child is in need of a medical assessment as part of a CPS assessment, the CPS worker must consult with a CPS supervisor as soon as possible, but not at the expense of delaying medical treatment.

(b) If a person conducting an assessment under ORS 419B.020 observes a child who has suffered suspicious physical injury as defined in ORS 419B.023 and the person is certain or has a reasonable suspicion that the injury is or may be the result of abuse, the person must, in accordance with the protocols and procedures of the county multi-disciplinary team described in ORS 418.747, ensure that:

(A) A designated medical professional conducts a medical assessment within 48 hours of the observation of the suspicious physical injury, or sooner if dictated by the child's medical needs; or

(B) An available physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner conducts a medical assessment if, after reasonable efforts to locate a designated medical professional, a designated medical professional is not available to conduct a medical assessment within 48 hours. The CPS worker is required to document in the Department's electronic information system efforts to locate the designated medical professional when an available physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner is used.

(c) The CPS worker must facilitate an assessment by a medical professional if the alleged child abuse or neglect involves injury to the anal or genital region.

(d) When there are indications of severe physical trauma to the child, the CPS worker must make arrangements to immediately transport the child to a medical facility, which may include calling 911. The CPS worker must also make arrangements for medical examination of a child for mild or moderate physical trauma.

(e) To make arrangements for the medical examination of a child, the CPS worker must do the following, unless completing the action would delay medical treatment for the child:

(A) Discuss with the parent or caregiver the need for medical examination or treatment.

(B) Ask the parent or caregiver to take the child to a medical facility for a medical examination or treatment.

(C) Request that the parent sign a form DHS 2099, "Authorization for Use and Disclosure of Information".

(D) Contact an LEA immediately and seek a juvenile court order to obtain protective custody of the child for the purpose of obtaining a medical examination or treatment when:

(i) The parent or caregiver refuses to obtain needed medical examination or treatment;

(ii) The parent or caregiver may flee with the child; or

(iii) Delaying medical examination or treatment could result in severe harm to the child.

(E) Immediately seek medical care and consultation when the child may have a life-threatening condition, or a deteriorating condition that may become life-threatening.

(F) As soon as possible and not later than 24 hours after learning of the exposure, make arrangements to have the child tested for chemical exposure to harmful substances when there is reason to believe a child has been exposed to dangerous chemicals such as those found in a chemical drug lab.

(f) When a report of suspected medical neglect of an infant with a disability and with life-threatening conditions is referred for CPS assessment, the assigned CPS worker must comply with "Investigation of Suspected Medical Neglect-Infants", OAR 413-030-0600 to 413-030-0650.

(g) When it is medically indicated to subject a child in the custody of the Department to HIV testing, the CPS worker must comply with "HIV Testing of Children in Custody and HIV Confidentiality", OAR 413-040-0400 to 413-040-0450.

(h) As provided in ORS 147.425, a child who is the victim of a person crime and is at least 15 years of age at the time of the abuse may have a personal representative present during a medical examination. If a CPS worker believes that a personal representative would compromise the CPS assessment, a CPS worker may prohibit a personal representative from being present during the medical examination.

(i) When the CPS worker is assessing a CPS allegation of medical neglect, the CPS worker must consult with a health care professional as part of the assessment.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(11) Obtain Psychological and Psychiatric Evaluations.

(a) The CPS worker must make a referral for a psychological or psychiatric evaluation of the parent, caregiver, or child by a mental health professional to assure child safety, determine treatment needs, or assist in analyzing safety-related information when during the CPS assessment the CPS worker identifies a specific condition or behavior that requires additional professional evaluation. This includes but is not limited to:

- (A) Unusual or bizarre forms of punishment;
- (B) Mental illness;
- (C) Suicidal ideation;
- (D) Homicidal ideation; or

(E) Unusual or bizarre child or parental behavior that is indicative of emotional problems.

(b) The CPS worker must obtain consent of the parent or caregiver prior to making a referral for a psychological or psychiatric evaluation of the parent, caregiver, or child, unless the evaluation is court ordered.

(12) Make Monthly Face-to-Face Contact. The CPS worker must make a minimum of monthly face-to-face contact as described in OAR 413-080-0054.

Notifications

(1) Requirements for Providing Notifications. The CPS worker must:

(a) Unless the Department determines that disclosure is not permitted under ORS 419B.035, notify the reporter, if the reporter provided the Department with contact information, whether contact was made, whether the Department determined that child abuse or neglect occurred, and whether services will be provided.

(b) Provide the child's parents, including a non-custodial legal parent, and caregivers verbal notification of all CPS assessment dispositions (unfounded, unable to determine, or founded) and whether the Department will provide services as a result of the CPS assessment. When the child's parent is the perpetrator, the notice under subsection (c) of this section also must be provided. If notification may make a child or adult unsafe, a CPS supervisor may authorize an exception to the requirement to provide notification based on documentation supporting that conclusion.

(c) Provide perpetrators written notification of founded dispositions. This written notification must include information about the founded disposition review process as outlined in "Notice and Review of CPS Founded Dispositions", OAR 413-010-0700 to 413-010-0750. If the notification could make a child or adult unsafe, a CPS supervisor may authorize an exception to the requirement to provide notification based on documentation that supports this conclusion.

(d) Provide the Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC) notification of a completed assessment by providing TSPC with a copy of the completed CPS assessment when a teacher or school administrator, as defined in OAR 413-015-0115, is identified as an alleged perpetrator in a report. Regardless of a disposition, a copy of the report must be sent to TSPC after information related to the reporter's identity and other confidential information is removed.

(2) Documentation of Notifications. The CPS worker must document the notifications as described in this rule in the Department's electronic information system and the documentation must include:

- (a) Who made the notification.
- (b) To whom the notification was made.
- (c) The date the notification was made.

(d) That the notifications have been attempted or made within the following time lines:

(A) Prior to completing the CPS assessment for a notification provided under subsection (1)(a) of this rule.

(B) Within five business days of supervisory approval of the CPS assessment for a notification provided under subsection (1)(b) through (1)(d) of this rule.

Assessment of an Individual's Involvement in Safety Management

(1) To assess an individual as a safety service provider for a specific family in a protective action plan, initial safety plan, or an ongoing safety plan, the CPS worker or caseworker must take all of the following actions:

(a) Identify and contact an individual who is a prospective safety service provider.

(b) Gather information from the individual regarding his or her:

(A) Relationship with the child and the child's family; and

(B) Willingness and ability to fulfill the specific role and responsibilities of a safety service provider for the identified family.

(c) Provide the individual with information regarding the specific role and responsibility of the individual to assist in managing the child's safety.

(d) Search the Department's information system and review any historic information regarding the individual that may be useful in assessing the individual's ability to be a safety service provider.

(e) If in an individual's role as a safety service provider the individual will have contact with the child, conduct a criminal records check on the individual using LEDS, provide notice as described in "Access to Law Enforcement Data System in Local Child Welfare Offices" OAR 413-015-1100 to 413-015-1125, and review the individual's criminal history to assess the individual's ability to be a safety service provider.

(2) After the CPS worker or caseworker has considered all the information gathered pursuant to section (1) of this rule, the CPS worker or caseworker must determine the individual's suitability as a safety service provider. In making this determination, the worker must consider whether the individual is willing and able to:

(a) Assist in managing the safety of the child;

(b) Cooperate with any restrictions on contact between the child and others;

(c) Support, verbally and through actions, the protective action plan, initial safety plan, and ongoing safety plan; and

(d) Fulfill the identified role and responsibilities required of the individual in a protective action plan, initial safety plan, or an ongoing safety plan.

(3) The CPS worker or caseworker must consult with and receive approval from a supervisor prior to engaging an individual as a safety service provider whenever the individual's past behaviors, conditions, or circumstances include one of the items listed in the subsections of this section so long as those behaviors, conditions, or circumstances do not impact negatively the individual's ability to fulfill the specific role and responsibilities in managing the child's safety:

(a) A record of child abuse or neglect;

(b) A criminal history; or

Authority, Responsibility, and Applicability

(1) ORS 418.005 provides that, in order to establish, extend, and strengthen welfare services for the protection and care of dependent or neglected children, the Department of Human Services may make all necessary rules and regulations for administering child welfare services. Among other duties outlined by ORS 409.010, the Department is responsible for the delivery and administration of programs and services relating to children and families, including child protective services (CPS).

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(2) The Department has determined that in order to effectively administer child protective services it is necessary to adopt a child abuse assessment system that allows CPS to respond differently to reports of child abuse and neglect that meet the criteria to assign for CPS assessment. This system is called “differential response” and includes two types of CPS assessments, traditional response assessments and alternative response assessments. These changes in the Department’s practice will be implemented, over time, on a county-by-county basis.

(3) Only the Department local offices in those counties identified by the Department to implement the Differential Response system must comply with the requirements outlined in these rules, OAR 413-015-9000 through 413-015-9040. Those counties will be referred to as DR implementation counties and are listed in subsections (a) through (l) of this section. Department local offices in all other counties must comply with the rules in OAR chapter 413, but are not responsible for OAR 413-015-9000 through 413-015-9040.

- (a) Benton County, effective April 6, 2015.
- (b) Clackamas County, effective December 1, 2015.
- (c) Coos County, effective November 16, 2015.
- (d) Curry County, effective November 16, 2015.
- (e) Jackson County, effective November 2, 2015.
- (f) Josephine County, effective November 2, 2015.

- (j) Lincoln County, effective April 6, 2015.
- (k) Linn County, effective April 6, 2015.
- (l) Washington County, effective April 20, 2015.

(4) Except as provided in OAR 413-015-9000 through 413-015-9040, employees in the DR implementation counties remain responsible for all other rules in OAR chapter 413.

(A) A minimum of one staff member for every 20 children in care must meet the Oregon Registry training requirements noted in subsection (b) of this section.

(B) New staff must meet the Oregon Registry training requirements within 90 days of hire, if necessary to maintain the trained staff-to-children ratio described in paragraph (A) of this subsection.

(C) There must be at least one person present where care is provided who has a current certificate in infant and child CPR and a current American Red Cross First Aid card or an equivalent.

(h) The Certified Center Rate applies to child care provided in a center that is certified by the Office of Child Care.

(3) The following provisions apply to child care payments:

(a) Providers not eligible for the enhanced or licensed rate will be paid at an hourly rate for children in care less than 158 hours per month subject to the maximum full-time monthly rate.

(b) Providers eligible for the enhanced or licensed rate will be paid at an hourly rate for children in care less than 136 hours a month, unless the provider customarily bills all families at a part-time monthly rate subject to the maximum full-time monthly rate and is designated as the primary provider for the case.

(c) At their request, providers eligible for the enhanced or licensed rate may be paid at the part-time monthly rate if they provide 63 or more hours of care in the month, customarily bill all families at a part-time monthly rate, and are designated as the primary provider for the case.

(d) Unless required by the circumstances of the client or child, the Department will not pay for care at a part-time monthly or a monthly rate to more than one provider for the same child for the same month.

(e) The Department will pay at the hourly rate for less than 63 hours of care in the month subject to the maximum full-time monthly rate.

(f) The Department will pay for up to five days each month the child is absent if:

(A) The child was scheduled to be in care and the provider bills for the amount of time the child was scheduled to be in care; and

(B) It is the provider's policy to bill all families for absent days.

(g) The Department will not pay for more than five consecutive days of scheduled care for which the child is absent.

(4) The following are the child care rates based on the type of provider, the location of the provider (shown by zip code), the age of the child, and the type of billing used (hourly or monthly): [Table not included. See Ed. Note.]

(5) Except to the extent provided otherwise in section (12) of this rule, this section establishes the ERDC eligibility standard and the client's copayment (copay).

(a) At initial certification, the ERDC eligibility standard is met for a need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) of eight or less if monthly countable income (see OAR 461-001-0000) for the need group is less than 185 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL), as described in OAR 461-155-0180(6). The eligibility standard for a need group of eight applies to any need group larger than eight.

(b) During the certification period (see OAR 461-001-0000) and at recertification the ERDC eligibility standard is met for a need group of eight or less if monthly countable income for the need group during the 12 month period is less than 85 percent state median income (SMI) or 250 percent FPL, whichever is higher, as described in OAR 461-155-0180(8) and (9). The eligibility standard for a need group of eight applies to any need group larger than eight.

(c) The minimum monthly ERDC copay is $25.

(d) For a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) whose countable income is at or below 50 percent of the 2007 FPL, the copay is $25 or 1.5 percent of the filing group's monthly countable income, whichever is greater.

(e) For a filing group whose countable income is over 50 percent of the 2007 FPL, the copay amount is determined with the following percentage of monthly income:

(A) Divide the filing group's countable income by the 2007 FPL, drop all digits beyond two decimal points, subtract 0.5, and multiply this difference by 0.12.

(B) Add .015 to the amount in paragraph (A) of this subsection. This sum is the percentage of monthly income used to determine the copay amount. Multiply this sum by the filing group's countable income and round to the nearest whole dollar.

(f) The 2007 federal poverty level used to determine copay amounts under subsections (d) and (e) of this section is set at the following amounts:

(6) Subject to the provisions in section (9) of this rule, the monthly limit for each child's child care payments is the lesser of the amount charged by the provider or providers and the following amounts:

(a) The monthly rate provided in section (4) of this rule.

(b) The product of the hours of care, limited by section (8) of this rule, multiplied by the hourly rate provided in section (4) of this rule.

(7) The limit in any month for child care payments on behalf of a child whose caretaker is away from the child's home for more than 30 days because the caretaker is a member of a reserve or National Guard unit that is called up for active duty is the lesser of the following:

(a) The amount billed by the provider or providers.

(b) The monthly rate established in this rule for 215 hours of care.

(8) The number of payable billed hours of care for a child is limited as follows:

(a) In the ERDC and TANF programs, the total payable hours of care in a month may not exceed the amounts in paragraphs (A) or (B) of this subsection:

(A) 125 percent of the number of child care hours authorized:

(i) Under OAR 461-160-0040(2) and (5); or

(ii) To participate in activities included in a case plan (see OAR 461-001-0025) including, for clients in the JOBS Plus program, the time the client searches for unsubsidized employment and for which the employer pays the client.

(B) The monthly rate established in section (4) of this rule multiplied by a factor of not more than 1.5, determined by dividing the number of hours billed by 215, when the client meets the criteria for extra hours under section (10) of this rule.

(b) In the ERDC program, for a client who earns less than the Oregon minimum wage, the total may not exceed 125 percent of the anticipated earnings divided by the state minimum wage not to exceed 172 hours (which is full time).

(c) In the TANF program, for a client who earns less than the Oregon minimum wage or is self-employed, the total may not exceed 125 percent of the anticipated earnings divided by the state minimum wage not to exceed 172 hours (which is full time). The limitation of this subsection is waived for the first three months of the client's employment.

(d) In the ERDC program, employed caretakers eligible under OAR 461-135-0400 may have education hours added to the authorized work hours. Education hours may not exceed authorized work hours and combined hours may not exceed 215 hours per month. Education hours are hours required to participate in coursework that leads to a certificate, degree, or job-related knowledge or skills attainment at an institution of higher education approved to receive federal financial aid.

(9) The limit in any month for child care payments on behalf of a child whose caretaker has special circumstances, defined in section (10) of this rule, is the lesser of one of the following:

(a) The amount billed by the provider or providers; or

(b) The monthly rate established in section (4) of this rule multiplied by a factor, of not more than 1.5, determined by dividing the number of hours billed by 215.

(10) The limit allowed by section (9) of this rule is authorized once the Department has determined the client has special circumstances. For the purposes of this section, a client has special circumstances when it is necessary for the client to obtain child care in excess of 215 hours in a month to perform the requirements of his or her employment or training required to keep current employment, not including self-employment. This is limited to the following situations:

(a) The commute time to and from work exceeds two hours per day.

(b) The caretaker works an overnight shift and care is necessary for both work hours and sleep hours.

(c) The caretaker works a split shift and it is not feasible to care for the child between shifts.

(d) The caretaker consistently works more than 40 hours per week.

(11) The payment available for care of a child who meets the special needs criteria described in subsection (e) of section (1) of this rule is increased in accordance with OAR 461-155-0151 if the requirements of both of the following subsections are met:

(a) The child requires significantly more direct supervision by the child care provider than normal for a child of the same age.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(b) The child is enrolled in a local school district Early Intervention or Early Childhood Special Education program or school-age Special Education Program. The enrollment required by this subsection is waived if determined inappropriate by a physician, nurse practitioner, licensed or certified psychologist, clinical social worker, or school district official.

(12) Starting May 1, 2012:

(a) The minimum monthly ERDC copay is $27.

(b) Except as stated in subsection (a) of this section, the Department adds 10 percent to the monthly client copay amount set under section (5) of this rule by multiplying the copay amount by 1.1 and rounding down to the nearest whole dollar.

(13) A provider caring for a child in a contracted child care slot with the Department will be paid the lesser of the monthly rate provided in section (4) of this rule or the amount charged by the provider.

Certified to be Effective: 12-28-15

Notice Publication Date: 11-1-2015

Rules Amended: 461-001-0025, 461-190-0211

Subject: OAR 461-190-0211 about case plan activities and standards for support service payments for the TANF JOBS program is being amended to include job skills training and short-term self-initiated training as available JOBS activities to eligible TANF clients. The rule is also amended to:

To align with these changes, OAR 461-001-0025 about definitions of terms, components, and activities in the JOBS, Pre-TANF, Post-TANF, and TANF programs is also being amended to:

- Define "crisis intervention" as short-term services to address an immediate crisis need;

- Remove the definitions of "microenterprise" and "teen parent" (these terms are already defined in the main definitions rule for chapter 461, OAR 461-001-0000);

- Update the definition of "self-initiated training" as up to six months of job training which may be used to extend an approved vocational training;

- Remove reference to sheltered work; and

- Make minor non-substantive changes to update statute and rule references, update terminology, correct grammar and punctuation, and reformat the rule to align with other definitions rules in chapter 461.

This makes permanent temporary rules adopted on July 1, 2015.

Definitions of Terms, Components, and Activities; JOBS, Pre-TANF, Post-TANF, TANF

In the JOBS, Pre-TANF, Post-TANF, and TANF programs, the following definitions apply to rules in OAR chapter 461 unless the context indicates otherwise.

(1) "Activity" means an action or set of actions to be taken by an individual, as specified in the case plan (see section (6) of this rule). An "activity" is intended to reduce barriers and:

(a) Increase the likelihood of self-sufficiency, employment, job retention, wage enhancement, and financial independence; or

(b) Promote family stability (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(2) "Adult Basic Education (ABE)" means an activity (see section (1) of this rule) in the basic education (see section (5) of this rule) component (see section (8) of this rule) that involves remedial education coursework intended to ensure functional literacy.

(3) "Assessment" means an activity of the program entry (see section (30) of this rule) component that involves gathering information to identify the strengths, interests, family circumstances, status in the JOBS program, and vocational aptitudes and preferences of the individual and to mutually determine an employment goal, the level of participation of the individual in the JOBS program, and which support services (see section (36) of this rule) are needed. This activity includes providing screenings and evaluations (if appropriate) to determine the level of participation, accommodation, and modification for the individual in the JOBS program. The screenings include, but are not limited to, physical and mental health needs, substance abuse, domestic violence, and learning needs.

(4) "Barrier" means a personal condition or circumstance that reduces the likelihood the individual will become employed or the ability of the individual to participate in an activity listed in the case plan.

(5) "Basic education" means a component of non-core activities (see section (24) of this rule) intended to ensure functional literacy for all JOBS clients. "Basic education" activities are high school attendance, English as a second language (ESL) (see section (14) of this rule) instruction, job skills training (see section (20) of this rule), adult basic education (ABE) (see section (2) of this rule) instruction, and services that result in obtaining a general equivalency diploma (GED). The component is discussed in OAR 461-190-0171 and 461-190-0181.

(6) "Case plan" (formerly also known as an employment development plan (EDP), a personal plan, or personal development plan) means a written outline, developed in partnership by the individual and case manager, with input from partners as appropriate, listing activities and goals for the individual. The "case plan" also identifies the support service payments, accommodations, and modifications to help the individual complete the plan. The DHS 1543 — Domestic Violence Assistance Agreement — is the "case plan" for individuals with safety concerns about domestic violence (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(7) "Community service program" means an activity in the unpaid employment (see section (38) of this rule) component in which the individual works without pay at a job site to enhance the likelihood the individual will become employed and perform work for the direct benefit of the community. This activity is available through nonprofit organizations or public agencies.

(8) "Component" means a set of one or more activities of the JOBS program including paid unsubsidized employment (see section (27) of this rule), paid subsidized employment (see section (26) of this rule), unpaid employment, vocational training (see section (40) of this rule), job search and readiness (see section (19) of this rule), and basic education activities.

(9) "Core activities" means federally defined countable work activities including paid unsubsidized employment; paid subsidized employment; work experience (see section (41) of this rule); on-the-job training (see section (25) of this rule); job search and readiness; community service program (see section (7) of this rule); vocational training; and providing child care services to a community service program participant (see section (31) of this rule).

(10) "Crisis intervention" means short-term services to address an immediate crisis need.

(11) "Degree Completion Initiative (DCI)" means an activity in which a limited number of TANF recipients may participate for up to 12 months to complete an educational degree at a two- or four-year educational institution.

(12) “Drug and alcohol services” means an activity in the job search and readiness component that provides substance abuse screenings and evaluations, outpatient or resident treatment, and support groups such as AA or NA.

(13) “Employer contact” means client communication with an employer or employer’s representative through a visit, phone call, or mail to request consideration for employment.

(14) “English as a second language (ESL)” means an activity in the basic education component. “ESL” classes are designed to give individuals with limited English proficiency better working skills in the language.

(15) “Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA)” means the law that applies to subject employers with individuals working in the unpaid employment component. “FLSA” requires that individuals engaged in unpaid employment, in effect, may not “work off” their SNAP and TANF benefits at an hourly rate less than the state minimum wage.

(16) “Federally required participation rates” means the participation rates required by section 407 of the Social Security Act (42 USC 607).

(17) “High School or GED Completion Attendance” means an activity in the basic education component that involves attendance at a secondary school or in a course of study that leads to the completion of the GED.

(18) “Job search (initial or regular)” means an activity in the job search and readiness component that focuses on clients looking for and obtaining employment designed to improve skills in locating and competing for employment in the local labor market and may include writing resumes, receiving instruction in interviewing skills, and participating in group and individual “job search”. There are two categories of “job search”: “initial job search” and “regular job search”. “Initial job search” may occur during the Pre-TANF program. “Regular job search” begins not later than the day after the Department finds the individual eligible for TANF benefits.

(19) “Job search and readiness” means a component designed to prepare individuals to compete in the local labor market. Job search (see section (18) of this rule), life skills (see section (22) of this rule), drug and alcohol services (see section (12) of this rule), mental health services (see section (23) of this rule), and rehabilitation activities (see section (32) of this rule) are the activities of the “job search and readiness” component.

(20) “Job skills training” means an activity in the basic education component designed to provide classroom training in vocational and technical skills or equivalent knowledge and abilities in a specific job area.

(21) “JOBS Plus program (JOBS Plus)” means an activity in the paid subsidized employment component that provides TANF clients with on-the-job training and pays their benefits as wages (see OAR 461-190-0401 to 461-190-0426).

(22) “Life skills” means an activity of the job search and readiness component. The activity develops employment-preparation skills and skills and attitudes that are commonly found in the workplace.

(23) “Mental health services” means an activity in the job search and readiness component that provides mental health screenings and assessments, counseling, medication management, and support groups.

(24) “Non-core activities” means federally defined countable work activities that include job skills training directly related to employment; education directly related to employment; and satisfactory school attendance at a secondary level or leading to a GED.

(25) “On-the-job training (OJT)” means an activity in the paid subsidized employment component in which an individual works for an employer for a contracted period. The employer trains the individual and is reimbursed by the Department, usually at 50 percent of the wages of the participant, for those training costs.

(26) “Paid subsidized employment” means a component in which individuals are employed in a subsidized public or private sector job. JOBS Plus (see section (21) of this rule), work supplementation (see section (42) of this rule), and on-the-job training are the activities in the “paid subsidized employment” component.

(27) “Paid unsubsidized employment” means a component in which individuals are employed full- or part-time in an unsubsidized job and receiving TANF benefits. Unsubsidized employment is a job that is not subsidized by TANF or any other public program. The UN work program (see section (39) of this rule) and microenterprise (see OAR 461-001-0000) are the activities in the paid unsubsidized employment component.

(28) “Parents as Scholars (PAS)” means a JOBS program component that assists TANF parents who are or will be undergraduates to begin or continue their education at a two- or four-year educational institution (see OAR 461-190-0199).

(29) “Program entry” means an activity that includes all the activities that prepare an individual to actively participate in the JOBS program including, but not limited to, assessment (see section (3) of this rule) and writing the initial case plan.

(30) “Progress (good or satisfactory)” means, for federal reporting purposes, an individual participating in an education or training activity makes “good progress” or “satisfactory progress” by receiving a passing grade or progressing toward completion of high school or GED completion at no less than the normal rate of a half-time student.

(31) “Providing child care services to a community service program participant” means an activity in the unpaid employment component.

(32) “Rehabilitation activities” means an activity in the job search and readiness component that provides medical or therapeutic screenings, assessments, and treatment. This activity also includes medical management and support groups.

(33) “Self-initiated training (SI)” means a JOBS program component that is training needed to be competitive in the job market. Participation in this component is limited to six months. The component may be used to extend an approved vocational training activity.

(34) “Supported work” means an activity in the unpaid employment component that gives individuals intensive staff support, skill training, intervention, and counseling that will enable them to function independently at work.

(35) “Stabilization, intervention, and other activities” means activities that are non-countable for federal participation purposes including child health and development, crisis intervention (see section (10) of this rule), domestic violence services, family stability activities, medical services, retention services, services to child welfare families, social security application, and stabilized living services.

(36) “Support services” means services that case-managed clients need to participate successfully in activities outlined in their case plan, seek and maintain employment, or remove barriers.

(37) “Transition services” means services included in an individual’s case plan when the individual becomes employed or becomes ineligible for cash benefits because of an increase in income or resources.

(38) “Unpaid employment” means a component in which an individual is placed in an unpaid job to develop good work habits, training, and knowledge to obtain employment. Employment may be in the private or public sector or through a work simulation program. Work experience, community service program, providing child care services to a community service program participant, and supported work (see section (34) of this rule) are the activities of the “unpaid employment” component.

(39) “UN work program” means an activity in the paid unsubsidized employment component in which TANF clients work in unsubsidized employment and may also participate in another JOBS work site training activity.

(40) “Vocational training” means an activity and component of the JOBS program that provides JOBS participants with up to 12 months access to specific “vocational training” that will lead to a career with an appropriate wage level and opportunity for employment.

(41) “Work experience” means an activity in the unpaid employment component in which the individual works without pay at a job site to develop good work habits and basic vocational skills that enhance the likelihood the individual will become employed. “Work experience” is available through private for-profit businesses, nonprofit organizations, or public agencies.

(42) “Work supplementation” means an activity in the unpaid employment component that is up to six months of work-site training provided by an employer. The component and activity are both called “work supplementation”. In “work supplementation”, the Department subsidizes the wages of the participant by providing up to $200 per month to the employer.

(1) Participation in an activity (see OAR 461-001-0025) is available to the following individuals:

(a) An individual who is an adult parent, needy caretaker relative (see OAR 461-001-0000), or teen parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) receiving TANF who is not otherwise exempt (see OAR 461-130-0305) and in accordance with participation requirements in OAR 461-130-0310.

(b) An individual who is an applicant or recipient in the Pre-TANF, Post-TANF, or SFPSS program.

(c) Subject to local services and budget, an individual who is exempt from JOBS requirements as a one-parent household with a dependent child (see OAR 461-001-0000) under six months of age and has approved activities as specified in the individual's case plan (see OAR 461-001-0025).

(d) An individual who has gone over-income for the TANF program due to earnings and needs to increase activity hours to meet Post-TANF federally required participation rates (see OAR 461-001-0025).

(e) An individual who has become over-income for the TANF program due to earnings in an on-the-job training (see OAR 461-001-0000) activity is eligible to receive support services (see OAR 461-001-0025) for no more than three months, unless circumstances unique to the situation are identified and warrant the Department to approve a limited number of additional months. Eligibility for support services under this subsection is only permitted while the individual continues to participate in the on-the-job training activity.

(2) For eligible individuals, subject to the requirements and limitations in sections (1), (5), (6), and (7) of this rule, the following activities are available, and include support services payments if needed:

(a) Job search (see OAR 461-001-0025).

(b) JOBS Plus (see OAR 461-001-0025 and 461-101-0010) is limited to six months per individual, unless circumstances unique to the employment situation are identified and warrant the Department to approve a limited number of additional months.

(m) Job skills training (see OAR 461-001-0025).

(3) The following activities do not include support services payments:

(a) Domestic Violence Intervention.

(b) Family Support & Connections.

(c) Microenterprise (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(d) Post-TANF.

(e) Program entry (see OAR 461-001-0025).

(4) Participation in an activity is based on whether an individual is Job Ready, Near Job Ready, Not Job Ready, or a teen parent.

(a) Job Ready means the individual has no barrier (see OAR 461-001-0025) or current barriers do not impact participation or employment. In addition, the individual has all of the following:

(A) Prior stable work history, either paid or unpaid.

(B) Had not voluntarily quit or been dismissed from his or her most recent employment (see OAR 461-135-0070) without good cause (see OAR 461-135-0070).

(C) Reliable or available transportation.

(D) No outstanding legal issues that would impact or prevent employment.

(E) Access to reliable child care within support services limits, or does not need help to pay for child care, or does not need child care.

(b) Near Job Ready means the individual has minimal barriers to participation or employment and the individual is addressing the barriers. In addition, the individual has all of the following:

(A) Limited or no work history, either paid or unpaid.

(B) Reliable or available transportation.

(C) No outstanding legal issues that would impact or prevent employment, or such legal issues are identified and are being addressed.

(D) Access to reliable child care within support services limits, or does not need help to pay for child care, or does not need child care.

(c) Not Job Ready means the individual has one or more barriers to participation or employment or is in crisis, and the individual is not addressing the barriers. For example, the individual has one or more of the following:

(A) Lack of stable housing that is preventing participation in an activity or employment.

(B) Domestic violence (see OAR 461-001-0000), mental health, or alcohol and drug issues, and the individual is not addressing the issue.

(C) Medical issues that prevent participation in an activity or employment.

(D) Outstanding legal issues that would impact or prevent employment.

(E) Literacy issues that impact the ability for the individual to participate in an activity or obtain employment.

(F) Other family stability issues that need to be addressed.

(5) In approving JOBS program support services payments, the Department must consider lower cost alternatives. This rule is not intended to supplant Department funding with other funding that is available in the community. The expectation of the Department is that case managers and clients work collaboratively to seek resources that are reasonably available to the client in order to participate in activities.

(6) Payments for support services are only provided when:

(a) Necessary to participate in activities in a signed case plan;

(b) Authorized in advance; and

(c) All other provisions of this rule are met.

(7) Payments for support services are subject to the following limitations:

(a) Child Care. Payments for child care may be authorized, as limited by OAR 461-160-0040, if necessary to enable Job Ready or Near Job Ready individuals or teen parents to participate in an approved JOBS program activity specified in the individual's case plan, including a Not Job Ready individual approved by the district to complete a family stability activity. If authorized, payment for child care is:

(A) The lesser of the actual rate charged by the care provider and the rate established in OAR 461-155-0150. The Department rate for children in care less than 158 hours in a month is limited by OAR 461-155-0150.

(B) The minimum hours necessary, including meal and commute time, for the individual to participate in an approved JOBS program activity.

(b) Transportation. The Department may provide payments for a Job Ready or Near Job Ready individual or teen parent for transportation costs incurred in travel to and from an approved JOBS program activity or a Not Job Ready individual approved by the district to complete a family stability activity. Payment is made only for the cost of public transportation or the cost of fuel. Payments are subject to the following considerations:

(A) Payment for public transportation is a priority over payment for a privately owned vehicle.

(B) Payment for fuel costs for a privately-owned vehicle is only provided if the client or individual providing the transportation has a valid driver's license and vehicle insurance and either of the following is true:

(i) No public transportation is available or the client is unable to use public transportation because of a verifiable medical condition or disability for which no accommodation is available.

(ii) Public transportation is available but is more costly than the cost of fuel.

(c) Housing and Utilities. Payments for housing and utilities are not allowed.

(d) Other Payments. When the need is identified by the district and no other sources are available, the Department may provide other payments needed:

(A) To look for work.

(B) To accept a job offer.

(C) To attain a high school diploma or GED.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(D) For books and supplies to complete a district-approved vocational training.

(E) Other payments with manager approval that are not otherwise restricted by rule.

(e) None of the following payments are allowed:

(A) Non-essential items.

(B) Television, cable, and Internet.

(C) Fines, reinstatement fees, restitution, legal fees, civil fees, court costs, or other costs associated with a penalty.

(D) Purchase of a car, recreational vehicle, or motor home.

(E) Support services for exempt individuals.

(F) Pet-related costs.

(G) ERDC co-payments.

(8) The Department may require an individual to provide verification of a need for, or costs associated with, support services prior to approval and issuance of payment if verification is reasonably available.

(9) The Department may reduce, close, or deny in whole or in part a request for a support services payment in the following circumstances:

(a) The individual is disqualified for failing to comply with a case plan, unless the payment in question is necessary for the individual to demonstrate cooperation with his or her case plan.

(b) The purpose for the payment is not related to the individual's case plan.

(c) The individual disagrees with a support services payment offered or made by the Department as outlined in the individual's case plan.

(d) The individual is not determined to be a Job Ready or Near Job Ready individual under section (1) of this rule, a Not Job Ready individual in a family stability activity, or a teen parent.

Subject: The Department of Human Services is making several changes to Aging and People with Disabilities (APD) medical programs. The changes:

- Remove resource limits for three of the Medicare Savings Programs (QMB-BAS, SMB, and SMF).

- Increase the amount of in-home supplement in Oregon Supplemental Income Program Medical (OSIPM) from $15 to $22 per month and clarify the type of income counted in determining eligibility for the special need.

- Clarify that in the OSIPM and QMB programs, when determining adjusted income, the $20 deduction from unearned income is not taken from income received from a program based on need and that is funded by the federal government or a nongovernmental agency.

- Clarify policy relating to treatment of Indian (Native American) benefits in APD medical programs.

These changes are described in more detail below.

Remove Resource Limits for QMB-BAS, SMB, and SMF:

The rules below are being amended to reflect that the Department is removing resource limits for three of the Medicare Savings Programs (QMB-BAS, SMB, and SMF), which are currently based on the resource limits of the Medicare Part D Low Income Subsidy ($7,280 for a need group of one and $10,930 for a 2-person need group). States are authorized to use flexibility under Section 1902(r)(2) of the Social Security Act for the purposes of simplifying administrative processes. This change will facilitate more timely eligibility determinations for DHS staff as well as make the application and redetermination process less cumbersome for applicants for and recipients of Medicare Savings Programs. Note: CMS has clarified that the Department may not eliminate resource limits for the QMB-DW program, and that is reflected in these amendments. Oregon currently has no QMB-DW clients because individuals who would qualify for QMB-DW would also qualify for OSIPM-EPD (in order to qualify for QMB-DW, one must not be eligible for any other Medicaid program).

- OAR 461-115-0700 about required verifications is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from the section regarding verifying resources because resources will no longer be an eligibility factor.

- OAR 461-140-0020 about availability of resources is being amended to remove the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs; whether a resource is available will no longer be relevant because resources are all excluded.

- OAR 461-140-0120 about availability and treatment of lump-sum income is being amended to account for the fact that QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs will no longer count lump-sum income as a resource in the month after receipt.

- OAR 461-140-0250 about determining the uncompensated value of a transferred asset is being amended to remove QMB programs for two reasons: there is no longer a resource limit and because disqualifying transfers only affect eligibility for long-term-care services, not QMB programs.

- OAR 461-145-0010 about animals is being amended to state that all animals are excluded as a resource in the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs.

- OAR 461-145-0020 about annuities is being amended to state that in the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs, an annuity is not considered a resource, but annuity payments are counted as unearned income to the payee.

- OAR 461-145-0040 about burial arrangements and burial funds is being amended to state that these items are excluded in the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs.

- OAR 461-145-0050 about burial spaces and merchandise is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from sections that refer to these items as countable resources.

- OAR 461-145-0089 about income and resources for corporations and other business entities in the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB programs is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from sections that refer to the treatment of the equity value of an ownership interest in a corporation or business entity.

- OAR 461-145-0220 about the home has been amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from sections that refer to the home as a countable resource.

- OAR 461-145-0240 about income-producing sales contracts is being amended to remove references to QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs in sections which address these items as countable resources.

- OAR 461-145-0252 about the treatment of income-producing property in the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB programs is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from the section about counting the equity value of income-producing property as a resource.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

- OAR 461-145-0310 about life estates is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs as life estates are resources and will no longer be an eligibility factor.

- OAR 461-145-0320 about life insurance is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs because life insurance is a resource and will no longer be an eligibility factor.

- OAR 461-145-0330 about loans and interest on loans is being amended to remove references to QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs in sections which address loans as a resource and to establish new rules for how to treat payments to both a lender and a borrower.

- OAR 461-145-0360 about motor vehicles is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs because motor vehicles are a resource and will no longer be an eligibility factor.

- OAR 461-145-0380 about pension and retirement plans is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs from sections which refer to these items as countable resources.

- OAR 461-145-0410 about program benefits is being amended to remove associations between QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs and benefits that are counted as a resource.

- OAR 461-145-0420 about real property is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs because real property is a resource.

- OAR 461-145-0460 about sale of a resource is being amended to establish new rules about how proceeds from a sale are counted, namely that they are not countable as a resource and under what conditions they are counted as income.

- OAR 461-145-0490 about Social Security benefits is being amended to remove the association between QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs and circumstances when these benefits are counted as a resource.

- OAR 461-145-0510 about SSI is being amended to remove any association between QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs and treatment of SSI as a resource.

- OAR 461-145-0540 about trusts is being amended to state that trust funds are excluded as a resource in the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs and that distributions to or for the benefit of the client are treated as unearned income.

- OAR 461-145-0600 about work-related capital assets, equipment, and inventory is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs.

- OAR 461-150-0050 about prospective eligibility and budgeting is being amended to clarify that certain monies are excluded as income and to remove the association between QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs and the resource provisions.

- OAR 461-160-0010 about use of resources in determining financial eligibility is being amended to establish that resources have no effect in determining eligibility for the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs.

- OAR 461-160-0015 about resource limits is amended to state that in the QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs, all resources are excluded. (This rule is also amended to move the REF resource limit from the TANF section into its own section. Some of the terminology in the combined section is only applicable to the TANF program. Addressing REF in its own section avoids confusion.)

- OAR 461-175-0310 about the notice situation for asset transfer disqualifications is being amended to remove QMB-BAS/SMB/SMF programs because asset transfers have no effect on eligibility for those programs.

OSIPM In-Home Supplement Increase:

OAR 461-155-0575 about the in-home supplement special need in Oregon Supplemental Income Program Medical (OSIPM) is being amended to increase the amount of the payment authorized by the rule from $15 to $22 per month. The increase may be adjusted higher or lower depending on spending patterns during the last quarter of 2015. Additionally, the rule is being amended to clarify the type of income counted in determining eligibility for the special need by stating that countable income is used in determining eligibility.

OSIPM and QMB Income Deduction:

OARs 461-160-0550, 461-160-0551, and 461-160-0552 about income deductions used to determine countable adjusted income in the OSIPM and QMB programs are being amended to clarify that the $20 deduction from unearned income is not taken from income received from a program based on need and that is funded fully or in part by the federal government or a nongovernmental agency. OAR 461-160-0552 is also amended to state that the $20 deduction does not apply to in-kind support and maintenance.

Treatment of Indian (Native American) Benefits:

OAR 461-145-0260 about Indian (Native American) benefits is being amended to remove APD medical programs because APD medical policy is no longer aligned with the other programs covered in this rule. A new rule, OAR 461-145-0259, is being adopted to address this topic for APD medical programs.

In addition, non-substantive edits are being made to these rules to improve clarity and ease of reading such as updating terminology, alphabetizing programs, correcting and updating statutory and rule references, and correcting formatting and punctuation.

Required Verification; GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB

In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB programs:

(1) Except as provided in section (2) of this rule, all eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) factors must be verified at initial application, when there is a change to any factor, and whenever eligibility for benefits becomes questionable.

(2) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, if the total reported value of gross “liquid resources” of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) is less than $400, verification of the value of “liquid resources” is only required if questionable. For the purposes of this rule, “liquid resources” include cash as well as other resources that can be converted to cash within 20 business days, except that the cash surrender value of a life insurance policy is not considered a liquid resource.

Availability of Resources

(1) Except as provided in sections (2) to (4) of this rule:

(a) In the SNAP program, a resource owned jointly by a client and another individual is available in its entirety to the client.

(b) In all other programs, jointly-owned resources are available to members of a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) only to the extent they own the resource; except that in the OSIPM and QMB-DW program, jointly-owned “liquid resources” (including bank and other financial institution accounts) are assumed to be available in their entirety to the client. The client has the right to provide evidence rebutting the ownership assumption. For the purposes of this rule, “liquid resources” means cash as well as other resources that can be converted to cash within 20 business days.

(2) A resource is not available to a client in each of the following situations:

(a) The client has a legal interest in the resource, but the resource is not in the client’s possession and the client is unable to gain possession of it. In the REF and REFM programs, if a resource remains in the applicant’s country of origin, it is not available.

(b) The resource is jointly owned with others not in the financial group who are unwilling to sell their interest in the resource, and the client’s interest is not reasonably saleable.

(c) The client verifiably lacks the competence to gain access to or use the resource and there is no legal representative available to act on the client’s behalf.

(d) The client is a victim of domestic violence (see OAR 461-001-0000) and:

(A) Attempting to use the resource would subject the client to risk of domestic violence; or

(B) The client is using the resource to avoid the abusive situation.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(e) Except as provided in OAR 461-145-0540, the resource is included in an irrevocable or restricted trust and may not be used to meet the basic monthly needs of the financial group.

Availability and Treatment of Lump-Sum Income

(1) Lump-sum income (see OAR 461-001-0000) is treated as follows if it is received by a member of a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530).

(2) In the EA, REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs:

(a) Lump-sum income is a resource.

(b) In the EA, REF, REFM, and TANF programs:

(A) Lump-sum income is considered available to the financial group when a member of the group receives the income and until the income becomes unavailable for a reason beyond the group's control.

(B) Lump-sum income is considered unavailable for a reason beyond the group's control if the member who received the lump-sum income:

(i) Leaves the financial group before spending any of the lump-sum income; or

(ii) Spends the lump-sum income on an immediate basic need or emergency.

(3) In the ERDC program, lump-sum income is excluded.

(4) In the GA, GAM, OSIP (except OSIP-EPD), OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD), and QMB-DW programs, lump-sum income is treated as follows:

(a) Lump-sum income not excluded is unearned income in the month of receipt, and any amount remaining in future months is a resource, except that in the OSIP and OSIPM programs retroactive SSB and SSI payments are treated in accordance with OAR 461-145-0490 and 461-145-0510.

(b) The following lump-sum income is excluded:

(A) The first $20 received in a month;

(B) The income the client turns over to the Department as reimbursement for previous assistance; and

(C) The income the client uses to pay for special need items approved by the Department. Special needs are explained in OAR 461-155-0500 and following.

(5) In the OSIP-EPD and OSIPM-EPD programs, lump-sum income is counted as a resource.

(6) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs:

(a) Lump-sum income not excluded is unearned income in the month of receipt, except that retroactive SSB and SSI payments are treated in accordance with OAR 461-145-0490 and 461-145-0510.

(b) The following lump-sum income is excluded:

Determining The Uncompensated Value of a Transferred Asset

(1) The uncompensated value of a disqualifying transfer of an asset is used in OAR 461-140-0260 to 461-140-0300 to calculate the ineligibility period of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530).

(2) To determine uncompensated value:

(a) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, and OSIPM programs:

(A) The value of the compensation received for the asset is subtracted from the fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of the asset. This result is the uncompensated value, unless the financial group had countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resources of less than the resource limit at the time of the first transfer. If the financial group had countable resources of less than the resource limit at the time of the first transfer, the remainder is then added to other countable resources, and the amount by which the sum exceeds the resource limit in OAR 461-160-0015 is the uncompensated value.

(B) For an annuity, unless the client verifies a lesser amount, the fair market value is equal to the amount of money used to establish the annuity, plus any additional payments used to fund the annuity, plus any earnings, minus any regular monthly payments already received, minus early withdrawals, and minus any surrender fees.

(b) In all other programs, the value of the compensation received for the resource is subtracted from the fair market value of the resource. The remainder is added to the other countable resources at the time of the transfer. The amount by which the sum exceeds the resource limit is the uncompensated value.

(c) The compensation received for a transferred asset includes:

(A) Encumbrances assumed by the buyer; and

(B) Goods or services provided to the client, limited to their true value, if there was a prior agreement to exchange the asset for the goods or services.

Animals

(1) Animals that are kept as pets or raised as food for the filing group (OAR 461-110-0310) are excluded.

(2) The treatment of an animal considered income-producing property (see OAR 461-001-0000) is covered by the income-producing property rules (see OAR 461-145-0250 and 461-145-0252).

(3) In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(a) The fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of animals that are kept or retained for sale or resale is a countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resource.

(b) If an animal is a source of both food and income for the filing group:

(A) The fair market value of the animal remains excluded.

(B) The proceeds of any sales of the animal or its products are counted as unearned income.

(4) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, all animals are excluded as a resource.

Annuities; Not OSIPM

(1) For the purposes of this rule:

(a) "Actuarially sound" means commercial annuities (see subsection (d) of this section) that pay principal and interest out in equal monthly installments over the actuarial life expectancy of the annuitant. For purposes of this definition, the actuarial life expectancy is established by the Periodic Life Table of the Office of the Chief Actuary of the Social Security Administration and, for transactions (including the purchase of an annuity) occurring on or after July 1, 2008, the payout period must be within three months of the actuarial life expectancy.

(b) An annuity does not include benefits that are set up and accrued in a regularly funded retirement account while an individual is working, whether maintained in the original account or used to purchase an annuity,

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

if the Internal Revenue Service recognizes the account as dedicated to retirement or pension purposes. (The treatment of pension and retirement plans is covered in OAR 461-145-0380.)

(c) "Child" means a biological or adoptive child who is:

(A) Under age 21; or

(B) Any age and meets the Social Security Administration criteria for blindness or disability.

(d) "Commercial annuities" means contracts or agreements (not related to employment) by which an individual receives annuitized payments on an investment for a lifetime or specified number of years.

(2) In all programs except QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF, an annuity is counted as a resource if:

(a) The annuity does not make regular payments for a lifetime or specified number of years; or

(b) The annuity does not qualify for exclusion as a resource under subsection (4)(b)(C) of this rule.

(3) If an annuity is a countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resource under this rule, the cash value is equal to the amount of money used to establish the annuity, plus any additional payments used to fund the annuity, plus any earnings, minus any regular payments already received, minus any early withdrawals, and minus any surrender fees.

(4) Commercial annuities and payments from such annuities are counted as follows:

(a) In all programs except OSIP and QMB, annuity payments are counted as unearned income to the payee.

(b) In the OSIP and QMB-DW program:

(A) For an individual in a nonstandard living arrangement (see OAR 461-001-0000), if an individual or the spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) of an individual purchases or transfers an annuity prior to January 1, 2006, the transaction may be subject to the rules on asset transfers in OAR 461-140-0210 and following. For an annuity that is not disqualifying or for an individual in a standard living arrangement (see OAR 461-001-0000), the annuity payments are counted as unearned income to the payee.

(B) If an individual or the spouse of an individual purchases an annuity on or after January 1, 2006, the annuity is counted as a resource unless it is excluded under paragraph (C) of this subsection.

(C) An annuity described in paragraph (B) of this subsection is excluded as a resource if the criteria in subparagraphs (i), (ii), and (iii) of this paragraph are met, except that if an unmarried individual is the annuitant, the requirements of subparagraph (iv) of this paragraph must also be met and if the spouse of an individual is the annuitant, the requirements of subparagraph (v) of this paragraph must also be met.

(i) The annuity is irrevocable.

(ii) The annuity is actuarially sound (see subsection (1)(a) of this rule).

(iii) The annuity is issued by a business that is licensed and approved to issue commercial annuities by the state in which the annuity is purchased.

(iv) If an unmarried individual is the annuitant, the annuity must specify that upon the death of the individual, the first remainder beneficiary is either of the following:

(I) The Department, for all funds remaining in the annuity up to the amount of medical benefits provided on behalf of the individual.

(II) The child (see subsection (1)(c) of this rule) of the individual, if the Department is the next remainder beneficiary (after this child), up to the amount of medical benefits provided on behalf of the individual, in the event that the child does not survive the individual.

(v) If the spouse of an individual is the annuitant, the annuity must specify that, upon the death of the spouse of the individual, the first remainder beneficiaries are either of the following:

(I) The individual, in the event that the individual survives the spouse; and the Department, in the event that the individual does not survive the spouse, for all funds remaining in the annuity up to the amount of medical benefits provided on behalf of the individual.

(II) A child of the spouse; and the individual in the event that this child does not survive the spouse.

(D) If an annuity is excluded under paragraph (C) of this subsection, annuity payments are counted as unearned income to the payee.

(c) For OSIPM, see OAR 461-145-0022.

(5) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, only the interest portion of annuity payments is counted as unearned income to the payee.

Burial Arrangements and Burial Fund

(1) The following definitions apply to this rule:

(a) "Burial arrangement" means an agreement with an entity, such as a funeral agreement (which means an arrangement made with a licensed funeral provider), burial insurance, or a burial trust designating a funeral director as the beneficiary, that makes allowance for burial costs. A "burial arrangement" does not include a burial space, which is covered in OAR 461-145-0050, or a burial fund (see subsection (b) of this section).

(b) "Burial fund" means an identifiable fund set aside for a client's burial costs. A "burial fund" does not include a burial space, which is covered in OAR 461-145-0050, or a burial arrangement (see subsection (a) of this section).

(2) Except as provided in subsection (e) of this section, a burial arrangement is treated as follows:

(a) In the ERDC, REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs, the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of one prepaid burial arrangement for each member of the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) is excluded.

(b) For grandfathered OSIP and OSIPM clients (see OAR 461-125-0330(2), 461-125-0370(1)(b), and 461-135-0771), up to $1,000 in combined equity value of each burial arrangement with a licensed funeral director (plus accrued interest) and life insurance policies are excluded. The amount of combined cash and equity value of all life insurance and burial arrangements that is over $1,000 is counted as a resource.

(c) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, the amount in an irrevocable burial trust or any other irrevocable arrangement to cover burial costs is excluded.

(d) In all programs not listed in subsection (a) of this section and for OSIP and OSIPM clients not covered by subsection (b) of this section, a burial arrangement is treated in the manner as the program treats a burial fund under section (3) of this rule.

(e) Burial insurance that has cash surrender value is considered life insurance and is treated in accordance with OAR 461-145-0320 and, as applicable, subsection (b) of this section.

(3) A burial fund is treated as follows:

(a) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(A) A burial fund may be established only from financial means such as cash, burial contracts, bank accounts, stocks, bonds, or life insurance policies.

(B) A burial fund is counted as a resource if it is commingled with assets unrelated to a burial. The amount set aside for burial must be in a separate account to be excluded from resource consideration.

(C) A burial fund may be established if the countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resources of a client exceed allowable limits. A burial fund is excluded from the resource calculation to the extent allowed in paragraph (D) of this subsection.

(D) The following calculation determines the exclusion for a burial fund:

(i) Up to $1,500 of a burial fund may be excluded from resources for each of the following:

(I) The client.

(II) The client's spouse.

(ii) The amount in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph is reduced by the total of the following amounts:

(I) The face value of life insurance policies owned by the client that have already been excluded from resources.

(II) The amount in an irrevocable burial trust or any other irrevocable arrangement to cover burial costs.

(E) All interest earned on an excluded burial fund or increases in the value of an excluded burial arrangement if left in the fund is excluded from income.

(b) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, a burial fund is excluded as a resource.

(c) In all programs not listed in subsections (a) or (b) of this section, a burial fund is counted as a resource.

(4) There is no overpayment for the time period during which the burial arrangement or burial fund existed if a client:

(a) Cancels an excluded burial arrangement; or

(b) Uses an excluded burial fund for any purpose other than burial costs.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(5) If an asset originally used as a burial arrangement or burial fund is converted to other uses, the asset is treated under the other applicable rules.

Burial Space and Merchandise

(1) Burial spaces include conventional grave sites, crypts, mausoleums, urns, and other repositories that are traditionally used for the remains of deceased individuals. Burial spaces also include headstones and the opening and closing of the grave.

(a) In the ERDC, REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs, the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of one burial space is excluded as a resource for each member of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530).

(b) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, the equity value of a burial space is excluded as a resource if owned by the client and designated for the client, the spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) of the client, minor and adult children, siblings, parents, and the spouse of any of these individuals.

(2) Burial merchandise includes, but is not limited to, caskets, liners, burial vaults, markers, and foundations. The equity value of burial merchandise is excluded as a resource if owned by the client and designated for:

(a) In the ERDC, REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs, a member of the financial group.

Home

(1) Home defined: A home is the place where the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) lives. A home may be a house, boat, trailer, mobile home, or other habitation. A home also includes the following:

(a) Land on which the home is built and contiguous property.

(A) In all programs except the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB, and SNAP programs, property must meet all the following criteria to be considered contiguous property:

(i) It must not be separated from the land on which the home is built by land owned by people outside the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530).

(ii) It must not be separated by a public right-of-way, such as a road.

(iii) It must be property that cannot be sold separately from the home.

(B) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB, and SNAP programs, contiguous property is property not separated from the land on which the home is built by land owned by people outside the financial group.

(b) Other dwellings on the land surrounding the home that cannot be sold separately from the home.

(2) Exclusion of home and other property:

(a) For an individual who has an initial month (see OAR 461-001-0000) of long-term care on or after January 1, 2006:

(A) For purposes of this subsection, "child" means a biological or adoptive child who is:

(i) Under age 21; or

(ii) Any age and meets the Social Security Administration criteria for blindness or disability.

(B) The equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of a home is excluded if the requirements of at least one of the following subparagraphs are met:

(i) The child (see paragraph (A) of this subsection) of the individual occupies the home.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(ii) The spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) of the individual occupies the home.

(iii) The equity in the home is $552,000 or less, and the requirements of at least one of the following sub-subparagraphs are met:

- (I) The individual occupies the home.
- (II) The home equity is excluded under OAR 461-145-0250.
- (III) The home is listed for sale per OAR 461-145-0420.

(iv) Notwithstanding OAR 461-120-0330, the equity in the home is more than $552,000 and the individual is unable legally to convert the equity value in the home to cash.

(b) For all other filing groups, the value of a home is excluded when the home is occupied by any member of the filing group.

(c) In the SNAP program, the value of land is excluded while the group is building or planning to build their home on it, except that if the group owns (or is buying) the home they live in and has separate land they intend to build on, only the home in which they live is excluded, and the land they intend to build on is treated as real property in accordance with OAR 461-145-0420.

(3) Exclusion during temporary absence: If the value of a home is excluded under section (2) of this rule, the value of this home remains excluded in each of the following situations:

(a) In all programs except the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, during the temporary absence of all members of the filing group from the property, if the absence is due to illness or uninhabitability (from casualty or natural disaster), and the filing group intends to return home.

(b) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, when the individual is absent to receive care in a medical institution, if one of the following is true:

(A) The absent individual has provided evidence that the individual will return to the home. The evidence must reflect the subjective intent of the individual, regardless of the individual's medical condition. A written statement from a competent individual is sufficient to prove the intent.

(B) The home remains occupied by the individual's spouse, child, or a relative dependent on the individual for support. The child must be less than 21 years of age or, if over the age of 21, blind or an individual with a disability as defined by SSA criteria.

(A) The members are employed in seasonal employment and intend to return to the home when the employment ends; or

(B) The members are searching for employment, and the search requires the members to relocate away from their home. If all members of the filing group are absent for this reason, the home may be excluded for up to six months from the date the last member of the filing group leaves the home to search for employment. After the six months, if a member of the filing group does not return, the home is no longer excluded.

If there is a legal bar to the sale of the contract, the equity value of the contract is a transfer of assets (OAR 461-140-0210 to 461-140-0300 regulate the effect of a transfer of assets on a client) for less than fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(B) The equity value of a contract resulting from the sale of a home is excluded if the entire principal portion of the payments received from the contract is used to purchase another home within three calendar months of receipt of the payments. Otherwise the equity value is treated in accordance with paragraph (A) of this subsection.

(b) If a member of the financial group does not actively manage the property 20 hours or more per week, the income is counted as unearned income with exclusions allowed only in accordance with OAR 461-145-0920.

(3) Except for QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF, the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of income-producing property is counted as a resource, subject to the following exceptions:

Life Estate

(1) For all programs except OSIP, OSIPM, and all QMB programs, if a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) is living in real property (see OAR 461-001-0000) while a member holds a life estate (see OAR 461-001-0000) in this property, the property is treated as a home (see OAR 461-145-0220). In all other situations, a life estate is treated as real property (see OAR 461-145-0420).

(2) In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(a) For purposes of this section and section (3) of this rule, the value of the rights conferred by the life estate is established by the Life Estate and Remainder Interest Table of the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, State Medicaid Manual, section 3258.9(A).

(b) A life estate owned by a member of the financial group is treated as follows:

(A) If a member of the financial group is living on the property the value of the life estate is treated as a home (see OAR 461-145-0220).

(B) If a member of the financial group is not living on the property the value of the life estate is counted as a resource. The life estate is considered unavailable if other parties with an ownership interest in the property refuse to sell their interest or refuse to purchase the life estate interest in the property.

(3) In the OSIP and OSIPM programs:

(a) A transfer for less than fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000) in which a member of the financial group retains a life estate is a disqualifying transfer. A transfer is considered for less than fair market value if the fair market value of the transferred resource on the day prior to the transfer is greater than the sum of the value of the rights conferred by the life estate plus the compensation received for the transfer.

(b) If a member of the financial group purchases a life estate interest in the home of another individual on or after July 1, 2006, the purchase is considered a transfer of resources unless the client resides in this home for at least 12 consecutive months after the date of the purchase. The value of the transfer for a client who does not reside in the home for at least 12 consecutive months is calculated by using the purchase price of the life estate.

Life Insurance

(1) Benefits paid on a life insurance policy are counted as unearned income in the month received and a resource if retained into the following month. The Department counts benefits as received when the insured individual dies or when the insured individual is eligible for and receives accelerated payments before death, such as when the insured individual has a terminal illness. When the payment is a lump sum due to the death of the insured individual a deduction is allowed, not to exceed $1,500, for the cost of the deceased individual's last illness and burial if these costs were not otherwise insured.

(2) Burial insurance that has cash surrender value is treated in the same manner that this rule treats life insurance.

(3) The value of a life insurance policy is treated as follows:

(a) All term insurance that has no cash surrender value is excluded.

(b) In all programs except GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW, the cash surrender value of the life insurance policy is excluded.

(c) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(A) For the purposes of this subsection, the following definitions apply:

(i) "Cash surrender value" means the equity that the policy acquires over time.

(ii) "Dividend" means a payment of surplus company earnings from the insurer.

(iii) "Dividend accumulation" means a dividend left with the insurer to accumulate interest that may be withdrawn without affecting the policy's face value or cash surrender value.

(iv) "Dividend addition" means the amount of insurance purchased with a dividend that increases the policy's death benefit and cash surrender value.

(v) "Face value" means the amount of the death benefit contracted for at the time the policy was purchased and does not include a dividend addition added after purchase of the policy.

(vi) "Viatical settlement" means an agreement allowing a third party to acquire a life insurance policy from a terminally ill individual at an agreed-upon percentage of the life insurance policy's face value.

(B) The cash surrender value of life insurance policies owned by the financial group (see 461-110-0530) is excluded if the total face value of all policies for the insured individual is less than or equal to $1,500. If the total face value of all policies for the insured individual is more than $1,500, the entire cash surrender value is counted as a resource to the owner of the policy. The total face value does not include any dividend addition. A dividend accumulation must count as a resource even if the face value of the policy that generated the dividend accumulation is excluded.

(C) The cash surrender value of a policy acquired through a viatical settlement is excluded.

Loans and Interest on Loans

(1) This rule covers proceeds of loans, loan repayments, and interest earned by a lender. If the proceeds of a loan are used to purchase an asset, the asset is evaluated under the other rules in this division of rules.

(2) For purposes of this rule:

(a) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB programs:

(A) "Bona fide loan agreement" means an agreement that --

(i) Is enforceable under state law;

(ii) Is in effect at the time the cash proceeds are provided to the borrower; and

(iii) Includes an obligation to repay and a feasible repayment plan.

(B) "Negotiable loan agreement" means a loan agreement in which the instrument ownership and the whole amount of money expressed on its face can be transferred from one person to another (i.e., sold) at prevailing market rates.

(b) In all programs:

(A) "Reverse-annuity mortgage" means a contract with a financial institution (see OAR 461-001-0000) under which the financial institution provides payments against the equity in the home that must be repaid when the homeowner dies, sells the home, or moves.

(B) The proceeds of a home equity loan or reverse-annuity mortgage (see paragraph (A) of this subsection) are considered loans.

(3) For payments that a member of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) receives as a borrower to be treated as a loan:

(a) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB, and SNAP programs, there must be an oral or written loan agreement, and this agreement must state when repayment of the loan is due to the lender.

(b) In programs other than the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB, and SNAP programs, there must be a written loan agreement, and this agreement must be signed by the borrower and lender, dated before the borrower receives the proceeds of the loan, and state when repayment of the loan is due to the lender.

(4) Payments for a purported loan that do not meet the requirements of section (3) of this rule are counted as unearned income.

(5) When a member of a financial group receives cash proceeds as a borrower from a loan that meets the requirements of section (3) of this rule:

(a) In all programs, educational loans are treated according to OAR 461-145-0150.

(b) In the ERDC, REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs, the loan is excluded. If retained after the month of receipt, the loan proceeds are treated in accordance with OAR 461-140-0070.

(c) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(A) If the loan is a bona fide loan agreement (see paragraph (2)(a)(A) of this rule), the money provided by the lender is not income but is counted as the borrower's resource if retained in the month following the month of receipt (notwithstanding OAR 461-140-0070).

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(B) If the loan is not a bona fide loan agreement, the money provided by the lender is counted as income in the month received and is counted as a resource if retained in the month following the month it was received.

(d) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs:

(A) If the loan is a bona fide loan agreement, the money provided by the lender is not considered income.

(6) In the OSIPM program, if a client or a spouse of a client uses funds to purchase a mortgage or to purchase or lend money for a promissory note or loan:

(a) In a transaction occurring on or after July 1, 2006:

(A) The balance of the payments owing to the client or spouse of the client is a transfer of assets for less than fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000), unless all of the following requirements are met:

(i) The total value of the transaction is being repaid to the client or spouse of the client within three months of the client's life expectancy per that person's actuarial life expectancy as established by the Period Life Table of the Office of the Chief Actuary of the Social Security Administration.

(ii) Payments are made in equal amounts over the term of the transaction without any deferrals or balloon payments.

(iii) The contract is not cancelled upon the death of the individual receiving the payments under this transaction.

(B) If the loan results in a disqualification and the disqualification period has been served, payments against the principal and interest are treated as unearned income.

(b) In a transaction occurring before July 1, 2006, or for a transaction occurring on or after July 1, 2006, that does not result in a disqualification in subsection (a) of this section, the loan is treated as follows:

(A) Interest income is treated as unearned income.

(B) The loan is counted as a resource if:

(i) The financial group includes a client in a nonstandard living arrangement (see OAR 461-001-0000) and the client's spouse;

(ii) The transaction is on or after the date of the first continuous period of care (see OAR 461-001-0030); and

(iii) The amount of the loan plus other resources transferred exceeds the largest amount in OAR 461-160-0580(2)(f).

(i) If the loan is both a negotiable loan agreement (see paragraph (2)(a)(B) of this rule) and a bona fide loan agreement, the loan is counted as a resource valued at the outstanding principal balance.

(ii) If the loan does not qualify under subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, payments against the principal are counted as unearned income.

(7) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, and QMB-DW programs:

(a) Interest income is treated as unearned income.

(b) If the loan is both a negotiable loan agreement and a bona fide loan agreement, the loan is counted as a resource of the lender valued at the outstanding principal balance.

(c) If the loan does not qualify under subsection (b) of this section, the payments against the principal are counted as income to the lender.

(8) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs:

(a) Interest income is treated as unearned income.

(b) Payments against the principal of all loans are excluded as income.

(9) In all programs other than the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB programs:

(a) The interest payment is counted as unearned income.

(b) The payment of principal is excluded.

Motor Vehicle

(1) The value of disability-related apparatus, optional equipment, or low mileage is not considered in determining the fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of an automobile, truck, or van. The fair market value of an automobile, truck, or van is presumed to be the "average trade-in value" established in the National Automobile Dealers Association's (NADA) Used Car Guide. If the vehicle is not listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the "average trade-in value" established in the Kelley Blue Book is used. If the vehicle is not listed in the NADA Used Car Guide and Kelley Blue Book, the "average trade-in value" established in a similar publication is used. A client may rebut the presumption with a statement from a car dealer, mechanic, or other reliable source. If the vehicle is not listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, Kelley Blue Book, or a similar publication, the estimate of the value by the client may be accepted unless it appears questionable, in which case additional evidence of the value is required.

(2) Some programs permit an exclusion for a portion of the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) for any licensed and unlicensed motor vehicles owned by the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530):

(a) In the REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs, this exclusion is up to $10,000.

(b) In the GA and GAM programs, this exclusion is up to $4,500.

(c) Any remaining equity in that vehicle and the total equity value of all other vehicles is counted as a resource.

(3) In the EA and ERDC programs, all motor vehicles are excluded.

(4) In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(a) The total value of a vehicle selected by the financial group is excluded if it is used for transportation of the client or a member of the client's household.

(b) The total equity value of any vehicle not excluded under subsection (a) of this section and all other vehicles is counted as a resource.

(5) In the OSIP-EPD and OSIPM-EPD programs, if a vehicle was purchased as an employment and independence expense (see OAR 461-001-0035) or with moneys from an approved account (see OAR 461-001-0035), the total value of the vehicle is excluded.

Real Property

(1) For purposes of this rule, manufactured and mobile homes and floating homes and houseboats are treated in the same manner as real property (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(2) The applicant has the burden of proof of establishing the fair market value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of real property. Fair market value may be established by any methodology determined to accurately reflect the fair market value of the real property, including the provision of an appraisal or comparative market analysis performed by an impartial individual who is certified or licensed in the applicable jurisdiction.

(3) Real property that is not income-producing or the home of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) is treated as follows:

(a) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs, the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of all real property that is not excluded under a TANF Interim Assistance agreement is counted as a resource.

(b) In the EA and ERDC programs, real property is excluded.

(c) In the SNAP program, real property is treated as follows:

(A) The equity value of real property is excluded if the financial group is making a good-faith effort to sell the real property at a fair market price.

(B) The equity value of the real property is counted as a resource if the financial group refuses to make a good-faith effort to sell.

(C) The resource is excluded if selling the resource would produce a net gain to the financial group of less than $1,500.

(d) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs:

(A) The equity value of real property that was the home of the financial group is excluded if the financial group is making a good-faith effort to sell the real property at a reasonable price, unless the equity value in the home makes the client ineligible under OAR 461-145-0220(2)(a).

(B) The equity value of all other real property is excluded if the financial group is making a good-faith effort to sell the real property at a reasonable price. The equity value is counted after the real property is excluded for nine months unless the failure to sell it is for reasons beyond the reasonable control of the financial group.

(4) The treatment of real property that is income producing is covered in OAR 461-145-0250.

(5) The treatment of the home of the financial group is covered in OAR 461-145-0220.

(C) In the SNAP program, the proceeds are treated as lump-sum income (see OAR 461-001-0000) under OAR 461-140-0120.

(e) In the SNAP program:

(A) Interest received monthly or on another periodic basis from the sale of a home is counted as unearned income.

(B) If a self-employed client sells a work-related asset, including equipment and inventory, the proceeds of the sale are treated as self-employment income (see OAR 461-145-0910).

(5) Costs of the type excluded under OAR 461-145-0920 are subtracted from proceeds counted as income under this rule.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

461-145-0490

Social Security Benefits

Except for SSI (see OAR 461-145-0510) and death benefits remaining after burial costs (see OAR 461-145-0500), Social Security benefits are treated as follows:

(1) Monthly payments are counted as unearned income.

(2) Except as provided in sections (3) and (4) of this rule, all payments other than monthly payments are counted as periodic or lump-sum income (see OAR 461-140-0110 and 461-140-0120).

(3) In the SNAP program, the representative payee fee paid by an individual who is required by the Social Security Administration to receive payments through a representative payee is excluded. The amount of the exclusion is limited to the amount authorized by the Social Security Administration.

(4) In the OSIP (except OSIP-EPD), OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD), and all QMB programs:

(a) For the purposes of this section, a payment is retroactive if it is issued in any month after the calendar month for which it is intended.

(b) Retroactive payments are counted as unearned income in the month of receipt except as provided in subsection (c) of this section.

(c) When retroactive payments are made through the representative payee of an individual who is required to have a representative payee because of drug addiction or alcoholism, the retroactive payments may be required to be made in installments. If the payments are made in installments, the total of the benefits to be paid in installments is considered unearned income in the month in which the first installment is made.

(d) Except for the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, any remaining amount from a retroactive payment after the month of receipt is excluded as a resource for nine calendar months following the month in which the payment is received. After the nine-month period, any remaining amount is a countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resource.

(2) In the ERDC, GA, and GAM programs:

(a) A monthly SSI payment is counted as unearned income.

(b) Lump-sum SSI payments are counted according to OAR 461-140-0120.

(3) In the OSIP (except OSIP-EPD), OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD), and QMB-DW programs, a retroactive SSI payment is excluded for nine months after the month of receipt. After the nine-month period, any remaining amount is a countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resource. For the purposes of this section, a payment is retroactive if it is issued in any month after the calendar month for which it is intended.

(4) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs:

461-145-0540

Trusts

(1) This section applies to all trust funds (see OAR 461-001-0000) in the REF, REFM, SNAP, and TANF programs. It also applies to GA, GAM,

OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW for trust funds established before October 1, 1993:

(a) Trust funds are counted as a resource if the fund is legally available for use by a member of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) for items covered by program benefits. In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, the amount of the trust that is considered legally available is the maximum amount that could be distributed to the beneficiary under the terms of the trust, regardless of whether the trustee exercises his or her authority to actually make a distribution.

(b) Trust funds are excluded if the fund is not available for use by a member of the financial group. The financial group must try to remove legal restrictions on the trust, unless that would cause an expense to the group.

(c) The part of the fund available for use for medical expenses covered by the medical program for which the financial group is eligible is counted.

(2) In the ERDC program, all trust funds are excluded.

(3) In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, trust funds established on or after October 1, 1993, are treated in accordance with sections (5) to (11) of this rule. In the GA and GAM programs, trust funds established on or after October 1, 1993, are treated in accordance with sections (5) to (9) of this rule.

(4) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs:

(a) All trust funds are excluded as a resource.

(b) A payment made from the trust to or for the benefit of the client is counted as unearned income.

(5) A trust is considered established if the financial group used their resources to form all or part of the trust and if any of the following established a trust, other than by a will:

(a) The client.

(b) The client's spouse.

(c) Any other person, including a court or administrative body, with legal authority to act in place of or on behalf of the client or the client's spouse.

(d) Any other person, including a court or administrative body, acting at the direction or upon the request of the client or the client's spouse.

(6) If the trust contains resources or income of another person, only the share attributable to the client is considered available.

(7) Except as provided in section (10) of this rule, the following factors are ignored when determining how to treat a trust:

(a) The purpose for which the trust was established.

(b) Whether or not the trustees have or exercise any discretion under the trust.

(c) Any restrictions on when or if distributions may be made from the trust.

(d) Any restrictions on the use of distributions from the trust.

(8) If the trust is revocable, it is treated as follows:

(a) In all programs except the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs:

(A) The total value of the trust is considered a resource available to the client.

(B) A payment made from the trust to or for the benefit of the client is excluded as income.

(b) A payment from the trust other than to or for the benefit of the client is considered a transfer of assets covered by OAR 461-140-0210 and following.

(9) If the trust is irrevocable, it is treated as follows:

(a) If, under any circumstances, the funds transferred into the trust are unavailable to the client and the trustee has no discretion to distribute the funds to or for the benefit of the client, the client is subject to a transfer-of-resources penalty as provided in OAR 461-140-0210 and following.

(b) If, under any circumstances, payments could be made to or on behalf of the client, the share of the trust from which the payment could be made is considered a resource. A payment from the trust other than one to or for the benefit of the client is considered a transfer of assets that may be covered by OAR 461-140-0210.

(c) If, under any circumstances, income is generated by the trust and could be paid to the client, the income is unearned income. Payments made for any reason other than to or for the benefit of the client are considered a transfer of assets subject to disqualification per OAR 461-140-0210.

(d) If any change in circumstance makes assets (income or resources) from the trust unavailable to the client, the change is a disqualifying transfer as of the date of the change.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(10) Notwithstanding the provisions in sections (1), (3), and (5) to (9) of this rule, the following trusts are not considered in determining eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) for OSIPM and QMB-DW:

(a) A trust containing the assets of a client determined to have a disability that meets the SSI criteria that was created before the client reached age 65, if the trust was established by one of the following and the state will receive all funds remaining in the trust upon the death of the client, up to the amount of medical benefits provided on behalf of the client:

- (A) The client's parent (see OAR 461-001-0000).
- (B) The client's grandparent.
- (C) The client's legal guardian or conservator.
- (D) A court.

(b) A trust established between October 1, 1993 and March 31, 1995 for the benefit of the client and containing only the current and accumulated income of the client. The accumulated amount remaining in the trust must be paid directly to the state upon the death of the client up to the amount of medical benefits provided on behalf of the client. The trust is the total income in excess of the income standard for OSIPM. The remaining income not deposited into the trust is available for the following deductions in the order they appear prior to applying the patient liability:

- (A) Personal-needs allowance.
- (B) Community spouse monthly maintenance needs allowance.
- (C) Medicare and other private medical insurance premiums.
- (D) Other incurred medical.

(c) A trust established on or after April 1, 1995 for the benefit of the client whose income is above 300 percent of the full SSI standard and containing the current and accumulated income of the client. The accumulated amount remaining in the trust must be paid directly to the state upon the death of the client up to the amount of medical assistance provided on behalf of the client. The trust contains all of the client's income. The income deposited into the trust is distributed monthly in the following order with excess amounts treated as income to the individual subject to the rules on transfer of assets in division 140 of this chapter of rules:

(A) Personal needs allowance and applicable room and board standard.

(B) Reasonable administrative costs of the trust, not to exceed a total of $50 per month, including the following:

- (i) Trustee fees.
- (ii) A reserve for administrative fees and costs of the trust, including bank service charges, copy charges, postage, accounting and tax preparation fees, future legal expenses, and income taxes attributable to trust income.
- (iii) Conservatorship and guardianship fees and costs.
- (C) Community spouse and family monthly maintenance needs allowance.

- (D) Medicare and other private medical insurance premiums.
- (E) Other incurred medical costs as allowed under OAR 461-160-0030 and 461-160-0055.

(F) Contributions to reserves or payments for child support, alimony, and income taxes.

(G) Monthly contributions to reserves or payments for the purchase of an irrevocable burial plan with a maximum value of $5,000.

(H) Contributions to a reserve or payments for home maintenance if the client meets the criteria of OAR 461-155-0660 or OAR 461-160-0630.

(I) Patient liability not to exceed the cost of home and community-based care (see OAR 461-001-0030) or nursing facility services.

(11) This section of the rule applies to a trust signed on or after July 1, 2006.

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections (1), (3), and (5) to (9) of this rule, a trust that meets the requirements of subsection (b) of this section is not considered in determining eligibility for OSIPM and QMB-DW, except that if the client is age 65 or older when the trust is funded or a transfer is made to the trust, the transfer may constitute a disqualifying transfer of assets under OAR 461-140-0210 and following.

(b) This section of the rule applies to a trust that meets all of the following conditions:

- (A) The trust is established and managed by a non-profit association.
- (B) A separate account is maintained for each beneficiary of the trust, but, for purposes of investment and management of funds, the trust pools these accounts.
- (C) The trust is established by the client, client's parent, grandparent, or legal guardian or a court for clients who have disabilities.

(D) Upon the death of the beneficiary or termination of the trust, the trust pays to the state an amount equal to the total medical assistance paid on behalf of the beneficiary under the State plan for Medicaid. The amount paid to the state may be reduced by administrative costs directly related to administering the sub-trust account of the beneficiary.

(E) The trust contains the resources or income of a client who has a disability that meets the SSI criteria.

(12) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, the provisions of this rule may be waived for an irrevocable trust if the Department determines that denial of benefits would create an undue hardship on the client if, among other things:

(a) The absence of the services requested may result in a life-threatening situation.

(b) The client was a victim of fraud or misrepresentation.

Work-Related Capital Assets, Equipment, and Inventory

(1) As used in this rule:

(a) "Inventory" means goods that are in stock and available for sale to prospective customers.

(b) "Work-related equipment" means property essential to the employment or self-employment of a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) member. Examples are a tradesman's tools, a farmer's machinery, and equipment used to maintain an income-producing vehicle.

(2) A capital asset (see OAR 461-001-0000), other than work-related equipment (see section (1) of this rule) and inventory (see section (1) of this rule), is treated as follows:

(a) In the ERDC and GA programs, the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of a capital asset is treated according to the rules for the asset.

(b) In the SNAP program, a capital asset used in a business is excluded as follows:

(A) Non-farm assets are excluded as long as the financial group is actively engaged in self-employment activities.

(B) Farm assets are excluded until one year after the date the individual quit self-employment as a farmer.

(c) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs:

(A) For a self-employed client participating in the microenterprise component (see OAR 461-190-0197) of the JOBS program, the value of a capital asset is excluded.

(B) For all other clients, the value of a capital asset is counted according to the rules in this division of rules.

(d) In the OSIP, OSIPM, and QMB-DW programs, a capital asset is excluded.

(3) Work-related equipment is treated as follows:

(a) In the EA, ERDC, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB-DW, and SNAP programs, the equity value of work-related equipment is excluded.

(b) In the GA program, the value of equipment needed by an individual who has a disability or is blind to complete a plan for self-support (see OAR 461-135-0708) is excluded as long as the plan is in effect. For all other equipment, the equity value of the equipment is counted as a resource, except as provided at OAR 461-145-0250.

(c) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs:

(A) For a self-employed client participating in the microenterprise component of the JOBS program, the equity value of the equipment is excluded.

(B) For all other clients, the equity value of the equipment is treated as a resource.

(4) Inventory is treated as follows:

(a) In the EA, ERDC, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB-DW, and SNAP programs, inventory is excluded as long as the client is engaged in self-employment activities.

(b) In the GA program, the value of inventory needed by an individual who has a disability or is blind to complete a plan for self-support is excluded, as long as the plan is in effect. For all other inventory, the equity value of the inventory is counted as a resource.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(c) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs:

(A) For a self-employed client participating in the microenterprise component of the JOBS program, the wholesale value of inventory remaining at the end of the semi-annual period covered in each income statement (see OAR 461-190-0197), less encumbrances, is counted as a resource.

(B) For all other clients, the wholesale value of inventory remaining at the end of a month, less encumbrances, is counted as a resource.

Prospective Eligibility and Budgeting; GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, QMB

In the GA, GAM, OSIP, OSIPM, and all QMB programs, the Department uses prospective eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) and budgeting (see OAR 461-001-0000) as follows:

(1) In the GA, GAM, OSIP (except OSIP-IC), OSIPM (except OSIPM-IC), and all QMB programs:

(a) For the initial month (see OAR 461-001-0000), the Department uses prospective eligibility and budgeting. Money received from a non-recurring source before the date of application is excluded as income.

(b) Except for QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF, if any money remains from a non-recurring source after the date of application, it is counted as a resource.

(c) For each ongoing month (see OAR 461-001-0000) the Department uses prospective eligibility and budgeting.

(2) In the OSIP-IC and OSIPM-IC programs, the budget month (see OAR 461-001-0000) is the initial month of eligibility.

Use of Resources in Determining Financial Eligibility

Countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resources are used to determine eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) as follows:

(1) In the EA program, the countable resources of a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) are used to reduce benefits.

(2) In the GA, GAM, QMB-DW, REF, SNAP, and TANF programs, a need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) is not eligible for benefits if the financial group has countable resources above the resource limit (see OAR 461-160-0015).

(3) In the OSIP (except OSIP-EPD) and OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD) programs, a need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) is not eligible for benefits if the financial group has countable resources above the resource limit (see OAR 461-160-0015).

(a) When a child (see OAR 461-001-0000) is applying, the parental resources (see subsection (b) of this section) are deemed available to the child. The amount deemed available to the child is the amount the parental resources exceed the resource limit (see OAR 461-160-0015) of:

(A) A one person need group, if one parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) lives in the child's household; or

(B) A two person need group, if two parents (or one parent and the spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) of that parent) live in the child's household.

(b) As used in this section, "parental resources" means the countable resources of:

(A) Each parent in the child's financial group, and

(B) Each spouse of a parent in the child's financial group.

(c) If more than one child is applying, the value of the deemed resources is divided evenly between the applying children.

(d) The parental resources are not deemed available to an ineligible child.

(e) The value of the parental resources is subject to deeming whether or not those resources are available to the child.

(4) In the OSIP-EPD and OSIPM-EPD programs:

(a) A need group is not eligible for benefits if the financial group has countable resources above the resource limit (see OAR 461-160-0015).

(b) Any money in an approved account (see OAR 461-001-0035) is excluded during the determination of eligibility.

(c) Assets purchased from moneys in an approved account are excluded, provided they meet the requirements of OAR 461-145-0025.

(d) Assets purchased as employment and independence expenses (see OAR 461-001-0035) are excluded, provided they meet the requirements of OAR 461-145-0025.

(5) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, all resources are excluded and have no effect on eligibility (see OAR 461-160-0015).

Resource Limits

(1) In the EA program, all countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) resources must be used to meet the emergent need.

(2) In the ERDC and REFM programs, there is no resource limit.

(3) In the GA, GAM, OSIP, and OSIPM programs, the resource limit is as follows:

(a) $2,000 for a one-person need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) and $3,000 for a two-person need group.

(b) $1,000 for an OSIP need group eligible under OAR 461 135 0771. The total cash resources may not exceed $500 for a one-person need group or $1,000 for a two-person need group.

(c) $5,000 for the OSIP-EPD and OSIPM-EPD programs (see OAR 461-001-0035 and 461-145-0025 for funds that may be excluded as approved accounts).

(4) In the QMB-BAS, QMB-SMB, and QMB-SMF programs, all resources are excluded.

(5) In the QMB-DW program, the resource limit is amended in January of each year based on the low income subsidy for Medicare Part D as published by the Health Resources and Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Effective January 1, 2015 the resource limit is $7,280 for a one-person need group and $10,930 for a need group containing two or more individuals.

(6) In the REF program, the resource limit is:

(a) $2,500 for any of the following:

(A) A new REF applicant for benefits.

(B) REF need group that has at least one mandatory (see OAR 461-130-0305) participant in an employment program who is:

(i) Receiving REF and not progressing in a required activity of an open case plan; or

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(ii) Serving a current employment program disqualification (see OAR 461-130-0330).

(b) $10,000 for a need group not covered under subsection (a) of this section.

(7) In the SNAP program, the resource limit is:

(a) $3,250 for a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) with at least one member who is elderly (see OAR 461-001-0015) or an individual with a disability (see OAR 461-001-0015).

(b) $2,250 for all other financial groups.

(8) In the TANF program, the resource limit is:

(a) $2,500 for any of the following:

(A) A new TANF applicant for benefits.

(B) TANF need group that does not have at least one caretaker relative (see OAR 461-001-0000) or parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) who is receiving TANF.

(C) TANF need group that has at least one JOBS participant who is:

(i) Receiving TANF and not progressing in an activity (see OAR 461-001-0025) of an open JOBS case plan (see OAR 461-001-0025); or

(ii) Serving a current JOBS disqualification (see OAR 461-130-0330).

(b) $10,000 for a need group not covered under subsection (a) of this section.

Income Deductions; Non-SSI OSIP (except OSIP-EPD) and OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD) in the Community When There Are No Children in the Household Group

(1) For purposes of this rule:

(a) "Child" means an unmarried individual, living with a natural or adoptive parent, and is:

(A) Under the age of 18; or

(B) Under the age of 22 and attending full-time secondary, postsecondary, or vocational-technical training designed to prepare the individual for employment.

(b) "Ineligible" means an individual who is not eligible to receive either SSI or TANF benefits.

(2) This rule is used to determine adjusted income (see OAR 461-001-0000) for all individuals in the OSIP (except OSIP-EPD) and OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD) programs who:

(a) Live in the community;

(b) Are not assumed eligible (see OAR 461-135-0010);

(c) Do not receive home and community-based care (see OAR 461-001-0030); and

(d) Do not have at least one child (see subsection (1)(a) of this rule) in the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210).

(3) For an individual described in section (2) of this rule who is married to a spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) who is ineligible (see subsection (1)(b) of this rule), the Department calculates the adjusted income of the individual under subsections (4)(a) through (4)(e) of this rule first. If the individual's adjusted income is greater than the OSIPM program adjusted income standard for a need group of one under OAR 461-155-0250, the individual is not eligible for OSIPM.

(4) To determine adjusted income for individuals described in section (2) of this rule, deductions from the countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) income of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) are made in the following order:

(a) One standard deduction of $20 from unearned income.

(A) This deduction may be taken from earned income if the individual has less than $20 in unearned income.

(B) This deduction does not apply to a benefit based on need that is totally or partially funded by the federal government or by a nongovernmental agency.

(b) One standard earned income deduction of:

(A) $65 for OSIP-AD, OSIP-OAA, OSIPM-AD, and OSIPM-OAA clients who are not blind; or

(B) $85 for OSIP-AB and OSIPM-AB clients who are blind.

(c) An income deduction for documented impairment-related work expenses or blind work expenses.

(d) One half of the remaining earned income.

(e) Deductions under a plan for self-support.

Income Deductions; Non-SSI OSIP (except OSIP-EPD) and OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD) in the Community When There Are Children in the Household Group

(1) For purposes of this rule:

(a) A "child" is an unmarried individual, living with a natural or adoptive parent, and is:

(A) Under the age of 18; or

(B) Under the age of 22 and attending full-time secondary, postsecondary, or vocational-technical training designed to prepare the individual for employment.

(b) "Ineligible" means an individual who is not eligible to receive either SSI or TANF benefits.

(2) This rule is used to determine adjusted income (see OAR 461-001-0000) for clients in the OSIP (except OSIP-EPD) and OSIPM (except OSIPM-EPD) programs who:

(a) Live in the community;

(b) Are not assumed eligible (see OAR 461-135-0010);

(c) Do not receive home and community-based care (see OAR 461-001-0030); and

(d) Have at least one child (see section (1) of this rule) in the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210).

(3) For an individual described in section (2) of this rule who is married to a spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) who is ineligible (see section (1) of this rule), the Department calculates the adjusted income of the individual under sections (4)(b) through (f) of this rule first. If the individual's adjusted income is greater than the OSIPM program adjusted income standard for a need group of one under OAR 461-155-0250, the individual is not eligible for OSIPM.

(4) To determine adjusted income for clients described in section (2) of this rule, deductions from the countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) income of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) are made in the following order:

(a) An allocation as described below:

(A) When an adult is applying, income is allocated (see paragraph (C) of this subsection) from an ineligible spouse included in the financial group to each ineligible child of the couple.

(B) When a child is applying:

(i) Income from ineligible parents is first allocated to each ineligible child in the household.

(ii) Second, the remaining income from subparagraph (i) of this paragraph is reduced as provided in subsections (b) through (f) of this section.

(iii) Third, the remaining income is reduced by the non-SSI OSIP and OSIPM adjusted income standard of the:

(I) Couple if both parents live with the child; or

(II) Individual if only one ineligible parent lives with the child.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(iv) Fourth, the remainder is deemed equally to each child applicant in the household.

(v) The income deemed to the child is added to the other income of the child and deductions are taken as described in subsections (b) through (f) of this section to calculate the child's adjusted income.

Subject: The Department of Human Services, Office of Self-Sufficiency Programs, is amending rules governing the Employment Related Day Care (ERDC) program. Specifically:

OAR 461-001-0000 about definitions is being amended to include a definition of "homeless" in the ERDC program. Homeless families will be eligible for "priority processing" under a corresponding amendment to OAR 461-170-0150 described below.

An additional exception to the employment requirement is also being added to this rule for situations in which DHS Child Welfare confirms that the unemployed caretaker is not allowed to have supervised contact with the child. This rule is also amended to remove reference to the Refugee (REF) assistance program because child care is not applicable in that program.

OAR 461-160-0300 about use of income to determine eligibility and benefits for ERDC is being amended to state the eligibility income standards at initial and recertification.

OAR 461-170-0150 about the certification period in the ERDC program is being amended to increase the ERDC certification period to not less than 12 months; allow "priority processing" for homeless families and families who have a current child care need for a foster child; and define "priority processing" as opening benefits for

Specific Requirements; ERDC

(1) The Department makes payments for child care, including care covered by the ERDC program, subject to the provisions of division 165 of this chapter of rules.

(2) To be eligible for ERDC, a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0350) must meet the requirements of all of the following subsections:

(a) Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, every caretaker (see OAR 461-001-0000) in the filing group must receive income from employment. This includes self-employment (see OAR 461-145-0910) and employment through a work study program.

(b) The filing group must include a child (see OAR 461-001-0000) who needs child care.

(c) The filing group must have an allowable child care need as described in OAR 461 160 0040. If there are two adults required to be in the filing group, and one of the adults is unemployed, the unemployed adult is considered available to provide child care, making the filing group ineligible, except in the following situations:

(A) The unemployed adult is physically or mentally unable to provide adequate child care. This must be verified (see OAR 461-125-0830).

(B) The unemployed adult is unavailable to provide child care while participating in the requirements of a case plan (see OAR 461-001-0025) other than requirements associated with post-secondary education.

(C) Confirmation is received from the Office of Child Welfare Programs that supervised contact is required between the child and an unemployed parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) or spouse (see OAR 461-001-0000) who is living in the home with the child.

(d) The filing group must use a child care provider who meets the requirements in OAR 461-165-0160 and 461-165-0180.

(e) The child needing child care must meet the citizenship or alien status requirements of OAR 461-120-0110.

(3) A filing group not willing to obtain a Certificate of Immunization Status for the child is not eligible for a child care payment for more than twelve calendar months, or longer if child care continues under OAR 461-160-0040(5).

(4) The child care must be necessary to enable the caretaker to remain employed, including self-employed.

(5) A filing group is not eligible for child care when the caretaker or parent in the filing group receives a grant for child care from the Oregon Student Assistance Commission for any month the grant is intended to cover, regardless of when the grant is received.

(C) Is principally responsible for the success or failure of the business operation by assuming the necessary business expenses and profit or loss risks connected with the operation of the business, and has the authority to hire and fire employees to perform the labor or services.

(D) Is not required to complete an IRS W-4 form for an employer and is not required to have federal income tax or FICA payments withheld from a pay check.

(E) Is not covered under an employer's liability or workers' compensation insurance policy.

(3) Notwithstanding section (2) of this rule:

(a) Homecare Workers (see OAR 411-031-0020) paid by the Department are not self-employed.

(b) Child care providers (see OAR 461-165-0180) paid by the Department, adult foster home providers (see OAR 411-050-0602) paid by the Department, realty agents, and individuals who sell plasma, redeem beverage containers, pick mushrooms for sale, or engage in similar enterprises are considered to be self-employed.

(4) In the ERDC, REF, SNAP, and TANF programs, self-employment income, including income from a microenterprise (see OAR 461-001-0000), is counted prospectively to determine eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) as follows:

(a) Self-employment income is annualized when it is:

(A) Received during less than a 12-month period but is intended as a full year's income.

(B) From a business that has operated for a full year and the previous year is representative of what the income and costs will be during the budget month.

(b) Except in the ERDC program, self-employment income is treated as anticipated income when a financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) begins self-employment and is unable to determine what the income and costs will be during the budget month.

(5) In the GA program, self-employment income is considered available upon receipt by a member of the financial group, except it is prorated over the period of work if the duration of the work exceeds one month.

(6) In the REFM program:

(a) Self-employment income is counted only if received in the month of application.

(b) If self-employment income counted in the month of application puts the applicant over the income limits for REFM, the income is calculated according to section (4) of this rule.

(7) When determining the amount of countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) self-employment income, use gross receipts and sales, including mileage reimbursements, before costs.

Dependent Care Costs; Deduction and Coverage

(1) In the SNAP program, dependent care is deductible (see OAR 461-160-0430) when all of the following are true:

(a) The dependent is a member of the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) and is in the care, control, and custody of an individual in the group.

(b) The dependent care provider:

(A) Is not in the filing group; and

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(B) Is not the parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) of the dependent.

(c) The dependent care is necessary because the client is working, commuting, on a meal break, in training, participating in pre-employment education, or participating in an OFSET case plan (see OAR 461-001-0020).

(2) In the ERDC and TANF programs, the cost of dependent child care may be paid for by the Department (is covered) only if dependent child care is necessary for the working client to perform his or her job duties, except in the ERDC program the cost of dependent care is allowed for approved educational hours and child care authorized under section (5) of this rule. For a client working under a JOBS Plus agreement, child care is covered during the time the client is engaged in work or in job search if the employer pays the client during that time.

(3) In the ERDC, JOBS, and TANF programs, the cost of dependent child care is not covered by the Department when free care is available, such as during school hours for school-age children.

(4) Child care is not covered in the ERDC and TANF programs if the nature of the work of the caretaker (see OAR 461-001-0000) does not make it necessary for a person other than the caretaker to provide the care. Child care is not covered during a period of time when the caretaker:

(a) Works at home and the nature of the work allows the caretaker to provide the care without significantly affecting the work;

(b) Provides child care in a residence; or

(c) Works for a provider of child care in a residence, unless the provider is a certified family child care home under OAR 414-350-0000 to 414-350-0400.

(5) In the ERDC program the cost of dependent child care may continue to be paid for by the Department (is covered) during the certification period (see OAR 461-001-0000) with no change to the authorized child care hours subject to the following provisions:

(a) When a reduction in work hours occurs the copay may be adjusted.

(b) When a job loss occurs:

(A) When a caretaker has a permanent job loss from all employment the copay is waived for up to three months for a work search period, starting the month after the job loss occurred.

(B) The waiver ends at the end of the three month period if the caretaker becomes employed.

(C) The three month work search period does not apply when:

(i) The adult was discharged or fired without good cause (see OAR 461-135-0070(2)) for misconduct, felony, or theft. "Misconduct" means willful or wantonly negligent violation of the standards of behavior which an employer has the right to expect of an employee, including an act or series of actions that amount to a willful or wantonly negligent disregard of an employer's interest.

(ii) The adult voluntarily quit in anticipation of discharge or without good cause.

(c) For medical leave:

(A) When a caretaker is on medical leave the reason for the leave must be verified including diagnosis and prognosis under OAR 461-125-0830. Maternity leave may be authorized for three months (12 weeks) without medical documentation.

(B) For a decrease or increase in income during or at the end of medical leave see OAR 461-180-0005 and OAR 461-180-0030.

(C) Medical leave and maternity leave can be extended when new verification is received prior to the end of the month noted on the original documentation. Medical leave cannot extend beyond the certification period.

(d) For military transition:

(A) When a caretaker who is a discharged U.S. military member returns from active duty in a military war zone, the copay is waived for up to six months starting the month after the military member returns home.

(B) The copay waiver ends at the end of the six month period if the caretaker becomes employed. The copay waiver ends before the end of the six month period if the caretaker returns to active duty.

(c) Under this section child care may be used for work, work search, approved educational hours, military transition activities, or other activities to maintain a part-time or full-time slot at a child care facility.

(6) In the JOBS program, the cost of child care may be covered while the care is necessary to enable the client to participate in a case plan (see OAR 461-190-0211).

(7) In the ERDC, JOBS, JOBS Plus, and TANF programs, the cost of dependent child care may be paid for (is covered) by the Department, only if all the following are true:

(a) The dependent child (see OAR 461-001-0000):

(A) In the ERDC program, is a member of the benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750) and is in the care, control, and custody of an individual in the group.

(B) In the JOBS, JOBS Plus, and TANF programs, lives with the filing group.

(b) The provider of child care is not in the filing group.

(c) The provider of child care is not the parent of a child in the filing group.

(8) Coverage of the cost of dependent care is subject to the requirements in OAR chapter 461, including OAR 461-120-0510(3), 461-135-0400, 461-155-0150, 461-160-0193, 461-165-0180, and 461-190-0211.

Use of Income to Determine Eligibility and Benefits for ERDC

The Department determines financial eligibility for ERDC and the benefit level as follows:

(1) The monthly gross income of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) is determined in accordance with OAR 461-150-0060.

(2) The monthly gross income at initial certification and recertification is compared to the ERDC eligibility standards in OAR 461-155-0150(5). If monthly income equals or exceeds the eligibility standards, the need group is ineligible for ERDC. If monthly income does not exceed the eligibility standard, the client's eligibility is determined under section (3) of this rule.

(3) For a client found eligible under section (2) of this rule, the allowable child care cost and the client's copay are determined as follows:

(a) The child care costs for which the client has been billed are compared to the amount provided in the appropriate child care chart in OAR 461-155-0150. The allowable child care cost is the lesser of the two amounts.

(b) The need group's copay is determined in accordance with OAR 461-155-0150.

(4) The copay is subtracted from the allowable child care cost, and the remainder is the payment the Department makes to the provider. If the copay is equal to or greater than the allowable child care cost, the client is not eligible for ERDC. If the copay is less than the allowable child care cost, the client meets the income requirement for ERDC.

Certification Period; ERDC

In the ERDC program:

(1) The length of the certification period (see OAR 461-001-0000) may not be less than 12 months. In the following situations the certification period may be extended beyond the certification end date:

(a) Caretakers in authorized work search and medical leave are limited to no more than three months.

(b) Caretakers on military transition are limited to no more than six months.

(2) A filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0350) that is determined to be homeless (see OAR 461-001-0000) or requires child care for a current foster child may receive "priority processing." For purposes of this rule, "priority processing" means the benefits may be open for up to three months while pending for verification of income or work schedule during the application period.

When a Reapplication Form is Considered Complete or Not Received; ERDC

In the ERDC program:

(1) At the end of the certification, authorized work search, medical leave, or military transition period (see OAR 461-160-0040(5)), whichever is later, a client must complete and return to a Department branch office (see OAR 461-001-0000) a reapplication form before a new certification period may be established under OAR 461-170-0150.

(2) A reapplication form is considered complete when it is received by a Department branch office by the 10th day of the last month of the certification, authorized work search, medical leave, or military transition period, whichever is later, and:

(a) The client answers, completely and accurately, all questions necessary to determine a copy amount for the following certification period;

(b) The client provides all required verification; and

(c) The form contains the signature of the primary person (see OAR 461-001-0000) or the authorized representative (see OAR 461-115-0090).

(3) When a Department branch office receives a completed reapplication form by the deadline in section (2) of this rule, the form is used to:

(a) Determine eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) for ERDC benefits;

(b) Establish the ERDC benefit copy amount for the next certification period; and

(c) Establish the next certification period as beginning on the first day of the month following the last month of the previous certification, authorized work search, medical leave, or military transition period, whichever is later.

(4) When a Department branch office does not receive a completed reapplication form on or before the deadline in section (2) of this rule, the case is closed effective the last day of the last month of the certification, authorized work search, medical leave, or military transition period, whichever is later.

(5) If the reapplication form is received after the deadline in section (2) of this rule, it is treated as a new application in accordance with OAR 461-115-0050.

In the ERDC, SNAP, and TANF programs:

(1) Except in the ERDC program, the Department must provide a household certified for one month or certified in the second month of a two-month certification period (see OAR 461-001-0000) a notice of expiration at the time of certification.

(2) In the ERDC program, each household must receive a notice of expiration prior to the last month of the certification period.

(3) In the ERDC program, the notice of expiration must contain:

(a) The date the certification period expires.

(b) A statement that to receive benefits, the client must reapply and be found eligible for a new benefit amount.

(c) The household's right to request a contested case hearing if the reapplication is denied or if the household objects to the benefit amount.

(4) In the SNAP program, each household other than those covered under section (1) of this rule must receive a notice of expiration before the first day of the last month of the certification period (established per OAR 461-115-0450), but not before the first day of the next-to-the-last month.

(5) In the SNAP program, notice of expiration under this rule is provided to the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0370) and must contain all of the following:

(1) Except as provided in section (5) of this rule, when benefits in any Department program except a medical program and the SNAP program will end or be reduced after a specific period of time, the Department may issue a decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) informing the benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750) of the date benefits will end or be reduced, and no further decision notice is required.

(2) Except as provided in section (5) of this rule, in any Department program except a medical program and the SNAP program, if the benefit group was informed in writing when the benefits began that the benefit group would receive benefits only for a specific period of time a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) may be used to:

(a) Deny an application to start or continue benefits after the completion of a certification period (see OAR 461-001-0000) or to approve benefits at a level lower than the prior certification period.

(b) Indicate that benefits have been ended or reduced when no timely application is submitted.

(3) A basic decision notice is used when a special need allowance granted for a specific period of time is removed at the end of the specified period and the benefit group was informed of this in writing when the allowance began. A timely continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is required if stopping the special need allowance results in benefit closure.

(4) In the JOBS Plus program, a basic decision notice is used if:

(a) An employer submits a wage reimbursement billing and the Department calculates a supplement (see OAR 461-190-0416 about supplements);

(b) The benefit group received a timely continuing benefit decision notice that the method of payment would be changed from cash to employer-paid wages; and

(c) The notice specified the period of time that benefits would be diverted.

(5) No additional decision notice is required when:

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(a) Notwithstanding OAR 461-115-0010(6), when a benefit group submits an application for a program from which they currently are receiving benefits.

(b) In the ERDC program when a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0350) is receiving priority processing (see OAR 461-170-0150(2)) but does not return postponed verification to the Department by the last day of the month in which the application period ends (see OAR 461-115-0190).

(c) In the OSIPM program:

(A) A client's liability returns to the previous higher level after the Department sent the client a continuing benefit decision notice for a decrease in the client liability due to an allowable deduction and that notice also specified when the deduction no longer would apply causing the client liability to return to the previous higher level; or

(B) A client's benefits are being closed or reduced and the Department sent the client a basic decision notice of eligibility and a simultaneous continuing benefit decision notice because the client's circumstances changed between the date of the client's application and the date of the Department's eligibility decision and the change caused the client's benefits to be reduced or closed.

(6) In the SNAP program:

(a) A basic decision notice is used to close benefits if the benefit group was informed in writing, when their benefits began, that they would receive benefits only for a specific period of time.

(b) No decision notice is required if the client is provided a decision notice at the time of application or redetermination that:

(A) The allotment of the benefit group would vary from month to month and listed the anticipated changes;

(B) In the case the client applied at the same time for both cash assistance and SNAP benefits, the SNAP benefits would be reduced or closed upon approval of the cash assistance; or

(C) In the case of a benefit group receiving benefits under expedited services with postponed verification:

(i) The expedited services benefits would close if the Department did not receive the postponed verification within the timeframe established under OAR 461-115-0690.

(ii) The expedited services benefits may be adjusted beyond the timeframe established under OAR 461-115-0690 based on the verified information provided to the Department without further notice.

Rule Caption: Implementing SNAP time limits for ABAWD clients in Multnomah and Washington counties

Adm. Order No.: SSP 37-2015

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-23-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-1-16

Notice Publication Date: 11-1-2015, 12-1-2015

Rules Amended: 461-115-0651, 461-130-0310, 461-130-0330, 461-135-0520, 461-170-0011, 461-170-0101

Subject: Under the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008, able-bodied adults without dependents (ABAWD) are limited to three months of SNAP benefits unless they are exempt or meet certain work participation requirements. Oregon's statewide waiver of the federal requirement expires on December 31, 2015. The new waiver approved by the Food and Nutrition Services of the US Department of Agriculture exempts all Oregon reservations and counties, except Multnomah and Washington. The rules below are being amended to implement the time limit and the associated reporting requirements, exemption criteria, and work participation requirements for ABAWD SNAP clients residing in these counties:

OAR 461-115-0651 about verification requirements in the SNAP program is being amended to state that ABAWD who reside in Multnomah or Washington County must report work hours and the number of countable months used in another state when the individual initially applies for SNAP benefits.

OAR 461-130-0310 about participation classifications is being amended to comply with the federal exemption criteria for ABAWD which states that in the SNAP program an individual receiving benefits under Title IV of the Social Security Act is exempt from employment program participation.

OAR 461-130-0330 about disqualifications is being amended to add a reference to the ABAWD rule, OAR 461-135-0520, which has information about disqualification as it relates to the time limits for ABAWD clients.

OAR 461-135-0520 about eligibility requirements and time limits for ABAWD is being amended in its entirety to:

- Limit ABAWD in Multnomah and Washington Counties to three "countable months" of SNAP benefits;

- Define "countable months" as months during which the ABAWD:

Is not exempt;

Receives a full month of benefits;

Does not reside in a waived county; and

Does not meet work participation requirements.

- State how an ABAWD may regain eligibility;

- Create a placeholder section which will be used to list criteria the Department will use to grant ABAWD exemptions if the Department receives special exemptions from the Food and Nutrition Service; and

- State that an ABAWD may be eligible to receive support services payments to help meet the work participation requirements.

OAR 461-170-0011 about changes that must be reported is being amended to require ABAWD who reside in Multnomah or Washington County to report a change in work hours when work hours are below 20 hours per week.

OAR 461-170-0101 about the Simplified Reporting System (SRS) is being amended to allow an ABAWD in Multnomah or Washington County who is certified for a four-month period to participate in SRS.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

461-130-0330

Disqualifications; Pre-TANF, REF, SNAP, TANF

(1) In the Pre-TANF, REF, SNAP, and TANF programs, the Department may not disqualify from program benefits a client who is a volunteer (see OAR 461-130-0305) participant in an employment program.

(2) In the Pre-TANF, REF, and TANF programs, a mandatory (see OAR 461-130-0305) client who fails to comply with an employment program participation requirement and does not have good cause (see OAR 461-130-0327) for the failure to comply is subject to disqualification under this rule only after the requirements of all of the following subsections are met:

(a) The client has had the opportunity to participate in the re-engagement process under OAR 461-190-0231;

(b) The Department has determined the client is willfully non-compliant and does not have good cause for failing to comply with a requirement of the program;

(c) The Department has offered (and the client has refused) or conducted screenings (and assessed if appropriate) for physical or mental health needs, substance abuse, domestic violence, and learning needs;

(d) The Department has determined the client has no barriers (see OAR 461-001-0025) or refuses to take appropriate steps to address identified barriers;

(e) The Department has determined the client has not met federally required participation rates (see OAR 461-001-0025); and

(f) The Department has assessed for any risk of harm posed to the children by a reduction in cash assistance.

(3) In the REF and TANF programs, the effects of a JOBS disqualification are progressive. There are two levels of disqualification. Once a disqualification is imposed, it affects benefits according to the following schedule until the disqualification ends in accordance with OAR 461-130-0335:

(a) At the first level, the penalty is removal of the disqualified client from the need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) for up to three months or until the client has completed the two-consecutive week cooperation period.

(b) At the second level, the need group receives no cash benefit in the program for one month.

(c) At the first or second level of disqualification, the penalty may cause the need group to be over income for REF or TANF program benefits (see OAR 461-160-0100).

(d) At the end of the second level, program benefits are closed and the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310, 461-110-0330, and 461-110-0430) may not receive program benefits for the following two consecutive months. This may be prevented if the disqualified client:

(A) Contacts a representative of the Department in order to re-engage in the JOBS program prior to the end of the second level; and

(B) Begins the two consecutive weeks of cooperation as outlined in OAR 461-130-0335(3)(b) prior to the end of the second level; or

(C) Is no longer a member of the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210 and 461-130-0335(2)); or

(D) Is unable to participate because there is no appropriate activity (see OAR 461-001-0025) or support services (see OAR 461-001-0025) necessary to support the activity.

(4) In the SNAP program:

(a) A mandatory client who fails to comply with the requirements of an employment program is subject to disqualification. A disqualified client is removed from the need group until he or she meets the employment program requirements and serves the applicable progressive disqualification under the following subsections:

(A) One calendar month for the first failure to comply.

(B) Three calendar months for the second failure to comply.

(C) Six calendar months for the third and subsequent failures to comply.

(b) A client who is exempt (see OAR 461-130-0305) from participation in the SNAP employment program because he or she is a mandatory participant in the JOBS program, receiving unemployment compensation benefits, or has applied for unemployment compensation benefits and is waiting on an initial decision must comply with the requirements of those programs. If the client fails to comply with the requirements of the applicable program the client is disqualified from receiving SNAP benefits, unless he or she can show good cause under OAR 461-130-0327.

(c) For ABAWD time limits, see OAR 461-135-0520.

Eligibility Requirements for ABAWD; SNAP

This rule establishes eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) requirements for receipt of SNAP benefits for certain adults.

(1) An able-bodied adult without dependents (ABAWD) means an individual 18 years of age or over, but under the age of 50, without dependents. For the purpose of this definition, "without dependents" means there is no child (see OAR 461-001-0000) under the age of 18 years in the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0370).

(2) Except as provided otherwise in this rule, an ABAWD who resides in Multnomah or Washington County is ineligible to receive food benefits as a member of any household if the individual received food benefits for more than three countable months (see section (3) of this rule) during January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2018.

(3) "Countable months" means months within the 36-month period of January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2018 in which an individual receives SNAP benefits in Oregon or in any other state, unless at least one of the following applies:

(a) The individual resided for any part of the month in a county identified in a waiver approved by United States Department of Agriculture on the limitation on eligibility for SNAP benefits contained in section 6(o)(2) of the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 (7 U.S.C. 2015(o)(2)). Under the waiver, the time limit in section (2) of this rule does not apply to residents of the following counties: Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Coos, Crook, Curry, Deschutes, Douglas, Gilliam, Grant, Harney, Hood River, Jackson, Jefferson, Josephine, Klamath, Lake, Lane, Lincoln, Linn, Malheur, Marion, Marrow, Polk, Sherman, Tillamook, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa, Wasco, Wheeler, and Yamhill.

(b) Benefits were prorated for the month.

(c) The individual was exempt (see OAR 461-130-0305) for any part of the month under OAR 461-130-0310(3)(a)(A) to (J).

(d) The individual participated in one or more of the activities in paragraphs (A) to (D) of this subsection for 20 hours per week averaged monthly. For purposes of this rule, 20 hours per week averaged monthly means 80 hours per month. (Activities may be combined in one month to meet the 20 hours per week averaged monthly requirement.)

(A) Work for pay, in exchange for goods or services, or as a volunteer.

(i) Work in exchange for goods and services includes bartering and in-kind work.

(ii) Voluntary work hours must be verified by the employer.

(ii) For self-employed individuals, countable income after deducting the costs of producing income must average at least the federal minimum wage times 20 hours per week.

(B) Participate in a program under the Workforce Investment Act of 1998, Pub. L. No. 105 220, 112 Stat. 936 (1998).

(C) Participate in a program under section 236 of the Trade Act of 1974, Pub. L. 93 618, 88 Stat. 2023, (1975) (19 U.S.C. 2296).

(D) Comply with the employment and training requirements described in OAR 461-001-0020, 461-130-0305, and 461-130-0315. Work search activities must be combined with other work-related activities to equal 20 hours per week and may not exceed 9 hours per week.

(4) An ABAWD must submit evidence to the Department on the issue of whether a month is countable within 90 days following the last day of the month in question.

(5) An ABAWD who is ineligible under section (2) of this rule but otherwise eligible may regain eligibility if the requirements of subsections (a) or (b) of this section are met.

(a) The individual becomes exempt under OAR 461-130-0310(3)(a)(A) to (I).

(b) The individual, during a consecutive 30-day period during which the individual is ineligible, meets the requirements of subsection (3)(d) of this rule.

(A) Eligibility established under this subsection for an applicant begins on the date the individual files a new application for food benefits and continues as long as the individual meets the requirements of subsection (3)(d) of this rule and is otherwise eligible. If not eligible on the filing date (see OAR 461-115-0040), eligibility begins the date all other eligibility requirements are met.

(B) There is no limit to how many times an individual may regain eligibility under this subsection during January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2018. However, an individual may only receive benefits without meeting the requirements of subsection (3)(d) of this rule for a total of 6 countable months during January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2018.

(c) See OAR 461-180-0010 to add an individual to an open SNAP case after the individual has regained eligibility under this section.

(6) An individual who regains eligibility under section (5) of this rule and later fails to comply with the participation requirements of subsection (3)(d) of this rule may receive a second set of food benefits for three consecutive countable months. The countable months are determined as follows:

(a) If the individual stopped participation in a work program, countable months start when the Department notifies the individual he or she is no longer meeting the work requirement.

(b) If the individual stopped participation in a work program, countable months start when the individual notifies the Department he or she is no longer meeting the work requirement.

(c) If a change occurred which results in an individual becoming subject to the time limit in section (2) of this rule and the change was required to be reported under rules in OAR chapter 461, division 170, the countable months start when the change occurred.

(d) If a change occurred which results in an individual becoming subject to the time limit and the change was not required to be reported under rules in OAR chapter 461, division 170, countable months start when the Department notifies the individual he or she must meet the work requirement.

(7) This section is a placeholder to establish criteria the Department will use to grant exemptions to ABAWD who are ineligible if the Department receives special exemptions from the Food and Nutrition Service.

(8) An ABAWD involved in the activities specified in subsection (3)(d) of this rule or an activity listed in the individual's case plan (see OAR 461-001-0020) is eligible for support service payments necessary for transportation or other costs related to completing the activity as allowed by OAR 461-190-0360.

Child Support and Cash Medical Support

(1) Child support and cash medical support paid by a non-custodial parent for a dependent child (see OAR 461-001-0000) or minor parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) in the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) are considered income of the dependent child or minor parent, whether the support is paid voluntarily or in accordance with an order to pay child support.

(2) For the purposes of this rule:

(a) "Disregard" means child support, up to $50 per dependent child or minor parent per financial group per month and not to exceed $200 per financial group per month, that is not counted as income of the client. "Disregard" includes current child support only.

(b) "Pass-through" means child support, up to $50 per dependent child or minor parent per financial group per month and not to exceed $200 per financial group per month, that is sent to the client before any remaining amount of current child support is withheld by the State. "Pass-through" includes current child support only.

(3) In the ERDC program, child support is considered countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) unearned income if it is received by the financial group or is countable under OAR 461-145-0280. Otherwise it is excluded.

(4) In the SNAP program, child support and cash medical support are treated as follows:

(a) Child support payments the group receives that must be assigned to the Department to maintain TANF eligibility are excluded, even if the group fails to turn the payments over to the Department.

(b) Child support payments received by a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0370) with at least one member working under a TANF JOBS Plus agreement are excluded, except:

(B) Any pass-through pursuant to section (2) of this rule is considered countable unearned income.

(c) All other child support, including any pass-through pursuant to section (2) of this rule, is considered countable unearned income.

(d) Cash medical support is considered countable unearned income except to the extent it is used to reimburse (see OAR 461-145-0440) an actual medical cost.

(e) Payments made by a non-custodial parent to a third party for the benefit of the financial group are treated in accordance with OAR 461-145-0280.

(5) Except as provided otherwise in section (8) of this rule, in the TANF program:

(a) In determining initial eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000), except for disregard pursuant to section (2) of this rule, child support received by the Oregon Department of Justice, Division of Child Support (DCS) is considered countable unearned income, if continued receipt of the child support is reasonably anticipated. These payments are excluded when determining the benefit amount.

(b) In determining on-going eligibility, except for clients working under a TANF JOBS Plus agreement and except for child support passed through to the client and disregarded pursuant to section (2) of this rule, child support received by the DCS is considered countable unearned income, if continued receipt of the child support is reasonably anticipated. These payments are excluded when determining the benefit amount.

(c) For clients working under a TANF JOBS Plus agreement:

(A) Child support is excluded in determining countable income.

(B) Child support is excluded when calculating the TANF portion of the benefit equivalency standards.

(C) All child support paid directly to the client is considered countable unearned income in the calculation of the wage supplement.

(b) Cash medical support is excluded in determining countable income.

(c) Payments made by a non-custodial parent to a third party for the benefit of the financial group are considered countable unearned income. This includes but is not limited to payments made by a non-custodial parent to a third party for rent, mortgage, utilities, or child care.

(d) For a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0330) with at least one member working under a TANF JOBS Plus agreement:

(A) Child support is excluded in determining countable income.

(B) Child support is excluded when calculating the TANF portion of the benefit equivalency standards.

(C) All child support paid directly to the client is considered countable unearned income in the calculation of the wage supplement.

In-Kind Income

(1) This rule does not apply to shelter-in-kind income (see OAR 461-145-0470).

(2) In all programs except the REF, REFM, and TANF programs, in-kind income (see OAR 461-001-0000) that is earned is treated according to the administrative rules on earned income (such as OAR 461-145-0130).

(3) In all programs except the REF, REFM, and TANF programs, in-kind income that is unearned (except third-party payments) is treated as follows:

(a) Income from court-ordered community service work or bartering is excluded. Bartering is the exchange of goods of equal value.

(b) Items such as cars and furniture are treated according to the administrative rule for the specific type of asset.

(4) In the REF, REFM, and TANF programs, in-kind income (except unearned third-party payments) is excluded.

(5) In the SNAP program, except for child support (see OAR 461-145-0080) and an expenditure by a business entity that benefits a principal (see OAR 461-145-0088), in-kind income is excluded.

(6) Unearned third-party payments are treated as follows:

(a) Payments made to a third party that should legally be paid directly to a member of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) are counted as unearned income.

(b) Payments made to a third party that the payee is not legally obligated to pay directly to a member of the financial group and that the financial group does not have the option of taking as cash, and payments made by the noncustodial parent to a third party that are court-ordered are treated as follows:

(A) In the SNAP program, these third-party payments are excluded unless they are transitional housing payments for the homeless.

(B) In the TANF program, except for payments designated as child support (see OAR 461-145-0080), these third-party payments are excluded.

(C) In all programs except the SNAP and TANF programs, these third-party payments are excluded.

The Corporation administers national service programs providing living allowance, educational award, child care, and in-kind benefits.

(2) NCSTA payments, including AmeriCorps (except AmeriCorps VISTA which is covered in OAR 461-145-0110) are treated as follows:

(a) The living allowance (stipend benefits) is excluded.

(b) Educational award and in-kind benefits are treated as follows:

(A) In the GA program, these benefits are treated according to the policy for the specific type of asset.

(B) In all programs except GA, these benefits are excluded.

(c) The child care allowance is treated as follows:

(A) For clients in the ERDC and TANF programs who are eligible for direct provider payment of child care, the allowance is counted as unearned income. The allowance is excluded only if the client already pays the provider. The provider may be paid for only the costs not covered by the allowance.

(B) For clients in the SNAP program who are receiving a child care deduction, the deduction is allowed only for the costs not covered by the allowance.

(C) In all other programs, the allowance is excluded.

Real Property Excluded under an Interim Assistance Agreement; TANF

(1) This rule applies in the TANF program when the equity value (see OAR 461-001-0000) of real property (see OAR 461-001-0000) puts the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) over the resource limit.

(2) When section (1) of this rule applies:

(a) The equity value of real property is excluded for a maximum of nine months if the financial group signs and complies with the terms of the program's Interim Assistance Agreement.

(b) After the ninth month, the equity value of the property is counted as a resource.

(3) To comply with the terms of the program's Interim Assistance Agreement, the financial group must agree to do all the following:

(a) Make a good-faith effort to sell the property; and

(b) Use the proceeds from the sale of the property to reimburse the Department for all benefits paid under the terms of the program's Interim Assistance Agreement. The reimbursement will not exceed the net proceeds of the sale of the property.

(4) The amount of benefits paid while the financial group has excess real property is an overpayment if the financial group fails to notify the Department that the group has the property.

(5) The amount of the benefits paid while the financial group has excess real property is an overpayment up to the net proceeds of the sale of the property if the property sells and the financial group does not repay the Department under the terms of the program's Interim Assistance Agreement.

Prospective Budgeting; Annualizing and Prorating Contracted or Self-employment Income; Not OSIP, OSIPM, or QMB

(1) Income from self-employment, including contract income while self-employed, is treated in accordance with OAR 461-145-0910 unless the income meets the provisions of section (2) of this rule.

(2) If past contract income is not representative of future income or when a substantial increase or decrease is expected in countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) self-employment income (see OAR 461-145-0910) in the next year, costs as allowed under OAR 461-145-0930 and anticipated income are used to determine the countable income.

(3) In the ERDC, REF, SNAP, and TANF programs, contract income that does not meet the criteria of self-employment income (see OAR 461-145-0910) is treated as follows:

(a) Income received during a less than 12-month period but intended as a full year's income is annualized.

(b) Income received on an hourly or piecework basis or monthly over the term of the contract period is not annualized. It is treated as stable income (see OAR 461-001-0000) under OAR 461-150-0070 or variable income (see OAR 461-001-0000) under OAR 461-150-0080.

(4) In the REFM program, contract income that does not meet the criteria of self-employment income (see OAR 461-145-0910) is treated as follows:

(a) Income is counted only if received in the month of application. If income counted in the month of application puts the applicant over the income limits for REFM, the income is annualized.

(b) Income received on an hourly or piecework basis or monthly over the term of the contract period is not annualized. It is treated as stable income (see OAR 461-001-0000) under OAR 461-150-0070 or variable income (see OAR 461-001-0000) under OAR 461-150-0080.

(5) Contract income that is not the annual income of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) and not paid on an hourly or piecework basis is prorated over the period the income is intended to cover.

Income and Payment Standards; JOBS, REF, TANF

In the JOBS, REF, and TANF programs, the income standards are as follows:

(1) The Countable Income Limit Standard is the amount set as the maximum countable income limit.

(a) For each need group (see OAR 461-110-0630) in the REF and TANF programs containing an adult, the following table is used:

(b) In the TANF program, a caretaker relative (see OAR 461-001-0000) other than a parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) who chooses not to be included in the need group is subject to the "no-adult countable income limit standard" for the need group under subsection (c) of this section. The "non-needy countable income limit standard" for the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0330) is set at 185 percent of the federal poverty level (see OAR 461-155-0180).

(c) In the TANF program, when the need group contains no adults, the "no adult countable income limit standard" is calculated as follows:

(A) Refer to the Countable Income Limit Standard for need groups with adults. Use the standard for the number of individuals in the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210).

(B) Divide the standard in paragraph (A) of this subsection by the number of individuals in the household group. Round this figure down to the next lower whole number if the figure is not a whole number.

(C) Multiply the figure from paragraph (B) of this subsection by the number of individuals in the need group. The result is the standard.

(d) In the JOBS program, for the filing group of a non-custodial parent who resides in Oregon and whose dependent child (see OAR 461-001-0000) is receiving TANF program benefits in Oregon to participate in an activity (see OAR 461-001-0025) of the JOBS program, the countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) income limit is set at 185 percent of the federal poverty level (see OAR 461-155-0180).

(2) The Adjusted Income/Payment Standard is used as the adjusted income limit and to calculate cash benefits for need groups with an adult.

(a) For need groups containing an adult in the REF and TANF programs, except as provided otherwise in subsection (b) of this section, the following table is used:

(b) To calculate cash benefits for a need group with an adult in the REF and TANF programs, the following table is used:

(c) In the TANF program, when the need group contains no adult, the No-Adult Adjusted Income/Payment Standard is calculated as follows:

(A) Refer to the Adjusted Income/Payment Standard for need groups with adults. Use the standard for the number of individuals in the household group.

(B) Divide the standard in paragraph (A) of this subsection by the number of individuals in the household group. Round this figure down to the next lower whole number if the figure is not a whole number.

(C) Multiply the figure from paragraph (B) of this subsection by the number of individuals in the need group.

(D) Add $12 to the figure calculated in paragraph (C) of this subsection.

- (g) Seven people — $75
- (h) Eight or more people — $109

(3) Except as provided in section (4) of this rule, when there is no adult in the need group, the incentive is calculated as follows:

(a) The payment authorized by section (1) of this rule is determined based on the number of people in the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210) rather than in the need group. For instance, if there are three people in the household group, the amount used for this calculation is $43.

(b) The figure obtained in subsection (a) of this section is divided by the number of people in the household group, and the result is rounded to the next lower whole number.

(c) The figure obtained in subsection (b) of this section is multiplied by the number of people in the need group. The result is the incentive payment.

(4) All cooperation incentive payments end on September 30, 2010. Beginning October 1, 2010, no client in the TANF program will receive a cooperation incentive payment.

Concurrent and Duplicate Program Benefits

(1) Except as noted in this rule, an individual may not receive benefits from the Department of the same type (that is, cash, medical, or SNAP benefits) for the same period as a member of two or more different benefit groups (see OAR 461-110-0750) or from two or more separate programs. Except as allowed in subsection (g) of this section, this provision includes a prohibition against an individual receiving TANF concurrently with another cash assistance program funded under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act.

(a) An individual may receive EA, HSP, and TA-DVS benefits and cash payments from other programs for the same time period.

(b) If a GA recipient becomes eligible for the TANF program, benefits are supplemented during the first month of eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) for TANF to the TANF payment standards.

(c) A TANF recipient may receive ERDC for a child (see OAR 461-001-0000) in the household group (see OAR 461-110-0210), but who may not be included in the TANF filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310).

(d) A child who is a member of an ERDC benefit group may also be a member of one of the following benefit groups:

(A) An OSIP-AB benefit group.

(B) A TANF benefit group when living with a nonneedy caretaker relative (see OAR 461-001-0000), if the caretaker relative is not the parent (see OAR 461-001-0000) of the child.

(C) A TANF benefit group when living with a needy caretaker relative receiving SSI.

(e) An individual in the SNAP program who leaves a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0370) that includes an individual who abused them and enters a domestic violence shelter (see OAR 461-001-0000) or safe home (see OAR 461-001-0000) for victims of domestic violence (see OAR 461-001-0000) may receive SNAP benefits twice during the month the individual enters the domestic violence shelter or safe home.

(f) A QMB recipient may also receive medical benefits from OSIPM, REF, or an OCCS medical program with the exception of OHP-OPC, OHP-OPU, OHP-OP6, OHP-CHIP, MAGI Adult, and MAGI CHIP.

(g) An individual may receive Chafee (see OAR 413-030-0400 to 413-030-0455) and TANF benefits during the same time period. As of January 1, 2013, receipt of both Chafee and TANF benefits will not result in an overpayment.

(2) An individual may not receive benefits of the same type (that is, cash, medical, or SNAP benefits) for the same period from both Oregon and another state or tribal food distribution program, except as follows:

(a) Medical benefits may be authorized for an eligible individual if the individual's provider refuses to submit a bill to the Medicaid agency of another state and the individual would not otherwise receive medical care.

(b) Cash benefits may be authorized for an individual in the Pre-TANF program if benefits from another state will end by the last day of the month in which the individual applied for TANF.

(3) In the SNAP program, each individual who has been included as a member of the filing group in Oregon or another state is subject to all of the restrictions in section (2) of this rule.

(4) An REF or TANF filing group may not receive REF or TANF benefits for the same period of time that an individual in the REF or TANF filing group receives assistance from the Office of Refugee Resettlement Matching Grant Program.

Notice Situation; Removing an Individual From a Benefit Group (REF, REF, SNAP, TANF) or Need Group (ERDC)

(1) To remove an individual from a benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750), the following notices are used:

(a) A continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used when the removal is based on information reported on the Interim Change Report form.

(b) A timely continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used when the removal is not based on the Interim Change Report form.

(2) In the ERDC program, the Department sends a timely continuing benefit decision notice to remove an individual from the need group (see OAR 461-110-0630).

(3) In the TANF program, if a child (see OAR 461-001-0000) is removed from the benefit group as a result of a court order or a voluntary placement in foster care by the child's caretaker relative (see OAR 461-001-0000), a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used.

Application Process; Reservation List for ERDC

Notwithstanding any other rule in chapter 461 of the Oregon Administrative Rules, in the ERDC program:

(1) Eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) is subject to the availability of funds. The Department may implement a Child Care Reservation List whenever the Department determines that sufficient funding is not available to sustain benefits for all of the applicants requesting assistance.

(2) Except as provided in section (3) of this rule, the following applicants are subject to placement on the Child Care Reservation List when the Child Care Reservation List is in effect:

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(a) New applicants for ERDC when no member of the ERDC filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310 and 461-110-0350) meets the requirements of one or more of the following paragraphs:

(A) Received a partial or full month of REF, SFPSS, or TANF program cash benefits from the State of Oregon in at least one of the preceding three months; and no member of the ERDC program filing group may be concurrently receiving TANF program benefits except as allowed under OAR 461-165-0030.

(B) Is eligible for and being placed in a current opening in a Head Start program contracted slot under OAR 461-135-0405, an Oregon Program of Quality contracted slot under OAR 461-135-0407, or an Early Head Start Child Care Partnership contracted slot.

(C) The caretaker (see OAR 461-001-0000) is currently working with Child Welfare as part of a CPS assessment or open case, an ongoing safety plan is in place, and Child Welfare has determined the use of child care as part of an ongoing safety plan will:

(i) Prevent removal of the child (see OAR 461-001-0000) from their home;

(ii) Allow a child to be returned home; or

(iii) Allow for placement of the child with a relative or with an adult whom the child or the family of the child has an established relationship.

(D) Determined eligible for TA-DVS program benefits (see OAR 461-135-1225) from the State of Oregon in the current month or at least one of the preceding three months.

(b) Individuals who are reapplying for ERDC after a break in ERDC benefits of two consecutive, calendar months or more.

(3) Except as allowed under OAR 461-165-0030, no member of an ERDC program filing group may be concurrently receiving TANF program benefits. When concurrent benefits are not allowed, the Department sends a decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) of ineligibility for the ERDC program and the filing group is not placed on the Child Care Reservation List.

(4) When the Child Care Reservation List is in effect, the Department must place all applicants who are subject to the Child Care Reservation List under section (2) of this rule on the Child Care Reservation List for future selection. The Department sends these applicants a decision notice of ineligibility for the ERDC program.

(5) Each month, on the basis of an estimate of available funds, an appropriate number of individuals from the Child Care Reservation List are randomly selected and invited to apply for ERDC.

(6) After an individual is selected from the Child Care Reservation List, the individual must contact the Department to establish a date of request (see OAR 461-115-0030) no later than 30 days after the date on the selection letter. The individual may request child care benefits from the Department:

(a) Without completing a new application, when the previous application is within 45 days of its date of request; or

(b) By submitting a new application for child care benefits to the Department.

(7) The processing time frame for the ERDC application is the same as that specified in OAR 461-115-0190, except that:

(a) An individual who requests benefits after the 30 day deadline to apply (see section (6) of this rule) will be returned to the Child Care Reservation List.

(b) If the Department does not receive a request for benefits within the deadline to apply, the individual is dropped from the Child Care Reservation List.

Rules Amended: 461-130-0310, 461-135-0506

Subject: Effective January 1, 2016, the Department is implementing a three-month limit on SNAP benefits for ABAWD (able-bodied adults without dependents) clients residing in Multnomah and Washington counties who are not otherwise exempt. (Oregon's statewide waiver of this federal requirement expires December 31, 2015. The new waiver excludes all reservations and counties in Oregon, except Multnomah and Washington.) The Department is adopting the temporary amendments below as part of the implementation of the time limit.

OAR 461-130-0310 about participation classifications is being amended to exempt chronically homeless individuals from employment program participation in the SNAP program. An individual is considered chronically homeless if an individual is currently homeless and one of the following applies:

- The individual has been homeless for more than six months.

- The individual has been homeless more than one time in the last year.

- The individual states that the individual is unable to meet the basic necessities of everyday life.

OAR 413-135-0506 about Transitional Benefit Alternative (TBA) is being amended to state that a household may not participate in TBA if a member of the financial group is subject to a penalty in the SNAP program because the individual becomes ineligible for or disqualified from participation in the SNAP program because of the time limit for ABAWD clients living in Multnomah and Washington counties.

Transitional Benefit Alternative (TBA) in the SNAP program

(1) This rule establishes the transitional benefit alternative (TBA). A client participating in TBA continues to receive SNAP benefits without reduction during the transition period. The transition period is five months. If the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0370) separates into two groups during the TBA period, only the group containing the head of household continues in the TBA.

(2) In the SNAP program, a client who receives a cash grant from the Department in the SFPSS or TANF programs may participate in TBA when the benefits are stopped, except as provided in section (4) of this rule.

(3) The benefit level for the transition period is based on countable income for SNAP during the last month before TBA begins, but the Title IV-A grant is not counted as income. Once it is established, the TBA benefit level is changed only when:

(a) The filing group submits a new application in the SNAP program and will receive more SNAP benefits if they are not using the TBA reporting system;

(b) A member of the filing group leaves and applies for SNAP benefits as a member of another household; or

(c) The Department initiates a change identified in OAR 461-170-0200.

(4) A household may not participate in TBA in each of the following situations:

(a) A member of the filing group is receiving benefits of the TANF program.

(b) The TANF benefits are stopped because the household does not reside in Oregon.

(c) The TANF benefits are stopped because of a change that results in ineligibility for TANF and the household failed to complete a timely report or to complete a required action on time.

(d) As of the date the TANF case closed, an individual in the household was serving a penalty imposed in the TANF program.

(e) The TANF benefits are stopped at the request of the household after the household is informed of an impending disqualification in the TANF program.

(f) The head of household becomes ineligible for the SNAP program because he or she lives in an institution or in a facility that provides at least 50 percent of the meals.

(g) A member of the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) is subject to a penalty in the SNAP program because of the individual's conduct, for instance, because the individual:

(A) Was excluded from the need group under OAR 461-110-0630(5);

(B) Was penalized for failure to meet a requirement of an employment program;

(C) Was ineligible for SNAP benefits under OAR 461-105-0410; or

(D) Was ineligible for or disqualified from participation in the SNAP program because of a failure to comply with a requirement of the program to provide complete and accurate information to the Department.

(E) Becomes ineligible for or disqualified from participation in the SNAP program because of the time limit imposed under OAR 461-135-0520.

(5) Once the TBA benefits have ended, a client's eligibility for the SNAP program is determined on the basis of a new application.

requirements in the ERDC, TA-DVS, and TANF programs; add victims of trafficking as qualified non-citizens; and increase eligibility for OSIPM and QMB by expanding individuals who meet the alien status requirements.

OAR 461-170-0103 about actions resulting from changes in household circumstances and OAR 461-175-0200 about notice situations are being amended to allow JPI (Job Participation Incentive) payments to be closed with a basic notice (instead of a 10-days advance notice with a right to continuing benefits) when a client reports a change in income that results in eligibility for increased SNAP benefits. The JPI program is a $10 food benefits. This amendment covers situations in which net benefits are not decreasing. This makes permanent temporary rules adopted on October 1, 2015.

OAR 461-175-0200 about notice situations generally; OAR 461-175-0220 about notice situations for disqualifications; OAR 461-175-0340 about notice situations for voluntary actions; and OAR 461-195-0621 about intentional program violations are being amended to clarify that a signed IPV waiver qualifies as a final order and therefore no further notice to the client who signed the IPV waiver is required. It is also clarified that other members of the benefit group do receive notice if the benefits of the remaining members are reduced as a result of the disqualification based on a signed IPV waiver.

This is in compliance with 7 CFR 271.7(f), 7 CFR 273.12(e)(1), and ORS 411.095 as amended by SB 225 (Oregon Laws 2015, chapter 269).

OAR 461-195-0521 about the calculation of overpayments is being amended to clarify that an underpayment of benefits can be credited against an overpayment only when they occur in the same program. This aligns with existing practice and with OAR 461-195-0551(4)(b).

In addition, non-substantive edits are being made to improve clarity and ease of reading such as updating terminology, alphabetizing programs, correcting and updating statutory and rule references, and correcting formatting and punctuation.

Actions Resulting From Changes in Household Circumstances; Simplified Reporting System (SRS); SNAP, JPI

In the SNAP program and JPI, benefits may be changed for an individual using SRS — based on information obtained other than through the Interim Change Report — only as follows:

(1) The benefit level is increased if the information demonstrates the individual is eligible for greater benefits.

(2) The benefits are closed or reduced if any of the following subsections apply:

(a) The household requests a closure of benefits.

(b) The action is based on information that is verified upon receipt.

Information is considered verified upon receipt if:

(A) It is not questionable and the individual making the report has first-hand knowledge of the information reported; or

(B) Verification is provided with the reported change in accordance with OAR 461-115-0651.

(c) The individual reports information that results in loss of eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(d) The individual reports financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) income exceeding the SNAP program countable (see OAR 461-001-0000) income limit.

(3) The Department acts on information reported through computer matches when the Interim Change Report is processed, when the individual is recertified, or when the monthly match with the Department of Corrections indicates a member is incarcerated.

Notice Situations; General Information

(1) In the EA program, a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is sent for all situations.

(2) In the SNAP program, a basic decision notice is sent for all actions on applications for assistance.

(3) In the JOBS program:

(a) A basic decision notice is sent whenever a request for a support service payment is denied.

(b) No decision notice is required if request for a support service is approved.

(4) A basic decision notice is sent to close JPI benefits when the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) reports a change during the reporting period in which SNAP benefits do not decrease.

(5) In the TANF program, a notice approving benefits informs the client, within one month following eligibility determination, of the opportunity to volunteer for JOBS participation and of the procedure for JOBS program entry.

(6) In the Pre-TANF program, a basic decision notice is sent when payment for basic living expenses is denied or when payment for other support services in the JOBS program is denied. No other notices are required for this program.

(7) In the TA-DVS program, a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is sent to a safe mailing address or hand delivered for all situations. This includes when the program is approved, denied, or closed (prior to the end of the 90 day eligibility period) and when a payment under the program is denied.

(8) In all programs except the Pre-TANF program, unless stated differently in this rule or another rule, the Department mails or otherwise provides the client with (sends) a decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) as follows:

(a) A basic decision notice is sent whenever an application for assistance, including retroactive medical assistance, is approved or denied or a request for a support service payment in the JOBS program is denied.

(b) A timely continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is sent whenever benefits or support service payments authorized by OAR 461-190-0211 are reduced or closed, or the method of payment changes to protective, vendor, or two-party.

(c) A decision notice is sent whenever the Department adjusts previously underissued cash assistance or SNAP benefits.

(9) In all programs:

(a) Notwithstanding any rule in Chapter 461, to the extent permitted by OAR 137-003-0530, the Department may take any of the following actions:

(A) Amend a decision notice with another decision notice or a contested case notice.

(B) Amend a contested case notice.

(C) Delay a reduction or closure of benefits as a result of a client's request for hearing.

(D) Extend the effective date on a decision notice or contested case notice.

(b) Except as provided in subsection (a) of this section or when a delay results from the client's request for a hearing, a notice to reduce or close benefits becomes void if the reduction or closure is not initiated on the date stated on the notice. If the notice is void, a new notice is sent to inform the financial group (see OAR 461-110-0530) of a new date on which their benefits will be reduced or closed.

(c) No decision notice is required in each of the following situations:

(A) Benefits are ended because there is no living person in the benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750).

(B) A notice was sent, the client requested a hearing, and either the hearing request is dismissed or a final order is issued.

(C) The client has signed a voluntary agreement that qualifies as a final order, including a signed IPV waiver, under ORS 183.417(3)(b) (see OAR 461-175-0340(2)).

(D) A decision notice that included the eligibility begin and end dates was given for TA-DVS program benefits and the 90 day eligibility period ends.

(d) When the Department amends a decision notice with another decision notice under subsection (a) of this section, the date of the amended notice restarts the client's deadlines to request a hearing or continuing benefits, or both.

(e) When a contested case notice extends an effective date or delays a reduction or closure, the date of the amended notice restarts a client's timeline to request continuing benefits.

(f) When a client has a pending hearing request or is receiving continuing benefits, and the Department amends a notice under this section, the client need not re-file the hearing request or renew the request for continuing benefits.

Notice Situation; Disqualification

(1) If a benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750) or individual is disqualified for a SNAP voluntary job quit or for failure to apply for or provide an SSN, pursue assets, cooperate in the JOBS, JOBS Plus, or OFSET program, or assist the state's efforts to collect support, the Department sends the following type of notice:

(a) If benefits are reduced or closed because of the disqualification:

(A) A continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used when changes are reported on the Interim Change Report form.

(B) A timely continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used when changes are not reported on the Interim Change Report form.

(b) If benefits are opened without the disqualified individual in the benefit group or if the entire benefit group is denied assistance, a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is used.

(2) For a JOBS, JOBS Plus, or OFSET disqualification, and for a SNAP voluntary job quit by an individual receiving SNAP benefits, the notice includes the following information:

(a) The client action that resulted in disqualification.

(b) The length of the minimum disqualification period.

(c) The reduced benefit amount.

(d) How the client may end the disqualification after the minimum period.

(3) For a voluntary job quit by an individual applying for SNAP benefits, the notice includes the following information:

(a) The action that resulted in the disqualification; and

(b) The length of the disqualification period.

(4) For an IPV disqualification:

(a) The Department does not send a notice of termination to an individual disqualified for an IPV after a court order, a final order from an administrative hearing, or a signed waiver (see OAR 461-175-0200(c)(C) and OAR 461-195-0621(2)) that imposes the disqualification.

(b) The Department sends a continuing benefit decision notice when benefits for other individuals in the benefit group are closed or reduced because an individual in the benefit group is disqualified for an IPV.

(5) For a disqualification due to being a fleeing felon or in violation of parole, probation, or post-prison supervision (under OAR 461-135-0560):

(a) A basic decision notice is required if benefits are opened without the disqualified individual in the benefit group or if the entire filing group is denied benefits.

(b) A timely continuing benefit decision notice is required if an individual in the benefit group is disqualified.

(6) The notice situation for a disqualification due to a transfer of assets is covered in OAR 461-175-0310.

Notice Situation; Mass Changes

(1) If benefits are reduced or closed to reflect cost-of-living adjustments in benefits or other mass change under a program operated by a federal agency or to reflect a mass change to payments in a program operated by the Department:

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the type of decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) used is the same as otherwise applies to the reduction or closure of benefits under the rules of this division.

(b) In the SNAP program, a continuing benefits decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) may be used if the rules in this division of rules would otherwise require a timely continuing benefits decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000).

(c) OAR 461-175-0010(2) and (3) modify the content requirements for the decision notice that apply to other decision notices under OAR 461-175-0010(1).

(2) In the SNAP program, no decision notice is required when the Department makes the following mass changes:

(a) An annual adjustment to income limits, the shelter deduction, or the standard deduction.

(b) An annual adjustment to a standard utility allowance.

(3) In the SNAP program, notwithstanding any other rule in chapter 461, when the federal government changes a benefit or standard that results in the suspension or closure of SNAP benefits for the entire caseload or a significant portion of the caseload of recipients in Oregon:

(a) No decision notice is required. The Department and the Authority are not required to mail a notice of intended action.

(b) The Department publicizes the change using one or more of the following methods:

(A) Informing the public through the news media.

(B) Placing posters in the offices that serve affected recipients, in the locations where SNAP is issued, and at other sites frequented by SNAP clients.

(C) Mailing a general notice to the households of affected recipients.

(c) There is no right to hearing to merely dispute this federally required suspension or closure of benefits and no right to continuing benefits.

Notice Situation; Voluntary Action

(1) Unless the Department chooses to proceed as described in section (2) of this rule:

(a) For all programs except the SNAP program, if the primary person (see OAR 461-001-0000), another adult member of the filing group, or the authorized representative:

(A) Makes an oral request to end or reduce benefits, a timely continuing benefit decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is sent.

(B) Makes a signed, written request to withdraw, end, or reduce benefits, a basic decision notice (see OAR 461-001-0000) is sent.

(C) Makes an oral request to withdraw an application for benefits, a basic decision notice is sent.

(b) In the SNAP program, when the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0370) states it wishes to withdraw its benefits request, or states it wishes to reduce or no longer receive benefits:

(A) If the request is made by phone to end or reduce benefits, a timely continuing benefit decision notice is sent.

(B) If the request is made in person to reduce benefits, a basic decision notice is sent.

(C) If the request to reduce benefits is signed by the primary person (see OAR 461-001-0000), another adult member of the filing group, or the authorized representative, a basic decision notice is sent.

(D) If the request to end benefits is signed by the primary person, another adult member of the filing group, or the authorized representative in the presence of a worker, no notice is required. If it is not signed in the presence of a worker, a basic decision notice is sent.

(E) If the client withdraws a signed request for benefits, a basic decision notice is sent.

(2) The Department may reduce or terminate benefits to an individual when the individual completes a voluntary agreement on a Department form used for this purpose. The Department provides the individual with a copy of the completed agreement and except to the extent provided by OAR 461-175-0220(4)(b) no other notice is required. The individual may request a hearing to set aside this agreement on the grounds of fraud, duress, or reliance on misinformation provided by the Department, subject to the time limits for hearing requests in OAR 461-025-0310.

(3) In the SNAP program, a timely continuing benefit decision notice is sent if the filing group returns a signed Change Report form with information that requires a reduction or closure of benefits.

Calculation of Overpayments

This rule specifies how the Department calculates an overpayment (see OAR 461-195-0501).

(1) The Department calculates an overpayment by determining the amount the client received or the payment made by the Department on behalf of the client that exceeds the amount for which the client was eligible.

(2) When a filing group, OCCS Medical programs household group (see OAR 410-200-0015), ineligible student, or authorized representative (see OAR 461-115-0090 and 410-200-0015) fails to report income, the

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Department calculates and determines the overpayment by assigning unreported income to the applicable budget month without averaging the unreported income, except:

(a) A client's earned income reported quarterly from the Employment Department is considered received by the client in equal amounts during the months identified in the report.

(b) In the ERDC, MAA, MAF, REF, SNAP, and TANF programs, a client's actual self-employment income is annualized retrospectively to calculate the overpayment.

(c) In the OCCS Medical programs, if actual income is not available for the months in which an overpayment occurred, a client's actual self-employment income (see OAR 410-200-0015) received during the year when an overpayment occurred is annualized to calculate an overpayment.

(3) When using prospective budgeting (see OAR division 461-150) and the actual income differs from the amount determined under OAR 461-150-0020(2), there may be a client error overpayment (see OAR 461-195-0501) only when the filing group, ineligible student, or authorized representative withheld information, failed to report a change, or provided inaccurate information. In such a case, the Department uses the actual income to determine the amount of an overpayment.

(4) When using anticipated income for the OCCS Medical programs and the actual income differs from the amount determined under OAR 410-200-0310, there may be a client error overpayment only when the OCCS Medical programs household group (see OAR 410-200-0015) or authorized representative (see OAR 410-200-0015) withheld information, failed to report a change, or provided inaccurate information. In such a case, the Department uses the actual income to determine the amount of an overpayment.

(5) When a filing group, ineligible student, or authorized representative fails to report all earned income within the reporting time frame, the earned income deduction (see OAR 461-160-0160, 461-160-0190, 461-160-0430, 461-160-0550, and 461-160-0552) is applied as follows:

(a) In the OSIP, OSIPM, QMB, and REFM programs, the Department allows the earned income deduction.

(b) In the MAA, MAF, REF, and TANF programs, the Department allows the earned income deduction when good cause (see section (6) of this rule) exists.

(c) In the SNAP program, no deduction is applied to earned income if the amount or source of income was not timely reported.

(6) For the purposes of OAR 461-195-0501 to 461-195-0561, "good cause" means circumstances beyond the client's reasonable control that caused the client to be unable to report income timely and accurately.

(7) When support is retained:

(a) In the TANF program, the amount of support (other than cash medical support) the Department of Justice retains as a current reimbursement each month is added to other income to determine eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000). When a client is not eligible for TANF program benefits, the overpayment is offset by the support the Department of Justice retains as a current reimbursement.

(b) In the medical programs, the amount of the cash medical support the Department retains each month is excluded income and not used to determine eligibility for medical program benefits. When a client has incurred a medical program overpayment, the overpayment is offset by the amount of the cash medical support the Department retains during each month of the overpayment.

(8) In the REF and TANF programs, when a client directly receives support used to determine eligibility or calculate benefits, the overpayment is:

(a) If still eligible for REF or TANF program benefits, the amount of support the client received directly; or

(b) If no longer eligible for REF or TANF program benefits, the amount of program benefits the client received.

(9) When an overpayment occurs due to the failure of an individual to reimburse the Department, when required by law to do so, for benefits or services (including cash medical support) provided for a need for which that individual is compensated by another source, the overpayment is limited to the lesser of the following:

(a) The amount of the payment from the Department;

(b) Cash medical support; or

(c) The amount by which the total of all payments exceeds the amount payable for such a need under the Department's rules.

(10) Benefits paid during a required notice period (see OAR 461-175-0050, OAR 410-200-0120) are included in the calculation of the overpayment when:

(a) The filing group, OCCS Medical programs household group (see OAR 410-200-0015), ineligible student, or authorized representative (see OAR 461-115-0090 and OAR 410-200-0015) failed to report a change within the reporting time frame under OAR 461-170-0011 or OAR 410-200-0235; and

(b) Sufficient time existed for the Department to adjust the benefits to prevent the overpayment if the filing group, OCCS Medical program household group (see OAR 410-200-0015), ineligible student, or authorized representative (see OAR 461-115-0090 and OAR 410-200-0015) had reported the change at any time within the reporting time frame.

(11) In the SNAP program:

(a) If the benefit group (see OAR 461-110-0750) was categorically eligible, there is no overpayment based on resources.

(b) For a filing group (see OAR 461-110-0370) found eligible for SNAP program benefits under OAR 461-135-0505(1)(a) to (c), and the actual income made the group ineligible for the related program, the group remains categorically eligible for SNAP program benefits as long as the eligibility requirement under OAR 461-135-0505(1)(d) is met. A benefit group of one or two individuals would be entitled to at least the minimum SNAP program benefit allotment under OAR 461-165-0060.

(c) For a filing group found eligible for SNAP program benefits only under OAR 461-135-0505(1)(d), and the actual income equals or exceeds 185 percent of the Federal Poverty Level, the filing group is no longer categorically eligible. The overpayment is the amount of SNAP program benefits incorrectly received.

(12) In the OSIP and OSIPM programs, when a client does not pay his or her share of the cost of services (see OAR 461-160-0610) or the OSIP-EPD or OSIPM-EPD program participant fee (see OAR 461-160-0800) in the month in which it is due, an overpayment is calculated as follows:

(a) All payments made by the Department on behalf of the client during the month in question are totaled, including but not limited to any payment for:

(A) Capitation;

(B) Long term care services;

(C) Medical expenses for the month in question;

(D) Medicare buy-in (when not concurrently eligible for an MSP);

(E) Medicare Part D;

(F) Mileage reimbursement;

(G) Special needs under OAR 461-155-0500 to 461-155-0710; and

(H) Home and community-based care (see OAR 461-001-0030), including home delivered meals and non-medical transportation.

(b) Any partial or late liability payment made by a client receiving home and community-based care in-home services or participant fee paid by an OSIP-EPD or OSIPM-EPD program client is subtracted from the total calculated under subsection (a) of this section. The remainder, if any, is the amount of the overpayment.

(13) When a client's liability is unreduced pending the outcome of a contested case hearing about that liability the overpayment is the difference between the liability amount determined in the final order and the amount, if any, the client has repaid.

(14) In the OCCS Medical programs, OSIPM, QMB, and REFM programs if the client was not eligible for one program, but during the period in question was eligible for another program:

(a) With the same benefit level, there is no overpayment.

(b) With a lesser benefit level, the overpayment is the amount of medical program benefit payments made on behalf of the client exceeding the amount for which the client was eligible.

(15) When an overpayment is caused by administrative error (see OAR 461-195-0501), any overpayment of GA, OSIP, REF, SFPSS, or TANF program benefits is not counted as income when determining eligibility for the GAM, OCCS Medical programs, OSIPM, and REFM programs.

(16) Credit against an overpayment is allowed as follows:

(a) In the GA, REF, and TANF programs, a credit is allowed for a client's payment for medical services made during the period covered by the overpayment, in an amount not to exceed the Department fee schedule for the service, but credit is not allowed for an elective procedure unless the Department authorized the procedure prior to its completion.

(b) In the SNAP program, if the overpayment was caused by unreported earned income, verified child care costs are allowed as a credit to the extent the costs would have been deductible under OAR 461-160-0040 and 461-160-0430.

(c) In the SFPSS and TANF programs, if the overpayment is caused by reported earned income, a credit is allowed for the Post-TANF grant if the client meets eligibility under OAR 461-135-1250 and the client has received less than 12 months of Post-TANF program benefits.

(d) In all programs, for an underpayment of benefits in the program in which the overpayment occurred.

(17) In the SNAP program, in compliance with the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, effective April 1, 2009 through September 30, 2009, the amount between the normal Thrifty Food Plan (TFP) benefit amount under this section and the increased TFP benefit amount under OAR 461-155-0190 is not counted in the overpayment amount unless the filing group was ineligible for SNAP program benefits.

(18) In the REF program, when an individual used or accessed cash benefits in violation of OAR 461-165-0010(8)(a), the amount of the overpayment is the amount of cash benefits the client used or accessed.

(19) In the SFPSS and TANF programs, when an individual used or accessed cash benefits in violation of OAR 461-165-0010(9)(a), the amount of the overpayment is the amount of cash benefits the client used or accessed.

Intentional Program Violations; Penalties and Liability for Overpayments

(1) Disqualification penalties resulting from intentional program violations and other violations of law are listed in this rule. An individual may be subject to disqualification for an intentional program violation (IPV) (see OAR 461-195-0601) only if the individual was advised of the disqualification penalties prior to committing the IPV. A disqualification established in another state or established in the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations continues in effect in Oregon.

(2) In the ERDC program, if an IPV is established against an individual through a contested case hearing, a waiver of the right to hearing, or by a state or federal court, that individual is liable for repayment to the Department of the full amount of overpayment (see OAR 461-195-0501) the Department has established. The amount of restitution to the Department ordered by a court as part of a criminal proceeding does not lower the amount owed to the Department. Payments of restitution to the Department are credited against the amount owed. A client is not subject to an IPV disqualification but is still required to repay overpayment amounts.

(3) A child care provider found to have committed an IPV is ineligible for payment for child care as follows:

(a) A child care provider with an IPV established between April 1, 2001 and September 30, 2005 is permanently disqualified to receive payment.

(b) A child care provider who has incurred an overpayment established as an IPV claim after September 30, 2005 is ineligible for payment:

(A) For six months and until the full amount of the overpayment is paid; or

(B) Permanently, if the Child Care Program Manager finds that such ineligibility is in the public interest. The following is a non-exclusive list of reasons that support a determination of permanent ineligibility: safety concerns; or, the likelihood of future violations; or, the degree of egregiousness of any of the established IPV's; or, the degree of primary involvement in the violation by the provider.

(4) In the SNAP and TANF programs, when an IPV is established against an individual through a contested case hearing, a waiver of the right to hearing, or by a state or federal court:

(a) That individual is liable for repayment to the Department of the full amount of overpayment the Department has established, regardless of any restitution ordered by a court.

(b) Except as otherwise set forth in this section, the individual is disqualified from receiving benefits in the program in which the IPV was committed for a period of 12 calendar months for the first IPV, 24 calendar months for the second IPV, and permanently for the third IPV.

(c) An individual found by a federal, state, or local court to have traded a controlled substance for SNAP benefits is disqualified from participation in the SNAP program as follows:

(A) For a period of two years upon the first occasion.

(B) Permanently upon the second occasion.

(d) An individual found by a federal, state, or local court to have traded firearms, ammunition, or explosives for SNAP benefits is permanently disqualified from participation in the SNAP program.

(e) An individual convicted of trafficking (see OAR 461-195-0601) benefits for a value of $500 or more is permanently disqualified from participation in the SNAP program.

(f) An individual is disqualified for a 10-year period, except if permanently disqualified under subsection (b) of this section, from receiving benefits in the program in which the individual committed fraud if the individual:

(A) In TANF program:

(i) Is convicted in state or federal court of having made a fraudulent statement or representation with respect to the place of residence of the individual in order to receive assistance simultaneously from two or more states under programs that are funded under Title IV or XIX of the Social Security Act; or

(ii) Is found in an IPV hearing or admits, in a written waiver of the right to an IPV hearing, to having made a fraudulent statement or representation with respect to the identity or place of residence of the individual in order to receive benefits simultaneously from two or more states.

(B) In the SNAP program, is found to have or admits to having made a fraudulent statement or representation with respect to the identity or place of residence of the individual in order to receive multiple SNAP benefits simultaneously.

(5) If the TANF grant is affected by the IPV penalty imposed under this rule, eligibility (see OAR 461-001-0000) for and the level of SNAP benefits are determined in accordance with OAR 461-145-0105.

(6) Once a disqualification period begins, it continues uninterrupted until completed, regardless of the eligibility of the filing group (see OAR 461-110-0310) of the disqualified individual.

Adm. Order No.: DOJ 14-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-1-16

Notice Publication Date: 11-1-2015

Rules Amended: 137-050-0745

137-050-0745

Self-Support Reserve

(1) The support calculation must leave an obligated parent enough income to meet his or her own basic needs.

(2) To determine the amount of the parent's income available for support ("available income"), subtract the self-support reserve of $1145 from the parent's adjusted income;

(3) The parent's total obligation, including the parent's shares of the basic support obligation, child care costs, health insurance, and cash medical support, may not exceed the parent's available income, except as provided in OAR 137-050-0750(7).

(4) The limitation on support described in this rule is reflected in the specific provisions of OAR 137-050-0710 (Calculating Support), 137-050-0725 (Basic Support Obligation), 137-050-0735 (Child Care Costs), and 137-050-0750 (Medical Support).

(5) The amount of the self-support reserve is based on the federal poverty guideline, multiplied by 1.167 to account for estimated taxes, and rounded to the nearest whole dollar. This rule will be reviewed and updated annually to reflect changes in the federal poverty guideline.

Act): 137-055-3240, 137-055-5035, 137-055-5080, 137-055-7040,

Establishment of Arrears

(1) The administrator may establish arrears on support cases when the following conditions have been met:

- (a) Services are being provided under ORS 25.080;
- (b) Oregon is the appropriate state to determine the arrearage because:
(A) Oregon has continuing, exclusive jurisdiction because either
Oregon issued the order and it has not been modified by another jurisdiction, or Oregon has modified and assumed continuing, exclusive jurisdiction over the order; or

(B) An order from another jurisdiction has been registered in Oregon, the jurisdiction with continuing, exclusive jurisdiction is unable or unwilling to provide a determination of the arrearages, and Oregon can obtain personal jurisdiction over the parties; and

(c) The administrator has determined that there is a need to establish the arrears balance on the case because:

- (A) The administrator has no record or an incomplete accounting case record;
- (B) An establishment of income withholding has been requested by an obligor or obligee pursuant to ORS 25.381; or
- (C) There is a reason which necessitates that the arrears on the case record be reestablished; and
- (D) There has been a request for arrears establishment by a party.

(2) A party requesting establishment or reestablishment of arrears must furnish an accounting that shows the payment history in as much detail as is necessary to demonstrate the periods and amounts of any arrears.

(3) Where arrears had earlier been established, through a process which afforded notice and an opportunity to contest to the parties, the arrears from that period will not be reestablished except that if interest had not been included in the establishment, interest may be added for that period.

- (4) The administrator may establish or reestablish arrears by either:
 - (a) Use of the judicial process authorized under ORS 25.167; or
 - (b) Use of the administrative process authorized under ORS 416.429.

(5) Upon completion of the arrears establishment process in subsection (4)(a) or subsection (4)(b) of this rule, the case record will be adjusted to reflect the new arrears amount.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this rule, when applicable, arrears will be established pursuant to ORS 25.015.

(7) Arrears for a child attending school as defined in OAR 137-055-
5110, will be as set forth in OAR 137-055-5120.

Suspension of Enforcement

(1) For purposes of this rule, “credit balance” means that payments received on a support account exceed all amounts owed by the obligor for ongoing and past-due support.

(2) When an action is pending to terminate, vacate, or set aside a support order, or when an action is pending to modify a support order because of a change in physical custody of the child the administrator may suspend enforcement of the support order if:

(a) Collection of support would result in the support account accruing a credit balance if the motion were granted; or

(b) Collection of support would create a hardship for the obligor to provide for all of the parties’ children now in the obligor’s household.

(3) When enforcement is to be suspended under this section, the administrator will send written notice of the proposed suspension to the obligee and any child attending school, and will send a copy of the notice to the obligor;

(4) The notice will advise the obligee and any child attending school that they have 14 days from the date the notice is sent to object in writing to the proposed suspension of enforcement and to give the reason(s) for the objection.

(a) If the reason for the suspension is prevent a credit balance, the obligee and any child attending school may object only if the basis for the suspension of enforcement is factually incorrect.

(b) If the reason for the suspension is to avoid impairing the obligor’s ability to support the parties’ children now in the obligor’s household, the obligee or any child attending school may object only if:

- (A) The child is not in the physical custody of the obligor;
- (B) The child is in the custody of the obligor without the consent of the obligee or without a court order for legal custody; or
- (C) The basis for the suspension of enforcement is factually incorrect.

(5) The obligee or any child attending school may appeal the administrator’s decision to suspend enforcement of the support order under ORS 183.484.

Multiple Child Support Judgments

(1) When the administrator finds that two or more child support judgments exist involving the same obligor and child for the same period and each judgment was issued in this state, the administrator may, as appropriate:

(a) Issue a notice that, pursuant to Chapter 73, Oregon Laws 2015, the terms of a later-issued court judgment terminated and replaced the terms of an earlier-issued administrative order, if the later-issued court judgment was entered within the last six months or the particular factual circumstances of the case indicate that it should control;

(b) Terminate an existing administrative child support judgment, pursuant to ORS 416.455;

(c) Move to set aside a judgment pursuant to ORCP 71;

(d) Issue a proposed governing child support order under ORS
416.448 applying the presumption provided in ORS 25.091(4) and section
(2) of this rule that the later-issued child support judgment should control; or

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(e) Petition the court in the county where a child who is subject to the judgment resides for a governing child support judgment pursuant to ORS 25.091.

(2) When determining which support judgment is the “last-issued” for purposes of applying or rebutting the presumption in ORS 25.091(4), the issue date for any support judgment is:

(a) The date the support judgment was entered into the circuit court register; or

(b) If the administrative child support judgment required judicial approval, the date the order approving the administrative child support judgment was entered into the circuit court register.

(3) A governing child support judgment entered pursuant to ORS 25.091 does not affect any liability accrued under a child support judgment before the governing child support judgment is issued.

(4) The administrator’s proposed governing child support order or petition for governing child support judgment will include:

(a) A reconciliation of all of the child support judgments’ payment records; or

(b) An order or motion to reconcile any child support arrears or credits for overpayments under all of the child support judgments in a separate proceeding under ORS 25.167 or ORS 416.429.

(5) When reconciling child support payment records for any period when two or more child support judgments were in effect:

(a) The obligor owes, for each month, the amount of current support due under the highest judgment; and

(b) Payment made toward any one of the judgments must be credited against the obligation under each of the others.

Payment by Electronic Funds Transfer

(1) As used in this rule:

(a) “Electronic Funds Transfer” (EFT) means the movement of funds by nonpaper means, usually through a payment system including, but not limited to, an automated clearinghouse or the Federal Reserve’s Fedwire system.

(b) “Employer” means any entity or individual who:

(A) Does business in Oregon or has a registered agent in Oregon; and Recovery of Overpayments on Support Accounts

(1) A child support overpayment in favor of the State of Oregon is created when:

(a) The Department of Justice (DOJ) has transmitted money to an obligee, to a person or entity authorized to receive support payments or to an obligor, and that amount:

(A) Was transmitted in error or is attributable in whole or in part to a tax refund offset collection, all or part of which has been reclaimed by the Internal Revenue Service or the Oregon Department of Revenue; and

(B) Does not qualify as an advance payment under OAR 137-055-6210 or as payment for future support under OAR 137-055-6021(13); or

(b) DOJ receives a check from an obligor, withholder, or other issuer on behalf of the obligor, transmits the appropriate amount from that check to the payee, and that check is dishonored.

(2) For overpayments described in subsection (1)(a), sections (3) through (8) of this rule apply. For overpayments described in subsection (1)(b), sections (9) through (12) of this rule apply.

(3) DOJ will determine a threshold amount for which attempts to recover the overpayment will occur. In determining the threshold, DOJ will consider the cost of:

(a) Staff time in processing the overpayment collection request; and

(b) An administrative hearing and the average number of cases requesting a hearing.

(4) When a notice is issued under ORS 25.125 to a person or entity described in subsection (1)(a), DOJ will include a statement that the person or entity:

(a) Must respond within 30 days from the date of the notice to object and request an administrative review; and

(b) If appropriate, may voluntarily assign any future support to repay the overpayment.

(5) If the person or entity described in subsection (1)(a) requests an administrative review, DOJ will conduct the administrative review within 30 days after receiving the request and notify the person or entity of the results of the review.

(6) Notice of the results of the administrative review will include a statement that the person or entity described in subsection (1)(a) must respond within 30 days from the date of the notice to object and request an administrative hearing.

(7) If the person or entity described in subsection (1)(a) files a written objection or request for hearing within 30 days, an administrative law judge shall then hear the objection.

(a) An order by an administrative law judge is final.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(b) The person or entity described in subsection (1)(a) may appeal the decision of an administrative law judge to the circuit court for a hearing de novo. The appeal shall be by a petition for review, filed within 60 days after the date that the final hearing order has been mailed.

(8) If a person or entity described in subsection (1)(a) fails to file a written request for administrative review, objection or request for hearing, fails to voluntarily assign future support, or if an order setting the overpayment amount is received from an administrative law judge, DOJ may refer the overpayment for collection as provided in ORS 293.231.

(9) When a notice is issued to an obligor, withholder, or other issuer under ORS 25.125(5), DOJ will include a statement that the obligor or withholder must respond within 30 days of the date of the notice and request an administrative review.

(10) If the obligor, withholder, or other issuer requests an administrative review, DOJ will conduct the administrative review within 30 days after receiving the request and notify the obligor or withholder of the results of the review.

(11) The obligor, withholder, or other issuer may appeal the result of the administrative review as provided in ORS 183.484.

(12) If the obligor, withholder, or other issuer fails to request an administrative review or if the result of an administrative review is that an overpayment occurred, DOJ may refer the overpayment for collection from the obligor or withholder as provided in ORS 293.231.

Dishonored Payments on Support Accounts

When the Department of Justice (DOJ) receives a check from an obligor, withholder, or another issuer on behalf of the obligor and that check is then dishonored, DOJ will:

(1) Hold all future payments by check from that issuer for 18 working days, or until the check clears the issuer's financial institution, before forwarding payment to the obligee. DOJ may waive this requirement after a one-year period if no further payments from that issuer have been dishonored, or if the dishonored payment was dishonored for reasons that DOJ has determined were beyond the issuer's control, such as an error on the part of the financial institution or on the part of DOJ.

(2) DOJ may assess a fee not to exceed $35 against the issuer of the check.

Determining Controlling Order

(1) The administrator will determine a single controlling order when:

(a) Services are being provided under ORS 25.080 and two or more child support orders have been issued regarding the same obligor, child and obligee; or

(b) A party or other jurisdiction requests a determination.

(2) For purposes of this rule, any order modified or issued after October 20, 1994 (the effective date of the Full Faith and Credit for Child Support Orders Act, 28 USC 1738B), will be interpreted as a modification of all orders issued prior to October 20, 1994, unless:

(a) The tribunal entering the order did not have jurisdiction to do so; or

(b) A party alleges the tribunal lacked personal or subject matter jurisdiction.

(3) When a request for a controlling order determination is received from another jurisdiction, the request is considered “filed with the appropriate tribunal” as required by 45 CFR 303.7(d)(5) when the administrator receives all documents necessary to perform the determination.

(4) The administrator will determine the controlling order and issue an order setting out the determination. The order is an order in an other than contested case proceeding under ORS chapter 183. The order will be served upon the parties by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by any other mail service with delivery confirmation, at the last known address of the parties. The order must include:

(a) The basis for personal jurisdiction over the parties;

(b) The names of the parties and the child for whom support was ordered;

(c) A statement of each child support order which was considered, the jurisdiction which issued the order and the date of the order;

(d) A statement identifying the order the administrator determines is the controlling order and why;

(e) A statement that the controlling order determination is effective the date the order is issued by the administrator;

(f) The amount of prospective support, if any;

(g) The total amount of consolidated arrears and accrued interest, if any, under all of the orders after all payments made are credited as provided by Section 15, Chapter 298, Oregon Laws 2015.

(h) A reference to Section 13, Chapter 298, Oregon Laws 2015;

(i) A notice that a party may submit further information and petition the administrator for reconsideration of the order within 60 days of the date of the order;

(j) A notice that OAR 137-004-0080 applies to any petition for reconsideration; and

(k) A notice that a party may appeal the order as provided by ORS 183.484.

(5) If the administrator determines that no tribunal has continuing, exclusive jurisdiction under ORS chapter 110, the administrator will notify the parties and establish a new child support order.

(6) For the purposes of determining the Oregon county in which the administrator may enter the order determining the controlling order, the following provisions apply:

(a) If one or more Oregon court files exist for the same obligor and child, the order will be entered in each existing court file;

(b) If an Oregon court file does not exist, the administrator will enter the documents required by ORS 416.440 in the circuit court in the county where the party who lives in Oregon resides.

(7) Within 30 days after the determination of controlling order is issued, the administrator will certify copies of the order determining the controlling order and file one with each tribunal that issued or registered an earlier order of child support.

(8) Upon written receipt of an order determining the controlling order that a tribunal of this or another jurisdiction properly issued, the administrator will:

(a) Adjust the Oregon case record to cease prospective accrual on any non-controlling order and initiate accrual on any controlling order which was issued or registered by an Oregon tribunal on the date specified in the order determining controlling order or, when not specified, in accordance with OAR 137-055-5040; and

(b) When one of the non-controlling orders was issued by an Oregon tribunal, ensure that the order determining the controlling order is entered in the Oregon circuit court for the county which issued or entered the prior order.

Review and Modification In Intergovernmental Cases

(1) Within 15 days of a party's request for a periodic review or a request for a modification based upon a change of circumstances, the administrator will determine in which jurisdiction the review will be sought. The administrator will follow the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act (UIFSA) provisions in ORS Chapter 110 in making this decision, including:

(a) If the controlling order is an Oregon support order and at the time of the request one of the parties or the child resides in this state, Oregon retains continuing, exclusive jurisdiction and will review and, if appropriate, modify the order unless the parties have consented in a record to modification in another jurisdiction pursuant to Section 11, Chapter 298, Oregon Laws 2015.

(b) If the controlling order is an Oregon support order, one of the parties resides in another state, and the other party resides outside the United States, Oregon will review and, if appropriate, modify the order pursuant to Section 56, Chapter 298, Oregon Laws 2015.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(c) If Oregon does not have the controlling order but all the parties have filed consents in a record in the jurisdiction which has the controlling order for Oregon to modify the order, Oregon will review and, if appropriate, modify the order.

(d) If an order has been registered for enforcement in Oregon and none of the parties or the child resides in the jurisdiction which issued the order, the jurisdiction where the non-requesting party resides will do the review.

(e) If a foreign country lacks or refuses to exercise jurisdiction to modify its child support order and one of the parties or the child resides in Oregon, or the parties have consented in a record to Oregon's jurisdiction, Oregon may assume jurisdiction to modify the order pursuant to Section 60, Chapter 298, Oregon Laws Bill 2015.

(2) If the administrator determines that Oregon is not the appropriate reviewer, the administrator will:

- (a) Determine and obtain the information needed;
- (b) Complete any required forms; and
- (c) Send all required documents to the reviewer within 20 calendar days of receipt;

(3)(a) If the reviewer is currently providing services for Oregon on the case, the administrator will transmit the documents to the appropriate office or agency working the case;

(b) If the request is the first contact with the reviewer for the case, the request must be sent to the reviewer's central registry.

Adm. Order No.: DOJ 16-2015

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-31-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-1-16

Notice Publication Date: 12-1-2015

Rules Amended: 137-020-0050

Subject: OAR 137-020-0050, known as the "Motor Vehicle Advertising rule" was originally adopted in 1987. It was last substantively amended in 2008. The amendment addresses changes in the industry, deletes repetitive and outdated information, and 2015 HB 2282.

The amendment considers changes dealers and financial organizations have made to comply with national changes in the industry. The amendment deletes outdated information, makes non-substantive edits to the Official Commentary, and makes the rules consistent with changes to Oregon law. The amendment also addresses certain advertisements of consignment sales.

Motor Vehicle Advertising

(1) For purposes of this rule, the definitions specified in OAR 137-020-0020 shall apply.

(2) Violations: It is unfair or deceptive in trade or commerce for any person to advertise motor vehicles if:

(a) Trade-in Value — The advertisement for the sale or lease of a motor vehicle claims that a seller will value property being offered in exchange for payment toward the motor vehicle: at a specific amount; within a range of specified amounts; at a guaranteed minimum amount; or as a multiple of or an increase in trade-in allowance, unless the advertisement:

(A) References a value cited in a motor vehicle price guide trade publication that is: nationally recognized and distributed; not published by the seller; and is readily accessible by the public;

(B) Clearly and conspicuously discloses the name of the trade publication being referenced;

(C) Clearly and conspicuously includes the following disclaimer: "THE VALUE OF USED MOTOR VEHICLES VARIES WITH MILEAGE, USAGE, INCLUDED ACCESSORIES AND CONDITION. BOOK VALUES SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ESTIMATES ONLY." and

(D) References the value cited for the geographic region in which the motor vehicle is being offered for sale, if the publisher of the trade publication publishes and distributes separate issues for specific geographic regions.

(b) Dealer Rebates — The advertisement represents that purchasers of vehicles will receive a cash rebate, discount certificate, coupon, cash card for products or services or other similar promotion unless it is offered by a manufacturer or another party, independent of the dealer and without dealer participation.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Rebates controlled by the dealer may be illusory because the dealer may simply increase the offering price or limit the dealer's negotiated price by the same amount as the ostensible value of the rebate. The rule eliminates this possibility by prohibiting such rebates. Therefore, no monetary or similar form of remuneration to a consumer is allowed in the offering of a motor vehicle, unless it is a promotion paid for by a party wholly independent of the dealer and that third party is not paid by the dealer for offering the promotion. This rule does not prohibit associations comprised of multiple competing dealers from offering a promotion that customers of any dealership in the association can receive if any amounts the dealers pay to the association are in no way correlated to the promotion being offered by the association.

(c) Clarification of sale or lease — The advertisement includes lease and sale offers in the same advertisement without making a clear and conspicuous distinction as to which terms apply to the sale and which apply to the lease;

(d) Invoice advertising — The advertisement represents that motor vehicles are offered for sale at a price that is compared in any manner to the dealer's "cost" or terms of essentially identical import unless the advertisement:

- (A) Exclusively uses the term "invoice" or "invoice price"; and
- (B) Complies with the following:

(i) The invoice price shall be the final price listed on the manufacturer's invoice after subtracting any amount identified on the invoice as being held back for the dealer's account, and after subtracting any advertising fees or manufacturer to dealer rebates or incentives;

(ii) Purchasers shall be able to purchase any vehicle described by the advertisement at the offering price;

(iii) The invoice shall be readily available for inspection by prospective customers;

(iv) The advertisement clearly and conspicuously states that the invoice price for the sale of the vehicle is the dealer's actual cost after subtracting all holdbacks, incentives, manufacturer to dealer rebates, advertising incentives, promotional fees or any other consideration which will be paid by the manufacturer to the dealer;

(v) A manufacturer to consumer rebate is not included in the formula to arrive at the "invoice price." Consumers are entitled to any such rebate in addition to any savings advertised with the "invoice price" offer; and

(vi) The vehicles being so advertised have not had aftermarket items, including, but not limited to, additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance added to them at a price higher than the dealer's actual cost.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule mandates the use of the word "invoice" or "invoice price" when any advertisement is compared to a dealer's cost. The rule makes it clear that all holdbacks and other funds the dealer will get from the manufacturer must be subtracted from the offering price. The rule does not require the vehicle be sold for the invoice price, but only that the invoice price be the reference price used as a starting point. For example, it is lawful to state a certain model of car is for sale at $500 over invoice price, as long as the referenced adjusted invoice price is after all of the appropriate subtractions. Also, manufacturer to consumer rebates belong to the consumer and the consumer is entitled to those rebates in addition to the advertised "invoice price." This rule does not require the dealer to subtract promotional and sales incentives that are not known to the dealer at the time of the advertisement or listed on the invoice, such as volume sales incentives or special promotional manufacturer to dealer incentives and incentives that are calculated based upon special criteria. A dealer or broker may not, however, offer a vehicle for sale referenced to the invoice price and simply pack the price of the vehicle by adding aftermarket items not sold at true invoice price. This practice would simply add back profit on the vehicle and the consumer's cost would not be the invoice price. A vehicle advertised at invoice must be sold at invoice.

(e) Buy-Down Rates — The advertisement represents that financing is available for the purchase of motor vehicles at a buy-down rate unless the advertisement includes a clear and conspicuous disclosure that the interest rate is not sponsored by the manufacturer, if such is the case, the amount of the buy-down is reflected in the Federal Truth in Lending Statement, and the advertisement clearly and conspicuously states that "the cost of the buy-down may increase the price of the vehicle." If the buy-down will increase the cost of the vehicle, the dealer shall offer the consumer the option of purchasing the vehicle without the buy-down rate at the offering price less the cost of the buy-down. If any specific terms must be met in order to qualify for the advertised buy-down rate, they shall be clearly and conspicuously disclosed. Examples are large down payments, only available to the highest credit ratings, hidden finance charges, unusual terms of the loan or higher selling prices;

(f) Clear and Conspicuous/Complete Offer — The advertisement:

(A) Fails to incorporate a material statement or fails to use any disclosure or disclaimer which is required by law or by these rules, or without which the advertisement would be false, incomplete, inaccurate, deceptive or misleading;

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(B) Fails to incorporate a material statement or uses any disclosure or disclaimer which is not presented in a clear and conspicuous manner;

(C) Uses one or more footnotes or asterisks which, alone or in combination, confuse, contradict, materially modify or unreasonably limit the material terms or availability of any advertised statement; or

(D) Uses images, words, phrases, initials, abbreviations or any other items which are not clear and conspicuous.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: In order for material information to be “clear and conspicuous,” it must be in direct proximity to the information it defines or clarifies and not in an obscure location of the advertisement. See the definition of “clear and conspicuous” in OAR 137-020-0020. Each advertisement will be evaluated for its overall impression. The public should not have to weigh each word, hunt for the hidden meaning of each statement, or search for inconspicuous disclaimers. Advertisers shall not advertise by placing important disclosures in small print, inconspicuously buried at the bottom of the advertisement, or speaking so fast or softly that an average person cannot understand what is being said. Use of multiple reference symbols which combine all information together in one paragraph at the bottom of an advertisement in small print is not clear and conspicuous. Asterisks or other reference symbols may not be used as a means of contradicting, disclaiming or substantially changing the meaning of any advertised statements.

(g) Bait and Switch Rules — An advertisement offers vehicles for sale or lease, vehicles at a specific or discounted price, or specific interest rates or credit or finance terms when such assertions are deceptive, false, misleading or not sincere good faith offers, including, but not limited to, the following:

(A) Statements or illustrations used in any advertisement which create a false impression of the grade, quality, year of model, size, usability, origin, price, interest rate, down payment, monthly payment, make, value or model of the product offered, or which misrepresent the product, interest rate or terms of sale or lease in such a manner that later, on disclosure of the true facts, the purchaser may be switched from the advertised vehicle to another vehicle or to a higher interest rate or different credit or finance offer (See 16 CFR § 238, FTC Guides Against Bait Advertising);

(B) Except as otherwise allowed by subsection (2)(j) of this rule, advertising a motor vehicle for sale or lease when it is not in the possession of the dealer, willingly shown to the consumer or sold at the advertised price and terms. If already sold or leased, the advertiser shall, upon request of a consumer, show proof of the sale or lease of the motor vehicle which was advertised;

(C) Using a headline or major theme in an advertisement to make an offer of a low or special interest rate, down payment or monthly payment which makes it appear that the special offer applies to all or a majority of vehicles offered in the advertisement when it only applies to a limited number of vehicles;

(D) Using discount or loss leader price advertising, unless the advertisement lists, in direct proximity in print type no less than half as large as the offering price, the number of vehicles available at the offering price. The listed number of vehicles must be available on the day the offer is advertised at the offered price;

(E) Using a deceptive, false or misleading offer to secure the first contact or interview, even if the true facts are subsequently made known to the consumer;

(F) Using any act or practice to discourage the purchase of the advertised vehicle as part of a scheme to sell another vehicle;

(G) Using any act or practice as part of a scheme to raise the interest rate, the down payment or the monthly payment to one higher than advertised;

(H) Advertising limited availability of vehicles, such as “only 1 at this price,” in order to induce consumers into a dealership when the dealership has other similar vehicles available for sale at the same price or for the same terms;

(I) Offering credit or finance terms, including, but not limited to, low down payments, low monthly payments or low interest rates or credit or finance terms, which the advertiser cannot provide, does not intend to provide, does not want to provide, or which the advertiser knows or should know are not available or cannot be provided as advertised. The purpose of the offer is to switch borrowers from the advertised credit or finance offer to other credit or finance terms, usually at a higher interest rate or on a basis more advantageous to the person making the offer;

(J) Offering a low monthly lease payment based upon a capitalized cost reduction that is so large the advertiser knows or should have known:

(i) It is not a bona fide offer; or

(ii) It is so much more than an average capitalized cost reduction that most consumers would not be expected to make such a large payment for the advertised vehicle.

(h) Limited Offers of Vehicles, Discounts, Credit or Financing — The offering price or an offer to lease, a rebate, a discount offer or a special credit or finance offer applies to a specific vehicle, or to a specific or limited number of vehicles of a specific model or type, unless:

(A) For new vehicles, the exact number of vehicles available for which the offer is being made and the specific models to which the offer applies are clearly and conspicuously disclosed in type no less than half the size of the type used for the offer;

(B) Each vehicle is clearly and conspicuously identified in the advertisement by its vehicle identification number if there are less than six such vehicles advertised; and

(C) Any advertised vehicle is available for sale on the day it is advertised.

(i) Offer Limited to Only Eligible Consumers — An offer, including, but not limited to, one for special finance, credit or payment terms, rebates or any other special offer made in an advertisement, applies to a specific or limited number of consumers, unless the following information is clearly and conspicuously disclosed:

(A) The exact model vehicles for which the offer is being made; and

(B) All limitations and conditions of eligibility for the offer, including, but not limited to, the minimum credit score or tier upon which the offer is based.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule is triggered when there are a “limited” number of consumers to whom an offer applies. If there are a limited number of consumers to whom the offer applies, the advertisement must clearly disclose any limitations. If the offer is only available to consumers with a particular credit score, then the advertisement must clearly and conspicuously disclose the required minimum credit score. If an offer to extend credit or financing is limited based on factors other than credit history, such as past employment, current wages, or a minimum down payment amount, those factors must be disclosed. It is important to remember that to be clear and conspicuous the disclosure must be in direct proximity to the offer.

(j) Vehicles Not Immediately Available — The advertisement uses terms which state or imply that motor vehicles are in stock or otherwise available for immediate delivery when they are not. If a motor vehicle is not available for immediate delivery, the advertisement must clearly and conspicuously state the vehicle’s availability such as it is in transit, on order, or obtainable only by special order or dealer trade, and that it is not in stock;

(k) Used Vehicle Offers — The advertisement is for a used vehicle, which was manufactured less than four years prior to the date of the advertisement, without designating the vehicle as “used.” Other descriptive terms may be substituted for the term used, but not so as to create ambiguity as to whether the vehicle is new or used. Used vehicles, such as “dealer demos” or late model vehicles, cannot be displayed in an advertisement with new vehicles in such a manner that it is difficult to determine if they are used or new;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Examples of alternative terms include “lease return,” “pre-owned,” “dealer demonstrator” or “rental return.”

(L) Program and Certified Vehicles — The advertisement uses the word “program,” “certified” or terms of essentially similar import, unless the advertisement clearly and conspicuously discloses the nature and benefits of the “program” or “certification” that is offered with the motor vehicle and the origin and prior use of the vehicle. If there is an additional cost to the consumer to obtain the program or certification, that cost must be clearly and conspicuously disclosed in the advertisement and it must be listed on any purchase or lease agreement;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule prohibits use of terms such as “program” or “certified” unless there is a verifiable benefit which attaches with the program or certification. The only time these words may be used are if the manufacturer, dealer or other third party actually has a special program that attaches to the sale of the used vehicle, such as a complete inspection for defects, repair of the defects that are discovered, and/or an additional warranty that is more extensive than the vehicle would otherwise have without the program. If any program or certification is used in an advertisement, the advertisement must clearly and conspicuously disclose the terms and cost, if any, of the program or certification, if that amount is not already included in the advertised offering price.

(m) Non-negotiable Offers — The advertisement offers or the dealer posts on any vehicle or uses any words which imply that the offering price of the vehicle is non-negotiable or that no negotiations are necessary unless in fact the dealer:

(A) Does not negotiate the offering price of the advertised vehicles;

(B) Maintains the same price for all consumers for equivalent vehicles;

(C) Maintains such price unless a general price adjustment is made which is applicable to all consumers;

(D) Posts the non-negotiable price on all such vehicles; and

(E) Does not falsely inflate the value of any trade-in vehicle by such an amount that the claim that it is a non-negotiable transaction is a sham.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Dealers who engage in any advertisement that claims that the offering price is not negotiable, that the advertised price is so low that it is unnecessary to negotiate, or terms of similar import may not negotiate the offering price of the vehicle once the car has been offered at a price with such a claim. The non-negotiable price must be clearly posted on all such vehicles. The dealer may not alter the vehicle price offered in a particular transaction. Altering a vehicle price includes “reappraising” a trade-in vehicle, changing the terms of sale, or changing vehicle features or options where the effect is to alter the net offered price.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(n) Limited Offers — The advertisement offers any vehicle without disclosing material limitations of the terms listed in the offer, including, but not limited to, the length of time that the offering price is in effect. Advertisements which do not list any effective dates will be presumed to offer advertised vehicles at the “advertised price” until such time as the vehicles are subsequently advertised at different terms or for a period of 30 days, whichever comes sooner;

(o) Identification as a Dealer — The advertisement, including, but not limited to, those on the internet, offers any vehicle for sale and does not prominently identify the dealer or broker by the complete business name that the dealer or broker uses in the normal course of its business. When the advertisement is a classified line advertisement, the dealer or broker may use the word “dealer” or abbreviation “DLR.” The dealer or broker must also display its business name prominently at any off-site sale location. In the case of an internet advertisement, the advertisement must state the full name of the dealer, the dealer’s address, telephone number and Oregon dealer license number. If the internet advertisement is an online auction or small classified line advertisement with limited space, a hyperlink or web address which leads to all dealer information may be used. This rule does not apply to dealers providing vehicles for display purposes only under ORS 822.040(4), but only if the dealer complies with ORS 822.040(4) and all rules promulgated pursuant to that statute;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule applies even in the case of special event or off-site sales, such as mall sales or sales conducted using the name of another prominent business at that business’ location. The dealer or broker must always display its commonly used business name prominently in any advertisement or at any off-site sale. Creation and use of an assumed business name that is not used in the normal course of business is misleading as to what entity is actually offering the vehicles. Purchasers have an absolute right to know the dealership with which they are doing business and who is actually conducting the sale. If more than one dealership is involved, all dealerships participating in the event must be named. If an advertisement is by a new vehicle regional dealer group, only the name of the regional group need be identified, not the individual names of all the dealers in the group.

(p) Reference Pricing — The advertisement claims, implies or could cause a reasonable consumer to believe that:

(A) A vehicle is reduced in price from the dealer’s former price, or that the price is a percentage or dollar amount of savings from the dealer’s former price, or words to that effect, unless the dealer actually advertised or has records to substantiate that the vehicle has been offered for sale at the former price, for no less than 10 days in the prior 30 days; and

(i) For new vehicles, the advertisement lists the MSRP; or

(ii) For used vehicles, the advertisement lists a value cited in a motor vehicle price guide trade publication that is nationally recognized and distributed, not published by the seller, and is readily accessible by the public and the value is based upon the year, mileage, condition and accessories of the vehicle advertised. The advertisement must specify if it is referencing a retail or wholesale guide; or

(B) A dealer is conducting a sales promotion or marketing event at which prices have been reduced, when in fact prices have not been reduced.

(q) Used Car Reference to New MSRP — A used vehicle advertisement references the original MSRP of the vehicle when it was new in comparison to its present sales price;

(r) Comparison Price Advertising — The advertisement explicitly or implicitly claims that the dealer’s offering price is lower than another dealer or dealers’, unless the dealer can clearly show, through verifiable statistical analysis of other prices in the target market and records of the dealership, that such is the case;

(s) Adjustable Interest — The advertisement offers an interest rate that is adjustable without clearly and conspicuously disclosing that the interest rate is adjustable;

(t) Disclosure of MSRP — The advertisement states an offering price for a new vehicle and does not also state the MSRP of the vehicle. If the advertisement states the offering price of a new vehicle as discounted or in any way reduced by a specified amount below the MSRP or the dealer’s sale price, the MSRP, the amount of any discount, rebate, or other price reduction and the final offering price shall be clearly and conspicuously displayed in figures. Each figure shall be labeled with a clear and conspicuous description;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: The clearest way to comply with this rule is to post this information in the form of a mathematical type equation.

(u) Range of Prices Advertising — The advertisement states that any vehicles are available for sale at a range of prices, a range of percentage or fractional discounts, a specific down payment or a specific monthly payment using the words “as low as” or “starting at” or words to that effect, unless:

(A) The advertisement clearly and conspicuously states the number of vehicles available at the lowest offered term in type no less than half the size of the type used for the offer;

(B) Each vehicle, to which the offer is applicable, is clearly and conspicuously identified in the advertisement by make, model, year of manufacture and its vehicle identification number, if less than 25% of the vehicles advertised are eligible for the lowest offer. This subsection is not applicable to advertisements published by a motor vehicle manufacturer;

(C) The highest price or lowest discount in the range is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in the advertisement in the same type size;

(D) The offer is not a major theme or headline in the advertisement, except for when a majority of the vehicles advertised are eligible for the offer; and

(E) The financing or credit criteria are clearly and conspicuously disclosed, if a consumer must meet certain minimum criteria to qualify for the offer.

(v) Limited Rebate Offers — An advertised offering price includes any rebates or reductions, unless such rebates and reductions are available to every purchaser or member of the general public without exception. Rebates or reductions which are not available to every purchaser or member of the general public, such as “commercial rebate,” “college graduate rebate,” “loyalty rebate,” “financing company rebate,” or “first time buyer’s rebate,” may be listed in the advertisement, but may not be subtracted from the price so as to reduce the offering price. The offering price, which is available to every purchaser or member of the general public, must be prominently displayed in type which is visibly greater than any other price listed in the advertisement that is not available to the general public. Any alternate price listed in the advertisement in addition to the offering price must be one that is reasonably possible for some members of the general public to obtain;

(w) Factory Sales — The advertisement uses the terms “factory or manufacturer authorized sale,” “factory discount outlet,” or similar terms indicating that the dealer has been granted special pricing or distribution privileges by a motor vehicle manufacturer, unless the dealer is specifically authorized to do so by the motor vehicle manufacturer. The dealer using such an offer must have written substantiation before publishing such an advertisement;

(x) Misleading Reasons for Sale — An advertised sale is one being conducted in a dealer or broker’s normal course of business and a person uses terms or illustrations in the advertisement which are false or have the capacity or tendency to deceive or mislead consumers as to the nature of or reason for the sale, including, but not limited to, using:

(A) The terms “liquidator,” “auction sale,” “liquidation sale,” “urgent,” “disposal sale,” “total inventory reduction sale,” “close out,” “final clearance,” “bank asset sale,” “repossession sale,” “disposal sale,” “reprocessed vehicle sale,” “authorized distribution center,” “factory authorized sale” or any similar terms;

(B) The term “public notice” or similar terms when used in such a manner that it appears to be a publication of any type of legal notice, court notice or government notice; or

(C) Any terms which imply the sale is an event of urgent status or the vehicles have unique qualities or benefits or were specially obtained inventory.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Emergency or distress sales, including, but not limited to, bankruptcy, inventory reduction, liquidation and going out of business sales, or any other specific reason for a sale shall not be advertised unless the stated or implied reason is true. “Selling out,” “closing out sale,” and similar terms shall not be used unless the business publishing the advertisement is actually going out of business. The term “liquidation sale” means that the advertiser’s business or inventory is in the process of being liquidated prior to actual closing. Using a business name or advertising agent that incorporates the term “liquidator,” or term of similar import, in its business name in conjunction with the sale of motor vehicles has the tendency to mislead consumers as to the nature of the sale and is deceptive, unless the dealer is actually going out of business. When a dealer purchases a vehicle for its inventory, the source of its purchase does not superimpose any special benefit or pricing status upon the vehicle. The fact that the vehicle was previously a lease or rental return, sold at auction or repossessed by a lender does not allow the dealer to falsely imply that the consumer will get a better price on the vehicle because of its prior status. This rule does not prohibit a dealer from disclosing that a vehicle is a rental return; however, the vehicle is simply being sold in the dealer’s normal course of business and cannot be represented to be anything other than that. A new motor vehicle dealer may use the terms such as “close-out” or “final clearance” for the sale of inventory that is no longer being manufactured or for year-end vehicles that are not going to be restocked by the manufacturer. This rule does not prohibit offers of special sales events held in conjunction with a specific financial organization, such as a local credit union.

(y) Misrepresenting Down Payment — Any down payment required for the vehicle transaction is referred to in an advertisement as a “transfer fee,” “reassignment fee,” “assumption fee” or any other words of similar import that do not clearly specify that the amount referenced is in fact a down payment; or the monthly payment is referred to by any other term that is not commonly used to describe a monthly payment;

(z) Deceptive Format or Layout — The advertisement uses any format, layout, headline, assertion, illustration or type size which has a tengency to mislead or deceive its intended audience regarding the prices, finance terms, availability or applicability of any offer made in the advertisement;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Some advertisements incorporate large amounts of information that, if taken individually, might communicate valid information regarding the offering of a vehicle. When combined, however, the combination of inconsistent information makes it difficult to determine what information is applicable to any other information or vehicles. Disclaimers may not cure otherwise deceptive messages or practices. The composition and layout of advertisements should minimize the possibility of misunderstanding by the reader. Prices, illustrations, or descriptions should be displayed in an advertisement in such a manner that it is clear to which vehicles they apply.

(aa) False or Misleading Statements — The advertiser or advertising agent makes any representation or statement of fact in an advertisement if the advertiser or advertising agent knows or should know that the representation or statement is false, confusing or misleading or the advertiser or advertising agent does not have sufficient information upon which to base a reasonable belief in the truth of the representation;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Statements made in an advertisement must be true and specifically applicable to the sale or offer being made in the advertisement. An example of a violation of this rule is an advertisement that stated, "National Rental Car Company Files Bankruptcy — Liquidation Companies Across the County Move to Eliminate Inventory." While some rental car company may once have filed bankruptcy, the dealerships and advertising agent which published this advertisement had no vehicles from the rental car company to sell. Further, no liquidation companies were liquidating vehicles from a rental car company and none were in any dealers' inventories. An advertisement may not be false, manipulate the truth or use language that does not correctly describe the nature of the sale, or the source of ownership of the vehicles for sale. Superlative advertising claims may be objective (factual) or subjective (puffery). General superiority claims like "the best" may only be used in clear puffery, and not on the basis of selective comparisons. The repeated insistence of superlatives within a script might in itself amount to a claim of supremacy which would need to be verified. Qualitative claims of superiority (e.g., "we simply sell for less") which are open to challenge and/or which are impossible to measure conclusively should be avoided, except for appropriate mentions in a way which allows that rival brands may also make the same claim (e.g., "we simply try to sell for less").

(bb) Zero Down Advertisements — The advertisement uses the phrase "zero down ($0 down)," "no money down," "a penny down" or words of similar meaning, when a down payment of any kind is, in fact, required, including, but not limited to:

(A) The consumer must use the vehicle's rebate as the down payment;

(B) The consumer must use the equity from the consumer's trade-in as a down payment; or

(C) The consumer must pay a security deposit, first month's payment, acquisition fee or any other amount, other than taxes, license and registration costs or a document processing fee which are clearly and conspicuously disclosed in the advertisement, at the inception of the transaction.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: If a down payment or fee of any amount is required at the time of the transaction it is not a "no money down" offer. This is especially a problem in lease advertising where it is common to require the first month's payment, a security deposit, and an acquisition fee at lease inception. If any government fees are required to be paid at the time of sale or lease, including, but not limited to, title or registration fees, this information must be clearly and conspicuously disclosed in the advertisement.

(cc) Rebate Offers — The advertisement offers the availability of a manufacturer's, lender's or other third party's rebate unless such advertisement clearly and conspicuously discloses:

(A) The amount of any applicable rebate;

(B) Any conditions, restrictions or limitations placed on the rebate; and

(C) To which model the rebate applies. If multiple rebates are applicable in the same advertisement, the models that each respective rebate applies to must be identified;

(dd) Withdrawal of Advertisement — An advertisement for the sale or lease of a specific motor vehicle is not withdrawn or the words "sold" superimposed over the advertisement as fast as technologically and reasonably possible, based upon the media used for the advertisement and the frequency of publication, after the motor vehicle is sold or is no longer available for sale or lease to the general public;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Dealers, advertisers and advertising agents have the responsibility to monitor their advertisements and ensure that after a vehicle is sold or leased, or otherwise no longer available to the public, any advertisement for the vehicle is removed from the media in which it is published, including, but not limited to, television, radio, newspapers or the internet. If an internet vehicle advertising company, an advertising agent or any other publisher has received notice from a dealer that a vehicle is sold or no longer available, it must remove the advertisement or superimpose the words "sold" over the advertisement as fast as possible based upon the type of media in which the advertisement is placed and the frequency of its publication.

(ee) Sale Offer May Not be Reduced by Down Payment — The advertised offering price or monthly payment for the sale of a motor vehicle is calculated by reducing the offering price by the amount of a down payment, minimum trade-in amount, deposit or other payment to be made by the purchaser, unless a financial organization is making the offer, payment by the purchaser is required to meet the terms of this particular offer and the identity of the financial organization making the offer is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in the advertisement;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule should be read in conjunction with OAR 137-020-0020(2)(v) and (3)(c) regarding what fees are allowed to be excluded from any offering price.

(ff) Price Matching Offers — The advertisement uses terms "we will meet your best offer" or "we won't be undersold," or terms of similar import which suggest that a dealer will beat or match a competitor's price unless:

(A) The advertisement clearly and conspicuously discloses the price matching policy and any limitations; and

(B) Such policy does not require the presentation of any evidence which places an unreasonable burden on the consumer.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Dealers may not encourage consumers to make and break contracts in an attempt to offer them a price lower than the price which they already negotiated with another dealer. A dealer may always offer to beat another advertised price, but requiring a consumer to present a purchase order, lease agreement, retail installment contract or other written proof of an offer from another dealer is an unreasonable burden on the consumer.

(gg) False Credit Advertisements — The advertisement makes a false or misleading offer of credit or makes any false or misleading statement in connection with an offer of credit, including, but not limited to:

(A) Failing to clearly and conspicuously disclose all material limitations or conditions of the offer of credit;

(B) Stating that "no credit application is refused," "no credit application rejected," "all credit applications are accepted," "we finance anyone," or words of similar import, unless the offeror can substantiate that all credit applications received by the offeror have been approved for credit;

(C) Stating that a consumer is "approved" or "pre-approved" for an offer of credit, or words of similar import, if:

(i) The offer of credit is qualified by conditions other than the specific criteria used in making a firm offer of credit pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act or otherwise allowed by FCRA;

(ii) The offer is not a "firm offer of credit" made pursuant to FCRA; or

(iii) The offer made is false; or

(D) Stating that the dealership will assist in improving or can improve the consumer's credit record, credit history or credit rating, unless it is in fact true.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: A dealer that sells a retail installment contract to a financial organization is not assisting a consumer in improving the consumer's credit record. If the financial organization reports payments to a consumer reporting agency (aka credit bureau), the consumer's credit record may be improved if the consumer makes all payments on time. However, the consumer's credit record may be detrimentally affected if the consumer does not make timely payments. Other examples of violations of this rule include: an advertisement for financing when financing is not actually offered or available by the stated financial organization listed in the advertisement or the dealership or advertising agent never intended to sell retail installment contracts to the stated financial organization; an offer that states consumers are qualified for a loan of $30,000 when the offeror knew the credit scores used to obtain the names of consumers would only qualify for loans of a lesser amount; and an advertisement claims that consumers are approved or pre-approved for credit when the offeror has no basis upon which to claim a consumer will be approved for credit.

(hh) Alternative Offer Limitations — An advertisement offers the sale or lease of a motor vehicle with either a special finance or credit rate or a manufacturer's rebate and fails to clearly and conspicuously disclose that the consumer is only entitled to receive one or the other and not both;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: It is common for a manufacturer to offer a special low finance or credit rate or a rebate on a vehicle at the same time; however, the consumer must make a choice of one or the other. Advertisements must clearly and conspicuously state, when such a situation exists, that the consumer may only receive one or the other.

(ii) Misleading Use of Illustrations — An advertisement uses inaccurate photographs, descriptions or illustrations when describing specific motor vehicles. However, an advertiser may use stock illustrations or photos which are substantially similar when an exact match is not available;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Examples of improper advertisements include advertising a fully-loaded motor vehicle when the advertisement actually refers to a minimally-equipped motor vehicle in the text and a photograph of a four door pickup truck when the advertisement refers to an extended cab truck. Use of a deceptive illustration is not legitimized by stating in the advertisement "photo for illustration purposes only" or similar language.

(jj) False Advertising — The advertisement is a false advertisement;

(kk) Misleading Initial Term Offers — The advertisement offers adjustable terms of payment with no payments or low payments in the beginning of a loan or lease, which then increase after a term of months unless:

(A) The offer is by a manufacturer or financial organization as part of a specific loan or lease offer and no rebates, incentives or other funds that the consumer is entitled to receive are used to fund the reduction; or

(B) The offer is made by any person using rebates, incentives or other funds that the consumer is entitled to receive to fund the reduction and the advertisement clearly and conspicuously discloses that the offer is available only by using rebates, incentives or other funds that the consumer is entitled to receive and the use of the rebates, incentives or other funds as a down payment may be more financially beneficial to the consumer over the term of the loan or lease.

(LL) Broker Fiduciary Obligation — Any person advertises as, holds itself out as, or engages in the conduct of a broker and fails to act in a fiduciary capacity for the consumer;

(mm) Use of Abbreviations — An advertisement uses any abbreviation which is deceptive, misleading or not commonly understood by the general public or approved by federal law or state law;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Examples of abbreviations commonly understood: AC, AM/FM, AUTO, AIR, 2DR, CYL, MSRP, DOC, DOC. PROC. FEE, or DOC. PROCESS. FEE; abbreviations not commonly understood: WAC, OAC, PEG.

(nn) Misleading Business Names — Any words are used in a company name or advertisement which would mislead the public either directly or by implication regarding the nature or affiliation of a dealer or broker's business. Use of the term "wholesale" or "wholesaler" shall not be used in a company name affiliated with motor vehicle sales or leases after January 2, 2008 unless the person actually owns and operates a motor vehicle business that only sells vehicles wholesale. Any Oregon dealer or broker that used the term "wholesale" or "wholesaler" in its business name prior to January 2, 2008 may continue to use that word, except it must clearly and conspicuously state in any advertisement or display of its name at its business location words that convey to the public that it is a retail, not wholesale, motor vehicle business. Use of the term "liquidator" shall not be used in a company name to sell or advertise motor vehicles, unless the company is solely in the business of liquidating assets of persons going out of business and in fact the sale is a going out of business sale;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule ensures that words are not incorporated into a business name that would tend to mislead a consumer as to the affiliation or nature of a business, the source of its goods or the type of business being conducted. Examples, other than wholesale, include: "factory" or "manufacturer," which should not be used in a company name, unless the advertiser actually owns and operates or directly and absolutely controls the manufacturing facility that produces the advertised products.

(oo) Negative Equity Trade-in Disclosure — The advertisement offers to "pay off" any motor vehicle taken in trade, or words of similar import, unless the advertiser will actually pay off the outstanding debt, without including the cost as negative equity as part of the new transaction. If the advertisement makes any statements regarding accepting any vehicle in trade for the purchase or lease of another vehicle, the following disclaimer must be used: "NOTICE: Trading in a vehicle will not eliminate your debt. Negative equity will be added to any purchase or lease."

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: If a consumer owes $2,000 on his/her car, but its actual cash trade-in value is only $1,500, that person has $500 of negative equity that will be added to the purchase price or capitalized cost of a lease agreement. An advertisement that offers to "pay off" the balance on a trade-in can easily mislead a consumer to believe that the dealer is going to "pay off" the negative equity as well.

(pp) Consignment Sales — The advertisement falsely represents that the vehicle is being sold by an individual owner when a dealer is selling the vehicle on consignment;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Since the dealer is selling the vehicle as an agent of the consignor, the dealer may not advertise the vehicle as "for sale by owner."

(3) Lease Advertisements: It is unfair or deceptive in trade or commerce for a person to advertise the lease of any motor vehicle unless the following information is clearly and conspicuously disclosed:

(a) Except for the name and model of the vehicle advertised, the following information shall be displayed most prominently and in the largest type in the advertisement for the lease:

(A) The monthly lease payment and the amount due at inception by the consumer (not including any rebate used to reduce the capitalized cost) in the same size font; and

(B) The term of the lease and that the offer is for a "lease," displayed, with the amounts listed in paragraph (3)(a)(A) above, in a font no less than half the size of those amounts or the minimum size described to be clear and conspicuous based on the media, as outlined in OAR 137-020-0020(j), whichever is larger.

(b) The MSRP and the capitalized cost if different than the MSRP;

(c) The capitalized cost reduction (either by cash down payment or trade equity), acquisition fee, initial payment, security deposit, document processing fee, taxes, any rebates which reduce the capitalized cost and any other additional costs due at the time of delivery, and the total of those amounts (also known as "amount due at inception");

(d) The total lease charge, which includes:

(A) The total of the monthly payments;

(B) Any lease acquisition fees;

(C) The total of the amounts listed in (3)(c); and

(D) Any required lease disposition or termination fee.

(e) The residual value of the vehicle at the end of the lease term; and
(f) Any lease return fee which a consumer must pay if the consumer chooses not to purchase the vehicle at the end of the lease.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: If the county in which the dealer is located requires residents to pay a tax, the dealer must include the estimated tax calculation. The dealer should disclose to which residents the offering price applies and that customers in other counties may pay a different amount.

(4) Used Vehicle Rule: It is unfair or deceptive in trade or commerce to advertise or otherwise represent, sell or lease a vehicle as new if:

(a) The vehicle has been previously spot delivered to a buyer or lessee;

(b) The vehicle has been previously titled or registered;

(c) The vehicle was previously used by any person for its discretionary use; or

(d) The vehicle is a used vehicle.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This section makes it clear that a used vehicle may not be advertised as new. It does not prohibit a dealer or broker from titling a vehicle as a new vehicle that has been previously spot delivered, but not previously titled or registered; or providing new vehicle financing or warranty coverage for a used vehicle, such as a dealer demo, if the vehicle is otherwise still eligible for new vehicle financing or warranty coverage. The consumer must be informed, however, that (s)he is buying or leasing a used vehicle. Also, if a vehicle was erroneously titled or registered by an honest clerical error, the vehicle is still considered a new vehicle.

(5) The Advertised Price Must Be the Sales Price: It is unfair or deceptive in trade or commerce for a dealer to sell a vehicle to a consumer for more than an advertised price or fail to disclose the sale price of a vehicle as advertised in any media or advertisement.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: In addition to this rule, OAR 137-020-0020(3)(a) requires the use of an extension sticker on any vehicle offered for sale or lease in an advertisement stating the offering price of the motor vehicle listed in the advertisement. A dealer must post any advertised sale price on the window or use a "hang tag" stating the advertised price.

Subject: OAR 137-020-0020, known as the "Motor Vehicle Price and Sales Disclosure rule" was originally adopted in 1979. It was last substantively amended in 2008. The proposed amendment addresses changes in the industry, deletes repetitive and outdated information, and 2015 HB 2282.

The amendment considers changes dealers and financial organizations have made to comply with national changes in the industry. The amendment deletes outdated information, makes non-substantive edits to the Official Commentary, and makes the rules consistent with changes to Oregon law. The amendment also addresses consignment sales, representations about the Manufacturer Suggested Retail Price (MSRP) and providing copies of contracts.

Motor Vehicle Price and Sales Disclosure

(1) Purpose: The purpose of this rule is to declare as unfair or deceptive in trade or commerce certain motor vehicle pricing and sales practices. Nothing in this rule, or the administrative rules to which it applies, modifies or diminishes the applicability of exemptions or limitations on enforcement of the Oregon Unlawful Trade Practices Act, including, but not limited to, those specified in ORS 646.605 and 646.612.

(2) Definitions: For purposes of this rule, the following definitions shall apply:

(a) "Advertisement," including the terms "advertise" and "advertising," means any oral, written, pictorial or graphic notice given in a manner designed to attract public attention and includes, but is not limited to, public broadcasts, mailings, publications, internet sites, other internet applications, email, facsimiles and published notices. It includes, but is not limited to, any statement or representation made in a newspaper, magazine, or other publication; made on radio, television or internet; made by instant messaging or text messaging; appearing in any notice, handbill, sign, billboard, banner, poster, display, circular, pamphlet, flyer, catalog, letter, direct mail piece, or other printed material; or contained in any window sticker, price tag, or other point-of-sale display. Advertisement does not include oral or written communications relating to the negotiation of a specific transaction initiated by a consumer;

(b) "Advertiser" means the person on whose behalf any advertising material is published and includes the advertising agent (if any) used by the advertiser;

(c) "Advertising agent" means any person who produces, promotes or assists in the sale, production, or placement of any advertisement or participates in a sales event directly or through its employees or agents, on behalf of any person;

(d) An "average" person, viewer or listener means a person other than one allied with or employed by the motor vehicle industry;

(e) "Broker" means a motor vehicle broker as defined by ORS 822.047;

(f) "Buy-down rate" means a financing rate which, due to a dealer's payment of finance charges to a third party, is below the prevailing market financing rate;

(g) "Buy-rate" means the lowest interest rate quoted to a dealer or broker by a financial organization for which a consumer qualifies, based upon the consumer's credit history;

(h) "Capitalized cost" means the amount the offeror places on a vehicle as the vehicle's value for the purpose of offering the vehicle for lease to the public, not including any capitalized cost reductions or taxes, title, license fees, lease acquisition, Department of Environmental Quality fees, document processing fee, insurance premiums, warranty charges, and any other product, service, or amount amortized in the lease. The capitalized cost for the purpose of this definition is the equivalent of the "offering price" for the purchase of a motor vehicle in a sales transaction;

(i) "Capitalized cost reduction" means the total amount of any rebate, cash payment, net trade-in allowance or non-cash credit that reduces the capitalized cost;

(j) "Clear and conspicuous," including the terms "clearly" and "conspicuously," means that a message, statement, information, representation or term is conveyed in a manner that is readily noticeable, will be easily understood by the average person, and is in a meaningful sequence. In order for a message to be considered "clear and conspicuous," it shall, at a minimum:

(A) Not contradict or substantially alter any terms it purports to clarify, to explain or to which it otherwise relates;

(B) Be in direct proximity to the message, statement, information, representation or term it clarifies, modifies or explains, or to which it otherwise relates;

(C) Use abbreviations or terms only if they are commonly understood by the average person or approved by federal or state law;

(D) In the case of radio advertising:

(i) Include the information required to be disclosed by law and all disclaimers, conditions and limitations shall be spoken with sufficient deliberateness, clarity, speed and volume so as to be audible and understandable by the average radio listener;

(ii) Not be obscured by sounds which interfere with or distract from the disclosure; and

(iii) Provide all necessary information regarding leases. Any information required in radio advertising by the Federal Consumer Leasing Act and Oregon law and administrative rules shall be deemed to be clear and conspicuous if the advertisement complies with 15 USC sec. 1667c(c) and also discloses the capitalized cost of the lease.

(E) In the case of television advertising:

(i) Include the information required to be disclosed by law and shall be completely disclosed audibly, visually, or using a combination thereof;

(ii) If a visual message, be presented unobscured by other images and in a size and time sufficient to allow an average viewer to read with reasonable ease;

(iii) If an audible message, be presented with sufficient deliberateness, clarity, and volume so as to be understood by the average television listener unobscured by other sounds which interfere with or distract from the disclosure;

(iv) Have as a minimum height for required superimposed written copy ("super") in a television advertisement or advertisements in any other audio-visual medium:

(I) For Standard Definition Television — no less than 22 video scanlines for capital and lower case letters together, or no less than 18 video scanlines for use of capital letters only;

(II) For High Definition Television — no less than double the scanlines required for Standard Definition Television; and

(III) The supers must appear on the screen for a duration sufficient to allow a viewer to have a reasonable opportunity to read and understand the statement, representation or term.

(v) Be sufficient if the super on-screen display time is no less than three seconds for the first line of text and one second for each additional line. This is a rebuttable presumption.

(F) In the case of printed advertising:

(i) Include the information required to be disclosed by law and shall be in direct proximity to the terms it purports to clarify, to explain or to which it otherwise relates; and

(ii) Be of sufficient prominence in terms of print style, size and contrast as compared with the remainder of the advertisement so as to be readily noticeable to an average person in the audience to whom it is directed. Print size which is 8 point type or larger in display advertisements which are less than 200 square inches in size or print size which is 10 point type or larger in display advertisements which are larger than 200 square inches in size shall be rebuttably presumed to be of sufficient size to be readily noticeable.

(G) In the case of internet advertising:

(i) Include the information required to be disclosed by law near, and when technologically possible, on the same screen as the triggering claim;

(ii) Use text or visual cues to direct consumers to scroll down a Web page when it is necessary to view information;

(iii) When using hyperlinks to lead to information required to be disclosed by law:

(I) Ensure that hyperlinks are obvious;

(II) Ensure that hyperlinks appropriately convey the importance, nature and relevance of the information they lead to;

(III) Include consistent hyperlink styles and format;

(IV) Ensure that all hyperlinks are placed in direct proximity to relevant information; and

(V) Ensure that hyperlinks take consumers directly to the information on the click-through page.

(iv) Be displayed prominently prior to purchase;

(v) Be prominently displayed so the information is noticeable to consumers in relation to the size, color and graphic treatment of other parts of the Web page;

(vi) Repeat information on lengthy Web sites when there are multiple or repeated claims;

(vii) Include audio disclosures when audio claims are made on the Web site and the audio disclosures must be presented in a volume and speed so that consumers can hear and understand them;

(viii) Include visual disclosures that are displayed for a duration sufficient for consumers to notice, read and understand them; and

(ix) Use clear language and syntax in such a manner that an ordinary consumer can understand the information required to be disclosed by law.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Each advertisement shall be evaluated for its overall impression. The public should not have to weigh each word, hunt for the hidden meaning of each statement, or search for inconspicuous disclaimers. Advertisements which place material disclosures in small print, or inconspicuously bury material at the bottom of the advertisement are not clear and conspicuous. If on the other hand, the information does not materially change, limit or alter the offer being made, it can be placed at the bottom of an advertisement.

15 USC sec. 1667c(c) allows certain required lease disclosures to be given to a consumer in a radio advertisement by referring the audience to either a toll free telephone number or a written advertisement that appears in a publication in general circulation in the community served by the radio station on which such advertisement is broadcast. All lease advertisements on the radio must include the following disclosures to comply with Oregon and Federal law: that the transaction advertised is a lease; the total amount of any initial payments required on or before consummation of the lease or delivery of the property, whichever is later; the number, amounts, due dates or periods of scheduled payments, and the total of such payments under the lease; and the capitalized cost.

(k) "Dealer" means a person who buys, sells, trades or exchanges, leases, displays or offers to buy, sell, trade or exchange motor vehicles either outright or by means of any conditional sale, bailment, lease, security interest, consignment or otherwise or who is a broker. "Dealer" does not include any person excluded by ORS 822.015;

(L) "Document processing fee" means any monies or other thing of value, which a dealer charges to prepare, submit or prepare and submit documents pursuant to ORS 822.043;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Oregon law and administrative rules permit dealers to elect to prepare, submit, or prepare and submit documents necessary to issue or transfer a certificate of title for a vehicle; register a vehicle or transfer registration of a vehicle; issue a registration plate; verify and clear a title; perfect, release or satisfy a lien or other security interest; comply with federal security requirements; or render any other services for the purpose of complying with state and federal laws related to the sale of a vehicle. For providing this service, dealers may charge a purchaser of a vehicle a fee for the preparation of those documents, not to exceed the amount established by ORS 822.043. This fee is always negotiable; otherwise it could be classified as a tax. A dealer can process the documents without charging a fee. In addition to the document processing fee, dealers may offer consumers the option of electronically filing their title and registration documents using an integrator. Dealers may charge consumers an additional fee for this service. Consumers must knowingly agree to pay the additional fee for this electronic filing service. If a consumer does not agree to pay the additional fee for the electronic filing service, a dealer may still electronically submit title and registration documents at no additional cost to the consumer.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(m) "Extension sticker" means a label (other than a Monroney sticker or other label bearing the manufacturer's suggested retail price), affixed to a new motor vehicle, displaying the offering price of the motor vehicle;

(n) "False advertisement" means any advertisement which is false, misleading or deceptive in a material respect. In determining whether any advertisement is false, misleading or deceptive, not only representations made or suggested by statement, word, design, device, sound or any combination thereof will be taken into account, but also the extent to which the advertisement fails to reveal facts material in light of representations made;

(o) "Financial Organization" means any person who finances a sale or lease of a motor vehicle for a third party or purchases a retail installment contract from a dealer;

(p) "Manufacturer" means any entity which:

(i) Manufactures or assembles new motor vehicles for sale or distribution;

(ii) Distributes new motor vehicles through franchised dealerships;

(iii) Is engaged in the business of importing new motor vehicles for sale or distribution to dealers, through distributors, or to factory branches; or

(iv) Is a subsidiary of a manufacturer including one that offers motor vehicle financing.

(q) "Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price" or "MSRP" means the Monroney price, or if there is no Monroney sticker, then the total price of the vehicle after all factory installed options and factory costs have been added together, less any option package savings offered by the manufacturer;

(r) "Monroney sticker" means the label required by the Automobile Information Disclosure Act, 15 USC § 1232;

(s) "Motor Vehicle" means any self-propelled vehicle normally obtained for personal, family, or household purposes, including all terrain vehicles, snowmobiles, self-propelled motor homes, personal watercraft, boats and, for the purposes of this definition, any motor home, recreational vehicle or trailer pulled by a self-propelled vehicle. Motor vehicle does not include aircraft;

(t) "Negative equity" means the amount by which an existing lien on a trade-in vehicle exceeds the true market value of the trade-in vehicle;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: In layman's terms, if a consumer has negative equity on his/her vehicle, it means the consumer owes more on the vehicle than it is actually worth. While the "true market value" of a vehicle may vary, it can be determined by using a motor vehicle price guide trade publication and the average sale price of the vehicle at regional vehicle auctions. While these publications are relevant, they are not determinative. Depending upon the supply and demand for a given vehicle, it could be worth more or less than its "book" value.

(u) "Negative equity adjustment" means an amount which is added to both the purchase or lease price of a vehicle and the trade-in allowance for the trade-in vehicle in a transaction;

(v) "Offering price" means the full cash price for which a dealer will sell or lease a motor vehicle to every consumer or member of the general public without exception, excluding only taxes, license and registration costs, Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) fees and a document processing fee;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Examples of correctly calculated offering prices are as follows:

(A) A car's MSRP is $10,000, license and registration are $100, undercoat is $100, dealer-added options are $2,000 and the document processing fee is $115. A financial organization offers a $1,000 rebate to qualified consumers. The offering price of the vehicle is $12,100. The offering price cannot include the $115 document processing fee or the $1,000 rebate that is not available to all consumers without exception.

(B) A motorcycle's MSRP is $5,000, license and registration are $50, delivery, assembly and setup costs the dealer $250, custom accessories are $500 and the document processing fee is $115. The offering price of the vehicle is $5,750. The costs of delivery, assembly, setup and all accessories must be included in the offering price in any advertisement or quoted offering price given during the sales negotiation of the motorcycle and cannot be added in as fees or extras after the selling price of the motorcycle is agreed upon between the dealer and consumer. The advertised offering price does not need to include the license and registration or document processing fee. While the dealer may choose to prepare title and registration documents and may charge a fee for this service, nothing in this or any other rule requires a dealer to charge any document processing fee. Whether the consumer will pay any fee for this service and, if so, its amount, up to the maximum allowed by law, is always negotiable between the consumer and the dealer.

(w) "Person" means natural persons, corporations, trusts, partnerships, incorporated or unincorporated associations, and any other legal entity except bodies or officers acting under statutory authority of this state or the United States and includes, but is not limited to, dealers, brokers, manufacturers, publishers, advertisers or advertising agents;

(x) "Personal Watercraft" means a jet ski or other aquatic device of similar design;

(y) "Publish" means to disseminate, mail, or otherwise make available to the public at large, or any section of the public, in whatever form and by whatever means any information;

(z) "Publisher" means any person who publishes any advertisement;

(aa) "Rebate" means:

(i) The payment of money to a consumer or payment to a person on behalf of a consumer on the condition that the consumer purchase or lease a motor vehicle; or

(ii) The return of any part of a payment made by a consumer in conjunction with the sale or lease of real estate, goods or services and includes, but is not limited to, an offer of a future cash refund, a direct or indirect payment of money to a consumer or a voucher for future payments.

(bb) "Recreational vehicle" has the meaning given that term in ORS 650.300;

(cc) "Sale," "Sell" or "Buy" means any transaction for the sale, purchase, trade, exchange or lease of a motor vehicle;

(dd) "Spot Delivery" or "Spot Delivered" means that a consumer has taken possession of a motor vehicle from a dealer or broker and the consumer has committed to buy or lease the vehicle, whether or not there is a finalized transaction or final approval of financing;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Spot delivery occurs when a consumer signs a purchase order, lease agreement or retail installment contract for a motor vehicle and the consumer takes possession of the vehicle "on the spot," prior to a financial organization purchasing the retail installment contract or lease agreement from the dealer or a consumer presenting a dealer with payment for the full purchase price of the vehicle.

(ee) "Taxes, license and registration costs" means those usual taxes, charges and fees payable to or collected on behalf of governmental agencies and necessary for the transfer of any interest in a motor vehicle or for the use of a motor vehicle;

(ff) "Used vehicle" means any vehicle which has been previously:

(i) Delivered to any person for his/her discretionary use for personal or business purposes and for more than a test drive before a contemplated purchase or preparation for sale;

(ii) Titled or registered to any person, whether or not it was used for the person's own discretionary personal or business purposes; or

(iii) Spot delivered.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: See Weigel v. Ron Tonkin Chevrolet Co., 298 Or 127, 690 P2d 488 (1984). Vehicles that would be considered "used" include, but are not limited to: new vehicles that are spot delivered to a consumer, then subsequently returned to the dealer for any reason, including, but not limited to, the inability of the dealer to sell the retail installment contract; demonstrators and company cars that have never been sold to a retail customer, but have been driven for purposes other than test drives or moving, including use by the dealer, the dealer's employees, the dealer's corporate officers or anyone else; and all vehicles that have been driven more than the limited use necessary in moving or test driving a new vehicle prior to purchase or delivery to a consumer.

(gg) "Vehicle identification number" or "VIN" means a number, a letter, a character, a datum, a derivative, or a combination thereof, used by the manufacturer or a Department of Motor Vehicles for the purpose of uniquely identifying a motor vehicle. For the purpose of this definition, any time a motor vehicle advertisement requires the publication of a "vehicle identification number," use of the last six numbers, letters or other characters will constitute compliance with the rule;

(hh) "Wholesale" means the sale of motor vehicles, goods or services for resale by a dealer, broker or other person, as opposed to the sale of motor vehicles, goods or services to the ultimate consumer;

(ii) "Yield Spread Premium" means the difference between a higher interest rate quoted to a consumer by a dealer or broker and the buy rate offered to the dealer or broker by a financial organization.

(3) Violations: Failure by a person, in the course of the person's business, vocation or occupation, to comply with this rule constitutes unfair or deceptive conduct in trade or commerce.

(a) Mandatory Posting of Offering Price — For any motor vehicle offered for sale or lease in an advertisement that states an offering price or capitalized cost for the motor vehicle, the dealer shall affix to the motor vehicle a clear and conspicuous label or extension sticker that states the advertised offering price of the motor vehicle listed in the advertisement. If a motor vehicle bears a label which states a MSRP and the MSRP is the offering price or capitalized cost for the vehicle, no additional label or extension sticker is required;

(b) Extension Sticker — A dealer shall affix an extension sticker to any motor vehicle offered for sale bearing a Monroney sticker or a label stating a MSRP that states the offering price of the vehicle if the offering price is greater than the Monroney sticker price or the stated MSRP;

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(c) Offering Price — Any price stated in an advertisement or in a written or oral price quotation given to a consumer shall be the offering price, excluding only taxes, license, registration costs, DEQ fees and a document processing fee;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: A vehicle has one offering price. This rule is to ensure that dealers do not add in hidden or undisclosed costs after the price for a vehicle has been advertised or negotiated with a consumer or charge different prices depending on where a consumer sees an advertised offering price. Examples of potential violations are as follows:

(A) A vehicle is advertised or offered for sale at the dealership for $10,000. After the consumer accepts the dealer's offer and agrees to purchase the vehicle, the dealer learns that the consumer has a poor credit history. The financial organization to which the dealer sells the retail installment contract charges the dealer a premium of $500 to accept the retail installment contract. The dealer then tries to add this $500 to the contract with the consumer as a "loan fee." This practice is unlawful;

(B) A person advertises a vehicle for $20,000 in the local newspaper. The vehicle has $1,500 worth of after-market accessories on the vehicle. When the consumer arrives at the dealership and wants to purchase the vehicle, the salesperson tells the consumer that the price is $21,500 with the added accessories. This practice is unlawful. If the dealer wants reimbursement for these options, the dealer should ensure that amount is included in any advertised price;

(C) A motorcycle dealer charges $350 to set up and assemble a motorcycle. This amount must be included in any offering price advertised and cannot be noted only by disclosure at the bottom of the advertisement with the use of an asterisk. Further, any price displayed on the motorcycle or price quoted to a consumer during negotiations must include this amount; and

(D) A vehicle is advertised or offered for sale at the dealership for $10,000. After the consumer accepts the dealer's offer and agrees to purchase the vehicle, the dealer tries to add a $200 "processing fee" if the consumer wants to pay for the vehicle by personal check, certified bank check, debit card or credit card. A dealer may not add a fee for payment by personal check or certified bank check. However, if "pass through" swipe fees for a debit card or credit card are permitted under a merchant account agreement, those swipe fees must be disclosed in advance and separately stated on the purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract; a dealer may not add swipe fees to the offering price or negotiated price.

(d) Limitations on Offering Price — An extension sticker shall accurately itemize and describe the charge(s) added to or subtracted from the MSRP to reach the offering price. No charge may be added for goods or services not actually provided. No charge may be added for services required by the manufacturer or distributor which are performed by a dealer prior to delivery of a motor vehicle to a retail consumer. No charge may be added for any overhead expense such as warehousing, flooring, advertising, and clerical costs. No charge may be added for transportation costs charged by the manufacturer or distributor to the dealer and included in the MSRP. In the case of inland freight, setup and dealer preparation, the charge listed must be the dealer's actual cost for freight from the port of entry to the dealership, and the actual cost of setup and dealer preparation and not included in the MSRP;

(e) Additional Dealer Mark-up — If the offering price of a new motor vehicle is greater than the MSRP, the portion of the difference shown on the extension sticker between the offering price and the MSRP not representing additional goods or services shall be described as "additional dealer profit," "additional mark-up" or by a term of similar import;

(f) Unconscionable Add-on Pricing — A person may not make false or misleading representations concerning the nature or amounts of charges for additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance sold in conjunction with the sale or lease of a motor vehicle by selling them at a price which is unconscionably higher than the price used by the person for the sale of the same or substantially similar goods, accessories, services, products or insurance to other consumers;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule does not limit a dealer's ability to mark up or down the selling price of a product or service in the normal course of business. This includes offering special discounts to repeat customers or volume discounts to purchasers of large quantities of products or services. However, sometimes dealers try to unlawfully take advantage of the most vulnerable consumers, such as those who are illiterate, have a physical infirmity, have a mental handicap, are unable to understand the English language or have other limitations.

(g) Disclosing Document Fee — A document processing fee may be separately stated in all advertisements and sales documents. If separately stated, the disclosure shall be clear and conspicuous;

(h) Document Fee Not Government Required — A person shall not represent a document processing fee as a governmental fee or one required by government;

(i) Vehicle Availability — A dealer or broker may not advise prospective customers that an advertised vehicle is available when the vehicle is not available for sale, or that an advertised vehicle is not available for sale when the vehicle is available for sale;

(j) Undisclosed Price Packing — A dealer or broker may not sell or lease a motor vehicle to a consumer with the cost of any additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance added to the sale or lease, without the consumer's actual knowledge, written consent and individual itemization of all such additional costs listed on any purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract;

(k) Undisclosed Fee Payments — A dealer who sells or leases a motor vehicle to a consumer and makes any payment to any non-employee third-party in conjunction with the sale or lease, other than a referral fee of $100 or less (also known as a "bird-dog" payment), must specifically itemize such payment on the consumer's purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule is intended to apply to a payment of more than $100 made to a single individual or business entity. For example, if two unrelated individuals refer a purchaser to a specific dealership, each individual may receive a payment of $75 and the dealer does not need to specifically itemize the payments. However, the dealer may not make a payment of $75 to a dealership and $75 to the owner of the dealership and fail to itemize the $150 payment on the purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract.

(L) False Representations Regarding Financing or Goods — A person may not falsely represent to a consumer that, unless the consumer purchases additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance, the person will not sell or lease a motor vehicle to the consumer or cannot provide credit or financing for the consumer. A person may not falsely represent to a consumer that additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance are free or included in the price of a motor vehicle or the financing;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Nothing in this rule prohibits a dealer from ensuring that a consumer has motor vehicle insurance required by law or according to the terms of financing in order to protect the collateral financed. No person, however, can make false statements regarding any requirement to purchase products or services. This rule does not prohibit dealers from adding tangible accessories, which enhance the value and marketability of a vehicle to some of their inventory, and including the tangible accessories in the offering price of the vehicle. If a dealer adds high profit aftermarket products, including, but not limited to, paint protector, door edge guards and glass etching, to its vehicles which do not correspondingly increase the actual cash value of the vehicles, such practice would be carefully scrutinized as a possible violation of this rule.

(m) Payment Price Packing — During negotiations for the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, a dealer or broker may not quote to a consumer a monthly payment or total price for the sale or lease of a motor vehicle that includes the cost of any additional goods, accessories, services, products or insurance, including, but not limited to, service contracts, security products, protectants, credit life or gap insurance, that are sold in conjunction with the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, unless the dealer or broker also clearly and conspicuously separately delivers in writing, during negotiations and prior to any purchase order, lease agreement or retail installment contract being executed by a customer:

(A) The individual price of each additional good, accessory, service, product or insurance; and

(B) The total cost of the lease or sale of the vehicle and the monthly payment, without such additional items included.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: This rule addresses the practice that is commonly referred to as "packing," or the "presumptive sale." "Packing" is the deceptive practice of misrepresenting monthly payments or total cost of a vehicle to consumers during motor vehicle sales and lease negotiations in order to surreptitiously facilitate the sale of additional motor vehicle related goods, accessories, services, products or insurance. Consumers are entitled to be treated in a fair and non-deceptive manner during negotiations to buy or lease a motor vehicle, including the right to receive timely, accurate and non-misleading information about the cost of the vehicle and all related goods, accessories, services, products or insurance they are buying or leasing. Some dealers have used "packed" payment schemes and poor disclosures to trick consumers into believing that services such as credit insurance, vehicle service contracts, chemical protection, and security devices are included at no additional cost or provided "free" in the purchase or lease agreement; or that they are discounted when they are not. Others have quoted monthly payments calculated upon interest rates far in excess of what they believe will be the final interest rate or simply add an extra $40 or more to the monthly payment than what is needed to cover the price of the vehicle. They use this inflated quote in order to build in some "legroom" to later add other optional products and services to the transaction with the extra cost hidden or appearing lower to the consumer. Because the monthly payment does not increase and because the consumer believes the products are "free" or discounted, most consumers do not object when the products are included in the final contract.

(n) Disclosure of Service Contract Coverage — A person may not misrepresent or fail to clearly and conspicuously disclose the following terms or conditions of a service contract sold in conjunction with the sale or lease of a motor vehicle: the length of the coverage, what parts or systems of the vehicle are covered by the contract, any exclusions in the coverage, and that there may be an existing manufacturer's warranty which provides the same or similar coverage. If a person advertises that a vehicle has an existing manufacturer's warranty or the person knows a vehicle has an existing manufacturer's warranty, the person must disclose the terms of the remaining warranty coverage;

(o) Disclosure of Material Nonconformities and Defects — Prior to the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, a dealer or broker shall disclose existing material nonconformities and defects about which the dealer or broker knows or negligently disregarded when the dealer or broker should have known. This includes, but is not limited to if repairs have not been performed pursuant to a safety recall and the needed repairs can be identified through a VIN search;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Unless explicitly disclosed prior to a sale or lease, a motor vehicle that is offered for sale or lease to the public is represented, either directly or by implication, to be roadworthy when it is sold, to have an unbranded title and to have no undisclosed material defects. A dealer is not required to guarantee, warrant or represent that a used vehicle will not have any mechanical problems or undetected material defects once the vehicle is sold. However, for used vehicles, even if the dealer states on the FTC Buyers Guide ("As Is") that the dealer is not providing a warranty, the dealer must still disclose material defects about which the dealer knew or should have known. See Parrott v. Carr Chevrolet, 156 Or App 257 (1998), aff. 331 Or 537 (2001) and Hinds v. Paul's Auto Werkstatt, 107 Or App 63, 810 P2d 874 (1991). For new vehicles, even if the dealer does not need to disclose damage and repairs under ORS 650.155(6), the dealer must still disclose material defects about which the dealer knew or should have known. See BMW of North America v. Gore, 517 US 559 (1995). The dealer is in a superior position to inspect and determine the condition of a vehicle prior to marketing the vehicle. It is an easy matter, through a number of industry and internet sources, for a dealer or broker to review a vehicle's title, damage and ownership history. Examples of negligent disregard of some things that should put a dealer on notice and trigger its duty to disclose might include, but is not limited to, a large pool of oil or antifreeze under the vehicle, dark colored smoke coming from an exhaust pipe, water stains on carpet or doors, a different color paint than the body under the hood or in the trunk or tires that are worn very unevenly. A dealer does not need to create an exhaustive list of every ding, paint scratch, fabric tear or discoloration clearly visible upon inspection by an average consumer. When a dealer sells a vehicle to an individual that is registering the vehicle in a metro area that requires that the vehicle pass DEQ emissions testing to be roadworthy, the dealer must ensure that the vehicle can pass the DEQ emissions test at the time of sale.

(p) False or Unsubstantiated Representations — A person may not make a misrepresentation or a false or incomplete statement of fact in conjunction with the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, or any other representation or statement which the person does not have sufficient information upon which a reasonable belief in the truth of the representation could be based;

(q) False Statement of Broker Fees — A broker may not misrepresent the source or nature of any profit, compensation or fee which the broker will receive for its services or cause a consumer to believe the services are free or at no cost to the consumer, when they are not;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Brokers are a fiduciary of a consumer on whose behalf they have agreed to negotiate the purchase or lease of a vehicle. Unlike a dealer, a broker is not engaging in an "arm's length" transaction. Brokers market their services to act in the consumer's best interest. They are in an agency relationship. The consumer has a right to rely on that relationship. For example, a broker who tells a consumer that the broker may be receiving compensation from a dealer as part of the transaction, when the funds for that payment were part of the total amount paid by the consumer as part of the purchase or lease, is misrepresenting the nature of the transaction and making a false statement as to the source of the funds the broker will be receiving. The correct disclosure would be that the broker has added its fee to the price which it negotiated with the seller on behalf of the consumer. While ORS 822.047 does not require the broker to disclose the amount of its profit, once the broker undertakes to act on behalf of a consumer, or do anything that could cause a consumer to believe the broker is acting on the consumer's behalf, the dealer or broker may no longer engage in self-dealing, but must act in the consumer's best interest. Further, if a consumer asks what the fee is for the service, the broker may not misrepresent the amount of the fee being charged. In no case may the broker misrepresent the nature of the charge, the amount of the fee or in what way the fee for the broker's service is paid.

(r) Disclosure of Dealer/Broker Status — A dealer or broker may not misrepresent or fail to disclose whether it is acting as a dealer or broker when it has done anything to cause a consumer to believe it is acting as a broker for the consumer in the purchase or lease of a motor vehicle;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: It is well established in law that a broker is in a fiduciary relationship with its client. As such, a broker occupies a position of such power and confidence with regard to the property of another that the law requires brokers to act solely in the interest of the person whom they represent and in good faith. Fiduciary duties can be grouped into three categories: (A) Duty of Loyalty. A fiduciary must act in accordance with the interests of the beneficiary, and not his own interests; (B) Duty of Candor. A fiduciary must not withhold information from the beneficiary, particularly with respect to the fiduciary's dealings with the beneficiary; and (C) Duty of Care. A fiduciary must act with some degree of care with respect to the beneficiary. This is usually formulated as a duty to exercise the care that an ordinarily prudent person would in similar circumstances.

In Oregon, only one type of dealer license is required, whether the licensee acts as a dealer or broker. This can lead to confusion by a consumer. If the consumer believes the person the consumer contacted was a broker, the consumer expects that person to act in the consumer's best interest. Brokers have an obligation to ensure the consumer knows what the broker's business status is in relation to the transaction and whether the consumer is dealing with it as a broker or a dealer. If a consumer first contacts a dealer who does not have a vehicle in its own inventory that the consumer wishes to buy or lease, and the dealer agrees to find, negotiate or arrange the purchase or lease of a specific vehicle for the consumer from a third party, a broker relationship may be created. If the dealer, without placing any obligations on the consumer, finds the desired vehicle, purchases it and places it into the dealer's own inventory, the dealer may thereafter negotiate and sell or lease the vehicle to the consumer and still remain a dealer. However, a dealer may become a broker under several circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following: the dealer places a contractual or monetary obligation on the consumer in order to arrange or negotiate the purchase or lease of the vehicle; the dealer makes any statement which could cause an average consumer to believe the dealer was acting as an agent of the consumer (such as saying the dealer would negotiate the best price for the transaction); or the dealer arranges the transaction for the consumer through another dealer and receives any compensation from the consumer or other dealer.

(s) False Credit Applications — No person shall for any motor vehicle transaction:

(A) Knowingly prepare, participate or assist in the preparation or submission of a false, misleading or deceptive credit application;

(B) Direct any person to prepare or submit a false, misleading or deceptive credit application;

(C) Request or allow a consumer to sign a blank or incomplete credit application; or

(D) Knowingly accept or submit a false, misleading or deceptive credit application.

(t) Illusory or Deferred Down-Payments and Hold Check Agreements — In any transaction for a motor vehicle:

(A) No person shall request or accept from a consumer as payment for any part of a purchase or lease, or list the same as a down payment on any purchase order, lease agreement, retail installment contract, or credit application, any of the following:

(i) A promissory note for future payment, without clearly disclosing on the purchase order, lease agreement, retail installment contract, and credit application: the amount of the promissory note given by the consumer, the terms of repayment, any interest rate and that such amount is in the form of a promissory note;

(ii) A check that the person knows or should have known is drawn upon an account with insufficient funds, without clearly disclosing on the purchase order, lease agreement, retail installment contract, and credit application: the amount of such check, the terms of repayment, that there were insufficient funds in the checking account at the time the check was drawn and the date the check is expected to have sufficient funds available for its payment; or

(iii) A post-dated check that the consumer has given the person for payment at a future date, without clearly disclosing on the purchase order, lease agreement, retail installment contract, and credit application: the amount of such check, that the check is post-dated, and the date the check is due and payable.

(B) No person shall accept any check listed in (t)(A)(ii) or (iii) above without having a written hold check agreement, clearly disclosing on the purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract all terms and conditions of the hold check agreement, and disclosing the fact that there is a hold check agreement to any financial organization to which credit is requested;

(C) No person shall accept any payment listed in (t)(A)(i), (ii) or (iii) above without properly listing and identifying such payment in any retail installment contract or lease agreement; and

(D) No deferred portion of a down payment may be treated as part of the down payment if it is payable later than the due date of the second otherwise regularly scheduled payment and is not subject to a finance charge.

(u) Yield Spread Premium Disclosure — Any dealer or broker that charges a consumer a yield spread premium:

(A) Shall clearly and conspicuously disclose in writing, prior to the consumer applying for credit or executing a purchase order, lease agreement or retail installment contract:

(i) That the dealer or broker may receive additional compensation from the consumer for arranging the sale of the retail installment contract which may be in the form of a fee or additional loan points; and

(ii) That interest rates quoted by the dealer or broker may be negotiable; and

(B) Shall not, during the negotiation for the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, quote a monthly payment calculated using an interest rate that is more than three points higher than the buy rate, unless the dealer or broker discloses in writing the yield spread premium to the consumer, if the dealer or broker quoting the rate knows the consumer's credit score or has the ability to obtain the consumer's credit score at the time the monthly payment is quoted.

(v) Misleading or Deceptive Tying Requirements — If a person represents or implies that the person requires a consumer to purchase anything additional in conjunction with the sale or lease of a motor vehicle, including, but not limited to, any goods, accessories, services, products or insurance, the person will not sell, lease or enter into a retail installment contract for any motor vehicle without the sale of such additional items to every other consumer.

(w) Deceptive Financing Representations — No dealer or broker shall falsely represent that a transaction is conditioned upon the consumer entering into a retail installment contract with the dealer that the dealer can sell to a financial organization when in fact the consumer is able to finance the transaction through other means or sources;

(x) Unlawful Spot Delivery — No dealer or broker shall spot deliver a vehicle to any consumer unless the dealer or broker has a reasonable basis to believe that the dealer will either keep the retail installment contract (“buy here pay here”) or be able to sell the retail installment contract to a financial organization at the exact terms quoted to or agreed to by the consumer at the time of delivery;

(y) Misrepresentation Regarding Failure to Sell Retail Installment Contract — No dealer or broker, who has spot delivered a vehicle to a consumer and thereafter fails to complete the transaction in accordance with the terms offered in the purchase order, lease agreement or retail installment contract, shall misrepresent to a consumer why the transaction cannot be completed according to the terms offered or agreed upon;

(z) Anti-Bushing Rule — In any transaction in which the dealer or broker has spot delivered a vehicle to a consumer and the consumer does not qualify for the terms offered, the dealer or broker shall, prior to offering, negotiating or entering into new terms for the purchase or lease of a vehicle:

(A) Inform the consumer that the consumer is entitled to have all items of value received from the consumer as part of the transaction, including any trade-in and down payment, returned to the consumer;

(B) If the consumer is physically present when the dealer or broker informs the consumer that the consumer does not qualify for the terms offered, return all items of value received from the consumer as part of the transaction; and

(C) If the dealer or broker informs a consumer by telephone or other means, without the consumer present, that the consumer did not qualify for the terms offered, clearly disclose the consumer’s right to receive the immediate return of all items of value given by the consumer as part of the transaction when the consumer returns the spot delivered vehicle. The consumer’s down payment and trade-in must be actually available to the consumer should the consumer wish to rescind the transaction and not enter into a new transaction. If a consumer has paid a down payment with a check, the dealer is not required to refund the down payment until the consumer’s check has cleared.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: ORS 646A.090 gives both dealers and consumers specific rights when it is necessary to unwind a spot delivery transaction. The consumer has an absolute right to walk away from the deal and get back his/her trade-in and down payment if the dealer is not going to honor the original agreed upon offer.

(aa) Unlawful Negative Equity Adjustment — No person shall make a negative equity adjustment in the sale or lease of a motor vehicle;

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: Under Regulation Z, if the amount of an existing lien exceeds the value of a trade-in, a creditor must disclose the down payment as zero and not a negative amount on the down payment line of the retail installment contract. To illustrate, assume a consumer owes $10,000 on an existing motor vehicle retail installment contract or loan and that the trade-in value of the motor vehicle is only $8,000, leaving a $2,000 deficit. The creditor should disclose a down payment of $0, not -$2,000.

(bb) Negative Equity Disclosure — Any negative equity of a vehicle taken in trade as part of any motor vehicle transaction shall be clearly and conspicuously disclosed in any purchase order, lease agreement and retail installment contract.

(cc) Consignment Sales — If a person takes a vehicle on consignment, the person may not falsely represent or imply the amount that a potential purchaser has offered to pay for the vehicle or the amount that the consignor has agreed to accept for the sale of the vehicle.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: When a dealer takes a vehicle on consignment, the dealer is acting as an agent for the consignor. The dealer may not tell a prospective customer that the consignor will not accept a particular offering price for a vehicle when that offering price is above the price the consignor has agreed to sell the vehicle for. Additionally, the dealer may not misrepresent or fail to disclose an offering price to the consignor. It is unlawful for a dealer who takes a vehicle on consignment to ask the consignor to agree to a reduction in the amount listed in the consignment agreement when the dealer has received an offering price from a prospective customer that is higher than the amount the consignor has agreed to sell the vehicle for because the dealer wants to negotiate a higher profit for the dealer from the sale of the vehicle.

(dd) Dealer Cost — A dealer shall not misrepresent or fail to disclose the MSRP of a new vehicle. A dealer shall not state or imply that the MSRP is the dealer’s cost.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: When negotiating the sale of a vehicle, a dealer may not misrepresent or fail to disclose the MSRP of the vehicle. For example, the Monroney sticker shows that the MSRP of a vehicle is $30,000. The dealer posts an extension sticker that shows the dealer added $5,000 of additional dealer profit and the dealer’s offering price is $35,000. When negotiating the vehicle, the dealer fails to disclose to the potential purchaser that the MSRP of the vehicle is $30,000 and the dealer’s offering price is $35,000. It is unlawful if the dealer represents to the consumer that the “market price” of the vehicle is $35,000 and the dealer is offering the consumer a $3,000 savings by starting negotiations at $32,000. Similarly, if the dealer obtains a vehicle through a dealer trade, the dealer must disclose that the MSRP of the vehicle is $30,000 and cannot represent to the consumer that the vehicle is $35,000 without also disclosing the MSRP and that the $35,000 offering price includes $5,000 of dealer mark-up.

(ee) Provide Copy of Contract — A dealer must provide the purchaser of a vehicle a copy of all documents signed or initialed by the purchaser or that are material to the terms of the sale.

OFFICIAL COMMENTARY: When a consumer signs a purchase order, lease agreement or retail installment contract, the dealer should promptly provide a consumer with a signed copy of the agreement for the consumer’s records. The dealer should also provide the consumer with any other documents that are material to the terms of the sale, such as a “we owe” form that reflects that the dealer will perform post-delivery repairs.

(ff) Document Processing Fee — If a dealer collects money from or charges a purchaser a document processing fee, the dealer must prepare and submit all documents to complete the transaction as permitted by law.

Subject: Virtually all the rule amendments and the sole new rule (OAR 137-046-0140) addressed in this Certificate are required by legislative changes enacted by the 2015 Regular Session of the Oregon Legislative Assembly. The rule changes implement the following legislation: SB 491 (2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 454) (responsible bidders or proposers on contracts exceeding $500,000 with at least 50 employees must have certificate of training on the pay equity law, ORS 652.220); SB 675 (2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 539) (responsible bidders or proposers for goods or services contracts must attest that they complied with state and political subdivision tax laws); HB 2375 (2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 646) (Attorney General and Department of Administrative Services must develop solicitation templates, contract forms and contract templates for state agency public contracts); HB 2716 (2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 325) (contractors and subcontractors, in contracts awarded under disadvantaged, minority, women-owned and emerging small business program, must maintain certification under ORS 200.055); and HB 3303 (2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 565) (adds businesses owned by service-disabled veterans to the businesses for which participation in public contracts must be promoted under ORS chapter 200).

A change that is not required by 2015 legislation modifies OAR 137-047-0260(2)(c)(B), which prescribes requirements for competitive sealed proposals for contracts for goods and services. That amendment requires the application of equal measures of comparison to each of the proposers in a public contract solicitation, and calls for contracting agencies to use pricing criteria that permit the agencies to reasonably estimate the costs of a contract, based on the proposals the agencies receive.

Additional rule amendments update definitions and rule references to state officers and agencies whose titles have changed.

Solicitation Document Templates; Contract Forms and Contract Templates; Accountability for Advice

(1) The Attorney General and the Director of the Oregon Department of Administrative Services will make available to state agencies Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms, and Contract templates as described in 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 646, section 2. State agencies shall use approved Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms or Contract templates as required by 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 646, section 2.

(2) The Attorney General, in cooperation with the Oregon Department of Administrative Services, will develop and make available to state agencies the process the Attorney General and the department will use to approve and designate Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms and Contract templates for required use, including the process for revising, updating or approving agency-specific variations of the approved Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms, and Contract templates.

(3) Contract forms and Contract templates include amendments to Contracts, including change orders, purchase orders, and other ordering instruments issued under Contracts, when the amendments, change orders, purchase orders, or other ordering instruments provide for payment in excess of $150,000.

(4) The Attorney General may exempt from required use a Solicitation Document template, Contract form, or Contract template that is approved by the Attorney General, subject to any conditions the Attorney General may impose on the continued use of the exempted and approved Solicitation Document template, Contract form or Contract template.

(5) The Attorney General, in cooperation with the Department of Administrative Services, shall specify how state agencies may access the approved Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms or Contract templates and shall also provide a list of the Solicitation Document templates, Contract forms or Contract templates that are exempt from the required use.

(6) Before a State Contracting Agency executes a Contract with a Contract Price that exceeds $150,000, the State Contracting Agency must designate in Writing the state employee who will oversee a specific Contract, or specifically identified Contracts, or a specifically identified category of Contracts. The Written designation must identify the employee as the "Contract Administrator" for the Contract or Contracts. The director or other head of the State Contracting Agency (or that officer's designee under 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 646, section 4(2)) must verify that the Contract Administrator has read and understands all advice and recommendations given with respect to the Contract and Procurement. The director or other head of the State Contracting Agency (or that officer's designee) shall sign and preserve as an Agency record a statement acknowledging that the officer reviewed the advice and recommendations, and made the verification, in accordance with 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 646, section 4.

Material advice or recommendations are Written communications that address: (i) subject matter that modifies or influences the meaning, performance, administration, or means of enforcement of a Contract; or (ii) the allocation of significant liabilities or risk under a Contract.

(1) For purposes of ORS 279A.105, a subcontractor certified under 200.055 as an emerging small business is located in or draws its workforce from economically distressed areas if:

(a) Its principal place of business is located in an area designated as economically distressed under administrative rules adopted by the Oregon Business Development Department; or

(b) The Contractor certifies in a Signed Writing to the Contracting Agency that a substantial number of the subcontractor's employees or subcontractors that will manufacture or provide the Goods or perform the Services or Personal Services under the Contract reside in an area designated as economically distressed under administrative rules adopted by the Oregon Business Development Department. For the purposes of making the foregoing determination, the Contracting Agency shall determine in each particular instance what proportion of a Contractor's subcontractor's employees or subcontractors constitutes a substantial number.

(2) Contracting Agencies shall include in each Solicitation Document a requirement that Offerors certify in their Offers, in a form prescribed by the Contracting Agency, that the Offeror has not discriminated, and will not discriminate, against a subcontractor in the awarding of a subcontract because the subcontractor is certified under ORS 200.055 as a disadvantaged business enterprise, a minority-owned business, a woman-owned business, an emerging small business, or a business that a service-disabled veteran owns.

(3) Disqualification.

(a) A Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person from consideration for Award of the Contracting Agency's Contracts under ORS 200.065(5), or suspend a Person's right to bid on or participate in any Contract under ORS 200.075(1), after providing the Person with notice and a reasonable opportunity to be heard in accordance with subsections (b) and (c) of this Section.

(b) The Contracting Agency shall provide Written notice to the Person of a proposed Disqualification. The Contracting Agency shall deliver the Written notice by personal service or by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. This notice shall:

(A) State that the Contracting Agency intends to disqualify or suspend the Person;

(B) Set forth the reasons for the Disqualification;

(C) Include a statement of the Person's right to a hearing if requested in Writing within the time stated in the notice and that if the Contracting Agency does not receive the Person's Written request for a hearing within the time stated, the Person shall have waived the right to a hearing;

(D) Include a statement of the authority under which the hearing will be held;

(E) Include a reference to the particular sections of the statutes and rules involved;

(F) State the proposed Disqualification period; and

(G) State that the Person may be represented by legal counsel.

(c) Hearing. The Contracting Agency shall schedule a hearing upon the Contracting Agency's receipt of the Person's timely hearing request. Within a reasonable time prior to the hearing, the Contracting Agency shall notify the Person of the time and place of the hearing and provide information on the procedures, right of representation and other rights related to the conduct of the hearing.

(d) Notice of Disqualification. The Contracting Agency shall provide Written notice of the Disqualification to the Person. The Contracting Agency shall deliver the Written notice by personal service or by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. The notice shall contain:

(A) The effective date and period of Disqualification;

(B) The grounds for Disqualification; and

(C) A statement of the Person's appeal rights and applicable appeal deadlines.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(4) Contract and Subcontract Conditions. If a Contracting Agency awards a Contract to an Offeror that has been determined to be responsible under ORS 200.005(8) and 200.045(3), or awards a Contract under ORS 279A.100:

(a) The Contracting Agency must provide, as a material condition of the Contract:

(A) That the Contractor must maintain its certification under ORS 200.055 throughout the term of the Contract and any extensions (if the Contracting Agency used the certification as a factor in or as a basis for the award of the Contract);

(B) That the Contractor must promptly pay each subcontractor that is certified under ORS 200.055 in accordance with ORS 279B.220, or 279C.570 and ORS 279C.580, whichever apply to the Contract;

(C) That the Contractor must include, in any subcontract the Contractor establishes in connection with the Contract, a provision that requires the subcontractor to maintain the subcontractor's certification under ORS 200.055 throughout the term of the subcontract and any extensions (if the Contractor used the certification as a factor in or as a basis for the award of the subcontract);

(D) That the Contracting Agency may require the Contractor to terminate a subcontract with a subcontractor that fails to maintain its certification under ORS 200.055 throughout the term of the subcontract and any extensions.

(b) In the administration of Contracts that are subject to section (4) of this rule, the Contracting Agency must verify the Contractor's and any subcontractor's compliance with subsection (4)(a) of this rule.

(c) Subparagraph (4)(a)(A) of this section does not apply to an emerging small business that ceases to qualify as a tier one firm or a tier two firm (as ORS 200.005 defines those terms) due to the growth in the business's number of full-time equivalent employees or in average annual gross receipts during the term of the Contract. This section (4) does not apply to an emerging small business for which a certification under ORS 200.055 expires during the term of the Contract or any extensions.

Competitive Sealed Proposals

(1) Generally. A Contracting Agency may procure Goods or Services by competitive sealed Proposals as set forth in ORS 279B.060. A Contracting Agency shall use a Request for Proposal to initiate a competitive sealed Proposal solicitation. The Request for Proposal must contain the information required by 279B.060(2) and by section (2) of this rule. The Contracting Agency shall provide public notice of the Request for Proposal as set forth in OAR 137-047-0300.

(2) Request for Proposal. In addition to the provisions required by ORS 279B.060(2), the Request for Proposal must include the following:

(a) General Information.

(A) Notice of any pre-Offer conference as follows:

(i) The time, date and location of any pre-Offer conference;

(ii) Whether attendance at the conference will be mandatory or voluntary; and

(iii) A provision that provides that statements made by the Contracting Agency's representatives at the conference are not binding on the Contracting Agency unless confirmed by Written Addendum.

(B) The form and instructions for submission of Proposals and any other special information, e.g., whether Proposals may be submitted by electronic means. (See OAR 137-047-0330 for required provisions of electronic Proposals);

(C) The time, date and place of Opening;

(D) The office where the Solicitation Document may be reviewed;

(E) Proposer's certification of nondiscrimination in obtaining required subcontractors in accordance with ORS 279A.110(4). (See OAR 137-046-0210(2)); and

(F) How the Contracting Agency will notify Proposers of Addenda and how the Contracting Agency will make Addenda available. (See OAR 137-047-0430).

(b) Contracting Agency Need to Purchase. The character of the Goods or Services the Contracting Agency is purchasing including, if applicable, a description of the acquisition, Specifications, delivery or performance schedule, inspection and acceptance requirements. As required by ORS 279B.060(2)(c), the Contracting Agency's description of its need to purchase must:

(A) Identify the scope of the work to be performed under the resulting Contract, if the Contracting Agency awards one;

(B) Outline the anticipated duties of the Contractor under any resulting Contract;

(C) Establish the expectations for the Contractor's performance of any resulting Contract; and

(D) Unless the Contractor under any resulting Contract will provide architectural, engineering, photogrammetric mapping, transportation planning, or land surveying services, or related services that are subject to ORS 279C.100 to 279C.125, or the Contracting Agency for Good Cause specifies otherwise, the scope of work must require the Contractor to meet the highest standards prevalent in the industry or business most closely involved in providing the Goods or Services that the Contracting Agency is purchasing.

(c) Proposal and Evaluation Process.

(A) The anticipated solicitation schedule, deadlines, protest process, and evaluation process;

(B) The Contracting Agency shall set forth selection criteria in the Solicitation Document in accordance with the requirements of ORS 279B.060(3)(e). Evaluation criteria need not be precise predictors of actual future costs and performance, but to the extent possible, the criteria shall:

(i) Afford the Contracting Agency the ability to compare the Proposals and Proposers, applying the same standards of comparison to all Proposers;

(ii) Rationally reflect Proposers' abilities to perform the resulting Contract in compliance with the Contract's requirements; and

(iii) Permit the Contracting Agency to determine the relative pricing offered by the Proposers, and to reasonably estimate the costs to the Contracting Agency of entering into a Contract based on each Proposal, considering information available to the Contracting Agency and subject to the understanding that the actual Contract costs may vary as a result of the Statement of Work ultimately negotiated or the quantity of Goods or Services for which the Contracting Agency contracts.

(C) If the Contracting Agency's solicitation process calls for the Contracting Agency to establish a Competitive Range, the Contracting Agency shall generally describe, in the Solicitation Document, the criteria or parameters the Contracting Agency will apply to determine the Competitive Range. The Contracting Agency, however, subsequently may determine or adjust the number of Proposers in the Competitive Range in accordance with OAR 137-047-0261(6).

(d) Applicable Preferences, including those described in ORS 279A.120, 279A.125(2) and 282.210.

(e) For Contracting Agencies subject to ORS 305.385, the Proposers' certification of compliance with the Oregon tax laws in accordance with ORS 305.385.

(f) All contractual terms and conditions the Contracting Agency determines are applicable to the Procurement. The Contracting Agency's determination of contractual terms and conditions that are applicable to the Procurement may take into consideration, as authorized by ORS 279B.060(3), those contractual terms and conditions the Contracting Agency will not include in the Request for Proposal because the Contracting Agency either will reserve them for negotiation, or will request Proposers to offer or suggest those terms or conditions. (See OAR 137-047-0260(3)).

(g) As required by ORS 279B.060(2)(h), the Contract terms and conditions must specify the consequences of the Contractor's failure to perform the scope of work or to meet the performance standards established by the resulting Contract. Those consequences may include, but are not limited to:

(A) The Contracting Agency's reduction or withholding of payment under the Contract;

(B) The Contracting Agency's right to require the Contractor to perform, at the Contractor's expense, any additional work necessary to perform the scope of work or to meet the performance standards established by the resulting Contract; and

(C) The Contracting Agency's rights, which the Contracting Agency may assert individually or in combination, to declare a default of the resulting Contract, to terminate the resulting Contract, and to seek damages and other relief available under the resulting Contract or applicable law.

(3) The Contracting Agency may include the applicable contractual terms and conditions in the form of Contract provisions, or legal concepts to be included in the resulting Contract. Further, the Contracting Agency may specify that it will include or use Proposer's terms and conditions that have been pre-negotiated under OAR 137-047-0550(3), but the Contracting Agency may only include or use a Proposer's pre-negotiated terms and conditions in the resulting Contract to the extent those terms and conditions do not materially conflict with the applicable contractual terms and conditions. The Contracting Agency shall not agree to any Proposer's terms and conditions that were expressly rejected in a solicitation protest under OAR 137-047-0420.

(4) For multiple Award Contracts, the Contracting Agency may enter into Contracts with different terms and conditions with each Contractor to the extent those terms and conditions do not materially conflict with the applicable contractual terms and conditions. The Contracting Agency shall not agree to any Proposer's terms and conditions that were expressly rejected in a solicitation protest under OAR 137-047-0420.

(5) Good Cause. For the purposes of this rule, "Good Cause" means a reasonable explanation for not requiring Contractor to meet the highest standards prevalent in the industry or business most closely involved in providing the Goods or Services under the Contract, and may include an explanation of circumstances that support a finding that the requirement would unreasonably limit competition or is not in the best interest of the Contracting Agency. The Contracting Agency shall document in the Procurement file the basis for the determination of Good Cause for specifying otherwise. A Contracting Agency will have Good Cause to specify otherwise when the Contracting Agency determines:

(a) The use or purpose to which the Goods or Services will be put does not justify a requirement that the Contractor meet the highest prevalent standards in performing the Contract;

(b) Imposing express technical, standard, dimensional or mathematical specifications will better ensure that the Goods or Services will be compatible with, or will operate efficiently or effectively with, associated information technology, hardware, software, components, equipment, parts, or on-going Services with which the Goods or Services will be used, integrated, or coordinated;

(c) The circumstances of the industry or business that provides the Goods or Services are sufficiently volatile in terms of innovation or evolution of products, performance techniques, or scientific developments, that a reliable highest prevalent standard does not exist or has not been developed;

(d) That other circumstances exist in which the Contracting Agency's interest in achieving economy, efficiency, compatibility or availability in the Procurement of the Goods or Services reasonably outweighs the Contracting Agency's practical need for the highest standard prevalent in the applicable or closest industry or business that supplies the Goods or Services to be delivered under the resulting Contract.

(i) Has available the appropriate financial, material, equipment, facility and personnel resources and expertise, or ability to obtain the resources and expertise, necessary to meet all contractual responsibilities;

(ii) Has completed previous contracts of a similar nature with a satisfactory record of performance. A satisfactory record of performance means that to the extent the costs associated with and time available to perform a previous contract were within the Offeror's control, the Offeror stayed within the time and budget allotted for the Procurement and otherwise performed the contract in a satisfactory manner. A Contracting Agency should carefully scrutinize an Offeror's record of contract performance if the Offeror is or recently has been materially deficient in contract performance. In reviewing the Offeror's performance, the Contracting Agency should determine whether the Offeror's deficient performance was expressly excused under the terms of the contract, or whether the Offeror took appropriate corrective action. The Contracting Agency may review the Offeror's performance on both private and public contracts in determining the Offeror's record of contract performance. The Contracting Agency shall make its basis for determining an Offeror non-Responsible under this subparagraph part of the Procurement file as required by ORS 279B.110(2)(b);

(iii) Has a satisfactory record of integrity. An Offeror may lack integrity if a Contracting Agency determines the Offeror demonstrates a lack of business ethics such as violation of state environmental laws or false certifications made to a Contracting Agency. A Contracting Agency may find an Offeror non-Responsible based on the lack of integrity of any Person having influence or control over the Offeror (such as a key employee of the Offeror that has the authority to significantly influence the Offeror's performance of the Contract or a parent company, predecessor or successor Person). The standards for Debarment under ORS 279B.130 may be used to determine an Offeror's integrity. A Contracting Agency may find an Offeror non-responsible based on previous convictions of offenses related to obtaining or attempting to obtain a contract or subcontract or in connection with the Offeror's performance of a contract or subcontract. The Contracting Agency shall make its basis for determining that an Offeror is non-Responsible under this subparagraph part of the Procurement file as required by 279B.110(2)(c);

(iv) Is legally qualified to contract with the Contracting Agency;

(v) Has attested in Writing that the Offeror complied with the tax laws of this state and of political subdivisions of this state;

(vi) In State Contracting Agency procurements, possesses an unexpired certificate, issued by the Oregon Department of Administrative Services under 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 454, section 2, if the Offeror employs 50 or more full-time workers at the time of the Closing and the estimated Contract Price exceeds $500,000; and

(vii) Has supplied all necessary information in connection with the inquiry concerning Responsibility. If the Offeror fails to promptly supply information requested by the Contracting Agency concerning Responsibility, the Contracting Agency shall base the determination of Responsibility on any available information, or may find the Offeror non-Responsible.

(2) For the purposes of subparagraph (1)(c)(F)(v) of this rule:

(a) The period for which the Offeror must attest that it complied with the applicable tax laws must extend no fewer than six years into the past from the date of the Closing.

(b) Tax laws include, but are not limited to, ORS 305.620, ORS chapters 316, 317 and 318, any tax provisions imposed by a political subdivision that apply to the Offeror or to the performance of the Contract, and any rules and regulations that implement or enforce those tax laws.

(c) A Contracting Agency may exercise discretion in determining whether a particular form of attesting to compliance with the tax laws is "credible and convenient" under ORS 279B.110(2)(e), taking into consideration the circumstances in which the attestation is made and the consequences of making a false attestation. Therefore, a Contracting Agency may accept forms of attestation that range from a notarized statement to a less formal document that records the Offeror's attestation. However, State Contracting Agencies may not accept the certificate of compliance with tax laws required by ORS 305.385 unless that certificate embraces, in addition to the tax laws described in ORS 305.380, the tax laws of political subdivisions.

(3) Form of Business Entity. For purposes of this rule, the Contracting Agency may investigate any Person submitting an Offer. The investigation may include that Person's officers, directors, owners, affiliates, or any other Person acquiring ownership of the Person to determine application of this rule or to apply the Debarment provisions of ORS 279B.130.

Formal Selection Procedure

(1) Subject to OAR 137-048-0130 (Applicable Selection Procedures; Pricing Information; Disclosure of Proposals), Contracting Agencies shall use the formal selection procedure described in this rule to select a Consultant if the Consultant cannot be selected under either 137-048-0200 (Direct Appointment Procedure) or under 137-048-0210 (Informal Selection Procedure). The formal selection procedure described in this rule may otherwise be used at Contracting Agencies' discretion.

(2) Contracting Agencies using the formal selection procedure shall obtain Contracts through public advertisement of RFPs, or Requests for Qualifications followed by RFPs.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a Contracting Agency shall advertise each RFP and RFQ at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the area where the Project is located and in as many other issues and publications as may be necessary or desirable to achieve adequate competition. Other issues and publications may include, but are not limited to, local newspapers, trade journals, and publications targeted to reach disadvantaged business enterprise ("DBE"), service-disabled veteran business ("SDVB"), minority business enterprise ("MBE"), women business enterprise ("WBE") and emerging small business enterprise ("ESB") audiences.

(A) A Contracting Agency shall publish the advertisement within a reasonable time before the deadline for the Proposal submission or response to the RFQ or RFP, but in any event no fewer than fourteen (14) calendar days before the closing date set forth in the RFQ or RFP.

(b) In the alternative to advertising in a newspaper as described in subsection (2)(a) of this rule, the Contracting Agency shall publish each RFP and RFQ by one or more of the electronic methods identified in OAR 137-046-0110(14). The Contracting Agency shall comply with subsections (2)(a)(A) and (2)(a)(B) of this rule when publishing advertisements by electronic methods.

(G) A statement whether or not the Contracting Agency will hold a pre-qualification meeting for all interested Consultants to discuss the Project and the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFQ and if a pre-qualification meeting will be held, the location of the meeting and whether or not attendance is mandatory; and

(H) A Statement that Consultants responding to the RFQ do so solely at their expense, and that the Contracting Agency is not responsible for any Consultant expenses associated with the RFQ.

(b) A Contracting Agency may include a request for any or all of the following in each RFQ:

(A) A statement describing Consultants' general qualifications and related performance information;

(B) A description of Consultants' specific qualifications to perform the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFQ including Consultants' committed resources and recent, current and projected workloads;

(D) A copy of all records, if any, of Consultants' performance under Contracts with any other Contracting Agency;

(E) The number of Consultants' experienced staff committed to perform the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFQ, including such personnel's specific qualifications and experience and an estimate of the proportion of time that such personnel would spend on those services;

(M) Any other information the Contracting Agency deems reasonably necessary to evaluate Consultants' qualifications.

(c) RFQ Evaluation Committee. The Contracting Agency shall establish an RFQ evaluation committee of at least two (2) individuals to review, score and rank the responding Consultants according to the evaluation criteria. The Contracting Agency may appoint to the evaluation committee Contracting Agency employees or employees of other public agencies with experience in Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services, Related Services, construction services or Public Contracting. If the Contracting Agency procedure permits, the Contracting Agency may include on the evaluation committee private practitioners of architecture, engineering, photogrammetry, transportation planning, land surveying or related professions. The Contracting Agency shall designate one member of the evaluation committee as the evaluation committee chairperson.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(d) A Contracting Agency may use any reasonable screening or evaluation method to establish a short list of qualified Consultants, including but not limited to, the following:

(A) Requiring Consultants responding to an RFQ to achieve a threshold score before qualifying for placement on the short list;

(B) Placing a pre-determined number of the highest scoring Consultants on a short list;

(C) Placing on a short list only those Consultants with certain essential qualifications or experience, whose practice is limited to a particular subject area, or who practice in a particular geographic locale or region, provided that such factors are material, would not unduly restrict competition, and were announced as dispositive in the RFQ.

(e) After the evaluation committee reviews, scores and ranks the responding Consultants, the Contracting Agency shall establish a short list of at least three qualified Consultants, if feasible; provided however, if four or fewer Consultants responded to the RFQ or if fewer than three Consultants fail to meet the Contracting Agency's minimum requirements, then:

(A) The Contracting Agency may establish a short list of fewer than three qualified Consultants; or

(B) The Contracting Agency may cancel the RFQ and issue an RFP.

(f) No Consultant will be eligible for placement on a Contracting Agency's short list established under subsection (3)(d) of this rule if Consultant or any of Consultant's principals, partners or associates are members of the Contracting Agency's RFQ evaluation committee.

(g) Except when the RFQ is cancelled, a Contracting Agency shall provide a copy of the subsequent RFP to each Consultant on the short list.

(4) Formal Selection of Consultants through Request for Proposals. Contracting Agencies shall use the procedure described in section (4) of this rule when issuing an RFP for a Contract described in section (1) of this rule.

(a) RFP Required Contents. Contracting Agencies using the formal selection procedure shall include at least the following in each RFP, whether or not the RFP is preceded by an RFQ:

(B) The RFP evaluation process and the criteria which will be used to select the most qualified Proposer, including the weights, points or other classifications applicable to each criterion. If the Contracting Agency does not indicate the applicable number of points, weights or other classifications, then each criterion is of equal value. Evaluation criteria may include, but are not limited to, the following:

(i) Proposers' availability and capability to perform the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFP;

(xiv) Any other criteria that the Contracting Agency deems relevant to the Project and the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFP, including, where the nature and budget of the Project so warrant, a design competition between competing Proposers. Provided, however, these additional criteria cannot include pricing policies, pricing Proposals or other pricing information, including the number of hours proposed for the services required, expenses, hourly rates and overhead, when the sole purpose or predominant purpose of the RFP is to obtain Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services.

(J) A statement directing Proposers to the protest procedures set forth in these division 48 rules;

(K) Special Contract requirements, including but not limited to DBE, MBE, WBE, ESB and SDVB participation goals or good faith efforts with respect to DBE, MBE, WBE, ESB and SDVB participation, and federal requirements when federal funds are involved;

(M) A request for any information the Contracting Agency deems reasonably necessary to permit the Contracting Agency to evaluate, rank and select the most qualified Proposer to perform the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFP; and

(N) A sample form of the Contract.

(b) RFP Contents for Related Services Selections Based on Price Only. Contracting Agencies using the formal selection procedure shall include at least the following in each RFP, whether or not the RFP is preceded by an RFQ, when the formal selection procedure is for Related Services selected on the basis of price Proposals and other pricing information only:

(A) General background information, including a description of the Project and the specific Related Services sought for the Project, the estimated Project cost, the estimated time period during which the Project is to be completed, and the estimated time period in which the specific Related Services sought will be performed;

(B) The RFP evaluation process and the price criteria which will be used to select the highest ranked Proposer, including the weights, points or other classifications applicable to each criterion. If the Contracting Agency does not indicate the applicable number of points, weights or other classifications, then each criterion is of equal value. Evaluation price criteria may include, but are not limited to, the total price for the Related Services described in the RFP, Consultant pricing policies, and other pricing information such as the Consultant's estimated number of staff hours needed to perform the Related Services described in the RFP, expenses, hourly rates and overhead;

(C) Any minimum or pass-fail qualifications that the Proposers must meet, including but not limited to any such qualifications in the subject matter areas described in section (4)(a)(B)(i) through section (4)(a)(B)(xii) of this rule; and

(D) The information listed in section (4)(a)(C) through section (4)(a)(N) of this rule pertaining to the Related Services described in the RFP.

(c) RFP Evaluation Committee. The Contracting Agency shall establish a committee of at least three individuals to review, score and rank Proposals according to the evaluation criteria set forth in the RFP. If the RFP has followed an RFQ, the Contracting Agency may include the same members who served on the RFQ evaluation committee. The Contracting Agency may appoint to the evaluation committee Contracting Agency employees or employees of other public agencies with experience in Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying, Related Services, construction services or Public Contracting. At least one member of the evaluation committee must be a Contracting Agency employee. If the Contracting Agency procedure permits, the Contracting Agency may include on the evaluation committee private practitioners of architecture, engineering, land surveying or related professions. The Contracting Agency shall designate one of its employees who also is a member of the evaluation committee as the evaluation committee chairperson.

(A) No Proposer will be eligible for award of the Contract under the RFP if Proposer or any of Proposer's principals, partners or associates are members of the Contracting Agency's RFP evaluation committee for the Contract;

(B) If the RFP provides for the possibility of Proposer interviews, the evaluation committee may elect to interview Proposers if the evaluation committee considers it necessary or desirable. If the evaluation committee conducts interviews, it shall award weights, points or other classifications indicated in the RFP for the anticipated interview; and

(C) The evaluation committee shall provide to the Contracting Agency the results of the scoring and ranking for each Proposer.

(d) If the Contracting Agency does not cancel the RFP after it receives the results of the scoring and ranking for each Proposer, the Contracting Agency will begin negotiating a Contract with the highest ranked Proposer. The Contracting Agency shall direct negotiations toward obtaining written agreement on:

(A) The Consultant's performance obligations and performance schedule;

(B) Payment methodology and a maximum amount payable to the Consultant for the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services required under the Contract that is fair and reasonable to the Contracting Agency as determined solely by the Contracting Agency, taking into account the value, scope, complexity and nature of the Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services; and

(C) Any other provisions the Contracting Agency believes to be in the Contracting Agency's best interest to negotiate.

(e) The Contracting Agency shall, either orally or in writing, formally terminate negotiations with the highest ranked Proposer if the Contracting Agency and Proposer are unable for any reason to reach agreement on a Contract within a reasonable amount of time. The Contracting Agency may thereafter negotiate with the second ranked Proposer, and if necessary, with the third ranked Proposer, and so on, in accordance with section (4)(c) of this rule, until negotiations result in a Contract. If negotiations with any Proposer do not result in a Contract within a reasonable amount of time, the Contracting Agency may end the particular formal solicitation. Nothing in this rule precludes a Contracting Agency from proceeding with a new formal solicitation for the same Architectural, Engineering, Photogrammetric Mapping, Transportation Planning or Land Surveying Services or Related Services described in the RFP that failed to result in a Contract.

Disqualification of Persons

(1) Authority. A Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person from consideration of Award of the Contracting Agency's Contracts after providing the Person with notice and a reasonable opportunity to be heard in accordance with sections (2) and (4) of this rule.

(a) Standards for Conduct Disqualification. As provided in ORS 279C.440, a Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person for:

(A) Conviction for the commission of a criminal offense as an incident in obtaining or attempting to obtain a public or private contract or subcontract, or in the performance of such contract or subcontract.

(B) Conviction under state or federal statutes of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bribery, falsification or destruction of records, receiving stolen property or any other offense indicating a lack of business integrity or business honesty that currently, seriously and directly affects the Person's responsibility as a contractor.

(C) Conviction under state or federal antitrust statutes.

(D) Violation of a contract provision that is regarded by the Contracting Agency to be so serious as to justify Conduct Disqualification. A violation under this subsection (1)(a)(D) may include but is not limited to material failure to perform the terms of a contract or an unsatisfactory performance in accordance with the terms of the contract. However, a Person's failure to perform or unsatisfactory performance caused by acts beyond the Person's control is not a basis for Disqualification.

(b) Standards for Disqualification. As provided in ORS 200.065, 200.075 or 279A.110, a Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person's right to submit an Offer or to participate in a Contract (e.g. subcontractors) as follows:

(A) For a Disqualification under ORS 200.065, the Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person upon finding that:

(i) The Person fraudulently obtained or retained or attempted to obtain or retain or aided another Person to fraudulently obtain or retain or attempt to obtain or retain certification as a disadvantaged business enterprise, minority-owned business, women-owned business, emerging small business, or a business that a service-disabled veteran owns; or

(ii) The Person knowingly made a false claim that any Person is qualified for certification or is certified under ORS 200.055 for the purpose of gaining a Contract or subcontract or other benefit; or

(iii) The Person has been disqualified by another Contracting Agency under ORS 200.065.

(B) For a Disqualification under ORS 200.075, the Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person upon finding that:

(i) The Person has entered into an agreement representing that a disadvantaged business enterprise, minority-owned business, women-owned business, emerging small business, or a business that a service-disabled veteran owns, certified under ORS 200.055 ("Certified Enterprise"), will perform or supply materials under a Public Improvement Contract without the knowledge and consent of the Certified Enterprise; or

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(ii) The Person exercises management and decision-making control over the internal operations, as defined by ORS 200.075(1)(b), of any Certified Enterprise; or

(iii) The Person uses a Certified Enterprise to perform Work under a Public Improvement Contract to meet an established Certified Enterprise goal, and such enterprise does not perform a commercially useful function, as defined by ORS 200.075(3), in performing its obligations under the contract.

(iv) If a Person is Disqualified for a Disqualification under ORS 200.075, the affected Contracting Agency shall not permit that Person to participate in that Contracting Agency's Contracts.

(C) For a Disqualification under ORS 279A.110, a Contracting Agency may disqualify a Person if the Contracting Agency finds that the Person discriminated against a disadvantaged business enterprise, minority-owned business, women-owned business, emerging small business, or a business that a service-disabled veteran owns in awarding a subcontract under a Contract with that Contracting Agency.

(2) Notice of Intent to Disqualify. The Contracting Agency shall notify the Person in Writing of a proposed Disqualification personally or by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. This notice shall:

(a) State that the Contracting Agency intends to disqualify the Person;

(b) Set forth the reasons for the Disqualification;

(c) Include a statement of the Person's right to a hearing if requested in Writing within the time stated in the notice and that if the Contracting Agency does not receive the Person's Written request for a hearing within the time stated, the Person shall have waived its right to a hearing;

(d) Include a statement of the authority under which the hearing will be held;

(e) Include a reference to the particular sections of the statutes and rules involved;

(f) State the proposed Disqualification period; and

(g) State that the Person may be represented by legal counsel.

(3) Hearing. The Contracting Agency shall schedule a hearing upon the Contracting Agency's receipt of the Person's timely hearing request. Within a reasonable time prior to the hearing, the Contracting Agency shall notify the Person of the time and place of the hearing and provide information on the procedures, right of representation and other rights related to the conduct of the hearing.

(4) Notice of Disqualification. The Contracting Agency will notify the Person in Writing of its Disqualification, personally or by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. The notice shall contain:

(a) The effective date and period of Disqualification;

(b) The grounds for Disqualification; and

(c) A statement of the Person's appeal rights and applicable appeal deadlines. For a Conduct Disqualification or a Disqualification under ORS 279A.110, the disqualified person must notify the Contracting Agency in Writing within three business Days after receipt of the Contracting Agency's notice of Disqualification if the Person intends to appeal the Contracting Agency's decision.

Offer Evaluation and Award; Determination of Responsibility

(1) General. If Awarded, the Contracting Agency shall Award the Contract to the Responsible Bidder submitting the lowest, Responsive Bid or the Responsible Proposer or Proposers submitting the best, Responsive Proposal or Proposals, provided that such Person is not listed by the Construction Contractors Board as disqualified to hold a Public Improvement Contract (ORS 279C.375(3)(a)) or is ineligible for Award as a nonresident education service district (ORS 279C.325). The Contracting Agency may Award by item, groups of items or the entire Offer provided such Award is consistent with the Solicitation Document and in the public interest. Where Award is based on competitive Bids, ORS 279C.375(5) permits multiple Contract awards when specified in the ITB.

(2) Determination of Responsibility. Offerors are required to demonstrate their ability to perform satisfactorily under a Contract. Before Awarding a Contract, the Contracting Agency must have information that indicates that the Offeror meets the standards of responsibility set forth in ORS 279C.375(3)(b). To be a Responsible Offeror, the Contracting Agency must determine that the Offeror:

(a) Has available the appropriate financial, material, equipment, facility and personnel resources and expertise, or ability to obtain the resources and expertise, necessary to meet all contractual responsibilities;

(b) Has completed previous contracts of a similar nature with a satisfactory record of performance. A satisfactory record of performance means that, to the extent the costs associated with and time available to perform a previous contract were within the Offeror's control, the Offeror stayed within the time and budget allotted for the procurement and otherwise performed the contract in a satisfactory manner. A Contracting Agency should carefully scrutinize an Offeror's record of contract performance if the Offeror is or recently has been materially deficient in contract performance. In reviewing the Offeror's performance, the Contracting Agency should determine whether the Offeror's deficient performance was expressly excused under the terms of the contract, or whether the Offeror took appropriate corrective action. The Contracting Agency may review the Offeror's performance on both private and public contracts in determining the Offeror's record of contract performance. The Contracting Agency shall make its basis for determining an Offeror not Responsible under this paragraph part of the Solicitation file;

(c) Has a satisfactory record of integrity. An Offeror may lack integrity if a Contracting Agency determines the Offeror demonstrates a lack of business ethics such as violation of state environmental laws or false certifications made to a Contracting Agency. A Contracting Agency may find an Offeror not Responsible based on the lack of integrity of any Person having influence or control over the Offeror (such as a key employee of the Offeror that has the authority to significantly influence the Offeror's performance of the Contract or a parent company, predecessor or successor Person). The standards for Conduct Disqualification under OAR 137-049-0370 may be used to determine an Offeror's integrity. A Contracting Agency may find an Offeror non-responsible based on previous convictions of offenses related to obtaining or attempting to obtain a contract or subcontract or in connection with the Offeror's performance of a contract or subcontract. The Contracting Agency shall make its basis for determining that an Offeror is not Responsible under this paragraph part of the Solicitation file;

(d) Is legally qualified to contract with the Contracting Agency;

(e) In State Contracting Agency procurements, possesses an unexpired certificate, issued by the Oregon Department of Administrative Services under 2015 Oregon Laws, chapter 454, section 2, if the Offeror employs 50 or more full-time workers at the time of the Bid or Proposal Closing and the estimated Contract Price exceeds $500,000; and

(f) Has supplied all necessary information in connection with the inquiry concerning responsibility. If the Offeror fails to promptly supply information requested by the Contracting Agency concerning responsibility, the Contracting Agency shall base the determination of responsibility on any available information, or may find the Offeror not Responsible.

(3) Documenting Agency Determinations. Contracting Agencies shall document their compliance with ORS 279C.375(3) and the above sections of this rule on a Responsibility Determination Form substantially as set forth in 279.375(3)(c), and file that form with the Construction Contractors Board within 30 days after Contract Award.

(4) Contracting Agency Evaluation. The Contracting Agency shall evaluate an Offer only as set forth in the Solicitation Document and in accordance with applicable law. The Contracting Agency shall not evaluate an Offer using any other requirement or criterion.

(5) Offeror Submissions.

(a) The Contracting Agency may require an Offeror to submit Product Samples, Descriptive Literature, technical data, or other material and may also require any of the following prior to Award:

(A) Demonstration, inspection or testing of a product prior to Award for characteristics such as compatibility, quality or workmanship;

(B) Examination of such elements as appearance or finish; or

(C) Other examinations to determine whether the product conforms to Specifications.

(b) The Contracting Agency shall evaluate product acceptability only in accordance with the criteria disclosed in the Solicitation Document to determine that a product is acceptable. The Contracting Agency shall reject an Offer providing any product that does not meet the Solicitation Document requirements. A Contracting Agency's rejection of an Offer because it offers nonconforming Work or materials is not Disqualification and is not appealable under ORS 279C.445.

(6) Evaluation of Bids. The Contracting Agency shall use only objective criteria to evaluate Bids as set forth in the ITB. The Contracting Agency shall evaluate Bids to determine which Responsible Offeror offers the lowest Responsive Bid.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(a) Nonresident Bidders. In determining the lowest Responsive Bid, the Contracting Agency shall, in accordance with OAR 137-046-0310, add a percentage increase to the Bid of a nonresident Bidder equal to the percentage, if any, of the preference given to that Bidder in the state in which the Bidder resides.

(b) Clarifications. In evaluating Bids, a Contracting Agency may seek information from a Bidder only to clarify the Bidder's Bid. Such clarification shall not vary, contradict or supplement the Bid. A Bidder must submit Written and Signed clarifications and such clarifications shall become part of the Bidder's Bid.

(c) Negotiation Prohibited. The Contracting Agency shall not negotiate scope of Work or other terms or conditions under an Invitation to Bid process prior to Award.

(7) Evaluation of Proposals. See OAR 137-049-0650 regarding rules applicable to Requests for Proposals.

Rejection of Offers

(1) Rejection of an Offer.

(a) A Contracting Agency may reject any Offer upon finding that to accept the Offer may impair the integrity of the Procurement process or that rejecting the Offer is in the public interest.

(F) Is not in substantial compliance with the Solicitation Documents;

(G) Is not in substantial compliance with all prescribed public solicitation procedures.

(B) Has been Disqualified;

(C) Has been declared ineligible under ORS 279C.860 by the Commissioner of Bureau of Labor and Industries and the Contract is for a Public Work;

(H) Is not Responsible. See OAR 137-049-0390(2) regarding Contracting Agency determination that the Offeror has met statutory standards of responsibility.

(2) Form of Business. For purposes of this rule, the Contracting Agency may investigate any Person submitting an Offer. The investigation may include that Person's officers, Directors, owners, affiliates, or any other Person acquiring ownership of the Person to determine application of this rule or to apply the Disqualification provisions of ORS 279C.440 to 279C.450 and OAR 137-049-0370.

(3) Certification of Non-Discrimination. The Offeror shall certify and deliver to the Contracting Agency Written certification, as part of the Offer, that the Offeror has not discriminated and will not discriminate against any disadvantaged business enterprise, minority-owned business, women-owned business, emerging small business, or business that a service-disabled veteran owns, in obtaining any required subcontracts. Failure to do so shall be grounds for disqualification.

(4) Contract and Subcontract Conditions. If a Contracting Agency awards a Contract to an Offeror that has been determined to be responsible under ORS 200.005(8) and ORS 200.045(3), or awards a Contract under ORS 279A.100:

(a) The Contracting Agency must provide, as a material condition of the Contract:

(A) That the Contractor must maintain its certification under ORS 200.055 throughout the term of the Contract and any extensions (if the Contracting Agency used the certification as a factor in or as a basis for the award of the Contract);

(B) That the Contractor must promptly pay each subcontractor that is certified under ORS 200.055 in accordance with ORS 279B.220, or 279C.570 and ORS 279C.580, whichever apply to the Contract;

(D) That the Contracting Agency may require the Contractor to terminate a subcontract with a subcontractor that fails to maintain its certification under ORS 200.055 throughout the term of the subcontract and any extensions.

(b) In the administration of Contracts that are subject to section (4) of this rule, the Contracting Agency must verify the Contractor's and any subcontractor's compliance with subsection (4)(a) of this rule.

(c) Subparagraph (4)(a)(A) of this section does not apply to an emerging small business that ceases to qualify as a tier one firm or a tier two firm (as ORS 200.005 defines those terms) due to the growth in the business's number of full-time equivalent employees or in average annual gross receipts during the term of the Contract. This section (4) does not apply to an emerging small business for which a certification under ORS 200.055 expires during the term of the Contract or any extensions.

(5) Rejection of all Offers. A Contracting Agency may reject all Offers for good cause upon the Contracting Agency's Written finding it is in the public interest to do so. The Contracting Agency shall notify all Offerors of the rejection of all Offers, along with the good cause justification and finding.

(6) Criteria for Rejection of All Offers. The Contracting Agency may reject all Offers upon a Written finding that:

(a) The content of or an error in the Solicitation Document, or the solicitation process unnecessarily restricted competition for the Contract;

(b) The price, quality or performance presented by the Offerors is too costly or of insufficient quality to justify acceptance of the Offer;

(c) Misconduct, error, or ambiguous or misleading provisions in the Solicitation Document threaten the fairness and integrity of the competitive process;

(d) Causes other than legitimate market forces threaten the integrity of the competitive Procurement process. These causes include, but are not limited to, those that tend to limit competition such as restrictions on competition, collusion, corruption, unlawful anti-competitive conduct and inadvertent or intentional errors in the Solicitation Document;

(e) The Contracting Agency cancels the solicitation in accordance with OAR 137-049-0270; or

(f) Any other circumstance indicating that Awarding the Contract would not be in the public interest.

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-22-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-1-16

Notice Publication Date: 9-1-2015

Rules Amended: 259-008-0005, 259-008-0010, 259-008-0025, 259-008-0040, 259-008-0060, 259-008-0100

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Subject: This permanent rule change combines two proposed rule filings.

#1: OAR 259-008-0011: Medical Standards for Law Enforcement Officers:

To ensure that DPSST's physical standards for law enforcement officers were still appropriate and to determine the physical standards for Oregon Regulatory Specialists (formerly Liquor Enforcement Inspectors), DPSST contracted with Doctor Brad Lorber, Medical Director for Northwest Occupational Medicine in Beaverton, Oregon, to review DPSST's current physical standards.

After review, Doctor Lorber found that the physical standards for Regulatory Specialists are the same as for all law enforcement officers. Further, Doctor Lorber made numerous changes to the physical standards for law enforcement officers. This rule change also alters the process for submitting a DPSST Medical Examination Report (Form F-2) and eliminates the need for the policy committees and the Board to review and approve or deny physical standard waivers. This rule change was published in the September, 2015, Oregon Bulletin. No public comments were received. This rule is effective January 1, 2016.

#2: OAR 259-008-0005, OAR 259-008-0010, OAR 259-008-0025, OAR 259-008-0040, OAR 259-008-0060, and OAR 259-008-0100: Change "Liquor Enforcement Inspector" to "Regulatory Specialist" and remove wording regarding DUII implied consent:

This rule changes implements the provisions of House Bill 3400 by changing the word "Liquor Enforcement Inspector" to "Regulatory Specialist" throughout DPSST's rule set. Further, the rule language in OAR 259-008-0060 regarding DUII implied consent has been removed due to a statutory correction initiated by House Bill 2372. This rule change was published in the December, 2015, Oregon Bulletin. No public comments were received.

(C) Attendance Standards. Attendance rosters must be kept and copies of these rosters must be submitted to the Department at the conclusion of a student's training, or when requested by the Department. To successfully complete the DOC BCC, a student may not miss more than 10% of the DOC BCC.

(D) Notwithstanding (C) above, successful completion of the DOC BCC requires 100% attendance during classes in which the following Instructional Goals are covered:

(i) B1.2 Instruction and practice applying safe and efficient tactics for inmate monitoring, inmate counts and facility perimeter checks;

(ii) B2.2 Instruction and practice conducting appropriate, safe and systematic searches of inmates and correctional facilities;

(iii) B5.2 Instruction and practice restraining individuals in an appropriate, safe and systematic manner;

(v) C3.2 Instruction and practice using interpersonal skills to effectively communicate with inmates and other persons in a correctional setting;

(vi) C10 Reality-based scenarios that enhance a new corrections professional's understanding and application of inmate supervision strategies within a correctional facility;

(xi) H1 Basic gun-handling skills; and

(xii) H2 Basic understanding of the use, limitations and techniques of a service handgun, and proficiency in safety, proper gun-handling, marksmanship and firearms tactics.

(E) Conduct. An individual attending a DOC BCC is expected to uphold the minimum moral fitness standards for Oregon public safety officers during their training. DOC will document the date, type, and disposition of any student misconduct relating to the minimum standards for correctional officers. These include, but are not limited to, the following Zero Tolerance Offenses:

(i) Any unlawful act;

(ii) Dishonesty, lying or attempting to conceal violations;

(iii) The DOC BCC will incorporate curriculum updates provided to DOC by the Department, when those updates address the critical and essential job tasks or Instructional Goals referenced above. Testing Requirements:

dents to demonstrate knowledge and application of the essential tasks identified within the DOC BCC curriculum. DOC must administer examinations and maintain a file of examinations conducted.

(i) Academic Testing Passing Score. Except as provided below, to successfully complete the DOC BCC, students must achieve a minimum score of 75% on each academic test. If a student does not attain a 75% score, and DOC retains the student as an employee in a certifiable position, DOC must remediate the student. After remediation, a student will be allowed one opportunity to re-test and achieve a minimum score of 75%.

(ii) Students must attain a score of 100% on all academic test questions on Use of Force topics. If a student fails to attain a 100% score on Use of Force topics, and DOC retains the student as an employee in a certifiable position, DOC must remediate the student. Remediation must include the student completing the DPSST Use of Force Remediation form to demonstrate understanding of each topic missed.

(H) Skills Testing. Skills testing will consist of evaluations documented by use of Skills Sheets during which students must demonstrate competence and achieve a "pass" score in each skill tested.

(I) Test Security and Integrity.

(i) DOC must develop and strictly enforce measures to ensure the security of test questions and integrity of all testing processes.

(ii) DOC must randomize the order of test questions and must develop a sufficient bank of test questions to ensure that students who fail to achieve a passing score and are remediated are given a randomized test that includes some questions that are different than those in the test the student originally failed.

(J) Instructor Requirements: Instructor Qualifications.

(i) All instructors for the DOC BCC must meet or exceed the Instructor Certification standards for instructors at DPSST Basic courses and must be currently certified by the Department in the categories instructed.

(2) No person may be employed as a police officer, parole and probation officer, telecommunicator, emergency medical dispatcher, or regulatory specialist for more than 18 months unless that officer, telecommunicator, emergency medical dispatcher or regulatory specialist has been certified under the provisions of ORS 181A.355 to 181A.420 and the certification has neither lapsed nor been revoked.

Adm. Order No.: DPSST 20-2015

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-22-2015

Certified to be Effective: 12-22-15

Notice Publication Date: 12-1-2015

Rules Amended: 259-060-0010, 259-060-0015, 259-060-0145

Subject: During a Private Security crowd management meeting in 2014, it became apparent that vagueness in the statutory language regarding the crowd management exemption (ORS 181.871 (k)(2)) was causing confusion in the industry about who is required to be certified and who is exempt. The Event Security/Hospitality Subcommittee met in 2014 and 2015 to discuss the statutes and Oregon Administrative Rules (OAR) regarding crowd management. They decided on several recommendations to present to the Private Security and Investigator Policy Committee (PSIPC), including filing a temporary rule.

On May 19, 2015, the PSIPC met and discussed the Event Security/Hospitality Subcommittee recommendations. The PSIPC recommended approving the amended language to the Board on Public Safety Standards and Training (Board) with an additional amendment to the definition of Crowd Management, subsection (c), to include that screening individuals for entry into an organized event does not include physical pat-down searches. Further, the PSIPC authorized Director Gabliks to approve filing a temporary rule while the permanent rulemaking process was underway. The temporary rule was filed on May 19, 2015. On July 1, 2015, Legislative Council requested that the temporary rule language filed on May 19, 2015, be amended to correct an incorrect statutory reference in OAR 259-060-0015 (2) (a) (b). Legislative Council also asked that the temporary rule language in 259-060-0145 (1) be re-worded to more clearly state when individuals performing crowd management or guest services are exempt from private security professional certification. To facilitate Legislative Council's request, the proposed rule changes to OAR 259-060-0010, OAR 259-060-0015 and OAR 259-060-0145 were removed from the Board's consent agenda for correction and review by the PSIPC. On August 18, 2015, the PSIPC met and discussed the proposed amendments to OAR 259-060-0010, OAR 259-060-0015 and OAR 259-060-0145. The PSIPC recommended approving the amended language and the Board affirmed their recommendation.

Rule Caption: Updates denial and revocation standards for fire service certification.

Adm. Order No.: DPSST 21-2015

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-22-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-1-16

Notice Publication Date: 12-1-2015

Rules Amended: 259-009-0059, 259-009-0070

Subject: On June 29, 2015, after approval by the Fire Policy Committee (FPC) and the Board on Public Safety Standards and Training (Board), DPSST filed a proposed rule regarding fire service denial and revocation standards as they relate to fire certification. The proposed rule change updated the core values, discharge for cause definitions, and DPSST's processes for discretionary convictions. Interested parties were notified on July 23, 2015, that the rule would be open for public comment from August 1 to August 23, 2015. On July 23, 2015, a public comment was received. The public comment requested that the FPC consider "Pre-Screening" individuals with discretionary convictions, prior to the person attending a fire academy and applying for certification. Staff analysis of this request determined that DPSST has no jurisdiction over a fire service professional until they apply for certification. Current FPC members cannot dictate the actions of future FPC members, so any "Pre-Screening" decision made by current FPC members may be subject to change if FPC membership changed prior to the applicant applying for certification.

Further, in response to a clarifying question raised by a constituent, staff noticed an oversight with regard to the scope of revocation. In the rule language filed proposed on June 29, 2015, the language indicated that when the Department revoked the certification of any fire service professional or instructor under 259-009-0070, the revocation would encompass all fire service certificates the Department had issued to that person on or after January 15, 2003. This language conflicts with the statute that prohibits individuals who have been convicted of a Measure 11 crime from holding certification. Additionally, the intention of the FPC workgroup was to eliminate this "look back" date, so the scope of revocation would include all certificates issued by the Department, regardless of the date the certification was issued. Due to these issues, staff recommended removing the January 15, 2003, date from the proposed language.

On August 26, 2015, DPSST presented the public comment and the oversight regarding scope of revocation to the FPC for their consideration. After reviewing the public comment and the staff analysis and recommendations, the FPC unanimously recommended accepting the staff recommendations, including the amendment to the scope of revocation. On October 22, 2015, the Board on Public Safety Standards and Training affirmed the FPC's recommendation.

Upon review, it was discovered that the that Fire Officer III standard, JPR 6.8, Emergency Management, was inadvertently omitted from the initially proposed rule language. The permanent rule language has been updated to include section 6.8 of the standard.

Criteria for disqualification

(1) The county assessor will disqualify the facility of a certified business firm from exemption if the certified business firm does not begin operations and is not reasonably expected to begin operations. A decision of the assessor to disqualify the property from exemption must be based on one or more of the criteria listed in subsection (2). For purposes of this rule, the date that a facility “begins operations” is the date that the facility is placed in service, which, in turn, means the date a certified business has received a permit to occupy or use the facility for its intended purpose.

(2) In determining whether a facility should be disqualified because it has not begun operations and is not reasonably expected to begin operations, the county assessor must consider the following:

(a) Operations by the certified business firm have not started at the facility within 5 years from the date of starting construction or reconstruction of the facility unless otherwise specified in an agreement between the zone sponsor and the certified business firm;

(b) Two years have elapsed from the last date construction or reconstruction activity on the facility ceased;

(c) The certified business firm has notified the zone sponsor of the firm’s intent to cease construction or installation of facility property or improvements;

(d) The expected date the facility would first be placed in service, as specified on the Certification Application or a revised date specified in a written notice to the assessor and zone manager has elapsed;

(e) The certified business firm has declared bankruptcy or has ceased to exist;

(f) The certified business firm has notified the assessor and zone manager that the facility is inoperable.

Definition: Certification of Compliance. Plan to Achieve Adequacy

(1) On or before May 1 of each year, each county will file with the Department of Revenue an estimate of expenditures as required by ORS 294.175. The Department of Revenue will determine the adequacy of each county’s estimates of expenditures to comply with the requirements of ORS 308.232, 308.234, ORS Ch. 309, and other laws requiring equality and uniformity in the system of property taxation. For any county whose proposed expenditures are neither at a level nor of a type to achieve adequacy as determined by the department, the county will state how it intends to comply with a plan to achieve adequacy previously approved by the department.

(2) Any county which is not in compliance as of January 1, of any year, and does not have a plan to achieve adequacy which has been approved by the department must, in lieu of the statement of compliance required under section 1 of this rule, submit a plan to achieve adequacy. After its review of the plan, the department will, if it deems necessary before approval, set a date for a meeting to be held with the county. The meeting may be for review of the plan only, or may be held in conjunction with the conference with the county governing body on their expenditure level.

(3) At the meeting the department and county governing body, assessing officials, and others as appropriate, will conduct a thorough review of the plan to identify and resolve any areas of disagreement. Before the conclusion of the meeting the department will inform the county governing body of its agreement with the plan, or modifications that may be necessary to the plan before approval. If the department and county governing body reach agreement on the county’s plan, or modified plan, the department will include in its approval, based upon the plan, the number of years for the county to reach full compliance.

(4) Within ten days after the date of the meeting, the county governing body must furnish to the department a signed resolution of intent by the county governing body and assessing official to meet the provisions of the plan.

(5) If the department and county governing body cannot reach agreement on the plan, or if the signed statement of intent is not furnished to the department by June 1 of the year, the department must issue a denial of certification under ORS 294.175 (6).

Determination of Responsibility for the Appraisal of Industrial Property

(1) Definitions for purposes of this rule:

(a) “Industrial property” means a facility or property engaged in manufacturing or processing which includes, but is not limited to sawmills, plywood and veneer plants, paper and pulp mills, food processing facilities, bakeries, flour mills, chemical processing operations refineries, breweries, wineries bottling operations, machine shops, metal rolling mills, metal fabrication facilities, smelters, printing and publishing operations, seed processing operations, permanent sand and gravel operations, and electronic and high technology manufacturing operations.

(b) "State-appraised industrial property" means industrial property that had real market value for improvements of more than $1 million for the preceding year and whose appraisal responsibility has not been delegated by the department to the county.

(c) "Improvements" or "real property improvements", for determining responsibility for property of more than $1 million, means improvements erected upon, above or affixed to the land but not the land itself. Improvements include, but are not limited to: yard improvements, buildings, structures, and real property machinery and equipment. Improvements do not include site development and personal property.

(A) "Yard improvements" include but are not limited to on-site: paving, exterior lighting, log ponds, underground fire systems, fences, access roads and roadways and railroad sidings.

(B) "Site developments" are defined in OAR 150-307.010(1).

(d) "Integrated" and "integral" means directly involved in the production of a new product.

(e) "Processing" means the treatment of materials to produce a new product.

(f) "Unit of industrial property" means, for appraisal purposes, a single facility or an integrated complex currently engaged in manufacturing or processing operations and may include one or more accounts.

(2) The purpose of this rule is to determine the responsibility for the appraisal of industrial property between the Oregon Department of Revenue and the thirty-six Oregon county assessors' offices. Property classification for all purposes other than assigning appraisal responsibility is determined by OAR 150-308.215(1)-(A).

(3) The department is responsible for the appraisal of industrial property that meets the definition of "state-appraised industrial property". The county is responsible for the appraisal of all land, including that for state responsibility industrial accounts.

(4) Property other than industrial property that is at the same location as the manufacturing or processing operation may be appraised as part of the unit of industrial property.

(5) The procedure for determining the appraisal responsibility for industrial property is as follows:

(a) On or before August 1 of each year, the department will provide each county a list of all industrial property accounts within their jurisdiction for which the state was responsible for appraising in the preceding year. The list will include the owner's name, the account number, and the real market value.

(b) The county will review the list, and all other industrial property accounts, to determine if there are any units of industrial property that have moved above or below the $1 million threshold.

(A) Units of industrial property that have gone below the threshold will be placed on a list to be transferred to the county.

(B) Units of industrial property that have gone above the threshold will be placed on a list to be transferred to the department.

(C) Construction of a new industrial facility that will result in a real market value of more than $1 million for the real property improvements will be placed on a list of properties recommended for transfer to the department. If construction has begun or is expected to begin by January 1 of the current tax year it will also be placed on the list to be transferred.

(c) By October 1, the county will submit a list of accounts recommended to become state responsibility.

(d) By November 15, the department will make a final determination of appraisal responsibility for all industrial property and provide this information to the county.

(6) For state-appraised industrial property in which the real property improvements are not all at the same location, the department and the county will evaluate each account to determine if the account should be appraised by the department. The criteria that will be used are:

(a) The combined value of the real property improvements from all locations is more than $1 million, and

(b) The real property improvements are integral to the same manufacturing or processing operation.

(7) The party that valued the property will be responsible for defending any appeals. In all cases, the county is responsible for the defense of the land valuation.

(8) The department may return to the county the appraisal responsibility for any property that no longer qualifies as state responsibility industrial property. The department will forward to the county a copy of all appraisal material on file at the department and a copy of all industrial property returns filed by the taxpayer.

(9) This rule is effective January 1, 2016.

(a) Name of the property owner,

(b) Account number,

(c) District code,

(b) The county must maintain and achieve compliance with all the locally appraised property for which they currently have responsibility.

(c) The county must commit to provide all necessary resources for the appraisal, maintenance, and legal defense of the value of the delegated properties for a regular appraisal cycle with no shift of resources from the county's other assessment and taxation programs.

(3) When the department delegates the responsibility for a state-appraised industrial property to the county assessor, the assessor shall be responsible for this property for five consecutive assessment years, including the original appraisal, annual updates to value, and appeals. After five consecutive assessment years, the county assessor may request the department to resume responsibility for appraising the property. At the following assessment year, the responsibility shall revert to the department if the property still qualifies as a state-appraised industrial property as defined by OAR 150-306.126(1), (2), and (3).

(4) Appraisals of industrial property by the county under this section are subject to audit and review under the procedures established by OAR 150-294.005(Note)-(D). (d) The department will provide sufficient training programs to allow registered appraisers to meet technical credit requirements. Technical credit hours are approved for appraisal related courses offered by the following organizations:

(A) Department of Revenue;

(B) International Association of Assessing Officials (IAAO);

(C) American Society of Appraisers (ASA);

(D) The Appraisal Institute.

(e) The department may restrict the number or types of enrollees in certain classes, so long as the department meets the requirements of subsection (d) of this section for all registered appraisers.

(f) The department will approve technical credit hours provided through training given by other entities, individuals or by the county if it determines that the content of the training meets the definition for technical credits provided in this rule.

(4) Waiver of Requirement for Continuing Education Credits

(a) Prior to March 31 of the first year of any registered appraiser's current certification period, either the registered appraiser or the appraiser's employer on behalf of the appraiser may submit a request to the Department of Revenue for waiver of the technical credit requirements to be certified for the current two-year certification period. A request for waiver must be in writing and signed by the requestor. If it is a waiver for a registered appraiser employed by the county, the assessor must approve it. For registered appraisers employed by the Department of Revenue, the appraiser's immediate supervisor must approve the request for waiver.

(b) The following are conditions for which the department may grant a waiver:

(A) Military service that prevents the completion of technical credit requirements.

(B) Disability or illness that prevents the completion of technical credit requirements.

(C) Accident or other uncontrollable events that prevent the completion of technical credit requirements.

(D) Limited duration assignments within the Department of Revenue but outside the Property Tax Division for Department of Revenue appraisers.

(E) Formal retirement from regular employment, whether or not the appraiser is working on a temporary or part-time basis in an appraisal capacity.

(F) Absence from the state that prevents completion of technical credit requirements.

(c) Waivers under this section for the conditions in paragraphs (A) through (C) of subsection (b) above may be allowed indefinitely as long as the condition continues. However waivers under paragraphs (A) through (C) above will not be granted for more than a single two-year certification period if the appraiser is also practicing in an appraisal capacity, either independently or under the employ of an individual, entity, or public employer.

(d) Waivers under this section may be granted for no more than a single two-year certification period for the conditions in paragraphs (D) through (F) above.

(5) Validation of Accumulated Technical Credits

(a) Prior to January 1:

(A) In the case of registered appraisers employed by the county, the assessor annually will certify on forms provided by the Department of Revenue a list of those registered appraisers who have met the technical credit requirements for their two year continuing education cycle.

(B) In the case of registered appraisers employed by the State of Oregon, the direct supervisor of those employees annually will certify on forms provided by the Department of Revenue a list of those registered appraisers who have met the technical credit requirements for their two year continuing education cycle.

(C) In the case of registered appraisers not employed by a county assessor or the State of Oregon, at the end of each two year continuing education cycle, individuals will self-certify on a form provided by the Department of Revenue as to the satisfactory completion of technical credit requirements.

(b) The Department of Revenue will revoke appraiser registration under ORS 308.010(4)(d) for failing to submit satisfactory evidence to the department that the registered appraiser has met the technical credit requirement.

Real Property Valuation for Tax Purposes

(1) For the purposes of this rule, the following words and phrases have the following meaning:

(a) A "unit of property" is the item, structure, plant, or integrated complex as it physically exists on the assessment date.

(b) "Real property" means the real estate (physical land and appurtenances including structures, and machinery and equipment which comprise an integral part of the property or manufacturing operation) and all interests, benefits, and rights inherent in the ownership of the physical real estate.

(c) "Rural lands" means those lands with property classification 400, 401, 500, 501, 600, 601, 800, and 801 as defined by OAR 150-308.215. They are distinguished from platted land as acreages in varying sizes and are either improved or unimproved.

(d) "Utility" means the quality or property of being useful which may either add to or subtract from market value.

(e) "Highest and best use" means the reasonably probable use of vacant land or an improved property that is legally permissible, physically possible, financially feasible, and maximally productive, which results in the highest real market value.

(2) Methods and Procedures for Determining Real Market Value:

(a) For the valuation of real property all three approaches-sales comparison approach, cost approach, and income approach-must be considered. For a particular property, it may be that all three approaches cannot be applied, however, each must be investigated for its merit in each specific appraisal.

(b) The real market value of a unit of property shall not be determined from the market price of its component parts, such as wood, glass, concrete, furnaces, elevators, etc., each priced separately as an item of property, without regard to its being integrated into the total unit.

(c) In utilizing the sales comparison approach only actual market transactions of property comparable to the subject, or adjusted to be comparable, will be used. All transactions utilized in the sales comparison approach must be verified to ensure they reflect arms-length market transactions. When nontypical market conditions of sale are involved in a transaction (duress, death, foreclosures, interrelated corporations or persons, etc.) the transaction will not be used in the sales comparison approach unless market-based adjustments can be made for the nontypical market condition.

(d) If there are no market transactions of property comparable to the subject, then it is still appropriate to use market value indications derived by the cost, income or stock and debt approaches.

(e) Sales on the basis of disposal at salvage or scrap levels are indicators of market value only when on the assessment date such disposal of the subject property is imminent, or has actually taken place.

(f) The cost approach must use the reproduction, replacement, or used equipment technique; however, original historical cost may be used when appraising property under ORS 308.505 to 308.730. The value estimate must include all costs required to assemble and construct the unit of property.

(g) The income to be used in the income approach must be the economic rent that the property would most probably command in the open market as indicated by current rents being paid, and asked, for comparable space. Income from the operation of the property may be utilized for property types, such as industrial plants that are not typically leased or rented.

(h) The real market value for rural lands is based on an average price per acre for each size of parcel. Adjustments to the value must be made to those acres with more or less utility. For improved parcels the value of the site developments as defined by OAR 150-307.010(1)(2)(a)(A) must be added.

(i) Determining highest and best use for the unit of property is necessary for establishing real market value. This determination of highest and best use may include, among others, all possible uses that might result from retaining, altering or ceasing the integrated nature of the unit of property.

(3) Valuation of Especial Property: Especial property is property specially designed, equipped, and used for a specific operation or use that is beneficial to only one particular user. This may occur because the especial property is part of a larger total operation or because of the specific nature of the operation or use. In either case, the improvement's usefulness is designed without concern for marketability. Because a general market for the property does not exist, the property has no apparent immediate market value. Real market value must be determined by estimating just compensation for loss to the owner of the unit of property through either the cost or income approaches, whichever is applicable, or a combination of both.

(4) Real market value for all personal property must be as of the date of assessment in accord with the statutory definition and must take into account the location and place in the level of trade of items of property in the hands of manufacturers, producers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers, users, and others.

(5) Valuation of Land Under Improvements Having Only Partial Exemption. This does not apply to those cases where land is not eligible for inclusion in the exemption.

(a) The value of land under a single story improvement when part of the improvement is receiving an exemption must be apportioned between the exempted and taxable portions of the improvement based on the value of each portion.

Example 1: There is a one-story building of which a part representing 80 percent of total value is under exemption and the remaining part is taxable and consists of new construction representing 20 percent of the total value. The value of the land under the building would be apportioned 80 percent to the exemption and 20 percent to the taxable or market value each year.

(b) The value of land under a multiple story improvement when all or part of one or more stories of the improvement is receiving an exemption must be apportioned between the exempted and taxable portions of the improvement based on the contribution of the current market value of each portion.

Example 2: There is a two story building which occupies a 100' x 100' lot in its entirety. The first story is under exemption, and the value carried on the roll represents 60 percent of the total improvement value. The second story, valued at market, represents 40 percent of the total improvement value. The value of the land under the building must be apportioned 60 percent to the exemption and 40 percent to the property valued at market.

(c) Where an improvement does not fully occupy the land and where only a portion of the improvement and land are used for an exempt purpose, then the value of the improvement and land must be allocated between the exempt and taxable portions of the parcel. Only portion of the land or improvement that is not used, developed, or that is being held for future expansion is fully taxable.

Example 3: Assume a parcel that measures 200' by 200', a building measuring 100' x 100', paved parking measuring 100' x 100' and unimproved land measuring 200' x 100'. One-half or 50% of the building and parking are used by an exempt entity. One-half (50%) or 5000 square feet of the building is exempt, one-half (50%) of the parking is exempt. The remainder of the building, the parking lot and unimproved land are fully taxable.

Example 4: There is a building measuring 100' x 100' located on one-fourth of a 200' x 200' lot. The remaining portion of the lot is a parking area. The taxable portion of the building rents or leases a 100' x 100' parking area and has exclusive use. The value of the remaining 100' x 200' area of the lot is exempted only to the extent it is used as a parking area for the exempt entity. If 100' x 100' of this 100' x 200' parking area is used for parking and the remainder is held by the exempt entity for future expansion, the area held for expansion is fully taxable.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(d) When an improvement is partially exempted and that improvement contains common areas (i.e., hallways, restrooms, conference rooms, etc.), the percentage of the total area of these common areas that receives exemption shall be the same as the percentage of the total net rentable area occupied by the exempt entity.

(6) Valuation of Land Under Improvements Having Only Partial Special Assessment: The procedures described in Section (5) of this rule also apply to properties receiving a partial special assessment, such as a partial historical designation.

(7) This rule is effective January 1, 2016.

Industrial Property Valuation for Tax Purposes

(1) For the purposes of this rule, the following words and phrases have the following meaning:

(a) A “unit of property” is the item, structure, plant, or integrated complex as it physically exists on the assessment date.

(b) “Real property” means the real estate (physical land and appurtenances including structures, and machinery and equipment erected upon the land or attached to the land or structures) and all interests, benefits, and rights inherent in the ownership of the physical real estate.

(c) “Highest and best use” means the reasonably probable use of vacant land or an improved property that is legally permissible, physically possible, financially feasible, and maximally productive, which results in the highest real market value.

(2) If the highest and best use of the unit of property is an operating plant or an operating integrated complex, the real market value will be considered to be a “going concern.” The going concern concept recognizes that the value of an assembled and operational group of assets usually exceeds the value of an identical group of assets that are separate or not operational.

(3) Methods and Procedures for Determining the Real Market Value of Industrial Property:

(a) For the valuation of industrial property all three approaches to value (sales comparison, cost, and income), must be considered. For a particular property, it may be that all three approaches cannot be applied, however, each must be investigated for its merit in each specific appraisal.

(b) The market value of a unit of property must not be determined from the market price of its component parts, such as wood, glass, concrete, furnaces, elevators, machines, conveyors, etc., each priced separately as an item of property, without regard to its being integrated into the total unit.

(c) In utilizing the sales comparison approach only actual market transactions of property comparable to the subject, or adjusted to be comparable, will be used. All transactions utilized in the sales comparison approach must be verified to ensure they reflect arms-length transactions. When non-typical market conditions of sale are involved in a transaction (duress, death, foreclosure, bankruptcy, liquidation, interrelated corporations or persons, etc.) the transaction will not be used in the sales comparison approach unless market-based adjustments can be made for the non-typical market condition.

(A) Properties utilized in the sales comparison approach, although not necessarily identical, at the very least must be similar in many respects. Adjustments must be made for differences in location, product, production capacity, and all other factors that may affect value. Excessively large adjustments or an excessive number of adjustments is an indication that the properties are not comparable.

(B) When utilizing the sales comparison approach, the appraiser must take into consideration difference between the subject and the comparable properties for physical condition, functional obsolescence and economic obsolescence. Adjustments must be made for differences between the subject and comparable properties for factors such as physical condition, functional deficiencies, operating efficiency, and economic obsolescence. If the properties are functionally or economically equivalent, verification of the equivalency must be included in the appraisal.

(f) Sales for the disposal of properties through auction, liquidation or scrap sales are indicators of market value only when on the assessment date such disposal of the subject property is imminent, or has actually taken place.

(g) The cost approach may utilize either the reproduction, replacement, or the used equipment technique. It is acceptable to use trended historical cost to estimate the reproduction cost new. The value estimate must include all costs required to assemble and construct the unit of property.

(h) When using the income approach, the income from the operation of the property may be utilized for industrial properties and other properties that are not typically leased or rented. When the income from the property’s operation is used, the unit of property must be valued as a going concern. In utilizing the income approach for the valuation of industrial properties, the discounted cash flow technique is one of the appropriate methods to derive a value estimate. Consideration in the discounted cash flow technique is given to items such as the anticipated future free cash flow available to both, the debt and equity holders; inventory valuation methods, intangible assets, income taxes, net working capital, capital reinvestment, etc. When utilizing the discounted cash flow technique, the capitalization or discount rate must be derived in accordance with OAR 150-308.205-(C).

(i) Determining the highest and best use for the unit of property is necessary for establishing real market value. This determination of highest and best use may include, among others, all possible uses that might result from retaining, altering or ceasing the integrated nature of the unit of property.

(4) For machinery and equipment, in all the approaches to value, if the highest and best use is continued operation, adjustments must be made to account for the cost of integrating the machinery and equipment into the total unit of the property. These costs include, but are not limited to, freight, installation, wiring, piping and foundation costs.

(5) Basic information for an appraisal. Basic data and procedures in making appraisals normally include the following when applicable:

(a) Location of property by tax codes and tax lot numbers;

(b) Map or sketch of land owned and layout of plant;

(c) Inventory of physical plant;

(d) Reproduction or replacement cost computations, as applicable;

(e) Analysis of depreciation;

(f) Analysis of economics as they affect valuation;

(g) Analysis of sales data, when applicable;

(h) Field inspection;

(i) Research and familiarization with typical properties of the industry;

(j) Annual reports to stockholders;

(k) Fixed assets schedules;

(L) Income statements;

(m) Such other data that may affect value.

(6) Basic information for an appraisal utilizing the industrial property return. Basic data for an appraisal utilizing the industrial property return normally includes the following:

(a) Report of additions;

(b) Report of retirements;

(c) Knowledge of miscellaneous technical and economic conditions that affect value;

(d) Trending factors:

(A) Separate factors for yard improvements, buildings, and equipment classified as real property must be developed.

(B) The development of the factors must use data published by the United States Department of Labor, the Oregon Building Construction Trades Council, and other sources the Department of Revenue deems to be reliable indicators of property value over time.

(C) Data developed by physical inspection together with appraising a segment of the total property or making a general review of the total value under certain circumstances may supplement the data utilized in (A) above.

(e) Depreciation allowances;

(f) Real market value for prior year.

(7) This rule is effective January 1, 2016.

(1) The department may conduct valuation reviews of state-appraised industrial properties to verify the accuracy of the property’s real market value and maximum assessed value.

(2) Valuation reviews will follow procedures adopted by the Department of Revenue.

(3) The real market value and maximum assessed value of a property may change for the current year and previous years following the requirements in ORS 311.205 and 311.216, as a result of the valuation review.

(4) The real market value and maximum assessed value of a property may change for subsequent tax years if the result of the valuation review is a change in valuation judgment.

Industrial Property Returns — Incomplete Returns and Late Filing Penalties

(1) Industrial Property Returns are combined returns of real and personal property for state-appraised industrial property. The Industrial Property Return forms and instructions specify the information to be included in the return and submitted to the department.

(2) A taxpayer must submit a substantially complete return by the due date of the return. A return is substantially complete if it contains sufficient information to allow the return to be processed by the department. A return is not substantially complete if:

(a) It is submitted with blank or missing schedules unless the schedules are appropriately left blank and are labeled with an identifying notation such as “no”, “none”, or “not applicable”; or

(b) It is submitted with attachments that do not include required information as specified on the schedule.

(3) For the purposes of the late filing penalty imposed by ORS 308.295, a return that is not substantially complete will not be considered “filed”.

(4) If a taxpayer submits a return that is not substantially complete, the department will send the return back to the taxpayer with a request that the return be filed with the required information. The taxpayer will be subject to a late filing penalty under ORS 308.295 if a substantially complete Industrial Property Return is not filed by the due date.

Limitations on Increase in Value by Board of Property Tax Appeals

(1) For purposes of this rule:

(a) “Property tax account” means the administrative division of property used by the assessor for listing the property on the assessment roll.

(b) “Unit of property” is as defined within ORS 310.160(1).

(2) The board of property tax appeals (BOPTA) lacks jurisdiction under ORS 309.026 to increase the total real market value (RMV), the total specially assessed value (SAV), the maximum assessed value (MAV), or assessed value (AV) of property because the statute specifies that BOPTA may only hear petitions to reduce the value of property.

(3) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting an increase in the value of property, the board must act on the petition in the following manner:

(a) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting an increase or resulting in an increase in the total RMV, SAV, MAV or AV of property in a property tax account or accounts constituting a unit of property, the board must dismiss the petition for lack of jurisdiction.

(b) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting an increase in the RMV of one or more components of a property tax account or accounts constituting a unit of property, the board may increase that component provided the change does not result in an increase to the total RMV, SAV, MAV, or AV of the property in the tax account, or unit of property.

(4) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting a reduction in the value of property, the board must act on the petition in the following manner:

(a) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting a reduction in total RMV that does not specify a reduction in value of one or more components of a property tax account or accounts that constitute a unit of property, the board may increase or decrease any or all components, provided the net result sustains or reduces the total RMV, SAV, MAV or AV of the property in the property tax account or unit of property.

(b) When BOPTA receives a petition requesting a reduction in the RMV of one or more components of a property tax account or accounts that constitute a unit of property and no change to other component(s), or the petition is silent as to the requested value of the other components, at the request of the Assessor’s Office, the board may act on any or all components of the tax account or unit of property, or both.

Board of Property Tax Appeals (BOPTA) Procedures When Roll Changed after Petition is Filed

(1) If the assessor reduces the value of property under ORS 308.242(2) after a petition has been filed with BOPTA, but prior to January 1 of the tax year, or under ORS 311.205, prior to the time the board convenes, and in neither case is a stipulation filed with the board prior to the time the board convenes, the board will act on the petition in the following manner:

(a) The board will schedule a hearing and notify the petitioner of the time and place the board will meet to resolve the petition.

(b) If the value requested in the petition is higher than or equal to the adjusted value, the board must issue an order dismissing the petition.

(c) If the value requested in the petition is lower than the adjusted value, the board must review the adjusted value and issue an order sustaining or correcting the adjusted value.

(2) Notwithstanding (1)(b) of this rule, the board will issue an order to sustain or reduce the adjusted value if the petitioner amends the value requested pursuant to section 5 of OAR 150-309.100(3)-(B) prior to or during the board hearing.

Procedure to Correct MAV When Square Footage Error Exists

(1) For purposes of this rule, “Current RMV”, as used in subsection (4)(b), is defined as the RMV for the tax year of the petition. For example, a petition submitted in August 2016 will use the roll values for the 2016-2017 tax year to calculate the adjustment.

(2) To correct the maximum assessed value (MAV) of a property for an error in square footage, the assessor must receive a petition from either the current owner of the property or other person obligated to pay taxes imposed on the property. The petition must be filed with the county assessor on or before December 31 of the current tax year on a form prescribed by the department.

(3) The correction to MAV by the assessor must be in proportion to the correction to RMV due to the error in square footage.

(4) The proportion of error and resulting MAV are calculated as follows by the assessor:

(a) For properties described by a single component (for example, land only), use the following procedure to adjust MAV.

NOTE: An example is incorporated into the steps with the following assumptions: The assessor’s records show that a parcel has 435,600 sq. ft. (10 acres), when, in fact, it only has 392,040 sq. ft. (9 acres).

The existing RMV is $80,000.

The corrected RMV is $75,000.

The existing MAV is $50,000.

Step 1: Divide the correct RMV by the RMV as currently shown in the assessment records to determine the proportional RMV correction.

Example: $$75,000 / $80,000 = 0.9375$.

Step 2: Multiply the proportional RMV correction (Step 1) by the existing MAV for the property to determine the corrected MAV for the property.

Example: $0.9375 \times $50,000 = $46,875$, which is the corrected MAV for the property.

(b) For properties described by multiple components (for example, land and buildings, or more than one building or structure, or buildings and machinery), use the following procedure to adjust MAV.

NOTE: An example is incorporated into the steps with the following assumptions:

A property consists of a 3-acre land parcel and two buildings.

Building 1 was incorrectly valued as having 2,000 square feet, when in fact it has only 1,500 square feet.

Current Real Market Value (RMV) of the building with the error is $80,000.

Corrected RMV of the building with the error is $60,000.

The square footage on the land and other building is correct.

The property’s total RMV is $400,000.

The property’s total MAV is $300,000.

Step 1: Determine which component has the square footage error.

Example: Building 1 is the component with the error in square footage.

Step 2: Determine the portion of the property’s total RMV that is contributed by the component with the square footage error.

Example: Building 1 RMV is given as $80,000.

Step 3: Calculate the ratio of the RMV of the component with the error to the RMV of the entire property.

Example: Building 1 RMV ($80,000) divided by Total RMV ($400,000) = 0.20.

Step 4: Multiply the property’s total MAV by the ratio obtained from Step 3 to determine the MAV attributable to the component with the error in square footage.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Example: $$300,000 \times .20 = $60,000$.

Step 5: Subtract the MAV attributable to the component with the error in square footage (Step 4) from the property's total MAV to determine the base MAV.

Example: $$300,000 - $60,000 = $240,000$.

Step 6: Divide the correct RMV of the component by the RMV of the component as currently shown in the assessment records to determine the proportional RMV correction ratio.

Example: $$60,000 / $80,000 = 0.75$.

Step 7: Multiply the proportional square footage error ratio (Step 6) by the MAV attributable to the component with the square footage error (Step 4) to determine the corrected MAV attributable to the component.

Example: $0.75 \times $60,000 = $45,000$, which is the corrected MAV attributable to the component.

Step 8: Add the corrected MAV attributable to the component (Step 7) to the base MAV (Step 5) to determine the corrected MAV for the entire property.

Example: $$45,000 + $240,000 = $285,000$, which is the corrected MAV for the property.

(5) For a building that is valued by summing the individual value contributions from distinct portions of that building, the particular building portion affected by the square footage error may be considered as a separate component such as in (4)(b) above when making the correction to MAV. Examples of this type of building include but are not limited to a warehouse with attached offices or a house with an attached garage.

(6) Notwithstanding that a property's MAV has been corrected due to a square footage error, the corrected MAV remains subject to adjustments required by ORS 308.146 to 308.166.

(7) Roll corrections pursuant to ORS 311.234 are to be made using the procedures in 311.205.

Forestland Valuation Rule

(1) Purpose: The purpose of this rule is to describe the process used to develop the annual preliminary forestland values and to clarify the establishment of the final certified forestland values (ORS 321.216).

(2) General Principles and Definitions:

(a) For the purpose of this rule, "forestland" has the meaning provided in ORS 321.257(2) for Western Oregon, and ORS 321.805(4) for Eastern Oregon.

(b) Values developed by this rule are the values of bare forestland.

(c) The mix of sales of highest and best use forestland in Western Oregon will approximate, over the long term, the percentage distribution of acres in each land productivity class in Western Oregon.

(d) The department will rely on market sale evidence as the primary appraisal method for determining forestland values in both Eastern Oregon and Western Oregon.

(e) Sales of forestland in Eastern Oregon often include the influence of non-forestland values. Non-forestland values include, but are not limited to, values associated with grazing, hunting or other recreational uses.

(3) Forestland Sales Data:

(a) The department will collect and verify forestland sales data. Only sales with the following characteristics will be considered:

(A) The current or immediate future use of the land is the growing and harvesting of timber,

(B) The improvement values and other non-forestland values can be accurately extracted from the sale price to give a land residual value,

(C) The transaction is at arm's-length,

(D) The purchase consideration is cash or a financing method standard to the real estate market,

(E) The bare land value is greater than $0, and

(F) The sale is 20 acres or larger of productive forestland.

(b) The department will compile the sales data in a forestland sales database.

(c) The department will analyze calendar year (January 1 to December 31) sales data to determine a single per acre Western Oregon Average Value (WAV) and a single per acre Eastern Oregon Average Value (EAV). The acres to be included in the denominator for each sale are productive forestland acres only, that is, land in classes FA through FG in Western Oregon and land not classed as wasteland in Eastern Oregon.

(d) The WAV and EAV will be determined only from data where sales identified as a statistical outlier have been rejected.

An outlier is defined as a sale with a price that is outside of the range of plus or minus two standard deviations from the seven year average of all sales in Western Oregon or plus or minus two standard deviations from the seven year average for all sales in Eastern Oregon. For the purpose of determining whether a sale is an outlier, the department will consider all sales from the prior seven years, including any outliers identified from prior years' analysis. If a sale is an outlier for three consecutive years, the sale will be treated as an outlier in all subsequent years.

(e) In the absence of sales for the current year, the department will average the two prior years to get an average for the year. For a previous year with no sales the department will average the year prior and the next year going forward.

(f) The resulting average per acre values calculated for Western and Eastern Oregon in subsection (c) above will be further processed as follows:

(4) Western Oregon Process.

(a) For each of the seven calendar years of sales data immediately prior to the January 1 assessment date, calculate the WAV for each year. WAV is the arithmetic mean of the individual sales' average value per acre of forestland for the calendar year.

(b) Sum the current plus six immediately prior years WAV from subsection (3)(c) of this rule and divide by seven to obtain the seven-year average for Western Oregon (7YAVWO).

(c) Multiply the resulting 7YAVWO by the Western Forestland Class Spread (WFCS), see below, [ED. NOTE: Tables referenced are available from the agency.] For each productivity class (FA through FX) to obtain the value for each productivity class.

(d) The value obtained in subsection (4)(c) of this rule, rounded to the nearest whole dollar, is the preliminary value by productivity class for the January 1 assessment date.

(5) Eastern Oregon Process:

(a) For each of the seven calendar years of sales data immediately prior to the January 1 assessment date, calculate the EAV for each year.

(b) Calculate a least squares regression line of seven EAV's established in subsection (5)(a) of this rule for Eastern Oregon to determine the annual value change ratio (delta V) for the sales data collection period. The annual change ratio (delta V) is the calculated value along the regression line at year 7 divided by the calculated value at year 6.

(c) The annual rate of change in subsection (5)(b) of this rule will be applied to the certified immediately prior year SAV for Eastern Oregon (EOR PSAV) for a preliminary estimate of the current year SAV:

$EOR PSAV \times (\text{delta } V) = \text{Preliminary current year EOR SAV}$.

(d) The value obtained in subsection (5)(c) of this rule, rounded to the nearest whole dollar, is the preliminary value for the January 1 assessment date.

(6) Response to Preliminary Values:

(a) Data pertinent to the forestland valuation process that was not evaluated previously may be collected during a review by the Forestland Value Advisory Committee (ORS 321.213) or through written comments submitted during the public hearing on proposed specially assessed forestland values (ORS 321.210). Pertinent data may be added to the forestland database to recalculate the WAV and EAV described in subsection (3)(c) of this rule, to then obtain revised preliminary values.

(b) The department will consider the revised preliminary values and any other information provided by additional research by the department, the Forestland Value Advisory Committee, submitted written comments, or the hearing process to determine the final values to be certified under ORS 321.216.

Determining Value of Historic Property Qualified for Special Assessment

(1) For purposes of this rule,

(a) "Assessed Value" (AV) is defined in ORS 308.146.

(b) "Maximum Assessed Value" (MAV) is defined in ORS 308.146 without application of ORS 308.146(4).

(c) "Changed Property Ratio" (CPR) is the ratio described in OAR 150-308.156.

(d) "Internal ratio" (IR) is the quotient of MAV/RMV for an individual property, as if the property is not specially assessed. The ratio cannot be more than 1.0.

(e) "Maximum Specially Assessed Value" (MSAV) means maximum assessed value for property subject to special assessment.

(f) "Real Market Value" (RMV) is defined in ORS 308.205(1).

(2) This rule applies to initial and second qualifying periods beginning on or after July 1, 2010, with application being made on or after September 28, 2009.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(3) When a property is subject to historic property special assessment, the county assessor must:

(a) Include a "Historic property — potential additional tax" notation on the tax roll.

(b) Maintain the RMV and a MAV as if the property were not specially assessed. The RMV and MAV as if the property were not specially assessed must be adjusted to include any changes in value as addressed in ORS 308.146, 308.149, 308.153, 308.156, and 308.159 (commonly referred to as exception value).

(c) Calculate MSAV of the property annually while the property remains in the program.

(4) Calculate first period values for SAV, MSAV and AV.

(a) Step 1: Calculate the property's SAV to be used throughout the entire first 10 year period of historic property special assessment.

(A) The SAV equals the AV of the property on the tax roll at the time the application is submitted pursuant to ORS 358.487.

(B) If the property is specially assessed or exempt in the tax year during which an application is made, SAV equals the RMV on the tax roll at the time the application is submitted pursuant to ORS 358.487 multiplied by the CPR for that tax year.

(b) Step 2: Calculate MSAV for the first year of special assessment by multiplying the SAV by the IR. The MSAV is recalculated in the second and subsequent years and equals the greater of:

(A) The AV for the prior year multiplied by 103 percent; or

(B) The MSAV for the prior year

(c) Step 3: Calculate the AV, which is the lesser of the:

(A) SAV calculated in step 1;

(B) MSAV calculated in step 2; or

(C) The RMV.

Example 1: The State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO), in January 2010, notifies the assessor that the owner of an old warehouse applied for historic property special assessment in October 2009 and qualified for that special assessment. The value of the warehouse as reflected on the 2009-10 tax roll is: RMV $400,000; MAV $302,380; AV $302,380. The first year of special assessment is 2010-11. The RMV for 2010-11 is $416,000.

(a) Step 1: Calculate the SAV. $SAV = AV$ in the tax year the application is submitted = $302,380

(b) Step 2: Calculate MSAV for first year of special assessment.

(A) 2010-11 MAV = $AV \times 1.03$, $\$302,380 \times 1.03 = \$311,451$

(B) $IR = MAV / RMV$, $$311,451 / $416,000 = 0.749$

(C) $MSAV = SAV \times IR$, $\$302,380 \times 0.749 = \$226,482$

(c) Step 3: Calculate the AV for the current year. It is the lesser of SAV ($302,380), MSAV ($226,482) or RMV ($416,000). $AV = $226,482$.

Example 2: SHPO, in January 2010, notifies the assessor that the owner of an old mansion no longer used by the Elks as a clubhouse that will be first disqualified from exemption for 2010-11 applied for historic property special assessment in October 2009 and that the property is qualified for special assessment for 2010-11. The CPR for this classification of property, had it been taxable in 2009-10, was 0.656, and the property's RMV for 2009-10 was $300,000. The first year of special assessment is 2010-11. The RMV for 2010-11 is calculated at $295,000 and the countywide CPR for this property classification for 2010-11 is 0.650. Other than the disqualification from exemption and the qualification for historic special assessment, there have been no changes to the property for 2010-11.

(a) Step 1: Calculate MAV for 2010-11 pursuant to ORS 308.156 as a result of disqualification from exemption.

(A) $MAV = RMV \times CPR$, $\$295,000 \times 0.650 = \$191,750$

(b) Step 2: Calculate SAV

(A) $SAV = RMV \times CPR$ from the tax year of application, $\$300,000 \times 0.656 = \$196,800$

(c) Step 3: Calculate MSAV for first year of special assessment

(A) $MSAV = SAV \times IR$, $\$196,800 \times (\$191,750 / \$295,000) = \$127,920$

(d) Step 4: Calculate AV

(A) AV = lesser of SAV (step 2) or MSAV (step 3) or RMV. $AV = $127,920$.

(5) Calculate Second period values for SAV, MSAV and AV.

(a) Step 1: Calculate SAV for the first year of a second qualifying period.

(A) The SAV equals the RMV of the property for the assessment year in which the application is made.

(B) The SAV will remain constant throughout the second ten-year period of special assessment.

(b) Step 2: Calculate the MSAV for the first year of the second qualifying period of special assessment by multiplying the SAV by the internal ratio. The MSAV is recalculated in the second and subsequent years and equals the greater of:

(A) The AV for the prior year multiplied by 103 percent; or

(B) The MSAV for the prior year

(c) Step 3: Calculate the AV, which is the lesser of the:

(A) SAV calculated in step 1;

(B) MSAV calculated in step 2; or

(C) The RMV.

Example 3: SHPO approves an application filed in March 2020 and qualifies a renovated chateau for a second 10 year period of special assessment beginning with the 2020-21 tax year. The first historic property special assessment period ended in the 2018-19 tax year. For 2020-21, the RMV is $825,000, and MAV without special assessment would be $509,850.

(a) Step 1: Calculate SAV. $SAV = RMV$ for assessment year in which application made. $SAV = $825,000$

(b) Step 2: Calculate MSAV for the first year of special assessment. $MSAV = SAV \times IR$, $\$825,000 \times (\$509,850 / \$825,000) = \$509,850$

(c) AV = lesser of SAV (step 1), MSAV (step 2), or RMV. $AV = $509,850$.

(6) When a building that is certified for historic property special assessment is divided into condominium units:

(a) The original account is deleted and each condominium becomes a new account.

(b) Each new account is appraised to establish a new RMV and calculate a new MAV.

(c) SAV and MSAV of the original account are apportioned between the new accounts but the total SAV and MSAV does not change as a result of the conversion to condominiums.

(d) The initial sale of each condominium unit by the developer disqualifies that unit from special assessment.

(e) Upon disqualification, the condominium unit is immediately requalified without further application for the remaining term of the original building's current 10 year period of historic property special assessment.

(f) Upon requalification, the SAV of the condominium unit equals its RMV for the tax year in which the sale of the unit occurred multiplied by the CPR for that tax year.

(g) The MSAV for the condominium unit for the first year after initial sale are calculated as described in step 3, using the MAV and RMV of the unit to determine the IR.

(h) The AV for the condominium unit for the first year after initial sale is calculated based on the lower of the SAV, MSAV, or RMV of the unit for that year.

Example 4: An account with an old warehouse building is qualified by SHPO for historic property special assessment. Its RMV, MAV, MSAV, SAV, and AV have been calculated as described in previous examples. The building is then converted to condominium units. When the condominium conversion is complete and all approvals are in place, each condominium unit becomes a separate account. New RMV and MAV are calculated for each account. Existing SAV and MSAV of the original warehouse account are apportioned between the new accounts. Total SAV and MSAV do not change as a result of the condominium conversion.

Account (tax lot) 00100, old warehouse building, is in its fourth year of its historic property special assessment. Its most recent tax roll values are as follows: RMV = $400,000; MAV if not specially assessed = $300,000, SAV = $225,000; MSAV = $179,020; AV = $179,020. CPR for this class of property is 0.750. The warehouse has now met all requirements for condominium and the 25 units worth $1,000,000 each are certified for sale. Account 00100 is deleted and replaced with account (tax lot) 90001 through account (tax lot) 90025. All units are identical in this building and each account has an RMV of $1,000,000. Total RMV of the building is now $25,000,000 and MAV is $18,750,000. Each account has a SAV of $9,000 and a MSAV of $7,160.

Total value of the building and site as condominiums (account 00100 deleted):

$RMV = \text{unit value} \times \text{number of units}$, $\$1,000,000 \times 25 = \$25,000,000$

$MAV = RMV \times CPR$, $\$25,000,000 \times 0.750 = \$18,750,000$

Value of each unit (each new account, 90001 through 90025):

$RMV = $1,000,000$

$MAV = RMV \times CPR$, $\$1,000,000 \times 0.750 = \$750,000$

$SAV = \text{total building SAV apportioned by unit value}$, $\$225,000 / (\$25,000,000 / \$1,000,000) = \$9,000$

$MSAV = \text{total building MSAV apportioned by unit value}$, $\$179,020 / (\$25,000,000 / \$1,000,000) = \$7,160$

$AV = $7,160$

Example 5: A condominium unit in the building described in example 4 is sold by the developer for $1,000,000 on July 20, 2015. The unit is disqualified from the historic property special assessment due to the sale and then immediately requalified for the remaining term. Upon requalification, the SAV, MSAV, and AV are calculated for this unit. As of January 1, 2015 the individual unit had an RMV of $1,000,000 and an MAV of $750,000. Historic property special assessed values are reflected in an SAV of $750,000 and an MSAV of $562,500. The SAV calculated for the 2015-16 tax year will remain the same, frozen, throughout the remaining years of the building's 10 year term.

Unit values:

$RMV = $1,000,000$

$MAV = RMV \times CPR$, $\$1,000,000 \times 0.750 = \$750,000$

$SAV = RMV \times CPR$, $\$1,000,000 \times 0.750 = \$750,000$

$MSAV = SAV \times IR$, $\$750,000 \times (\$750,000 / \$1,000,000) = \$562,500$

$AV = $562,500$

The building was in its 4th year of its 10 year historic property special assessment term; the new SAV for the condominium unit will remain the same, $750,000, for the remaining years of the building special assessment or until the building is otherwise disqualified.

The remaining accounts in the building are not affected by this sale.

Estate Tax Credit for Natural Resource Property

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply for purposes of ORS 118.140:

(a) "Active Management" is defined by Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 2032A(e)(12) to mean the making of the management decisions of a business (other than the daily operating decisions).

(b) "Ancestor" means a person from whom the decedent is directly descended, such as a parent, grandparent, or great-grandparent. The term does not include aunts, uncles, or cousins.

(c) "Cash equivalents" means accounts receivable, inventory, marketable securities, capital or sinking funds, prepaid expenses and other assets that are spent, maintained, used or available for use, in the operation of a farm business, forestry business, or fishing business.

(d) "Disposition" means to sell, exchange, transfer, convey, or otherwise dispose of natural resource property that was used to compute the natural resource property credit, if such disposition results in the property no longer qualifying for the credit.

(e) "Domestic partner" means an individual who has entered into a domestic partnership as defined in ORS 106.310. Per the general applicability provision of ORS 106.340, "spouse" as used in these rules includes domestic partner.

(f) "Family member" means a member of the family as defined in IRC section 2032A, and for purposes of ORS 118.140 includes:

- (A) An ancestor of the decedent;
- (B) The spouse of the decedent;
- (C) A lineal descendant of the decedent or of the decedent's spouse;
- (D) A lineal descendant of a parent of the decedent; or
- (E) The spouse of any lineal descendant described in paragraph (C) or (D).

For purposes of the preceding sentence, a legally adopted child of an individual is a lineal descendant of the adoptive parent(s).

(g) "Lineal descendant" means a person in a direct line of descent from the decedent, such as a child, grandchild or great-grandchild.

(h) "Lineal descendant of a parent of the decedent" means a decedent's siblings, children and grandchildren of those siblings, and any other person in a direct line of descent from the decedent's siblings.

(2) Estates of decedents who die on or after January 1, 2015 may only claim the natural resource property tax credit with respect to natural resource property located in Oregon that equals at least 50 percent of the adjusted gross estate that is in Oregon. All relevant provisions of this rule continue to apply to estates of decedents who die on or after January 1, 2015.

(3) Material participation by a Family Member. In order to qualify under ORS 118.140(8), at least one family member must materially participate in the business after the transfer.

(a) Material participation is a factual determination, and the types of activities which will support such a finding will vary. No single factor is determinative.

(b) Actual employment of the family member on a substantially full-time basis (35 hours a week or more) or to any lesser extent necessary personally to manage fully the farm or business in which the real property to be valued under section 2032A is used constitutes material participation.

(c) Payment of self-employment tax for employment with respect to the farm business, forestry business or fishing business is not conclusive as to the presence of material participation, and the requirement can be met even though no self-employment tax is payable by the family member with respect to income derived from the business.

(d) As provided by section 2032A of the Internal Revenue Code, active management shall be treated as material participation.

(e) The rules for determining material participation are illustrated by the examples found in CFR 20.2032A-3(g).

(f) Examples of active management decisions that can be used to demonstrate material participation include the following: inspecting growing crops, animals, forests, or equipment; reviewing and approving annual crop plans in advance of planting; making a substantial number of the management decisions of the business operation; approving expenditures for other than nominal operating expenses in advance of the time the amounts are expended; deciding what crops to plant or how many cattle to raise; determining what fields to leave fallow; determining where and when to market crops and other business products; determining how to finance business operations; and determining what capital expenditures the trade or business should make.

(4) If a transferee disposes of property resulting in additional tax as described in ORS 118.140(9)(a), the transferee must file a report with the department and pay the additional tax. The report may be made by filing a copy of the form described in ORS 118.140(10), identifying the asset or assets that no longer qualify for the credit, and including a calculation of the additional tax as described in ORS 118.140(9)(e). The report and payment of the tax are due within six months of the disposition. Interest and penalties under ORS 118.260 apply if the report is not filed and tax is not paid on or before the due date prescribed in ORS 118.140(9)(e).

Public Utilities: Sale of Commodities

(1) The sale of a commodity such as electricity, water, steam, oil, oil products or gas, including but not limited to natural and liquid gas, which is delivered or shipped to a purchaser with a contractually specified point of physical delivery in Oregon, is a sale in this state. It does not matter whether the purchaser uses the property in Oregon, transfers the property to another state, or resells the property in Oregon. If the contract states the point of delivery is at the Oregon border with another state, the sale is presumed to be in Oregon unless the taxpayer can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the department that delivery occurred in some other place.

Example 1: A provider of wholesale electricity enters into a contract to deliver a specified amount and duration of a supply of electricity to a purchaser who takes possession at a contractually specified point of physical delivery in Oregon. The sale is an Oregon sale.

(2) A taxpayer who contracts to sell electricity to and also buy electricity from the same entity during the same period or partial period of time will have an offsetting contractual amount, also known as a book-out transaction. The gross sales of electricity, without regard to the offsetting purchase amount, are considered to be Oregon sales if the contractually specified point of physical delivery is in Oregon.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Example 2: Company A signed a contract on January 2, 2016, to purchase 50 megawatts of electricity for a period of 10 hours starting November 15, 2016, from Company B with a delivery point of Malin, Oregon. For this same time period, Company A signed a contract on March 15, 2014, to sell 30 megawatts of electricity to Company B with a point of delivery at Malin, Oregon. The 30 megawatts of power is recorded as a book-out transaction on both companies' books for reporting to Oregon. The offsetting transaction for the 30 megawatts is deemed to be delivered in Oregon for the purposes of computing the Oregon sales factor. Company A will report the sale of 30 megawatts in its Oregon sales factor numerator and Company B will report the sale of 50 megawatts (20 megawatts to complete the sales contract plus 30 megawatts from the book-out transaction) of electricity in its Oregon sales factor numerator.

(3) This rule is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Estimated Tax: Application of Payments

(1) Overpayments of tax

(a) Election. When a corporation files its completed excise or income tax return and the tax shown due thereon is less than the amounts previously paid for that year, the corporation may make an irrevocable election to have the overpayment of tax either refunded or applied as a payment of estimated tax. The election is made by entering the amount in the appropriate space provided on the corporation excise tax return or corporation income tax return.

(b) Application to estimated tax installment. The department will apply the elected amount to the estimated tax installment that next becomes due on or after the due date of the return (not including extensions) or the date the overpayment of tax was made, whichever is later, unless the overpayment is subject to an offset under ORS 314.415 and related rules. The amount will be credited to the estimated tax installment as of the due date of the return (not including extensions) or the date the overpayment of tax was made, whichever is later. In the case of an amended or delinquent return, the amount will be credited to the estimated tax installment as of the date the amended or delinquent return was filed or the date a payment was received, whichever is later.

(c) Short-year returns — application to estimated tax installment. If a taxpayer files a tax return for a period of less than twelve months and that return requests an overpayment of tax be applied to an installment of estimated tax, the department will credit the overpayment of tax to the estimated tax installment as explained in subsection (1)(b) of this rule unless the taxpayer requests that the department apply the amount to the estimated tax installment due immediately following the installment that next becomes due.

Example: Corporation Zee is a fiscal year taxpayer that changed its accounting period to a calendar year. Zee's short year return is a four-month return. Zee files its short year return on November 15th (the due date of the short year return). Zee requests its overpayment of tax be applied to estimated tax. As explained in subsection (1)(b) of this rule, the department will credit the amount to the installment of estimated tax due December 15th. Alternatively, Zee could request that the department instead credit the amount to the first installment for the following tax period: April 15th, the first estimated tax installment due date for calendar year filers.

(2) Payments of estimated tax. The department will credit estimated tax payments as of the date that they are received. The department will apply estimated tax payments to any prior underpayment and the remainder, if any, will be applied to the next required installment.

Example: Corporation A is a calendar year taxpayer. A's return is filed timely on April 15, 2014. Its 2013 tax after credits is $12,000. The corporation must make the following estimated tax payments on or before the indicated dates to avoid having an underpayment of estimated tax:

April 15, 2013 — $3,000.

June 16, 2013 — $3,000.

Sept. 15, 2013 — $3,000.

Dec. 15, 2013 — $3,000.

Corporation A pays as follows:

April 15, 2013 — $3,000.

June 16, 2013 — $3,000.

Sept. 15, 2013 — $0.

Sept. 30, 2013 — $3,500.

Dec. 15, 2013 — $0.

The $3,500 payment will be credited as of September 30, 2013. Of the $3,500 payment, $3,000 is applied to the payment due September 15, 2013. The $500 remainder is applied to the payment due December 15, 2013.

(3) Effective date. This rule applies to all returns that are filed on or after January 1, 2016.

150-314.665(1)-(A)

Sales Factor; In General

(1) Subsection (7) of ORS 314.610 defines the term "sales" to mean all gross receipts of the taxpayer not allocated under ORS 314.615 to 314.645. Thus, for the purposes of the sales factor of the apportionment formula for each trade or business of the taxpayer, the term "sales" means all gross receipts derived by a taxpayer from transactions and activity in the regular course of such trade or business. See OAR 150-314.665(6) regarding inclusion of income from the disposition of intangible assets in the sales factor. The following are rules for determining "sales" in various situations:

(a) In the case of a taxpayer engaged in manufacturing and selling or purchasing and reselling goods or products, "sales" includes all gross receipts from the sales of such goods or products (or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the tax period) held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business. Gross receipts for this purpose means gross sales, less returns and allowances and includes all interest income, service charges, carrying charges, or time-price differential charges incidental to such sales. Federal and state excise taxes (excluding sales taxes) will be included as part of such receipts if such taxes are passed on to or collected from the buyer or included as part of the selling price of the product. The exclusion of sales taxes from the sales factor is effective January 1, 2014 and applies to tax years beginning on or after that date.

(b) In the case of cost plus fixed fee contracts, such as the operation of a government-owned plant for a fee, "sales" includes the entire reimbursed cost, plus the fee.

(c) In the case of a taxpayer engaged in providing services, such as the operation of an advertising agency, or the performance of equipment service contracts, research and development contracts, "sales" includes the gross receipts from the performance of such services including fees, commissions, and similar items.

(d) In the case of a taxpayer engaged in renting real or tangible property, "sales" includes the gross receipts from the rental, lease, or licensing the use of the property.

(e) In the case of a taxpayer engaged in the sale, assignment, or licensing of intangible personal property such as patents and copyrights, "sales" includes the gross receipts therefrom.

(f) If a taxpayer derives receipts from the sale of equipment used in its business, such receipts constitute "sales." For example, a truck express company owns a fleet of trucks and sells its trucks under a regular replacement program. The gross receipts from the sales of the trucks are included in the sales factor.

(g) If a taxpayer derives income from the operations of casinos, "gross drop" rather than "net drop" will be used in computing the gross receipts factor. "Gross drop" is computed as follows:

(A) Keno. Gross drop is the cumulative total cash paid in at the keno windows determined by totaling the amounts set forth on the customer's tickets.

(B) Slots. Gross drop is the cumulative total of all coins removed from the machines, plus jackpots paid less the coins previously added to the machines.

(C) Table games. Gross drop is the cumulative total of all cash funds and credit slips dropped in the cash boxes. When the cash method is used, only credit slips relating to chips removed from the tables should be considered.

(2)(a) Where substantial amounts of gross receipts arise from an incidental or occasional sale of a fixed asset used in the regular course of the taxpayer's trade or business, such gross receipts will be excluded from the sales factor. For example, gross receipts from the sale of a factory or plant will be excluded.

(b) Insubstantial amounts of gross receipts arising from incidental or occasional transactions or activities may be excluded from the sales factor unless such exclusion would materially affect the amount of income apportioned to this state. For example, the taxpayer ordinarily may include or exclude from the sales factor gross receipts from such transactions as the sale of office furniture, business automobiles, etc.

(c) Under the authority provided in ORS 314.667, for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2014, the treatment prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section for an incidental or occasional sale of a fixed asset used in the regular course of the taxpayer's trade or business applies to any intangible assets associated with that sale including, but not limited to, goodwill.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(3) In filing returns with this state, if the taxpayer departs from or modifies the basis for excluding or including gross receipts in the sales factor used in returns for prior years, the taxpayer will disclose in the return for the current year the nature and extent of the modification.

(4) If the returns or reports filed by the taxpayer with all states to which the taxpayer reports under Article IV of the Multistate Tax Compact or the Uniform Division of Income for Tax Purposes Act are not uniform in the inclusion or exclusion of gross receipts, the taxpayer will disclose in its return to this state the nature and extent of the variance.

(5) The denominator of the sales factor will include the total gross receipts derived by the taxpayer from transactions and activity in the regular course of its trade or business.

(6) Gross premium receipts. Gross premium receipts are all receipts paid in by the subscribers to the various coverages offered by the company, and are assigned to the state of the domicile of the subscriber. In the case of a group policy, the assignment is to the state of the domicile of the employer-agent who collects and remits the premiums to the company.

(2) The Department of Revenue may make available as a matter of public record and update, at least four times each calendar year, a list or lists of the largest tax delinquencies under any Oregon law imposing a tax upon or measured by net income including income tax withholding. The list or lists must reside on the Internet at a site that is created and maintained by the Department of Revenue.

The department's decision will be based upon the facts and circumstances in each case. To qualify for consideration of a waiver for penalties in this rule, the employer or other payer must:

(a) Submit a written waiver request that explains the reason(s) for:

(A) Filing an information return or W-2 after the due date for that return, or

Suspended Collection Status

(1) For the purpose of ORS 305.155:

(a) "Assets" do not include the following:

(A) The home the debtor lives in and the land the home is on, regardless of value;

(B) Household goods and personal effects of the debtor as defined in 20 CFR 416.1216 (e.g. an individual's wedding rings and engagement rings), regardless of value;

(C) One vehicle owned by the debtor, regardless of value;

(D) Other personal property of the debtor listed or described in ORS 18.345 or 18.845, with a value below the limits listed therein, unless otherwise provided for in this rule;

(E) Burial spaces for the debtor and the debtor's immediate family as the term "immediate family" is defined in ORS 163.730;

(F) Burial funds for the debtor and debtor's spouse, each valued at $1,500 or less;

(G) Life insurance policies payable to the debtor that have no more than $1,500 total face value owned on any one person; and

(H) Grants, scholarships, fellowships, or gifts set aside to pay educational expenses of the debtor for nine months after receipt.

(b) A debtor that has an asset that exceeds the limit listed or described in ORS 18.345 or 18.845 may choose to use part of their $5,000 asset allowance for the amount of value above the asset value limit listed in ORS 18.345 or 18.845.

Example 1: Jean receives a $1,200 monthly Social Security benefit. She owns one home and one car. She also owns one rifle (valued at $600) and one pistol (valued at $500). The combined value of the weapons is greater than the $1,000 asset limit set forth in ORS 18.845 by $100. She will qualify for suspended collection status under ORS 305.155(2) as long as her remaining assets do not exceed $4,900. ($5,000 minus $100 above the firearms value amount listed in ORS 18.845 equals $4,900.)

(2) To be considered for suspended collection status, the debtor may be required to submit a financial statement and attach proof of income, assets, and asset values.

(3) If the department determines that a debtor does not qualify for suspended collection status, the debtor may submit a new financial statement containing new, additional or revised information and request to be reconsidered for suspended collection status.

Offset of State Debt Through U.S. Treasury Offset Program

(1) For the purpose of this rule:

(a) A debt is "liquidated" if the debt meets the criteria for liquidated debt under the Oregon Accounting Manual, Chapter 35, the debtor is not currently in bankruptcy, and the department has issued a warrant for the debt.

(b) "Federal payments" do not include payments that are exempt from offset under federal law, including but not limited to social security payments, and veterans' affairs benefit payments to the extent such payments are exempt from offset under federal law.

(2) The department may submit liquidated state debt for offset against federal tax refunds through the "Treasury Offset Program" under 26 USC 6402(e) and 31 CFR 285.8 and federal payments under 31 USC 3716(h) and 31 CFR 285.6.

(3) Notice of intent to offset federal tax refunds. Before submitting an Oregon tax debt to the Debt Management Services, U.S. Treasury for offset against a federal tax refund, the department must send written notice of intent to offset to the taxpayer by certified mail.

(4) Notice of intent to offset federal non-tax payments. Before submitting a liquidated state debt to the Debt Management Services, U.S. Treasury for offset against a federal non-tax payment, the department must send written notice of intent to offset to the debtor by regular mail or certified mail.

(5) Disagreement procedures. If a debtor disagrees with the notice of intent to offset and wants reconsideration of the decision to offset, the debtor must submit a letter of disagreement to the department within 60 days of the date shown on the notice of intent to offset. The debtor must provide, and the department will limit consideration to, evidence that the debt scheduled for offset is not:

(a) Past due; or

(b) Legally enforceable.

(6) If the debtor claims that a tax debt is not legally enforceable because the debtor is an enrolled member of an Indian tribe whose income is not subject to Oregon tax under ORS 316.777 or 316.785, the department will consider the merits of such a claim unless the issue has already been finally adjudicated by a court in a proceeding to which the department is a party.

(7) Review of disagreement. For each letter of disagreement, the department will:

(a) Review all evidence provided by the debtor, and

(b) Remove the debtor's name from the federal offset list for the debt if the department determines that the debt is not past due or is not legally enforceable.

Refund Offset Priority

(1) As used in this rule:

(a) "Appropriation accounts" means accounts that are established by an appropriation of the state legislature.

(b) "Nonassessed accounts" means: tax accounts for which the department has determined a deficiency exists but that have not yet been assessed.

(c) "Assessed accounts" means:

(A) Tax accounts that have not been paid for which an appeal has not been made or is final and a written notice of assessment stating the amount so assessed has been issued to the taxpayer; and

(B) Self-assessed accounts that have not had a written notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer.

(d) "Oldest account" means the account with the earliest set-up date. If more than one account has the same set-up date, the earliest tax year is the oldest account.

(e) "Set-up date" means the date the account was established or created.

(2) The department will offset a refund to assessed accounts, unless the taxpayer has a currently pending appeal of the assessment. The department may also offset a refund to nonassessed accounts when the taxpayer sends the department a written authorization to offset the refund. Offsets will be made using the following guidelines:

(a) First offset to the oldest account within the program that has the refund.

(b) After all accounts are satisfied within the program that has the refund, offset to other programs, oldest account first, following the priorities shown in section (4) below.

(3) A taxpayer's refund will be offset only to accounts owed by that taxpayer. An individual refund will not be offset to a corporate account nor a corporate refund offset to accounts of a subsidiary.

(4) The priority criteria is:

(a) Funds due the general fund, excluding funds due other state of Oregon agencies. This includes all funds due from the cigarette and amusement device tax that is allocated part to the general fund and part to local governments.

(b) Funds due an appropriation account that will revert to the general fund.

(c) Funds due the Senior Property Tax Deferral Revolving Account authorized under ORS 311.701.

(d) Funds due a state of Oregon tax program for distribution to local governments.

(e) Funds due other state of Oregon agencies.

(f) Funds due local jurisdictions for which the department collects under ORS 293.250.

(g) Funds due entities which serve a garnishment or levy on the Department of Revenue.

(h) Funds due charitable check-off programs designated by the taxpayer in lieu of receiving a refund check.

(i) Funds due the federal government under the state reciprocal offset program under ORS 305.612.

Example: A taxpayer has a personal income tax refund due for the year. The amount of the refund owed is $200. The taxpayer also has two liability accounts. The taxpayer owes $100 to the Department of Revenue on an assessed personal income tax account for the previous year. The Taxpayer also owes $300 to the Department of Education. This is how the offset of the refund would look:

$200.00 Refund
Less <$100.00> Personal Tax liability on assessed account
Less <$100.00> Department of Education
Refund = -0-

(5) If the refund balance as adjusted by the department in processing and after other offsets is insufficient to pay the designated charitable check-off contributions in full, payment will be prorated. The proration will be the ratio of the designated contribution to a specific fund divided by the total contribution to all funds.

(6) State tax refunds will not be offset to accounts for TriMet Transportation District or the Lane Transit District without the written permission of the taxpayer. Refunds from these programs will be offset to accounts within the same program but not to an account for a different tax program.

Telephone Excise Tax — Definitions and Administrative Provisions

(1) The Oregon telephone excise tax does not apply to:

(a) Federal, state and municipal government bodies or public corporations as defined in section (2).

(b) Counties and political subdivisions.

(c) Certain federally chartered corporations specifically exempt from state excise taxes by federal law.

Examples: Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., federal banks and banking associations created under the Farm Credit System and exempt under Title 12, U.S. Code § 2023, 2077, 2098 or 2134.

(d) Federally recognized Native-American Tribes, and tribal members who live within federally recognized Indian country and are enrolled members of the tribe with sovereignty over that Indian country.

(e) Foreign government offices and representatives that are exempt from state taxation by treaty provisions.

(f) Regional housing authorities exempt from all state taxes and assessments by ORS 456.225.

(g) The connection between utilities that is used to provide service. This includes the connection between radio common carriers and the interexchange carrier as well as between two or more utilities.

(2) For purposes of this rule, "public corporation" means a corporation formed by a state or local government authority for the public's benefit or for a public purpose.

(3) Any other agency, organization or person claiming an exemption is required to identify the authority for its claim to a provider. If a provider is unable to determine the status of a subscriber the Department of Revenue will determine whether the subscriber is exempt.

(4) "Provider" means any corporation, individual or group of individuals providing telecommunication access to the 9-1-1- Emergency Reporting System.

(a) A radio common carrier that leases telephone exchange access lines from a wire telephone company is a provider if the carrier sells that access to its customers. Access for this purpose includes (but is not limited to) traditional telephone services ("POTS"), cellular telephone service, personal communications system service (PCS), personal communications network service (PCN), cable/broadband service, private branch exchanges (PBX), and mobile radio common carriers. A carrier that has access to the 9-1-1 Emergency Reporting System and does not resell the access is not considered to be a provider; instead it is considered to be a subscriber and must pay the tax.

(b) A cellular telephone service company is a provider that provides access to 9-1-1 services through various switching mechanisms between cellular radio sites and exchanges access services.

(5) The return required by ORS 401.792 must be signed by the taxpayer or an authorized agent and made under penalties for false swearing. Returns received after the due date are subject to delinquency charges as provided in ORS Chapter 305, 314 and 316 the same as if the tax were a tax imposed upon or measured by net income. Returns received by mail are accepted without imposition of such charges if postmarked before midnight of the due date.

(6) Related providers may request permission from the department to file one telephone excise tax return per quarter.

(7) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, if a provider elects to pay the tax based on the amount actually collected as payment for exchange access services during the quarter and the provider receives only a partial payment from a subscriber:

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(a) The provider must apply the payment proportionately to the Oregon telephone excise tax and to all other charges appearing on the subscriber's bill.

(b) If the provider determines that the only unpaid portion of a subscriber's bill for all telephone services is in the amount of the Oregon telephone excise tax, the provider is not required to apportion the payment and may apply the payment first to all other charges appearing on the subscriber's bill.

(8) The provider must submit with its quarterly return to the department a list of all those subscribers that refuse to pay their Oregon telephone excise tax in whole or part. Such lists must include the name, address, telephone or service number of the subscriber, and the amount of Oregon excise tax owing. Any amount so reported to the department must be written off by the provider and the collection will be enforced by the department.

(9) When a provider proceeds to write off, charge off or cancel an uncollectible account, any amount of Oregon telephone excise tax unpaid on that account must be reported to the department as provided in section (8) of this rule.

Farm Income Averaging

(1)(a) Overview. An individual engaged in a farming business may elect to compute his or her current year (election year) income tax liability under ORS Chapter 316 by averaging, over the prior three-year period (base years), all or a portion of the individual's current year electable farm income (as defined in section (4) of this rule). To average farm income, the individual:

(A) Designates all or a portion of his or her elected farm income for the election year as elected farm income; and

(B) Allocates one-third of the elected farm income to each of the three base years; and

(C) Determines the election year tax under ORS Chapter 316 by determining the sum of:

(i) The election year ORS Chapter 316 tax without regard to the elected farm income; plus

(ii) For each base year, the increase in ORS Chapter 316 tax attributable to the elected farm income allocated to each year.

(b) Individual engaged in a farming business. An individual engaged in a farming business includes a sole proprietor of a farming business, a partner in a partnership engaged in a farming business, and a shareholder of an S corporation engaged in a farming business. Estates and trusts may not use farm income averaging. An individual is not required to have been engaged in a farming business in any of the base years in order to make a farm income averaging election.

(c) Making, changing, or revoking an election. A farm income averaging election is made by indicating the election on an individual's timely filed (including extensions) Oregon income tax return for the election year.

(A) An individual who has an adjustment for an election year or any base year may make a late farm income averaging election, change the amount of elected farm income in a previous election, or revoke a previous election, if the period of limitation prescribed in ORS 314.415 has not expired for the election year. For purposes of this paragraph, an adjustment is any change in taxable income or tax liability that is permitted to be made by filing an amended Oregon income tax return or a change in taxable income or tax liability made as the result of an examination or a federal audit report received from the Internal Revenue Service.

(B) If the individual does not have an adjustment as described in paragraph (A), the individual may not make a late farm income averaging election, change the amount of elected farm income in a previous election, or revoke a previous election, without the consent of the department.

Report of Changes in Federal Taxable Income

(1) Report Requirements. The report of change or correction required by ORS 314.380(2) must be:

(a) Filed in writing with the department;

(b) Signed by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's authorized representative; and,

(c) Filed separately from any statement or attachment forming a part of the taxpayer's original tax return.

(2) The report may be in the form of an amended return showing the adjustments and the recomputation of the tax. The report must include either a copy of the report of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) adjustment, federal revenue agent's report or the audit report of the other state's taxing authority, whichever is applicable, or other information sufficient to inform the department of each item on the tax return that has been changed or corrected.

(3) If the taxpayer does not concede the accuracy of any change or correction made by the IRS or other state's taxing authority, the report filed with the department must include a full explanation of the reason why the taxpayer believes such change or correction to be erroneous. If the report is not filed in the manner stated in this rule, the department will not be considered to have been notified by the taxpayer.

(4) A report of a change or correction is treated as a timely claim for refund, pursuant to ORS 314.415, if filed with the department within two years after the date of the IRS adjustment or the audit report of the other state's taxing authority.

Delinquency Penalty

(1) Although ORS 314.400(1) refers to a delinquency penalty for (A) failure to file a report or return by the due date or (B) failure to pay a tax due by the due date, only one five-percent penalty is added, even though there is a failure as to both requirements.

Example 1: Joe did not obtain an extension to file his tax return, which was due on April 15. On July 1, he filed the return and paid $2,000 of tax plus interest of $40. Joe will be charged a penalty of $100 ($2,000 x 5 percent).

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(2)(a) The delinquency penalty is based on the tax required to be shown on the return, reduced by credits claimed on the return and by any amount of the tax that is paid on or before the due date for payment. If the department determines that the tax shown on the return is greater than the tax required to be shown, the lesser amount is used to determine the penalty.

Example 2: Jeanette filed her tax return on time. The tax shown on the return was $800. Jeanette claimed credits of $150, withholding of $150, and showed a balance due of $500. She did not pay the $500 with the filing of the return. The department determined in processing the return that the tax required to be shown on the return was $600. The delinquency penalty of $15 is based on five percent of $300 ($600 tax required to be shown on the return, less credits of $150 and withholding of $150).

(b) The 20-percent penalty is in addition to the five-percent penalty. A 20-percent penalty is charged when:

(A) A tax return that is required to be filed annually or for a one-year period is not filed within three months of the due date (determined with regard to any extension of time to file granted to the taxpayer); or

(B) A tax return that is required to be filed more frequently than annually is not filed within one month of the due date (determined with regard to extensions).

Example 3: Pierre did not request an extension to file his return, which was due on April 15. He filed the return on November 1, showing tax of $900, credits of $300, and withholding of $200. Pierre sent a check for the balance due of $400 with the tax return. A total penalty of $100 will be charged; $20 for failure to pay the tax when due ($400 x 5 percent), and $80 for failing to file the return within three months of the due date ($400 x 20 percent).

Example 4: Same facts as Example 3, except Pierre received an extension to file until October 15. Pierre will be charged a five-percent penalty for failure to pay the tax when due. The 20-percent penalty for failure to file the return will not be charged because Pierre filed the return within three months of the extended due date.

Example 5: French Bakery did not file its Oregon Quarterly Tax Report for 1st quarter 2008 withholding, which was due on April 30, 2008. It filed the return on July 1, 2008, showing tax of $800 and prepayments of $500. French Bakery sent a check for the balance due of $300 with the tax return. A total penalty of $75 will be charged; $15 for failure to pay the tax when due ($300 x five percent), and $60 for failing to file the return within one month of the due date ($300 x 20 percent).

(c) If a taxpayer is required to file a federal income tax return for a period of less than 12 months under section 443 of the Internal Revenue Code, the Oregon personal income or corporate excise or income tax return required to be filed for that period is considered an annual filing thus subject to the additional 20-percent penalty.

(d) If a return or report is required to be filed on a one-time basis such as with inheritance returns, the return or report is considered an annual filing thus subject to the 20-percent penalty.

(e) If a taxpayer fails to file a return and the department must determine and assess the amount of tax, the penalties are based on the tax required to be shown on the return. The tax required to be shown on the return is reduced by any credits that may be lawfully claimed on the return and by any amount of the tax that is paid on or before the due date for payment.

Example 6: Isabelle filed her 2005 tax return on July 1, 2007. The tax shown on the return was $800 and Isabelle claimed credits of $300 and withholding of $400. She paid the balance due of $100 when she filed the return. Isabelle will be charged a five-percent failure-to-pay penalty, plus a 20 percent penalty for filing the return more than three months after the due date. The total penalty of $25 is based on $100 ($800 tax shown on the return less credits of $300 and withholding of $400).

Example 7: Same facts as Example 6, except that Isabelle did not file her 2005 tax return after being requested to do so by the department. The department determined that the tax required to be shown on the return was $900, allowable credits were $150 and withholding was $400. The penalty will be based on $350.

(3) Exceptions to the penalty for failure to pay tax when due, pursuant to the authority provided by 305.229.

(a) Payment of 90 percent of the tax determined, after withholdings and credits are subtracted from the tax otherwise due, as shown on the return. Income and excise tax returns filed within the period of an extension granted are not considered delinquent with regard to the time of filing. However, an extension of time to file a return does not extend the time for paying the tax. Thus, if the tax is not paid by the original due date of the return, a delinquency penalty of five percent is added to the total unpaid tax unless the taxpayer has met all of the following conditions:

(A) Filed for a federal automatic extension of time to file or filed for a separate Oregon extension, in accordance with current Oregon tax return instructions;

(B) At least 90 percent of the tax after credits as shown on the return was paid on or before the original due date of the return;

(C) The taxpayer's return is filed timely within the extension period;

(D) The balance of the tax as shown on the return is paid when the return is filed and any interest due is either paid when the return is filed or within 30 days of billing by the department.

Example 8: Henry filed an extension request with Oregon on April 15, along with a payment of $600. He filed his tax return on October 15. The tax shown on the return was $1,200 and Henry claimed total tax credits on the return of $200. Henry paid the balance due of $400 with the return. A five-percent penalty would be charged on the $400 paid on October 15 because Henry did not pay at least $900 (90 percent of the tax shown on the return {$1200}, less withholdings and credits {$200} or 90% of {$1200-$200}, which is $900), on or before the original due date of the return. Interest on the unpaid balance would be due from April 16 to October 15.

Example 9: Jan was granted an extension to file her federal tax return until October 15. She filed her Oregon return on June 14. The tax shown on the return was $2,500 and she had made estimated tax payments totaling $2,300. Jan paid the $200 tax due with the return. The five-percent penalty will not be charged on the $200 paid on June 14 if interest from April 16 to June 14 accompanies the $200 payment or if Jan pays the interest due on the unpaid balance of $200 within 30 days of billing by the department.

(b) Amended tax returns. If a taxpayer (individual or corporate) files an amended income or excise tax return accompanied by less than full payment of tax and interest, the department must send a billing notice indicating the amount of tax plus accrued interest to be paid. If the taxpayer pays the full amount of tax plus interest within 30 days of the date on the billing notice, the five-percent penalty for failure to pay the tax with the amended return will not apply.

Example 10: ABC Corporation filed an amended income tax return showing a balance of tax due of $1,000. A payment of $1,000 was submitted with the return. The $1,000 payment is first applied to interest that has accrued from the original due date of the return. The department determines that $200 of interest has accrued on the $1,000 of additional tax. Because the corporation has underpaid the tax by $200, ($1,000 payment less $200 applied to interest equals $800 of tax paid with the return), a five-percent penalty applies to the $200 of tax due. However, if ABC Corporation pays the $200 of tax plus any additional interest within 30 days of the date on the billing notice, the five-percent penalty will not apply.

(c) Deficiencies. If the department issues a Notice of Deficiency and the taxpayer pays the full amount of tax plus interest within 30 days of the date on the Notice of Deficiency, the five-percent penalty for failure to pay the tax required to be shown on the return will not apply. If the taxpayer pays only a portion of the tax plus interest, the five-percent penalty for failure to pay the tax required to be shown on the return will apply only to the unpaid portion of the tax.

Example 11: Hanna filed her original return timely but the department issued a Notice of Deficiency for $500 plus $75 interest. Hanna paid $300 within 30 days of the Notice of Deficiency. The five-percent penalty will apply to the unpaid deficiency ($575 deficiency plus interest - $300 payment = $275 unpaid deficiency) because she did not pay the deficiency plus interest in full within 30 days of the Notice of Deficiency.

(d) Differences in the amount of prepaid tax. If a taxpayer (individual or corporate) files an income tax return or an excise tax return and the taxpayer overstates the amount of tax that was paid on or before the due date, the department must send a billing notice indicating the amount of additional tax and interest due. If the taxpayer pays the full amount of tax plus interest within 30 days of the date on the billing notice, the five-percent penalty for failure to pay the tax by the due date does not apply.

Example 12: Maria filed her individual income tax return on April 15. The tax shown on the return was $1,300. She claimed credits of $300 and state income tax withholding of $600. The $400 balance of tax due as shown on the return was paid with the return. During processing of the return, the correct amount of state income tax withholding is determined to be $350. Because Maria did not pay $250 of tax by the due date, a five-percent penalty applies. If Maria pays the additional tax due of $250 plus any additional interest within 30 days of the date on the department's notice, the five-percent penalty will not be charged.

Example 13: Same facts as Example 12, except Maria did not pay the $400 balance due when she filed the return. A penalty of $20 ($400 x 5 percent) is charged for failure to pay the $400 of tax when due. The $250 of additional tax resulting from the error in the amount of withholding will not have a five-percent penalty added if Maria pays the $250 of tax plus additional interest within 30 days of the department's notice.

(4) The penalties provided under ORS 305.265(13) and 314.400(6) are not combined. Only one 100 percent penalty may be assessed on a particular report or return.

150-314.402-(A)

Substantial Understatement Penalty (SUP)

(1) The department will assess a penalty if a substantial understatement of net tax exists for any taxable year. The penalty is equal to 20 percent of the amount of any underpayment of net tax attributable to the understatement. A substantial understatement exists only if incurred on the return of the individual, corporation, or reporting entity required to file a return and pay tax.

(2) Net Tax. In determining if a substantial understatement of net tax exists, net tax equals the total tax as calculated in accordance with the applicable provisions of ORS Chapters 314, 315, 316, 317, and 318, reduced by nonrefundable and refundable credits.

(3) Substantial Understatement of Net Tax. An understatement of net tax is substantial if the understatement exceeds $3,500 for corporations (other than S corporations, as defined in section 1361 of the Internal Revenue Code, or a personal holding company, as defined in section 542 of the Internal Revenue Code), or exceeds $2,400 for individuals and all other taxable entities.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(4) Penalty. The substantial understatement penalty is equal to 20 percent of the amount of the understatement of net tax.

(a) The total understatement of net tax is the amount of net tax due as determined by the department, minus:

(1) Net tax as reported on the return by the taxpayer for the taxable year.

(2) The tax attributable to any item for which there is or was substantial authority, and

(3) The tax attributable to any item for which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed on the return or in a statement attached to the return, and there is a reasonable basis for the tax treatment of the item by the taxpayer.

(b) Net tax as reported on the return is the amount of net tax reported by the taxpayer and determined before the taxpayer was first notified by the department concerning their tax liability. If the return shows no net income tax, the amount of net tax shown on the return is considered to be zero. In all cases, net tax as reported is computed without regard to:

(A) Withholdings;

(B) Estimated tax paid by the taxpayer; or

(C) The state surplus refund pursuant to ORS 291.349.

(5) The department will not impose a penalty under ORS 314.402 unless a return has been filed.

Example 1: A partnership return is adjusted for a $50,000 increase in unreported income. The partnership is owned by Renton, Mark, and Paul. The partnership adjustment results in an increase in net tax of $2,700 on Renton's individual return, $1,350 on Mark's individual return, and $900 on Paul's individual return. The SUP penalty is only assessed on Renton's tax due because only his return had an understatement of net tax exceeding $2,400 (the understatement threshold for the tax year). The adjustment to Mark and Paul's individual returns will not include the SUP penalty, although all three may be subject to other penalties as provided by law.

Example 2: Bobbie is a full-year resident who reported a federal adjusted gross income of $25,000, and claimed a $3,200 credit for taxes paid to California. Bobbie reported a net tax of zero on his personal income tax return because the $3,200 credit was larger than the $1,394 tax calculated on his taxable income. Upon audit, it was determined Bobbie did not qualify for the credit for taxes paid to California, and his return was adjusted to reflect a reduction of nonrefundable credits of $3,200. Bobby's net tax was understated by $1,394, the amount of net tax that would have been reported, had he not claimed the credit. Bobbie is not assessed an SUP penalty because his understatement was not more than $2,400 (the understatement threshold for the tax year).

Example 3: Tyler and Leah are full-year residents who filed a joint return reporting a federal adjusted gross income of $38,000. Tyler and Leah claimed a $200 child and dependent care credit, a $4,800 working family childcare credit, and a $1,200 earned income credit. Tyler and Leah reported tax before credits of $1,514 and a zero net tax, because their refundable credits were more than the tax calculated on their taxable income. Upon audit it was determined Tyler and Leah had $25,000 unreported Schedule C income and they no longer qualified for the child and dependent care credit, the working family child care credit, or the earned income credit. After the audit adjustment, Tyler and Leah's tax before credits is $3,773 and their net tax is $2,818. Tyler and Leah's net tax understatement is $2,818 because the net tax reported on their return was zero. Tyler and Leah will be assessed an understatement of net tax penalty of $564 ($2,818 x 20%) because their understatement exceeded the understatement threshold for the tax year.

Example 4: Meghan moved from Idaho to Oregon on May 1st. Meghan filed Oregon Form 40P on April 15th of the following year. Meghan reported $86,000 in wages and $55,000 of Schedule E rental income in the federal column of her return, and $45,000 of wages and no Schedule E rental income in the Oregon column. Meghan also claimed $16,500 in moving expenses in both the federal and Oregon columns. Meghan's income after subtractions is $124,500 in the federal column and $28,500 in the Oregon Column. Meghan's Oregon percentage is 23% (28,500/124,500). After deductions, Meghan reported $94,150 in taxable income and $1,950 tax before credits. Meghan claimed $3,500 in withholding payments, a $191 exemption credit, and an $800 credit for taxes paid to Idaho on mutually taxed income. Meghan's net tax as reported is $959 (1,950 - 191 - 800). Upon audit, the department determined $32,000 of Meghan's Schedule E income should have been reported in the Oregon column. Meghan's return was adjusted to report a total of $60,500 in the Oregon column, and her Oregon percentage was revised to 49%. Meghan's taxable income did not change because the adjustment only affected the Oregon column. However, her tax before credits was increased to $4,152 because of the increase to the Oregon percentage. Meghan's net tax as determined by the department is $3,161 (4,152 - 191 - 800). Meghan's withholding payment is not regarded in calculating net tax for the purpose of the substantial understatement penalty. Meghan did not have substantial authority for excluding the Schedule E income from the Oregon column and there was not adequate disclosure and a reasonable basis for the position. Meghan's understatement of net tax is $2,202. Meghan is not assessed an SUP as her understatement of net tax is less than the understatement threshold for the tax year.

Waiver of 20 Percent Substantial Understatement of Net Tax Penalty Imposed under ORS 314.402

(1) The department will waive the penalty if the taxpayer shows that there was reasonable cause for the understatement and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

(2) The department will not waive the penalty if the taxpayer was involved in an abusive transaction as defined in ORS 314.402(4) for the tax year at issue.

(3) Reasonable cause and good faith. A taxpayer's reasonable cause and good faith for a substantial understatement of net tax is demonstrated by the extent of the taxpayer's efforts to determine the taxpayer's correct tax liability under the law.

(a) The following circumstances demonstrate reasonable cause and good faith:

(A) The taxpayer relied on a position contained in a proposed federal regulation or state rule.

(B) The taxpayer honestly misunderstood the facts or law affecting the understatement, and the misunderstanding was reasonable in light of the taxpayer's experience, knowledge and education.

(C) The taxpayer or taxpayer's return preparer made a computational or transcriptional error in preparing the return.

(b) Generally, reliance on an information return, incorrect facts or advice of a professional does not demonstrate reasonable cause and good faith, unless under all the circumstances the taxpayer's reliance was reasonable. The following examples demonstrate reasonable cause and good faith:

Example 1: The taxpayer relied on erroneous information that was inadvertently included in the financial records of the taxpayer's business by others, if procedures existed that were designed to identify factual errors.

Example 2: The taxpayer relied on erroneous information reported on a Form 1099 provided by another person, if the taxpayer did not know or have reason to know that the information was incorrect.

(c) A taxpayer is considered to know or have reason to know that information is incorrect only if such information is inconsistent with other information reported to the taxpayer or is inconsistent with the taxpayer's knowledge of the underlying facts.

150-316.583

Estimated Tax: Application of Prior Year Overpayment (Refund)

(1) Definitions for purposes of this rule:

(a) "Open estimated tax account" is an account to which estimated tax installments may be made under ORS 316.579.

(b) "Estimated tax underpayment period" is the period after the due date for the fourth estimated tax installment but prior to the due date for filing the related tax return, excluding extensions, for that period. This period is generally January 16 through April 15.

(2) If a taxpayer elects on a return to have an overpayment of tax applied to an estimated tax account, the department generally will apply the overpayment to the subsequent year's open estimated tax account.

(3) Exceptions:

(a) Before the taxpayer's overpayment is applied to the open estimated tax account, the overpayment will first be subject to offset under ORS 314.415 and related rules.

(b) If there are two open estimated tax accounts for the same taxpayer (between January 1 to January 15), any amount requested to be applied to an estimated tax account will be posted to the tax year which is the later of the two open estimated tax accounts unless the taxpayer has requested in writing that the overpayment be applied to the earlier of the two open estimated tax accounts.

(c) If a taxpayer files a delinquent or amended return claiming a refund between the due date for a subsequent tax year's fourth estimated tax installment and the due date for filing the return for the subsequent tax year, excluding extension, the taxpayer may request in writing to have the overpayment applied against the estimated tax underpayment period to reduce interest on any underpayment of the estimated tax liability.

(4) Refunds from original returns. If a taxpayer requests to apply an overpayment from an original return filed on or before the return due date (including extensions), the department will apply the overpayment as of the first estimated tax installment due date of the open estimated tax account (generally April 15).

Example 1: The taxpayer files the 2015 Oregon personal income tax return on March 31, 2016. The return shows a refund due. The taxpayer elects on the return to have the refund applied to an estimated tax account. Because the return was filed before the due date of April 15, 2016, the refund will be credited to the open estimated tax account as of April 15, 2016, the due date of the first installment of estimated tax due for tax year 2016.

(5) Refunds from delinquent returns. If a taxpayer requests to apply an overpayment from a delinquent return to an open estimated tax account, the department will apply the overpayment to the estimated tax account as of the date the delinquent return is filed.

Example 2: The taxpayer files a 2015 Oregon personal income tax return late, on October 25, 2016, showing a refund due. The taxpayer elects on the delinquent return that the refund be applied to the taxpayer's estimated tax account. The overpayment is credited to the 2016 estimated tax account as of October 25, 2016, and is applied to the fourth installment of estimated tax due for tax year 2016.

Example 3: The taxpayer files a 2014 Oregon personal income tax return on January 10, 2016, showing a refund. The taxpayer elects on the delinquent return to have the refund applied to the taxpayer's estimated tax account. As of January 10, 2016, there are two open estimated accounts for the taxpayer: 1) the fourth installment for tax year 2015 and 2) the first installment for tax year 2016. The refund is credited as of January 10, 2016, against the first installment of estimated tax due for tax year 2016, due April 15, 2016. After the return has processed, the taxpayer writes to the department and requests that the 2014 refund instead be applied to the fourth installment for tax year 2015. The department moves the estimated tax payment from tax year 2016 to tax year 2015. The payment is applied as of January 10, 2016, the date the delinquent return was filed.

Example 4: The taxpayer files a 2014 Oregon personal income tax return on March 1, 2016, showing a refund. The taxpayer elects on the delinquent return to have the refund applied to the taxpayer's estimated tax account. The taxpayer has not yet filed the 2015 Oregon personal income tax return. The overpayment is credited consistent with section (3)(b) of this rule to the 2016 estimated tax account as of March 1, 2016. After the 2014 Oregon return has processed, the taxpayer writes to the department to indicate the taxpayer would like the refund applied to the 2015 estimated tax underpayment period. The department moves the application from tax year 2016 to tax year 2015 and applies the payment as of March 1, 2016, the date the delinquent return was filed.

(6) Refunds from amended returns. If the taxpayer elects on an amended return to have an overpayment applied to estimated tax, the department will apply the overpayment to an open estimated tax account. The overpayment shall be applied as of the date the amended return is filed. If interest is due on the overpayment, the interest will stop accruing on the date the amended return is filed.

Example 5: A taxpayer files a 2015 Oregon personal income tax original return timely on March 13, 2016. The taxpayer then files a 2015 Oregon amended return on October 15, 2016, claiming a $500 overpayment and electing to have the entire refund applied to the open estimated tax account. The refund is reduced to $400 in processing and approved on November 15, 2016. The 2014 refund is applied to the taxpayer's 2016 estimated tax account as of October 15, 2016, the date the amended return was filed. Interest on the overpayment is calculated starting June 2, 2016, 45 days after the return due date (excluding extension), and ending October 15, 2016, the date the return was filed.

Chapter 141

Rule Caption: Placer Mining General Authorization: Implement Moratorium and Process Changes; Eliminate Specific Limitations

Adm. Order No.: DSL 4-2015(Temp)

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-28-2015

Certified to be Effective: 1-2-16 thru 6-29-16

Notice Publication Date:

Rules Amended: 141-089-0820, 141-089-0825, 141-089-0835

Subject: A legislatively established moratorium (Enrolled Senate Bill 838 2013) on some motorized placer mining will begin on January 2, 2016. It was necessary to revise the Department's General Authorization in response to SB 838 statutory changes, including implementing the moratorium for some motorized placer mining. The temporary rule clarifies the process for determining eligibility for the General Authorization and removes certain limitations on placer mining that were established for the period ending January 2, 2016. The agency will be conducting permanent rulemaking and taking public comment in response to any relevant new legislation that may result from the 2016 session. Since at the time of this filing the results of the 2016 Legislative Session are unknown, the agency is filing this temporary rule so it goes into effect by January 2, 2016. The permanent rule will go into effect no more than 180-days from the date of this filing.

Rules Coordinator: Sabrina L. Owings — (503) 986-5200

Purpose

(1) These rules set forth conditions under which a person may, without an individual removal-fill permit from the Department, fill, remove and move material in waters of this state for the purpose of recreational placer mining within areas designated as Essential Indigenous Anadromous Salmonid Habitat (ESH) that is not designated as State Scenic Waterway (SSW) and that is not subject to a legislatively established moratorium.

(2) There is a legislatively established moratorium from January 2, 2016, to January 2, 2021. This moratorium applies for all placer deposits of the beds or banks of all waters of this state, or other placer deposits, up to the line of ordinary high water, and 100 yards upland perpendicular to the line of ordinary high water, that is located above the lowest extent of the spawning habitat in any river and tributary thereof in this state containing either essential indigenous anadromous salmonid habitat or naturally reproducing populations of bull trout, except for the following two areas:

(a) Areas that do not support populations of anadromous salmonids or naturally reproducing populations of bull trout due to a naturally occurring or lawfully placed barrier to fish passage.

(b) Any area where an operating permit that was issued by the State Department of Geology and Mineral Industries under ORS 517.702 to 517.989 authorizes a person to conduct recreational placer mining.

Eligibility Requirements

(1) Purpose. The activity is for the specific purpose of recreational placer mining.

(2) Limited Number. Notwithstanding OAR 141-089-0640, the Department shall limit the total number of authorizations and permits for motorized mining in any river and tributary thereof, of which any portion contains ESH or naturally reproducing populations of bull trout, to 850 annually using the following process:

(a) For eligible notifications that are received between January 1 and the last business day in February of each year, priority, to the greatest extent practicable, will be given to persons who have held a general authorization for recreational placer mining or an individual permit for motorized placer mining from the Department of State Lands, or a 700PM permit from the Department of Environmental Quality, for the longest period of time between 2006 and 2014. The Department will assign one point for each year a person has held an authorization or permit from either agency between 2006 and 2014, for a possible total of up to nine points.

(b) The persons that receive the highest number of points will receive authorizations or permits. If there are more persons that have the same number of points compared to the number of permits or authorizations available, permits or authorizations will be awarded through random selection.

(c) If fewer than 850 eligible notifications are received between January 1 and the last business day in February of each year and there is a balance of permits or authorizations to distribute, priority will be given according to date of notification.

(d) Individual permit applications for motorized placer mining received between January 1 and the last business day in February of each year will be included in the process described in (a) through (b) above, and those received after the last business day in February of each year will be included in the process described in (c) above.

(e) The Department will notify persons of the issuance or denial of an authorization by April 30 of each year. The notice is served when deposited in the United States Mail.

(3) Threshold. The activity will remove, fill or move cumulatively less than twenty-five (25) cubic yards of material annually from or within the bed and banks of waters of this state that are designated as ESH.

(4) Expiration of Recreational Placer Mining Authorizations and Permits. Authorizations issued under the Recreational Placer Mining GA expire on December 31 of each year. Individual permits issued for recreational placer mining shall expire December 31 of each year.

(5) Report. A completed Recreational Placer Mining Report for the previous year must be submitted to the Department by the last business day in February of each year.

(6) Transfer of Authorization is not Allowed. An authorization cannot be transferred to another person.

Activity-Specific Conditions

Proposed projects eligible for this General Authorization must adhere to the general conditions in OAR 141-089-0650, unless otherwise specified in these rules. The following activity-specific conditions also apply:

(1) Prevent Fish Stranding. Upon completion of the activity at any given location, the responsible party must level all piles and fill all furrows, potholes and other depressions created by the activity. The activity is complete if the responsible party does not return to that location to conduct the activity within 24 hours.

(2) Wet Perimeter. The activity is confined to the wet perimeter. The wet perimeter is the area of the stream that is under water or is exposed as a non-vegetated, dry gravel-bar island surrounded on all sides by actively moving water at the time the activity occurs.

(3) Disturbance of the Bank and Riparian Vegetation. The activity must not disturb the bank. Undercutting or eroding banks and removal or disturbance of boulders, rooted vegetation or embedded woody material and other habitat structure from the bank is prohibited. Creation of new access routes that disturb or destroy woody riparian vegetation is not allowed.

(4) Fish Passage. The activity does not divert a waterway or obstruct fish passage.

(5) Minimization of Impounded Water. The activity may impound only the minimal area of water necessary to operate the dredge under the following conditions:

(a) The temporary dam does not extend across more than 75% of the wetted perimeter;

(b) The designs for the temporary dam are consistent with ODFW requirements set forth in ORS 509.580 through 509.901 and OAR 635-412-0005 through 635-412-0040;

(c) The impoundment structure is removed immediately upon completion of the mining activity. The activity is complete if the responsible party does not return to that location to conduct the activity within 24 hours.

(6) No Disturbance of Stream Structure. No movement of boulders, logs, stumps or other woody material from the bed is allowed, other than movement by hand and non-motorized equipment. The boulders and other stream structure must be returned to its original position upon completion of the mining activity. The activity is complete if the responsible party does not return to that location to conduct the activity within 24 hours.

(7) Dredge Intake Nozzle Limited. The suction dredge must have an intake nozzle that has an inside diameter not exceeding four inches.

(8) Refueling. All fuel and oil must be stored in an impermeable container and must be located at least 25 feet from the wet perimeter of the stream. For dredge locations where a 25 foot buffer is not possible, secondary containment is required.

(9) Annual Report Required. The responsible party must maintain a monitoring log and record the date, location, nozzle diameter and amount of material disturbed for each day of operation. By February 28 of each year, the responsible party must submit to the Department an annual report, on a form provided by the Department, which states the estimated amount of material that was filled, removed or moved in each specific waterway during the preceding calendar year. If no jurisdictional activity was conducted, the report must be submitted reporting zero cubic yards for the year. Authorizations will not be renewed for the following calendar year if the annual report is not filed by February 28.

(10) Responsible Party Must be Present. Alternate persons may operate the suction dredge, provided the responsible party listed on the authorization is present at all times during suction dredge operation.

(11) Limited to One Suction Device. Only one suction dredge, one hose, and one nozzle may be operated at any given time under this authorization.

(12) Wheeled or Tracked Equipment not Allowed. Operation of motorized wheeled or tracked equipment, except for the suction dredge and life support systems, is prohibited below ordinary high water.

(13) Operation Limited to Locations Listed. The operation is limited to the locations listed on the authorization. Written requests to modify locations for this authorization will be reviewed within 14 days of the request, upon which time the Department may issue a revised authorization.

Rule Caption: Amend existing special use rules to include geothermal resources installations.

Adm. Order No.: DSL 5-2015

Filed with Sec. of State: 12-29-2015

Certified to be Effective: 12-29-15

Notice Publication Date: 5-1-2014

Rules Amended: 141-125-0170

Subject: With the recent renewed interest in Oregon's geothermal resources, several companies wanting to explore for and develop geothermal resources on state-owned land have contacted the Department.

In reviewing the geothermal rules, both the Department and applicants have found them to be difficult to understand and unduly complicated. Additionally, many of the terms and conditions provided in the rules are inconsistent with those currently used by the Department in other leasing programs.

On June 8, 2010, the State Land Board authorized the Department to initiate rulemaking to amend the administrative rules governing the exploration for and development of geothermal resources. These rules have not been amended since their adoption by the Land Board on October 11, 1974.

During the initial phase of rulemaking, staff made the recommendation to incorporate geothermal resources into the Department's Special Use Rules (Division 125) rather than updating the existing geothermal rules. These rules already govern the exploration for and development of other types of renewable energy, including wind turbines and wind farms, solar energy installations and biomass generating facilities. The administrative procedures and policies are current in Division 125 (these rules were last amended in 2008). As stated above, the geothermal rules were last revised in 1974, and will require a major re-write in order to be consistent with the Department's current administrative policies and procedures. It is expected that the Department will save money and staff time by incorporating geothermal resources into Division 125.

Upon completion of the rulemaking effort, the Department will repeal the administrative rules governing the exploration for and development of geothermal resources (OAR 141-075-0010 through 141-075-0575). The content of these rules will be added to the special use rules to include the exploration for and development of geothermal resources (OAR 141-125).

(5) The holder of a lease or license may request the Department close all or portions of the authorized area to public entry or restrict recreational use by the public to protect the persons, property, developments and/or crops from harm.

(6) The Department or its authorized representative(s) will have the right to enter into and upon the authorized area at any time for the purposes of inspection or management, or to conduct noxious plant or pest abatement, or for wildfire control.

(9) The holder of a special use authorization must cooperate and comply with:

(a) Appropriate county agencies and the Oregon Department of Agriculture in the detection, prevention and control of noxious plants. Purpose and Scope

(1) These rules establish permit and other requirements for the use of pest control fireworks, as allowed under HB 2432 (2015 OL Ch. 57) and 480.124, to repel birds or other animals from certain properties.

(2) A pest control fireworks permit allows the permit holder to engage only in those activities including the purchase, transportation, possession, storage and use of pest control fireworks (1.4E) when those activities are otherwise in conformance with the requirements of HB 2432 (2015 OL Ch. 57) and ORS 480.124, these rules, and any other applicable state, federal, or local requirements.

(3) An individual member of the general public may not buy or use pest control fireworks unless they have applied for and obtained a pest control fireworks permit from the Office of State Fire Marshal pursuant to these rules. Violation of these rules may result in confiscation of the fireworks, and the assessment of penalties in accordance with ORS 480.990 and OAR 837-012-0560.

Pest Control Fireworks Permit Applications

(1) Any person engaged in, or intending to engage in, the use of pest control fireworks must apply for and obtain pest control fireworks permit issued by the Office of State Fire Marshal.

(2) Upon receipt of a properly completed and approved application, the Office of State Fire Marshal will issue a nontransferable permit to the applicant or persons designated to discharge the fireworks. The State Fire Marshal may deny any application for a permit to discharge pest control fireworks upon determining the proposed purchase or use is not in accordance with these rules or applicable statutes. A separate pest control fireworks permit must be applied for and obtained for each property where a person desires to use pest control fireworks. A separate permit is not necessary for multiple contiguous properties if the applicant has responsible charge of all the properties.

(3) The application for a pest control fireworks permit must be made on a form provided by the Office of State Fire Marshal.

(4) All information provided by the applicant on the permit application must be true and correct to the permit applicant's knowledge.

(5) All applications must include a statement describing the bird or animal activities that the applicant deems to be injurious or destructive to the property on which the pest control fireworks are to be used. Such statement shall also include the types of birds or animals to be repelled by pest control fireworks.

(6) If a permit holder wishes to repel birds or animals not identified on the current permit, or wishes to address destructive or injurious activities not identified on the current permit, the permit holder must request the Office of State Fire Marshal revise the permit. Prior to the Office of State Fire Marshal revising the permit, the permit holder must submit a supplemental written statement identifying the birds or animals, or the activities that the applicant deems to be injurious or destructive to the property, on which the pest control fireworks are to be used.

(7) The Office of State Fire Marshal may grant or deny permit applications within 10 business days following receipt of a properly completed and submitted permit application. Any denial will be in conformance with ORS 183.310 to 183.550.

(6) The issuance of a retail permit does not in any way constitute approval by the Office of State Fire Marshal of any retail fireworks purchased, sold or provided pursuant to the retail permit.

(7) A retail permit allows the holder of the permit to engage in the purchase, transportation, possession, storage and sales of retail fireworks when those activities are otherwise in conformance with the applicable requirements of ORS 480.111 through 480.165, OAR chapter 837, division 12 and any other applicable federal, state or local laws, rules or regulations pertaining to fireworks.

(10) The retail permit and permit number issued by the Office of State Fire Marshal are valid for the sale of retail fireworks from June 23 through July 6 of the year in which the permit was issued.

(11) A retail permit is valid only for the retail sales outlet and retail site listed on the permit.

(12) Only the retail permit holder, and any employees or volunteers of the retail permit holder, may engage in retail operations authorized by the retail permit.

(15) Retail permit holders may not contract, subcontract, lease, sublease or convey by any other means to another person any rights granted under the retail permit.

(16) The retail permit issued by the Office of State Fire Marshal does not require property owners or others to allow sales of retail fireworks on their property. The Office of State Fire Marshal will not intercede on the behalf of retail permit holders with property owners who refuse to allow sales of retail fireworks on their property, or, in the case of two permit applications submitted or two retail permit inadvertently issued for the same retail site, when there is a question of which applicant or retail permit holder has permission from the property owner to conduct sales at the retail site.

(7) "Black match" means fuse made from string impregnated with black powder and used for igniting fireworks devices.

(8) "Break" means an individual burst from an aerial shell, generally either producing a visual effect (stars) or noise (salute). Aerial shells can be either single-break (having only one burst) or multi-break (having two or more bursts).

(11) "Cake device" means multi-shot device.

(12) "Chain fusing" means a series of two or more aerial shells or pyrotechnic devices used to fire in sequence from a single ignition. Finales and barrages typically are chain fused.

(g) The applicant submitted a fraudulent permit application; or

(h) Any other violation of the fireworks statutes or rules.

(4) The period of denial, revocation or suspension may not exceed three years. In determining the appropriate sanction, the Office of State Fire Marshal may consider the following criteria:

Purchase, Transportation and Storage of Display Fireworks

(1) General and limited display permit holders must purchase or otherwise obtain display fireworks only from wholesalers who possess a current and valid wholesale permit issued by the Office of State Fire Marshal.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(2) General and limited display permit holders must purchase or otherwise obtain display fireworks only from the wholesaler listed on the display permit.

(3) If the wholesaler who supplies the display fireworks is different from the wholesaler listed on the display permit, the display permit holder must notify, in writing, the Office of State Fire Marshal and the local fire authority of the change at least 24 hours prior to purchasing the display fireworks from the wholesaler.

(4) The designated agent may pick up fireworks from the wholesaler and deliver only to the storage site as listed on the display permit or directly to the display site as listed on the permit.

(5) The permit holder, or their designated agent, must possess the display permit at the time the display fireworks are picked up from or delivered by the wholesaler.

(6) The permit holder, or their designated agent, may transport the display fireworks only to the:

(a) Storage site approved by the local fire authority and the Office of State Fire Marshal and listed on the display permit; or

(b) The display site listed on the display permit.

(7) The permit holder or their designated agent must comply with all applicable federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations pertaining to the transportation of fireworks.

(8) Prior to acceptance of display fireworks from a wholesaler, the permit holder, or their designated agent, must confirm that the outside of all cartons, containers or cases of display fireworks, and any accompanying documentation, are affixed with the full permit holder name and display permit number of the display permit corresponding to the permit holder authorizing the display fireworks being received and the wholesaler name and their Oregon wholesale permit number of the Oregon wholesaler who supplied the display fireworks.

(9) Display permit holders, or their designated agent, may not accept any cartons, containers or cases of display fireworks or accompanying documentation that do not show the required information pursuant to subsections (8) of this rule. If the required permit holder name and display permit number is not on the outside of all cartons, containers or cases of display fireworks, and any accompanying documentation, the permit holder must refuse to accept the display fireworks.

(10) Permit holder name and display permit number and the wholesaler name and permit number must be maintained on any carton, containers or cases containing display fireworks authorized by a display permit.

(11) The storage of display fireworks must comply with the following:

(a) OAR chapter 837, division 12;

(b) Oregon Fire Code, as adopted by the State Fire Marshal pursuant to OAR 837-040-0010.

(c) Oregon Structural Specialty Code, as adopted by the Oregon Building Codes Division pursuant to OAR 918-460-0010.

(d) NFPA 1124, Code for the Manufacture, Transportation and Storage of Fireworks 2013 Edition; and

(d) United States Department of Transportation laws and regulations. See also CFR Title 17, Part 18, Subparts J and JJ.

(13) Fireworks may be delivered to the display site up to a maximum of 72 hours prior to the date and time of the permitted display. Security at the display site will be continuous until the date and time of the display. Fireworks may be delivered to the display site up to 72 hours prior only after a security plan has been submitted to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives and approved by the local fire authority.

(14) Special consideration may be given for increasing the 72 hours maximum as allowed in 837-012-0835(13) for exceptionally large displays. Approval must be granted prior to arriving at the display site and must be approved by the Office of State Fire Marshal, the local fire authority, and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.

Selection of Display Site and Set Up

(1) Prior to the display, the areas selected for the discharge site, fall-out area, spectator viewing and parking may be inspected and approved by the local fire authority and law enforcement authority.

(2) The purpose of this rule is to provide guidance for clearances upon which the local fire authority and law enforcement authority may base their approval or denial of the display site.

(3) The required minimum separation distance between the discharge site and any spectators, vehicles or readily combustible materials is set forth in Table 1. This distance is determined by the largest size aerial shell to be discharged at the intended display. At a minimum, the fallout area for a display must be the required minimum separation distance set forth in Table 1.

(a) Where added safety precautions have been taken, or particularly favorable conditions exist, the local fire authority may decrease the required separation distance pursuant to Table 1. In no case may the required separation distance be less than 70' per inch of aerial shell diameter. Final approval of the decrease in distance is the responsibility of the Office of State Fire Marshal.

(b) When unusual or safety threatening conditions exist, the local fire authority may increase the required separation distance pursuant to Table 1 as necessary to provide adequate safety for the display site, spectators, and surrounding property.

(4) The required minimum distance from the discharge site to any health care, detention or correctional facility must be at least twice the distance set forth in Table 1.

(5) The required minimum distance from the discharge site to any bulk storage area of materials that pose a flammability, explosive, or toxic hazard must be at least twice the distance set forth in Table 1.

NOTE: To determine whether materials pose these hazards, see NFPA's Fire Protection Guide to Hazardous Materials. Table not included. See ED. NOTE.

(6) Figure 1 demonstrates some of the location requirements for a suitable display site where mortars are placed vertically, such as may be the case for an electrically ignited display: Figure not included. See ED. NOTE.

(7) The discharge site must be located so the trajectories of the aerial shells do not come within 25 feet of any overhead object.

(8) Ground display pieces must be located at a minimum distance of 75 feet from spectator viewing and parking areas.

EXCEPTION: For ground display pieces with greater hazard potential (such as large wheels with powerful drivers, and items employing large salutes), and roman candles and multi-shot devices, the minimum separation distance must be increased to 140 feet minimum or 100 feet per inch of shell diameter. Example: 1.75" artillery type mortar shells must have a minimum separation distance of 175'.

EXCEPTION: Limited display permit that authorize only retail fireworks may not be subject to the 140 foot separation requirement. Separation requirements for limited display permit authorizing only the use of retail fireworks are at the discretion of the local fire authority.

(9) Where aerial shells are to be stored at the discharge site for subsequent loading into mortars during the display, the mortars must be placed at least 1/6, but not more than 1/3, the distance from the center of the display site toward the main spectator area. The mortars must be angled such that any dud shells will fall at a point approximately equal to the offset of the mortars from the center of the display site but in the opposite direction.

(10) Figure 2 demonstrates some of the location requirements for a suitable display site when aerial shells are to be stored at the discharge site for subsequent loading into mortars during the display, such as may be the case with a manually ignited display: Figure not included. See ED. NOTE.

(11) Fireworks may not be discharged within 100 feet of any tent or canvas shelter. Unauthorized tents may not be located within the display site.

(12) Fallout areas:

(a) The fallout area must be a large, open area;

(b) Spectators, vehicles, or readily combustible materials may not be located within the fall out area during the display.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

837-012-0850

Construction of Fireworks Aerial Shells

(1) Shells may be classified and described only in terms of the inside diameter of the mortar in which they can be safely used, such as three inch shells are only for use in three inch mortars) ;

(2) Aerial shells must be constructed so that they fit easily into the appropriate size mortar and so that the lift charge and internal delay fuse are appropriate to propel the shell to a safe altitude before functioning.

(3) Shells must be labeled with the type of shell, the shell size and the name of the manufacturer or distributor.

(4) The label or wrapper of any type of aerial shell must be conspicuously marked with a number to indicate the shell size (the diameter of the mortar to be used).

(5) The label or wrapper of any type of aerial salute must be conspicuously marked with the word "salute";

(6) For aerial shells using quick match fuse to ignite the lift charge, that fuse must be long enough to allow not less than six inches of fuse to protrude from the mortar after the shell has been properly inserted.

EXCEPTION: This requirement does not apply when shells are to be fired electrically.

(7) In order to allow the individual igniting the aerial shells to safely retreat, the time delay between igniting the tip of the shell's fuse and the firing of the shell may not be less than three seconds or more than six seconds.

EXCEPTION: For electrically ignited displays, there is no requirement for a delay period.

(8) A safety cap must be installed over the exposed end of the fuse. The safety cap must be of a different color than that of the fuse. The safety cap must be installed in such a manner so the fuse is not damaged;

EXCEPTION: For electrically fired displays, there is no requirement for safety caps except there must be no exposed pyrotechnic composition.

(9) Single break salute shells may not exceed three inches in diameter or three inches in length (exclusive of the lift charge). The maximum quantity of salute powder in such salutes may not exceed 3 ounces;

(10) Storage of fireworks and aerial shells not in mortars:

(a) All fireworks must be stored and transported according to the requirements prior to reaching the display site. (See also CFR Title 27, Part 18, Subparts J and JJ.);

(b) As soon as the fireworks have been delivered to the display site, they may not be left unattended or allowed to become wet;

(c) All fireworks must be inspected when practical after delivery to the site but always prior to the start of loading shells by the operator or a qualified assistant. Any shells having tears, leaks, broken fuses, or showing signs of having been wet must be set aside and must not be fired. After the display, any such shells must either be returned to the wholesaler or destroyed according to the wholesaler's instructions;

EXCEPTION: Minor repairs to fuses may be allowed. Also, for electrically ignited displays, attachment of electric matches and other similar tasks may be permitted.

(d) Upon delivery to the display site, all shells must be separated according to size and as to whether they are salutes. Until they are loaded into mortars, shells must be stored in covered containers such as ready boxes or corrugated cartons meeting U.S. Department of Transportation requirements for the transportation of fireworks;

(e) During performance of an outdoor display, Ready Boxes must be located at a distance of not less than 30 feet upwind from the mortar placements. If the wind should shift during a display, the ready boxes must be relocated to be 30 feet upwind from the discharge site.

EXCEPTIONS:

(A) When acceptable to the local fire authority, alternate measures may be taken.

(B) When there are no shells needing storage during a display, such as for an electrically ignited display, or where all shells are preloaded into their mortars prior to the start of the display, there is no need for ready boxes.

(11) Installation of mortars:

(a) Prior to placement mortars must be carefully inspected for defects, such as dents, bent ends, damaged interiors, and damaged plugs. Mortars found to be defective must not be used;

(b) Mortars must be positioned vertically or so that shells are propelled away from spectators and over a fallout area. Under no circumstances may mortars be angled toward the spectator viewing areas;

NOTE: It is generally believed that when manually firing aerial fireworks, mortars should be angled 2 to 4 degrees.

(c) Mortars must be buried to a depth of a minimum of 2/3 of their length, either in the ground or in aboveground troughs or drums;

EXCEPTION: Securely positioned mortar racks may be used for the firing of single break shells not exceeding six inches in diameter.

(d) Refer to NFPA 1123, Table A.4.3.9 for minimum inside mortar length requirements.

(e) Under conditions when paper mortars may be damaged by placement in damp ground, paper mortars must be placed inside a moisture-resistant bag prior to placement in damp ground;

(f) Whenever there is the likelihood of ground water leaking into the mortar, the mortar must be placed inside a water-resistant bag prior to placement in the ground;

(g) Weather-resistant coverings must be placed over the mouth of mortars whenever there is imminent danger of water collecting in the mortars;

(h) In soft ground, when there is significant danger of the mortars being driven further into the ground when they are fired, sufficient added support must be placed beneath the mortars;

EXCEPTION: When a mortar is only to be used once, such as for an electrically fired display, added support is optional.

(i) Mortars that are buried in the ground, in troughs, or in drums must be separated from adjacent mortars by a distance at least equal to the diameter of the mortar. Mortars in troughs or drums must be positioned to afford the maximum protection to the operator;

EXCEPTION: The requirements do not apply when electrical firing is used.

(j) If troughs and drums are used, they must be filled with sand or soft dirt; in no case may stones or other possible dangerous debris be used;

(k) Whenever more than three shells are to be chain fused, such as for sequential firing, additional measures are required to prevent adjacent mortars from being repositioned in the event a shell detonates in a mortar, causing the mortar to burst. For buried mortars, this must be accomplished by placing the mortars with a minimum separation of four times their diameter. For mortars in racks, this must be accomplished by using mortar racks that have sufficient strength to successfully withstand such a failure;

EXCEPTIONS:

(A) When there is doubt concerning the strength of racks holding chain fused mortars, the separation distances for those racks from spectator or parking areas must be twice those listed in Table 1.

(B) When the separation distance is two times that required in Table 1, buried mortars must be separated from each other by a minimum of one times the internal diameter of the largest mortar in the sequence.

(l) When mortars are to be reloaded during a display, mortars of various sizes may not be intermixed. Mortars of the same size must be placed in groups, and the groups must be separated from each other;

(m) When operators or assistants are to be in the immediate area of the mortars during a display, sand bags or other suitable protection must be placed around the mortars up to the approximate level of the mouth of the mortar in each direction where operators or assistants could be located;

(n) Mortars must be inspected before the first shells are loaded to be certain that no water or debris has accumulated in the bottom of the mortar;

(o) Mortars must be of sufficient strength and durability to safely fire the aerial shells to be used;

(p) Cast iron mortars may not be used;

(q) Metal mortars may be either seamed or seamless; however, seamed mortars must be placed so the seam is facing either right or left as one faces the line of mortars;

(r) Mortars must be of sufficient length to cause aerial shells to be propelled to safe heights;

(s) A cleaning tool must be provided for the cleaning of debris from mortars as necessary;

EXCEPTION: When mortars are not to be reloaded during a display, there is no requirement for a cleaning tool.

(t) Numerals indicating the inside diameter of the mortar may be conspicuously painted or otherwise marked near the top of all mortars.

(12) When more than one operator or assistant will be igniting the aerial shells for a display, it is preferred the line of mortars be separated in some manner and that only one operator or assistant light shells in each designated area.

(13) Electrical firing unit:

(a) The purpose of this section is to provide guidance for the design of electrical firing units to be used when it is decided to electrically fire displays;

(b) At no point may electrical contact be allowed to occur between any wiring associated with the electrical firing unit and any metal object in contact with the ground;

(c) If the electrical firing unit is powered from AC power lines, some form of line isolation must be employed such as a line isolation transformer;

(d) The electrical firing unit must include a key-operated switch or other similar device that greatly reduces the possibility that unauthorized or unintentional firings can occur;

EXCEPTION: When the electrical firing unit is very small in size and attached to the wire running to electric matches for the brief duration of the actual firing, there is no requirement for a key-operated switch.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(e) Manually activated electrical firing units must be designed such that at least two positive actions must be taken to apply electric current to an electric match. For example, this may be accomplished with two switches in series, both of which must be operated in order to pass current;

(f) Computer-activated automatic sequencing type electrical firing units must have some form of “dead-man-switch,” such that firings will cease the moment the switch is released;

(g) If the electrical firing unit has a built-in-test circuit, the unit must be designed to limit the test current (into a short circuit) to 0.05 ampere or to 20 percent of the no-fire current of the electric match, whichever is less;

(h) Multi-testers, such as Volt-O-meters, may not be used for testing unless their maximum current delivering potential has been measured and found to meet the requirements of subsection (g) of this section;

(i) When any testing of firing circuits is performed, no person may be present in the immediate area of fireworks that have been attached to the electrical firing unit.

Barge Requirements

(1) Barges may be permitted to be manned or unmanned as long as the barge operators remain in control of the barge, and the operator and assistants remain in control of the barge display site and firing of the display.

(2) The movement and location of a barge must be controlled at all times, whether self-propelled, controlled by another vessel, or secured by anchoring or mooring.

(3) The means of controlling the movement and location of a barge pursuant to subsection (2) of this rule must be done so by means approved by the local fire authority prior to the display.

(4) Barges may be used as a discharge site only if the barge is sufficiently stable and seaworthy so the type of fireworks and the placement of the fireworks, mortars, and accompanying equipment on the barge does not compromise the stability or seaworthiness of the barge when the fireworks are discharged.

(5) When a barge is manned during the firing of the display, a safety shelter must be present on the barge. The safety shelter must:

(a) Be of sufficient size to accommodate all individuals present during the actual firing of the display;

(b) Have a minimum of three sides and a roof; and

(c) Have walls and a roof constructed of at least 3/4 in. (19 mm) plywood or equivalent material.

(6) Separation between mortars and a safety shelter must be 2ft/in. (0.6 m/25 mm) of diameter of any mortars up to 6 in. (152 mm) in diameter. For shells larger than 6 in. (152 mm) in diameter, the minimum separation distance must be 4 ft/in. (1.22 m/25 mm) of shell diameter.

EXCEPTION: If the safety shelter is constructed of stronger material, the separation distance between mortars and the shelter may be permitted to be reduced at the discretion of the local fire authority and the Office of State Fire Marshal.

(7) The required minimum size for a barge (in square feet) for a particular display must be determined by the following calculations;

(a) Minimum discharge site (in square ft) = sum of (total number of each size mortar times its inside diameter) divided by two (2).

EXCEPTIONS: Multi-shot devices up to 3 in. in diameter must be calculated at twice the actual footprint of each such device (length X width). Ground display pieces may be excluded from the calculations for minimum display set-up area.

(b) Total # of 3 in. Mortar x 3 + total number of 4 in. Mortars x 4 + total number of 5 in. Mortars x 5 + etc.)/2

EXAMPLE: A display containing 100 - 3 in. shells, 50 - 4 in. shells, 20 - 5 in. shells, 10 - 6 in. shells, and 5 - 8 in. shells would require the following minimum display set-up area. Table not included. See ED. NOTE.

(8) Barges must be configured, and the display arranged, so operators, assistants and any other individuals on the barge can readily exit the barge in case of an emergency.

Operation of Fireworks Display

(1) The sponsor of the display must provide adequate fire protection for the display.

(2) The sponsor or the operator must consult with the fire authority to determine the level of fire protection required.

(3) Monitors whose sole duty is enforcement of crowd control must be located around the display area by the sponsor. The fire authority must approve the provisions for crowd control.

(4) Monitors must be located around the display site to prevent spectators or any other unauthorized individuals from entering the display site. The display site must be so restricted throughout the display and until the display site has been inspected after the display. Where practical, fences and rope barriers may be used to aid in crowd control.

(5) During the period before the display, when fireworks materials are present, public access to the display site must not be allowed.

(6) The operator has the primary responsibility for safety. While the operator is allowed to actively participate in the firing of the display, safety must be the primary concern.

(7) The operator is responsible for ensuring that a sufficient number of assistants are on hand for the safe conduct of the display. Only the operator and necessary assistants may be permitted in the discharge area while the display is in progress.

NOTE: In some situations, it is believed it is appropriate to have one individual tending each ready box or shell storage area in use at a given time. Similarly, it is believed there should be two individuals reloading shells into mortars for each individual igniting the aerial shells. Unless racks of chain fused shells are being fired, it generally is believed a single individual can safely ignite no more than about ten shells per minute. If a greater rate of firing is desired, it is appropriate to have more than one individual lighting the shells.

(8) The display operator is responsible for meeting the administrative rules, statutory requirements and any other applicable requirements for the display including ensuring all assistants are fully trained in the proper performance of their assigned tasks and they are knowledgeable of safety hazards.

(9) If at any time before or during the display, the operator, local fire authority, or the law enforcement authority knows or should know an adverse condition exists that significantly affects safety, the display must be postponed until the condition is corrected.

(10) If at any time before or during the display, the operator, local fire authority, or the law enforcement authority knows or should know the lack of crowd control poses a danger, the display must immediately be discontinued until such time as the situation is corrected.

(11) If at any time before or during the display, the operator, local fire authority, or the law enforcement authority knows or should know that high winds, precipitation, or other adverse weather conditions prevail, such that a significant safety danger exists; the display must be postponed until weather conditions improve to an acceptable level.

NOTE: Changes that occur as a result of sections (9), (10) and (11) of this rule must meet the requirements of OAR 837-012-0740.

(12) Operators and assistants may use only flashlights or electric or chemical-luminescent lighting for artificial illumination.

(13) Smoking is not allowed within 100 feet of any area where fireworks or other pyrotechnic materials are present.

(14) Measures must be taken to protect all fireworks and materials to be used in the display from adverse weather conditions. Moisture-damaged materials must not be used.

(15) No individual may be allowed in the discharge area while under the influence of alcohol, narcotics, or drugs.

(16) The fire official having jurisdiction may require an effective means of communication between the operator, the local fire authority, and others as deemed necessary. That method may consist of cellular or digital telephones, walkie-talkies, marine radio, or similar methods approved by the local fire authority.

(17) Operators must be continuously responsible for the display from the beginning of the display through completion of the display including the after display cleanup and inspection.

Operations for Barge Displays

(1) Manual firing of displays may be allowed only under the following conditions:

(a) Shells must be loaded into mortars and put into place prior to the display. Reloading of any kind during a barge display is prohibited;

(b) Shells may be single-break only and may not exceed 6" in diameter;

(c) The barge must meet double the size requirements established by OAR 837-012-0855;

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(d) All individuals, other than operators and assistants must be behind protective barriers during the display. Protective barriers must meet the strength requirements of 3/4 inch (19mm) plywood or equivalent.

(e) Electrical firing and manual firing on the same barge is allowed when the mortars to be used for manual firing are separated from mortars to be used for electrical firing by a minimum of 25 feet.

(f) All aerial shells greater than 6" in diameter must be fired using electrical ignition or other means of remote ignition that place the operator and assistants at least 75 feet away from the mortar or behind a sturdy barricade at the time of ignition of the lift charge.

(2) A U.S. Coast Guard approved personal flotation device (PFD) must be provided and available for each individual working on the barge. PFD's must be properly worn anytime the barge is not moored at the dock. PFD's must have or include a visual location device.

(3) A watercraft must be ready and capable of providing a rapid emergency response during the display.

(4) During the display only necessary individuals may be present on the barge. No spectators may be present on the barge.

(5) Necessary individuals may include:

(a) Operator and assistants;

(b) Local fire authority department personnel;

(c) Barge operators; and

(d) Local fire authority, Coast Guard, law enforcement, or other regulatory authority acting within the scope of their official capacity.

(6) Barges must be free of all nonessential combustible materials.

(7) Fuel tanks are deemed essential material to perform the display for vessels controlling, marshaling, or adjoining the barge from which fireworks are being discharged.

(8) Barges constructed of wood or other combustible material may be permitted to be used as a fireworks display site when the requirements of these rules and any other applicable state, local, and federal requirements pertaining to fireworks are met.

(9) Barges constructed of wood or other combustible material can be used provided the surface of the barge has been protected from fire by means acceptable to the local fire authority. The barge should also be of sufficient construction and configuration to safely allow the firing of the display. Consideration should be given to the conditions that could affect the separation distance of the barge from the public. Greater distance might be required to allow for the effects of sea conditions, wind, and drift of the barge.

(10) Whenever, in the opinion of the local fire authority, the operator, or the barge captain, conditions such as high seas or rapid current pose a potential safety hazard to the operator and assistants, spectators, surrounding area, or any other individuals, the display must be postponed until conditions improve.

Loading and Firing of Shells

(1) Shells must be carried from the storage area to the discharge site only by their bodies, never by their fuses.

EXCEPTION: It is generally believed it is not safe to be loading mortars within ten feet of mortars being fired. When loading a shell into a recently fired mortar, the person should crouch alongside the mortar with his back toward the area where shells are being fired.

(2) Shells must be checked for proper fit in their mortars prior to the display.

(3) When being loaded into the mortars, shells must be held by their fuses or lowering cord if provided and carefully lowered into the mortar. At no time may the person loading the shells place any part of their body over the mouth of the mortar.

(4) The person loading shells must be reasonably certain the shells are properly seated in the bottom of the mortars.

(5) Shells must not, under any circumstances, be forced into a mortar too small to accept them. Shells that do not fit properly into the mortars must not be fired.

(6) The safety cap protecting the fuse must not be removed until immediately before the shell is to be fired.

EXCEPTION: Where electrical ignition is used, there is no requirement for a safety cap.

(7) Shells may be ignited by lighting the tip of the fuse with a fusee, torch, portfire, or similar device. The operator must never place any part of their body over the mortar at any time. As soon as the fuse is ignited, the operator must turn away from or retreat from the mortar area.

EXCEPTION: Alternatively, electrical ignition may be used.

(8) The first shell fired must be observed carefully by the operator to determine that its trajectory is such that the shell functions over the fall-out area and that any dangerous debris or unexploded shells will land in the fall-out area. The operator must determine whether or not to begin the display and must monitor the display continuously to determine if the display continues to meet all requirements for the continuance of the display.

(9) The display must be interrupted and the mortars must be re-angled or repositioned as necessary for safety any time during a display. In the case of a barge, the display must be interrupted and the barge must be repositioned as necessary for safety any time during display.

(10) In the event of a shell failing to ignite in the mortar, the mortar must be marked in some manner to indicate the presence of an unfired shell, and the mortar may not be reloaded or reused so long as the misfired shell remains. Immediately following the display but no sooner than 15 minutes after the attempted firing, if the shell still has not fired, the mortar must be cautiously flooded with water and let stand for a minimum of five minutes before it is cautiously emptied of the shell. The operator must be knowledgeable in the proper disposal methods.

NOTE: Flooding the mortar with water may not be advisable in all cases, perhaps allow the mortar to stand additional time before removing the shell if it is not to be flooded.

EXCEPTION: When electrical ignition is used and the firing failure is electrical in nature or the aerial shell was intentionally not fired, the shell may be salvaged by the operator.

(11) It is the responsibility of the person igniting the aerial shells to detect when a shell does not fire from a mortar. That person must warn others in the area and immediately cause the mortar to be marked to indicate the presence of an unfired aerial shell.

EXCEPTION: When electrically firing, it is not necessary to mark the mortar. However, individuals entering the area after the fireworks display must conduct themselves as though unfired shells remain until advised to the contrary by the operator.

(12) Manual re-ignition of chain fused aerial shells may only be attempted at properly installed ignition points.

Mortar Racks for Barge Displays

(1) Mortar racks must be constructed in a thorough manner to be capable of holding multiple mortars in position during normal functioning.

(2) Mortar racks that are not inherently stable must be secured or braced to stabilize them. Stabilization may be accomplished by using stakes, legs, A-frames, side-boards, or equivalent means. Inherently stable means if the base of the rack, before being loaded with fireworks, were tipped 50 degrees from the horizontal in any direction, it would then return to the horizontal position.

(3) Mortar racks must be oriented, angled, or oriented and angled in such a way to maximize spectator safety.

Ground Display Fireworks

When ground display pieces are to be fired electrically, they may be located in the fall-out area.

(b) When aerial shells have been preloaded, ground display pieces may be located in the discharge area.

(2) Dry grass must be wet down or removed before the display.

(3) Combustible materials must be removed or adequately protected as approved by the fire authority if deemed a fire hazard by the fire authority.

(4) Poles for ground display pieces must be securely placed and firmly braced so they will not fall over during functioning of the firework device.

(5) Specific instructions from the supplier must accompany all ground display pieces. A list of required accessories also must be supplied.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

837-012-0890

Site Clean-Up

(1) Following the display, the operator, and assistants must conduct an inspection of the fall-out area for the purpose of locating any unexploded aerial shells or components. This inspection must be conducted before any public access to the site is allowed. Any shells or components found during the search must not be handled until at least fifteen minutes have elapsed from the time the shells or components were fired. The fireworks must then be doused with water and allowed to remain for at least five more minutes before being cautiously placed in a plastic bucket or fiberboard box. The wholesaler who supplied the fireworks must be contacted as soon as possible for disposal instructions.

(2) Mortar inspection and removal may be conducted upon the elapse of not less than 10 minutes from the completion of the display to allow for mortar cool-down or misfires.

(3) When fireworks are displayed at night and it is not possible to thoroughly inspect the site, the operator must ensure the entire site is inspected very early the following morning.

(a) Confiscate, remove or have removed at the violator's expense all fireworks offered for sale, used, transported, stored, or possessed in violation of these rules; and

(b) Destroy seized fireworks when it has been determined that destruction is necessary for the preservation of public safety or health, that the sale, transport, storage or possession of the seized fireworks was in violation of the laws and rules of the State of Oregon or the ordinances of local municipalities.

NOTE: Upon the confiscation or prior to the destruction of any seized pyrotechnics, the person responsible for the confiscation or destruction, may contact the person who the fireworks were seized from.

(2) All civil disputes arising as a result of the administration and enforcement of these rules and regulations may be referred to the State Fire Marshal who has the final administrative authority in all cases.

(3) Violation of any provision of ORS 480.111 through 480.160 is a Class B misdemeanor. Violations thereof may be prosecuted in state or municipal courts when violations occur within the municipality served thereby. Justice and district courts have concurrent jurisdiction with circuit courts in all proceedings arising within ORS 480.111 to 480.160:

(a) The sentence for a Class B misdemeanor is set forth by ORS 161.615;

(b) The sentence to pay a fine for a Class B misdemeanor is set forth by ORS 161.635 and 161.655.

(4) If a person has gained money or property through commission of a misdemeanor or violation, then upon conviction thereof, the court, instead of imposing the fine authorized by these rules, may sentence the defendant to pay an amount fixed by the court, not exceeding double the amount of the defendant's gain from the commission of the offense in accordance with ORS 161.635 and 161.655.

Subject: Chapter 716, Oregon Laws 2015 (HB 2465) amends ORS 807.066 so that a parent or legal guardian of an applicant under 18 years of age can certify that the applicant attends school, rather than the applicant needing to provide a form that must be completed by a representative at the school. Many teens apply for driving privileges during the summer months and often are unable to complete the process as there is no one at the school available to provide the necessary proof of school attendance. Allowing a parent or legal guardian to certify that the applicant is attending school is much more efficient for both DMV and the applicant. However, if DMV suspends the driving privileges of a person under 18 years of age based on notice from a school that a student has withdrawn from school, DMV will not accept a certification from a parent or legal guardian to reinstate driving privileges. Because of the change in ORS 807.066 DMV has amended OAR 735-062-0035 to align with statute.

Proof of School Attendance, Completion or Exemption

(1) DMV may not issue a driving privilege to an applicant under 18 years of age unless the applicant provides proof of graduation from high school, proof of receipt of a General Education Development (GED) certificate, or a certification from a parent or legal guardian that the applicant is attending school or is exempt from school attendance requirements.

(2) The following are proof of high school graduation:

(a) The applicant's high school diploma or a copy thereof;

(b) A certified copy of the applicant's high school transcript showing that the applicant has graduated; or

(c) A letter on school letterhead and signed by the principal or the principal's designee stating the applicant has graduated from high school.

(3) The following are proof of receipt of a GED certificate:

(a) The applicant's GED certificate or copy thereof; or

(b) A letter from the Department of Community Colleges and Workforce Development, on agency letterhead and signed by an authorized representative, stating that the applicant has received a GED certificate.

(4) An applicant under 18 years of age who is married or is emancipated may certify meeting school attendance requirements without needing the signature of a parent or legal guardian.

(5) DMV cannot reinstate driving privileges that have been suspended for withdrawal from school unless the person provides proof of graduation from high school as provided in section (2) of this rule, proof of receipt of a GED as provided in section (3) of this rule, or provides one of the following:

(a) The Statement of Enrollment form (DMV form #735-7185) signed by the principal or designee of the principal of the secondary school attended by the applicant.

(b) The Statement of Enrollment form (DMV form #735-7185) signed by an authorized representative of a community college attended by the applicant showing that the applicant is making satisfactory progress toward a GED certificate.

(c) The Statement of Enrollment form (DMV form #735-7185) signed by the authorized representative of a community college attended by the applicant showing that the applicant is making satisfactory progress toward a high school diploma.

(d) The Statement of Enrollment form (DMV form #735-7185) signed by the authorized representative of the education service district or school district having jurisdiction over the area of the applicant's residence showing that the applicant is being taught by a private teacher or parent in compliance with ORS 339.035.

(e) A statement signed by the applicant, along with any supporting documentation, describing why the applicant cannot attend school due to circumstances beyond the applicant's control. Based upon the information submitted, DMV will determine whether or not the applicant is exempt from school attendance. This determination is only for the purpose of issuing driving privileges and does not exempt the applicant from any requirement to attend school.

(f) The Statement of Enrollment form (DMV form #735-7185) signed by the authorized representative of the education service district or school district having jurisdiction over the area of the applicant's residence showing that the applicant has been granted an exemption from school attendance under ORS 339.030(2).

(6) DMV will waive the reinstatement fee for a person whose driving privileges were suspended under ORS 809.423(3) if the person provides:

(a) Proof of high school graduation as provided in section (2) of this rule; or

(b) Proof of a GED certificate as provided in section (3) of this rule.

Subject: Chapter 455, Oregon Laws 2015 (SB 494) amends ORS 807.110 to authorize DMV to issue a driver license without a photograph to a person in the military who is stationed outside of Oregon and does not have a photograph on file with DMV that meets the requirements to issue a license using the previous photo. DMV has amended 735-062-0120 to coincide with the law change.

DMV currently issues replacement driver licenses or identification cards using the previous photo on file. DMV has amended OAR 735-062-0110 to allow a replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card with a new photograph if the person realizes that at the time of the next renewal that he or she will be outside of Oregon and will need an updated photograph at the time to qualify for a renewal license using the previous photo in accordance with OAR 735-062-0125. DMV further amended OAR 735-062-0110 to issue a replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card with a photograph when a person between the ages of 21 and 27 requests a replacement. Such a replacement will update the driver license, driver permit or identification card so that the wording "Under 21 until" or "Under 18 until" will no longer be present, plus the photograph will be contemporary. This change will make certain that a photograph taken when the person was a minor is not used on a license or identification card issued when the person is an adult. DMV will issue a replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card with a new photograph when a person is changing his or her name as part of transitioning to a different gender. There are also a few situations where a person may need a new photograph on a replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card when a suspension is rescinded or reinstated and those are specified in the amendments to OAR 735-062-0110.

DMV has amended OAR 735-062-0005 after learning that the Social Security Administration does not issue a letter stating that a person is not eligible for a social security number, and to specify that DMV will not accept proof of ineligibility for a social security number from a person who presents proof of being a citizen or lawful per-

SSN — Requirements for Collection and Verification of SSN or Proof of Ineligibility for a SSN

(1) When a person who is eligible for a SSN applies for any original, renewal or replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card, the person must provide his or her SSN on the application form.

(2) A person who applies for any original, renewal or replacement non-commercial driver license or driver permit or identification card and claims to be ineligible for a SSN must provide proof that he or she is not eligible for a SSN. A person may prove his or her ineligibility for a SSN by presenting documents issued by the Department of Homeland Security or other federal agencies, which demonstrate that the person is not eligible to be assigned a SSN by the SSA. The person must also certify that he or she is ineligible for a SSN.

(3) DMV will not accept proof of ineligibility for a SSN from any applicant who presents proof of being a citizen or lawful permanent resident of the United States or proof of being legally present with authorization for employment in the United States.

(4) When an applicant provides a SSN as required by section (1) of this rule, DMV will submit the SSN to the SSA for verification, unless the applicant is a citizen or permanent legal resident of the United States whose SSN was previously verified under this rule. An applicant's SSN is verified when SSA notifies DMV that the applicant's SSN, name and date of birth are confirmed by SSA's records.

(5) Notwithstanding section (4) of this rule a SSN is not considered verified if the SSA notifies DMV that the SSN provided is inactive, invalid, impossible, not verifiable for other reasons or if there is a system error.

(6) Before issuing a temporary applicant permit as provided in OAR 735-062-0032 or 735-062-0033, DMV will require proof of the person's SSN if the SSN provided on the application is not verified as described in section (4) of this rule. Proof that the SSN is the one assigned to the person by the SSA may include, but is not limited to, one or more of the following documents:

- (a) Social Security Card or other SSA documentation;
- (b) Income tax form filed with the Internal Revenue Service or a state tax agency;
- (c) Employment document;
- (d) Military document (DD214); or
- (e) Any document containing full SSN acceptable as proof of legal presence or identity and date of birth as listed in OAR 735-062-0015 or 735-062-0020.

(7) DMV will not issue, renew or replace any driver license, driver permit or identification card, except as provided in OAR 735-062-0032 and 735-062-0033, unless:

(a) The applicant has proved his or her legal presence in the United States as provided in OAR 735-062-0015, and DMV has verified the applicant's SSN as provided in section (3) of this rule; or

(b) If the applicant claims to be ineligible for a SSN, the applicant has proved his or her ineligibility for a SSN as provided in section (2) of this rule and his or her legal presence in the United States as provided in OAR 735-062-0015. DMV will not issue, renew or replace a commercial driver license or commercial driver permit to an applicant who claims to be ineligible for a SSN.

(j) Surrenders a driver license, driver permit or identification card to the department following a suspension and the person becomes eligible for driving privileges or an identification card.

(k) Has a driver license, driver permit or identification card that was confiscated by a police officer, a court or other agency and the person is eligible for a driver license, driver permit or an identification card.

(L) Requests to change any physical description, notation, photograph or signature on the driver license, driver permit, or identification card or to add or delete an anatomical donor designation.

(5) An applicant for a replacement driver license, driver permit, or identification card that includes a change of residence address must also present to DMV one of the proofs of residence address listed in OAR 735-062-0030 that shows the person's current residence address. Current residence address is the address where the person actually lives and DMV will include that address on the license, permit, or identification card issued.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(6) An applicant for a replacement driver license, driver permit, or identification card must surrender the license, driver permit or identification card replaced to DMV, if possible.

(7) Before issuing a replacement driver license or driver permit, DMV will make an inquiry to the National Driver Register/Problem Driver Pointer System (NDR/PDPS) or the Commercial Driver License Information System (CDLIS), or both, to determine if the applicant's driving privileges are suspended, revoked, canceled or otherwise not valid in any other jurisdiction. Before processing a replacement commercial driver license or commercial driver permit, DMV will make an inquiry to CDLIS to determine if the applicant has been issued a CDL in another jurisdiction.

(8) If the applicant's driving privileges are suspended, revoked, canceled or otherwise invalid in any other jurisdiction, DMV will not issue a replacement driver license or driver permit until the applicant submits a clearance letter that complies with OAR 735-062-0160 or a DMV inquiry to the NDR/PDPS or CDLIS, or both, shows that the applicant's driving privileges are reinstated or otherwise valid in the other jurisdiction.

(9) Notwithstanding section (8) of this rule, DMV will issue a replacement license or driver permit to an applicant whose driving privileges are suspended, revoked, canceled or otherwise invalid if the only remaining reinstatement requirement in the other jurisdiction is proof of future financial responsibility.

(10) Notwithstanding subsection (3)(c) of this rule, when an applicant applies for a replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card at a DMV office, DMV will issue the replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card using the applicant's previous photograph on file with DMV unless:

(f) The applicant:

(A) Will not be in this state for circumstances constituting "good cause" under OAR 735-062-0125 when the applicant's driver license, driver permit or identification card must be renewed; and

(B) Is applying for the replacement driver license, driver permit or identification card to update the applicant's photograph on file with DMV so he or she will be eligible for issuance of a Valid with Previous Photograph renewal as authorized under OAR 735-062-0125.

(a) Who is a member of a religious denomination that prohibits photographing of its members because it is contrary to its religious tenets;

(b) Whose religious beliefs require the person to wear a head covering, clothing or similar material that partially or completely covers the person's face, preventing the person from being photographed as described in OAR 735-062-0016(3);

(c) Who has severe facial disfigurement; or

(d) Who is stationed outside of this state while in the active military service in the Armed Forces of the United States or the National Guard, and the department is unable to issue the driver license using the previous photo on file as provided under OAR 735-062-0125.

(2) In addition to satisfying the requirements of section (1), an applicant for issuance of a driver license under this rule must:

(a) Provide a verifiable SSN, or proof of ineligibility for a SSN, as provided in OAR 735-062-0005;

(b) Provide proof of legal presence as provided in OAR 735-062-0015;

Subject: Chapter 577, Oregon Laws 2015 (SB 397) places new requirements on providers of ignition interlock devices (IIDs) to submit negative reports to those specified in law or to provide a certificate of no negative report at certain times. A person with a requirement to have an IID installed will continue to have the requirement unless a certificate of no negative report for the period prescribed in law is received by DMV. Chapter 577, Oregon Laws 2015 authorizes DMV to define by rule a test violation that would be considered a negative report. The law also requires that DMV prescribe by rule what form the report and certificates will take. DMV has amended OAR 735-118-0000 to include definitions for tampering, unauthorized removal, lockout and test violation. DMV has amended OAR 735-118-0050 to designate when and on what form reports required by Chapter 577, Oregon Laws 2015 must be made and to specify what constitutes a "negative report."

DMV has amended 735-064-0070 to clarify that a person who is eligible for a hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit may need to install an IID if the requirement for the device is continuing indefinitely as the result of DMV not receiving the necessary report to end the requirement that the person has had no negative report for 90 consecutive days.

DMV also amended OAR 735-070-0080 and 735-070-0082 for two reasons: 1) To align those rules with the law changes and changes to OAR 735-118-0040 effective January 1, 2016; and 2) To indicate that when DMV or the court issues a medical exemption from the requirement to install an IID, that the granting of the exemption may be used to terminate the requirement at the end of the period specified in law.

Ignition Interlock Device (IID) Requirement for Issuance of Hardship, Probationary or Hardship/Probationary Permits

(1) When a person whose driving privileges are suspended or revoked applies for a hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit, DMV will require the applicant to install an ignition interlock device (IID) in any vehicle operated by the applicant if the applicant's driving record shows any of the following:

(a) A current suspension based on a conviction for DUII in an Oregon court;

(b) A current IID required:

(A) As a condition of a DUII Diversion Agreement;

(B) By ORS 813.602(1) or (2) following the end of a suspension or revocation of driving privileges based on a conviction for DUII or any crime that carries a statutory minimum one, two or five year IID requirement; or

(C) As a result of DMV not receiving a IID Certification — No Negative Report (DMV form 735-7379) that would end the applicant's IID requirement.

(2) As a condition of a hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit, the IID must be installed, maintained and used in any vehicle the person operates for the duration of the person's IID requirement. The IID requirement may exceed the period the person's hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit is valid.

(3) When installation of an IID is required, DMV will not issue a hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit to the person until a provider submits an installation report form showing an approved device has been installed in each vehicle the person intends to operate during the permit period.

(4) Notwithstanding section (1) of this rule, DMV may issue a hardship, probationary or a hardship/probationary permit to a person who has not installed an IID if the person will only operate a vehicle(s) owned or leased by his or her employer during the course and scope of the person's employment. For purposes of ORS 813.606, DMV will place a notation on the driving record and on the hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit issued to the person that the person's employer has been informed of the IID requirement. To qualify, DMV must receive:

(a) A letter on business letterhead, signed by the employer, stating that the employer has been informed of the IID requirement and that the person is required to operate the employer's vehicle(s) in the course and scope of employment; or

(b) An Employer IID Exemption, (DMV form 735-6874) submitted by the employer.

(5) For purposes of ORS 813.606, a person who is self-employed is not an employee and DMV will not place an employer IID notification notation on the person's driving record.

(6) Notwithstanding section (1) of this rule, DMV may issue a hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit to a person who has not installed an IID if the person has been issued a medical exemption under OAR 735-070-0082.

(7) The hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit will contain a restriction that the person may only operate vehicles equipped with an IID. If the person operates a vehicle owned or leased by the person's employer in the course and scope of employment or has been issued a medical exemption, the hardship, probationary or hardship/probationary permit driving restrictions will state that the person must have in his or her possession a copy of the employer's IID exemption letter, a completed DMV Employer IID Exemption Form, an IID medical exemption letter issued by DMV, or an IID medical exemption approval issued by a court.

(8) The IID restriction in a hardship, probationary, or hardship/probationary permit will specify the length of time allowed for the person to travel to and from an IID provider's facility to have the IID checked or maintained.

Ignition Interlock Device (IID) as Requirement Following DUI Suspension

(1) A person convicted by an Oregon Court of Driving Under the Influence of Intoxicants (DUI) must install and use an IID for the period of time specified in ORS 813.602(1) or (2).

(2) DMV will suspend driving privileges for the period of time specified in Section 8, Chapter 577, Oregon Laws 2015 for failure to install an IID if proof that an approved IID has been installed in the person's vehicle is not submitted to DMV by the ending date of the DUI suspension. The proof must be an installation report form showing an approved device, as described in OAR 735-118-0010.

(3) A person may operate a vehicle(s) without an IID, if the person is medically unable to operate a vehicle equipped with an IID, and DMV grants a medical exemption from the IID requirement. To avoid suspension of driving privileges for failure to install an IID, the person must apply before the last day of the DUI suspension and submit to DMV:

(a) A written, signed statement from an IID provider that the provider is unable to adapt an IID to accommodate usage by the person because of the person's medical condition; and

(b) A written, signed statement from the person's medical doctor, doctor of osteopathy, naturopathic doctor, physician assistant or nurse practitioner containing the following information:

(A) The name of the exempting condition;

(B) Whether the condition is temporary or permanent and if temporary, when the condition will no longer prevent usage of an IID; and

(C) Whether the exemption is required because the condition results in the inability to sustain an exhaled breath sampling of five pounds of pressure for five seconds required to operate the device or results in a ketone level in the person's breath which will not allow the driver to successfully complete the test.

(4) When the application for a medical exemption is made under section (3) of this rule and approved by DMV, DMV will issue a medical exemption letter. The person must carry a copy of DMV's medical exemption letter while operating a vehicle that would otherwise require installation and use of an IID.

(5) DMV will reinstate driving privileges if during the suspension period for failure to install an IID, the person installs an IID or DMV grants the person a medical exemption.

(6) DMV will terminate the IID requirement at the end of the requirement described in ORS 813.602 if DMV has granted the person a medical exemption and the physician report indicates the medical condition or impairment is permanent.

Medical Exemption from IID Requirement

(1) A person may qualify for a medical exemption from the ignition interlock device (IID) requirement under ORS 813.602(1) and (2) if the person provides satisfactory evidence to DMV that due to a medical condition or impairment the person is unable to operate an IID or unable to safely operate a motor vehicle equipped with an IID. The following definitions apply:

(a) A "health care provider" is a person licensed, certified or otherwise authorized or permitted by law to administer health care in the State of Oregon. For purposes of these rules, the term health care provider is limited to: a chiropractic physician, nurse practitioner, and physician assistant.

(b) A "primary care provider" is a physician or health care provider who is responsible for supervising, coordinating and providing a person's initial and ongoing health care.

(c) "Unable to safely operate a motor vehicle equipped with an IID" means the person's medical condition or functional impairment prevents the person from safely operating a motor vehicle when requested to perform an IID rolling retest while operating a motor vehicle equipped with an IID.

(2) To apply for a medical exemption a person must submit a completed IID Medical Exemption form (DMV form 735-6941). The form must be completed by both the person and the person's primary care provider or the physician or health care provider providing specialized treatment to the person for the particular medical condition or functional impairment that prevents the person from operating an IID or prevents the person from safely operating a motor vehicle equipped with an IID.

(3) The person must fully complete the information in Section 1 of the IID Medical Exemption form, including:

(a) The reason(s) the person is required to install an IID; and

(b) An explanation of why the person believes he or she has a medical condition or functional impairment that prevents the operation of an IID or prevents safe operation of a vehicle equipped with an IID.

(4) Section 2 of the IID Medical Exemption form must be completed by the person's primary care provider, or a physician or health care provider providing specialized treatment to the person for a medical condition or functional impairment that prevents the person from operating an IID or prevents the person from safely operating a motor vehicle equipped with an IID. The physician or health care provider must determine that in his or her professional opinion the person is unable to operate an IID or is unable to safely operate a vehicle equipped with an IID because of the person's medical condition or functional impairment, including but not limited to a determination that:

(a) The person has a medical condition or functional impairment that does not allow the person to provide the necessary alveolar air or deep lung air sample to properly operate the device; or

(b) The person consistently has a ketone level in his or her breath which creates a false positive reading of over .020 blood alcohol concentration even though the person has had no alcohol.

(5) If the determination of the physician or health care provider described in section (4) of this rule is not based on subsection (a) or (b), the physician or health care provider must provide a detailed description of why the medical condition or functional impairment prevents the person from operating an IID or prevents the person from safely operating a motor vehicle equipped with an IID.

(6) In completing Section 2 of the IID Medical Exemption form, the physician or health care provider must:

(a) Specify the medical condition or functional impairment that prevents the person from operating an IID or prevents the person from safely operating a vehicle equipped with an IID;

(b) State whether the medical condition or functional impairment is permanent or temporary, and if temporary, the projected length of time; and

(c) Specify why the medical condition or functional impairment prevents the person from operating an IID or prevents the person from safely operating a motor vehicle equipped with an IID.

(7) From the information provided on the IID Medical Exemption form, DMV will determine if the person qualifies for a medical exemption. If DMV determines from the information on the form that the person qualifies, DMV will issue a medical exemption. If DMV is unable to determine from the information provided that the person qualifies, DMV will deny the medical exemption.

(8) If the person's medical condition or functional impairment is temporary, DMV will issue a temporary IID medical exemption that expires on the date specified in Section 2 of the IID Medical Exemption form, or a date six months from the date of issuance if no date is provided. If the temporary condition or functional impairment continues beyond the expiration date of the temporary IID medical exemption, the person may submit a signed statement from the physician or health care provider who completed the Request for IID Medical Exemption form describing the person's continuing need for a medical exemption, or the person may submit a new application as set forth in sections (2) through (4) of this rule. From the information submitted DMV will determine if the person continues to qualify for a temporary IID medical exemption.

(9) Before granting or denying an IID medical exemption, DMV may require the person to provide additional information from a physician or health care provider or to obtain a statement from an IID provider that the device cannot be adjusted to accommodate the person's medical condition or functional impairment.

(10) A person who is granted an IID medical exemption by DMV will be issued a medical exemption letter. The person must carry the IID medical exemption letter issued by DMV when driving.

(11) A person who must install and use an IID as a condition of a DUII diversion agreement must obtain an IID medical exemption from the court. The person must submit a completed IID Medical Exemption form directly to the court that approved the DUII diversion agreement. The court must approve or deny the IID medical exemption request. DMV will not forward an IID Medical Exemption form to a court if it is submitted to DMV in error.

(12) A person may need both an IID medical exemption letter issued by DMV and an IID medical exemption approval issued by a court. An IID medical exemption letter issued by DMV is not valid if the person is required to install an IID as a condition of a DUII diversion. A medical exemption issued by a court is not valid if the requirement to install and use an IID is required for any reason other than a DUII diversion agreement. Both an IID medical exemption letter issued by DMV and IID medical exemption approval issued by a court must be carried by the person when driving.

(13) DMV may use a court-issued IID medical exemption letter to terminate an IID requirement at the end of the diversion agreement if there is no indication of either:

(a) The exemption granted by the court being temporary; or

(b) Prior to the end of the diversion agreement the person was required to install an ignition interlock device.

Acting as a Vehicle Dealer

This rule describes certain circumstances under which an owner or lessor of real property is considered to be acting as a vehicle dealer without a certificate pursuant to ORS 822.005(1). The rule is not intended to limit DMV's authority to require a person to obtain a certificate, or to find a person in violation of ORS 822.005 for acting as a vehicle dealer without a valid certificate in any circumstance that violates the terms of ORS 822.005(1), unless the person has an exemption under ORS 822.015.

(1) An owner or lessor of real property must hold a valid vehicle dealer certificate pursuant to ORS 822.005(1), if the owner or lessor receives compensation of any type for the display or sale of vehicles on the property, and performs any of the following:

(a) Advertises or pays for advertising for any individual vehicle(s) displayed for sale either on-site, electronically or in print media;

(b) Answers any questions related to the terms of sale or consignment for any vehicle displayed for sale;

(c) Shows to any person any vehicle displayed for sale;

(d) Provides or pays for individual "for sale" signs for any vehicle displayed for sale;

(e) Cleans, prepares or otherwise physically maintains any vehicle displayed for sale;

(f) Provides or offers to provide financing for any vehicle displayed for sale;

(g) Prepares or provides any forms necessary for the titling or registration of any vehicle displayed for sale; or

(h) Performs any maintenance, body repair or mechanical services related to any vehicle part or component on any vehicle displayed for sale.

(2) This rule does not apply to a person who rents or leases property to a vehicle dealer who possesses a current vehicle dealer certificate, to the extent that the real property or any portion thereof is actually used by the dealer.

(1) A person who rents or leases space to a vehicle dealer who holds a current valid certificate is not a dealer as defined in OAR 735-150-0010.

(2) The following apply where there is a formal display of vehicles, such as an auto show, by a group of dealers for a period of ten (10) days or less:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section and ORS 822.015(3), a dealer participating in a display must either be a certified vehicle dealer or a manufacturer of vehicles not engaged in sales to the public;

(b) A person who only rents or leases space to a participating dealer does not need a vehicle dealer certificate;

(c) A certified vehicle dealer does not need a supplemental certificate; and

(d) This section does not apply to RV shows held in accordance with OAR 735-150-0045.

(3) The exemption in ORS 822.015(1)(b) will be narrowly construed to exempt from dealer regulatory requirements only those persons who engage in buying, selling or exchanging vehicles as a mere incident to their personal ownership and use of those vehicles. This includes a business or corporate entity that holds such vehicles primarily for its own transportation needs, but not primarily for sale or exchange. No person may apply for certificates of title for the purpose of avoiding dealer regulatory requirements while dealing in vehicles.

(4) A person is not a rebuilder if that person:

(a) Is an employee of a certified vehicle dealer; or

(b) Is engaged solely in the repair of damaged vehicles at the request of the registered owner(s) of the vehicle(s).

(5) An employee of a dealer as defined in 735-150-0010(14) is not required to have a separate dealer certificate in order to buy or sell vehicles on behalf of his or her employer.

(6) A certified vehicle dealer does not need a supplemental certificate for the location of an auction conducted by the dealer. This exemption applies when all the following conditions exist:

(a) Vehicles sold at the auction are consigned to the dealer;

(b) Vehicles are sold on the basis of the highest bid or most favorable offer;

(c) The auction does not exceed three (3) consecutive days; and

(d) The dealer does not own the property where the auction is conducted. If the dealer rents or leases the property where the auction is conducted, the rent/lease period must not exceed three (3) consecutive days.

Other Permit Eligibility Requirements

(1) No applicant for a permit may have an unsatisfactory rating from US DOT or the equivalent safety rating from Oregon Department of Transportation, Motor Carrier Transportation Division.

(2)(a) An interstate permittee operating triple trailers must have a satisfactory US DOT safety rating, and an intrastate permittee must have an equivalent safety rating from the Oregon Department of Transportation, Motor Carrier Transportation Division;

(b) Motor carriers exempt from regulation by US DOT or the Oregon Department of Transportation, Motor Carrier Transportation Division shall have a Level 1 safety inspection performed by a Commercial Vehicle Safety Alliance (CVSA) certified safety inspector to be eligible for a triple trailer permit. This safety inspection must determine the driver and combination of vehicles are free of defects. The motor carrier becomes eligible for a permit when all repairs or deficiencies written on the inspection form are corrected and verified by a CVSA-certified safety inspector. The successful completion of the Level 1 safety inspection is used to establish a satisfactory safety rating. Successful completion of this Level 1 safety inspection is required every year before the triple trailer permit may be renewed;

(c) For purposes of this rule, a satisfactory safety rating means a safety rating other than unsatisfactory.

(3) Permits for triple trailers require the permittee to have an established safety program that includes drivers and vehicles.

(4) Triple trailer permits may be suspended or revoked for failure to comply with any of the provisions or conditions of OAR chapter 734, division 74. The permittee and driver must comply with all of the motor vehicle laws and the latest motor carrier safety regulations issued by the US DOT.

Rules Amended: 734-082-0005, 734-082-0040, 734-082-0045, 734-082-0070

Subject: OAR chapter 734, division 82 governs the operation of vehicles transporting loads that exceed legal limits and variance permits issued for vehicles or loads having weight or dimension greater than that allowed by statute. A request was made by Gresham Transfer during a Motor Carrier Transportation Advisory Committee meeting to allow permits to be issued for an unladen trailer over legal length (53 feet), which includes a flip axle deployed. The request was to allow single trip permits (STPs) on an individual basis for flip axle trailers which can't be reduced to 53' without special equipment. New language is added to the OARs to allow STPs and annual permits for a variety of trailers including those with flip axles deployed. Currently, the trailer is required to be reduced to 53 feet or less when operating unladen (the flip axle must be up). Not all trailers are equipped with hydraulics, and it's not always practical for carriers to get equipment onsite to assist with lifting the axle. These amendments describe the circumstances under which permits may be issued, both laden and unladen.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

urement of the trailer. The dolly must bear weight when the permitted vehicle is laden.

(8) "Dromedary truck-tractor" means a motor vehicle designed to carry a load on a dromedary box, plate or deck, not exceeding 12'06" in length inclusive of load and designed to pull a semitrailer.

(9) "Equivalent Single-Axle Load" (ESAL) means the relationship between actual or requested weight and an 18,000 pound single-axle load as determined by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials Road Tests reported at the Proceedings Conference of 1962.

(10) "Fire apparatus" means a vehicle or combination of vehicles designed and used exclusively for fire suppression or rescue operations. These emergency vehicles and associated loads or equipment are necessary to protect the public safety and are considered non-divisible loads.

(11) "Flip axle(s)" means an axle that is bolted or pinned to a vehicle and flips from the closed position on the trailer to a deployed position on the ground extending the length or hauling capacity of the trailer.

(12) "Flip neck extension" means a gooseneck extension to the front of a trailer which can be flipped up or down, and can be used to adjust the axle weight(s) of a combination and load.

(13) "Pinned axle(s)" means a separate vehicle pinned to another vehicle adding extra carrying capacity to a vehicle. The additional axle(s) do not pivot from side to side at the connection point or have wheels that steer during turning.

(14) "Expanded trailer" means a trailer or semitrailer which can be extended in length by adding removable deck section(s).

(15) "Special-use trailer" means a trailer or semitrailer which is specifically designed to haul one type of commodity.

(17) "Stretch Trailer" means a trailer or semitrailer capable of increasing the distance from the kingpin or coupling device to the rearmost axle. This stretch trailer provision is accomplished by using a "telescoping" principle in the trailer. This does not include fixed or sliding extensions to either end of the trailer or semitrailer or semitrailers with removable deck sections.

(18) "Gross Vehicle Weight Rating" (GVWR) means the gross vehicle weight rating as defined in ORS 801.298.

(21) "Jeep axle(s)" means a separate vehicle connected to a motor vehicle by kingpin to fifth wheel connection. A jeep axle(s) must bear all or part of the weight of the load of another vehicle and must be connected to that other vehicle either by kingpin to fifth wheel connection or a pintle hook.

(b) The following loads or vehicles:

(A) Emergency response vehicles, including those loaded with salt, sand, chemicals or a combination thereof, with or without a plow or blade attached in front, and being used for the purpose of spreading the material on highways that are or may become slick or icy;

(B) Casks designed for the transport of spent nuclear materials; and

The second formula is 2,200 times (the wheelbase in feet plus 20) when wheelbase is more than nine feet five inches but is not more than 30 feet. The third formula is 1,600 times (the wheelbase in feet plus 40) when wheelbase is more than 30 feet. This table limits maximum weights to no more than 21,500 pounds per axle and 43,000 pounds per tandem axle. Permit Weight Table 4 is available from MCTD as Form 735-8113.

Combination of Vehicles

(1) The following vehicles or combinations of vehicles may be authorized for continuous trip permits over authorized routes provided the width does not exceed 14 feet, the height does not exceed 14 feet or, except for self-propelled fixed load vehicles limited by OAR 734-082-0039, 14 feet 6 inches on specifically authorized routes, and the overall length does not exceed that stated below:

(a) A solo vehicle must not exceed 40 feet and vehicle inclusive of load must not exceed 50 feet in overall length.

(b) Truck-tractor and semitrailer combinations, which may include an auxiliary axle, must not exceed the length limits as shown on the reverse of Group Map 1 or Route Map 7, whichever is greater, and the semitrailer must not exceed 53 feet in length including the auxiliary axle. An auxiliary axle attached to the rear of a trailer must be included in the measurement of the trailer unless the combination measurement exceeds 53 feet. Group Map 1 and Route Map 7 available from the Over-Dimension Permit Unit, are by reference made a part of Division 82 rules.

(c) Motor truck and trailer must not exceed 75 feet in overall length.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(d) Truck-tractor with semitrailer and trailer combinations must not exceed the length limits shown on the reverse of Group Map 1 or Route Map 7, whichever is greater.

(e) Passenger or light vehicles towing any trailer must not exceed 70 feet in overall length.

(f) An unladen combination of vehicles used to transport non-divisible loads may consist of the truck-tractor, jeep axle(s), a trailer, booster axle(s), dolly(s), steering axle(s), flip axle(s) or a flip neck extension, pinned axle(s) and other equipment needed to transport the non-divisible load. Trailer length must not exceed 62 feet. The combination must be reduced to the shortest length practicable; however overall length must not exceed 105 feet. Unladen movement is authorized with equipment needed to legally transport the non-divisible load loaded on the trailer.

(2) When the combination of vehicles includes jeep axles, or other vehicles of a size or weight not authorized by section (1) of this rule, movement must be by single trip permit only.

734-082-0045 Trailer Provisions

(1) Single trip permits for trailers or semitrailers that exceed 53 feet in length for movement of non-divisible loads, or unladen movement, shall be granted on an individual basis.

(2) Permits issued authorizing semitrailers or trailers to exceed 53 feet in length must be warranted by the size or weight of the non-divisible load and meet one or more of the following criteria:

- (a) The use of trailer is necessary to reduce the height of a load; or
- (b) The use of the trailer is necessary to support the load, otherwise it would be damaged by allowing it to overhang the trailer, or by sagging due to insufficient support; or

(c) The use of the trailer is necessary to accommodate the weight of the load.

(3) When not operating under the terms of a permit, the unladen semitrailer or trailer must be reduced to no greater than 53 feet in length, and the overall length of the combination cannot exceed the length limit allowed for the highway(s) traveled.

(4) A truck-tractor semitrailer or trailer combination under this rule may only be granted permits for trailers over 53 feet in length for the following types of trailers:

- (a) Stretch trailers;
- (b) Expanded trailers;
- (c) Special use trailers;
- (d) Tow-away trailers;
- (e) Trailers with flip axle(s) deployed;
- (f) Trailers with a flip neck extension deployed; or
- (g) Trailers that have additional axle(s) which may be pinned, and are removable.

(5) Requests for permits for semitrailers or trailers in a truck-tractor semitrailer or trailer combination that exceed 53 feet in length, which cannot be classified as a semitrailer or trailer under section (4) of this rule, will not be granted unless the Administrator of MCTD determines that the public interest requires the semitrailer or trailer for the impending movement, and the movement can be performed safely.

(6) An unladen truck-tractor and semitrailer or trailer combination under this rule may be granted permits for trailers that exceed 53 feet in length for the following types of trailers:

- (a) Special use trailers which cannot be reduced in length; or
- (b) Expanded trailers, trailers with flip axle(s) or flip neck extension deployed, pinned (axles), or other components which would require special equipment in order to accommodate reducing the trailer length.

(7) Requests for permits for unladen semitrailers or trailers in a truck-tractor semitrailer or trailer combination that exceed 53 feet in length, which cannot be classified as a trailer under section (6) of this rule, will not be granted unless the Administrator of MCTD determines that the public interest requires the semitrailer or trailer for an impending movement, and the movement can be performed safely.

(8) A combination of vehicles which consists of a truck-tractor, semitrailer or trailer as described in section (4), or a fixed trailer, which also includes at least one of the following vehicles may be granted permits for trailers over 53 feet in length:

- (a) Jeep axle(s);
 - (b) Booster axle(s);
 - (c) Steering axle(s) dollies
- (9) An unladen combination of vehicles as described in section (8) may be granted permits for trailers over 53 feet in length. The combination must be reduced to the shortest length practicable.

(10) Requests for permits for trailers or semitrailers exceeding 53 feet in length for movement of a non-divisible load that does not warrant the size of the trailer as described in section (2), may be authorized on a case-by-case basis as a front haul or back haul movement.

734-082-0070 General Permit Provisions

(1) Posted Load Limits: Notwithstanding the weights or dimensions allowed under a permit, the posting of any highway or structure to reduce weights or dimensions will modify the limits allowed under the permit.

(2) Impaired Clearance: Full responsibility for determining adequate clearance, both vertical and horizontal is hereby imposed upon the permittee and the driver of equipment having a width and/or height in excess of the legal limit. When the vertical or horizontal clearance of any bridge or structure is impaired to the extent that full two-way traffic cannot be maintained, the permittee must provide a pilot vehicle for the purpose of preventing approaching vehicles from entering the bridge or structure while it is impaired by the movement covered by this permit.

(3) Spacing Interval: Two or more vehicles required to display warning signs must maintain a distance of one-half mile between combinations traveling in the same direction, except when overtaking or passing or in areas where increased traffic congestion is encountered, where traffic is controlled by signals, or where other conditions may so require. All slow-moving lanes and turn-outs must be used to allow following traffic to pass.

(4) Bond — Highway Damage: Permittee will be held responsible and liable for any and all damage to, or destruction of any highway or any highway structure occasioned by the movement over said highways, and hereby agrees to reimburse the Department of Transportation (Department) for the cost or expense of repairing or restoring any highway structure damaged, or destroyed; such reimbursement to be made by the permittee within ten days after being billed for the same by the Department. When requested to do so, permittee must furnish the State either a certified check or a surety bond, in any amount to be specified by the Department to guarantee the payment of claim for damages which may result from movement of an unusually large or heavy nature.

(5) Insurance: Permittee will also be held responsible and liable for any and all injury to persons or damage to property resulting from the movement on said highways, and will indemnify and hold harmless the State of Oregon, and Oregon Transportation Commission, its members, officers, and employees, jointly and severally, from liability in the event that such injury or damage may occur. In this connection, the granting authority may require the permittee to furnish to the Department evidence of satisfactory public liability and property damage insurance, in amounts as may be required by the Commission, and evidence of satisfactory indemnity insurance indemnifying the State of Oregon and its Transportation Commission, its members, officers, and employees, jointly or severally against liability in the event of any injury or accident occurring by reason of said permittee's operations on a state highway. This permit will automatically terminate, and be of no force and effect in the event that any insurance filed under this provision is canceled or is allowed to lapse.

(6) County Roads and City Streets: This permit does not authorize operations over county roads or city streets unless specifically noted. To operate over a county road a permit must be obtained from the county authority having jurisdiction over the road; likewise, to operate over a city street other than a state highway route, a permit must be obtained from the proper city authority.

(7) Cancellation: This permit may be canceled at any time by the granting authority upon proof satisfactory to it that the permittee has violated any of the terms of the permit, or that the permit was obtained through misrepresentation in the application therefor, or when in the judgment of the granting authority the public interest requires cancellation (ORS 818.220).

(8) Rear-view Mirrors: Vehicles or combinations of vehicles towing or transporting over-width vehicles, machines or loads under authority of this permit must be equipped with rear-view mirrors capable of affording the operator a view to the rear of the vehicle and/or combination of vehicles. Such mirrors may exceed width authorized herein by five inches on either side, but must be retracted to legal width when vehicle or combination of vehicles and/or load is of legal width.

(9) It is the responsibility of the motor carrier to notify the Over-Dimension Permit Unit in the event of striking a structure in the course of a movement. In addition to any other notification required by law, within 24 hours of striking a structure, the motor carrier must initially report the incident to the Over-Dimension Permit Unit at 503-931-1541. The motor carrier will be contacted and provided with a form to report the incident and within 72 hours of the contact must return the completed form by fax to (503) 378-2873 or delivery to the Over-Dimension Permit Unit at 3930 Fairview Industrial Drive SE, Salem, OR 97302-1166.

Formal Process (Over $75,000)

(1) Except as provided under subsection (3)(b) and section (4) of this rule or OAR 274-005-0045, the Director of Veterans' Affairs (director) shall make a public announcement to obtain a list of contractors interested in providing professional services to the director. The director will request statements of qualifications or proposals, or both, for either single projects or groups of projects. The announcement will be made in trade periodicals or newspapers of general circulation, and electronically through the Department of Administrative Services on-line Vendor Information Program (VIP) and may include the following:

- (a) Description of project type(s);
- (b) Typical project(s) scope;
- (c) Anticipated project start and completion dates;
- (d) Any special requirements;
- (e) Closing date by which statements of interest and qualifications must be received; and

- (f) Evaluation criteria and selection procedure.

(2) Initial screening:

(a) The director shall establish an evaluation committee. The committee shall, for each proposed project, evaluate statements of qualifications and performance data. The committee shall evaluate each firm on areas including, but not limited to:

- (A) Approach to the project;
- (B) Capability;
- (C) Credentials;
- (D) Experience;
- (E) Performance data (when applicable); and
- (F) Proposed project cost.

(b) Based on the established evaluation criteria, the committee shall select, in order of preference, a list of at least three firms (short list) deemed to be most highly qualified to provide the required services;

(c) The evaluation committee will interview the short listed firms and make a recommendation to the director on which one should be hired. When a proposal is requested, the evaluation committee may elect to eliminate the interview step and recommend the most qualified firm to the director.

(3) Final Selection:

(a) The director or designee shall select the most qualified firm and negotiate a contract with that firm. In making the final selection, the director shall consider the estimated value of the services to be rendered, the project scope, and complexity:

(A) Should the director be unable to negotiate a satisfactory contract with the firm considered to be the most qualified, negotiations with that firm will be formally terminated. The director will then undertake negotiations with the second most qualified firm. Failing accord with the second most qualified firm, the director will terminate negotiations. The director will then undertake negotiations with the third most qualified firm.

(B) Should the director be unable to negotiate a satisfactory contract with any of the selected firms, he shall select additional firms in order of their competence and qualifications and continue negotiations in accordance with this section until an agreement is reached or a decision not to contract for professional services is made.

(b) When the director determines that only one firm exists that is capable of performing the required services, within the required time frame, the director may negotiate a sole source contract with that firm. "Sole source" means a consultant providing professional or technical expertise of such a unique nature that the consultant is clearly and justifiably the only practicable source to provide the service. The justification shall be based on either the uniqueness of the service or sole availability at the location required. A sole source designation eliminates the necessity for a selection process.

(4) Special Services. In cases where the service needed is one performed only by a specialized group such as Certified Public Accountants and other similar specialties (and a list of qualified persons, companies, or firms interested in providing this service is maintained by a state or federal agency, a company specializing in maintaining such a list, or is available from another source) the director may obtain and use such a list in lieu of making a public announcement. The director may also include on any such list persons, companies, or firms known by the director to be interested or qualified to provide the needed services. The director will utilize the process set out in sections (2) and (3) of this rule to select the contractor.

Neither the model rules of the Attorney General adopted pursuant to ORS 279A.065 nor OAR 274-005-0040 nor other rules of this division govern the department's procurement and contracting under this section. The department may act in such manner as is deemed by the department to best serve the purposes of the department and will consider the Attorney General's model rules and the processes and standards identified in OAR 274-005-0040 and other rules of this division for guidance in exercising its procurement and contracting discretion under this section. The department may consider other factors and employ other procedures as they may be deemed appropriate by the department in the procurement of or contracting for such services, including, but are not limited to factors and procedures such as:

- (a) The value or importance of continuity of services;

The term "hiring on a preliminary basis" is applicable only during the time-frame prior to a final fitness determination. See OAR 575-007-0310. An employee on trial service cannot appeal a termination except through the terms of the collective bargaining agreement.

This information may be obtained from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) through the use of fingerprint cards and from other criminal information resources.

(a) A person's status as a contact person or authorized designee will be denied if the person does not meet the qualifications to be a contact person or authorized designee as listed in this rule. Once denied, the person can no longer perform the duties of a contact person or authorized designee for the Commission.

(b) Denial or termination of contact person or authorized designee status under OAR 575-007-0240(4)(a) is not subject to hearing rights under these rules unless the denial or termination results in loss of employment or position, in which case they have the same hearing rights as other subject individuals under these rules.

(3) Responsibilities.

(a) A contact person is responsible for performing the following duties:

(A) Ensure that adequate measures are taken to protect the confidentiality of the records as required by these rules;

(B) Take reasonable measures to verify the identity of a subject individual. When the application is submitted in person, these measures include asking the subject individual for government-issued photo identification (example: driver's license, passport) and confirming information written on the OSAC Criminal Records Request form with information on the photo identification;

(C) Ensure that, when a subject individual is hired on a preliminary basis, the need for active supervision pursuant to OAR 575-007-0310 is understood by each person responsible for ensuring that active supervision is provided;

(D) Ensure that the subject individual receives a timely, written notice of the final fitness determination. When the decision results in denial or a restriction, the notice must include information regarding how to appeal the decision;

Hiring on a Preliminary Basis

A subject individual may participate in training, orientation, and work activities prior to a final fitness determination only under the following conditions and will be considered to be hired on a preliminary basis:

(1) OSAC Criminal Records Request Form Completed. An OSAC Criminal Records Request form must have been completed by the subject individual and reviewed by the authorized designee.

(2) Preliminary Fitness Determination Required. A preliminary fitness determination must have been completed pursuant to OAR 575-007-0320.

(3) Active Supervision. A subject individual who is hired on a preliminary basis must be actively supervised at all times by someone who is approved pursuant to these rules.

(a) Duties. The person providing active supervision at all times must meet all of the following conditions:

(A) Know where the person hired on a preliminary basis is and what the person is doing; and

(B) Periodically observe the actions of the person hired on a preliminary basis.

(b) Exemption from Active Supervision. A subject individual who was approved without restrictions within the previous 24 months through a documented criminal records check pursuant to these rules by the Commission or by another Oregon public employer or prior Commission criminal records check rules may be hired on a preliminary basis without active supervision, provided the subject individual provides proof of having worked for a sustained period under the previous fitness determination. The Commission must maintain the documentation. The 24-month time frame is based on the length of time between the date of previous approval and the date of starting the new position. This exemption is not allowed:

(A) If the subject individual discloses criminal history that occurred within the previous 24 months;

(B) If the subject individual is currently involved in an appeal under these rules; or

(C) If, as determined by the authorized designee or the Commission, the job duties in the new position are so substantially different from the previous position that the previous fitness determination is inadequate for the current position.

(4) Status Prior to Final Fitness Determination. Nothing in this rule is intended to require that a subject individual who is eligible for hire on a preliminary basis be allowed to work, volunteer, or be trained prior to a final fitness determination.

(5) Termination of Hire on a Preliminary Basis.

(a) Those subject individuals hired on a preliminary basis may be terminated by the Commission immediately for the following reasons:

(A) There is any indication of falsification of application or other false statement by the applicant/employee;

(B) The criminal records check reveals a conviction for any potentially disqualifying crime not disclosed by the subject individual;

(C) The LEDS check identifies the subject individual as a "multi-state offender" and the subject individual did not disclose an out-of-state conviction or arrest;

(D) The subject individual failed to disclose a conviction or an arrest that did not result in a conviction;

Contesting a Fitness Determination

(1) Work Pending Appeal Prohibited. If a subject individual is denied, then that person may not hold the position or be employed.

(2) History Disputed.

(a) Correcting Disputed History. If a subject individual wishes to challenge the accuracy or completeness of information provided by the Oregon State Police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation or other agencies reporting information to the Commission, the subject individual may appeal to the entity providing the information. Such challenges are not subject to the Commission's appeal process described in this rule.

(b) Request for Re-Evaluation Following Correction. If the subject individual successfully contests the accuracy or completeness of information provided by the Oregon State Police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation or other agency reporting information to the Commission, the Commission will conduct a new criminal records check and re-evaluate the criminal history upon submission of a new criminal records request form.

(3) Challenging the Fitness Determination. If a subject individual wishes to dispute an adverse final fitness determination, the subject individual may appeal the determination by requesting a contested case hearing. The subject individual must be notified of the opportunity for appeal on a form available from the Commission.

(a) Appeal. In order to request a contested case hearing the subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative must complete and sign the hearing request form. The form is available from the contact person for the Commission.

(b) Records. If a fingerprint-based criminal records check was conducted on the subject individual, then the hearing request form will also be deemed a request for the subject individual's own state and national criminal offender records.

(c) Deadline for Appeal. The completed and signed form must be received by the contact person no later than 10 days after the notice of the fitness determination is mailed for subject individuals who are employees, applicants for employment, volunteers, or applicants for volunteer positions with the Commission (subject individuals under OAR 575-007-0220(1) and 575-007-0220(2)).

(d) Extension of Deadline. The Commission may extend the time to appeal if the Commission determines the delay was caused by factors beyond the reasonable control of the subject individual.

(e) Hearing on timeliness. The Commission may refer an untimely request to the Office of Administrative Hearings for a hearing on the issue of timeliness.

(f) Other Options. A subject individual may appeal a fitness determination through applicable personnel rules, policies, and collective bargaining provisions. The individual's decision to do so is an election of remedies as to the rights of the individual with respect to the fitness determination and is a waiver of the contested case process.

(4) Informal Administrative Review (Mandatory). When a subject individual is denied and the subject individual, or the subject individual's legal representative, requests a contested case hearing, the Commission conducts an informal administrative review before referring the appeal to the Office of Administrative Hearings.

(a) Participation by Subject Individual. The subject individual and, if applicable, the subject individual's legal representative, must participate in the informal administrative review.

(A) Participation may include, but is not limited to:

(i) Providing fingerprint cards, if not previously provided, for the purpose of a national check pursuant to OAR 575-007-0270 or to confirm identity.

(ii) Providing additional information or additional documents.

(iii) Participating in a telephone or in-person conference.

(B) Failure to participate in the informal administrative review by the subject individual or the subject individual's representative may result in termination of hearing rights. The Commission will review a request to reinstate hearing rights if received in writing by the Commission within 14 days.

(b) Criminal records check.

(A) If the denial was based on disclosed criminal history, the Commission will conduct a criminal records check during the informal administrative review.

(B) The Commission may conduct additional criminal records checks during the informal administrative review to update or verify the subject individual's criminal history.

(c) Weighing Test Always Applied. The Commission will use the weighing test as described in these rules during the informal administrative review.

(d) Content of Administrative Review. The Commission representative, the authorized designee, the subject individual and the subject individual's legal representative may discuss any of the matters listed in OAR 137-003-0575(4). The administrative review may also be used to:

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(A) Inform the subject individual of the rules that serve as the basis for the denial;

(B) Ensure the subject individual understands the reason for the denial;

(C) Give the subject individual an opportunity to review the information that is the basis for the denial, except as prohibited by state or federal law;

(D) Give the Commission and subject individual an opportunity to research or provide additional information to consider as listed in OAR 575-007-0300;

(E) Give the Commission and the subject individual the opportunity to correct any misunderstanding of the facts; or

(F) Determine if the subject individual wishes to have any witness subpoenas issued should a formal hearing be necessary.

(e) Decision Following Administrative Review. Upon completion of the informal review, the subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative is advised by the Commission in writing of the finding within 14 days. The notice of finding will be mailed or hand-delivered. If mailed, the notice shall be mailed by regular mail to the address on the application or to an updated address provided in writing by the applicant.

(f) Hearing Following Administrative Review. If the informal administrative review reverses the denial, no hearing will be held and the appeal will not be forwarded to the Office of Administrative Hearings. If the informal administrative review upholds the denial, the appeal will be referred to the Office of Administrative Hearings and a hearing is held unless the subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative withdraws the request for a contested case hearing or the Commission reverses the denial before the hearing is held.

(5) Contested Case Hearing.

(a) Format. The hearing is conducted in accordance with Attorney General's Uniform and Model Rules of Procedure, "Hearing Panel Rules," OAR 137-003-0501 and the rules that follow.

(b) Commission Representation. Employees of the Commission may in accordance with ORS 183.452 be authorized by the Commission's Executive Director to represent the Commission in the contested case hearing. Authorization from the Office of Attorney General is also required. The Commission retains the right to be represented by the Attorney General.

(c) Exhibits. The administrative law judge must be provided a complete copy of the criminal records check information as follows:

(A) In the case of federal criminal history records and criminal history records from jurisdictions outside Oregon, the subject individual must obtain copies of the FBI criminal history report, or a copy of the state criminal history report from each state in which there was criminal or arrest history recorded. If a fingerprint-based criminal record check was conducted on the subject individual and if requested by the subject individual, the Commission will provide them with copies of the individual's own state and national criminal offender records. The subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative must provide copies of such documentation to the administrative law judge at least seven days prior to the scheduled hearing. The Commission may also provide out-of-state information received from other official sources.

(B) In the case of Oregon criminal history, the Commission may provide a copy of the LEDS printout, OJIN records or other court records to the administrative law judge, unless to do so would result in ex parte communication.

(d) Role of Administrative Law Judge. The Office of Administrative Hearings and the administrative law judge perform the following duties in the hearing process:

(A) Provide the subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative with all of the information required under ORS 183.413(2) in writing before the hearing;

(B) Conduct the hearing;

(C) Issue a dismissal by order when neither the subject individual nor the subject individual's representative appears at the hearing; and

(D) Issue a proposed order.

(e) Public Attendance. Neither the informal administrative review nor the contested case hearing is open to the public.

(6) Withdrawal. The subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative may withdraw a hearing request orally or in writing at any time. The withdrawal is effective the date it is received by the Commission or the Office of Administrative Hearings. A dismissal order will be issued by the Commission or the Office of Administrative Hearings. The subject individual may cancel the withdrawal in writing up to 14 days after the date the order is served.

(7) Proposed and Final Order.

(a) Informal Disposition. When an appeal is resolved before being referred to the Office of Administrative Hearings due to an administrative review or withdrawal, the Commission will serve a final order confirming the resolution.

(b) Failure to Appear. A hearing request is dismissed by order when neither the subject individual nor the subject individual's legal representative appears at the time and place specified for the hearing. The order is effective on the date scheduled for the hearing and is served by the Office of Administrative Hearings. The Commission will cancel the dismissal order on request of the subject individual or the subject individual's legal representative on a showing that the subject individual and the subject individual's legal representative were unable to attend the hearing and unable to request a postponement for reasons beyond their control.

(c) Proposed Order. After a hearing, the administrative law judge issues a proposed order. If no written exceptions are received by the Commission within 14 days after the service of the proposed order, the proposed order becomes the final order.

(d) Exceptions. If timely written exceptions to the proposed order are received by the Commission, the Commission Director or the Director's designee will consider the exceptions and serve a final order, or request a revised proposed order from the administrative law judge.

Definitions for the Shared Responsibility Model

(1) Cost of Education. For purposes of calculating Oregon Opportunity Grant awards under the Shared Responsibility Model, the standard cost of education is based on the definition of cost of education in OAR 575-030-0005.

(a) The standard cost of education for each institutional segment is based on the average of the standard costs for all participating institutions within an institutional segment.

(b) For purposes of calculating Oregon Opportunity Grant awards under the Shared Responsibility Model, the standard cost of education for all public and private independent 4-year institutions is the average of the standard costs for public 4-year institutions. The standard cost of education for all public 2-year institutions is the average of the standard costs for all institutions in that segment.

(2) "Student share". The student share is a fixed amount based upon a reasonable amount of paid work and, in some cases, a modest amount of borrowing, depending upon the type of institution the student attends. The Executive Director of the Office of Student Access and Completion (OSAC Director) adjusts the student share annually according to changes in the Oregon minimum wage and what the OSAC Director determines to be a manageable debt burden for a student. The student's share can consist of any combination of financial resources from the student's work, loans, scholarships, savings, or assets.

(a) For a student attending a public 2-year Oregon-based postsecondary institution, the student share is based on income from work. The OSAC Director will annually determine the income from work amount, based on a minimum number of hours per week at minimum wage.

(b) For a student attending a public or not-for-profit 4-year Oregon-based postsecondary institution, the student share is based on income from work plus a modest loan amount. The OSAC Director will annually determine the work component, based on a minimum number of hours per week at minimum wage, and the loan amount.

(c) For a student enrolled between 6 and 11 credit-hours, the component of the student share represented by income from work may be higher than for students enrolled full time. The OSAC Director will determine this amount annually.

(d) "Manageable debt burden". The OSAC Director will annually determine a manageable debt burden based on average entry-level salaries for public service occupations in Oregon.

(3) "Family Share". The family share is based on the financial resources of the student's family, as reported in the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). If a student or student's parents, if applicable, are in an officially registered Oregon domestic partnership, the financial resources of the student's family shall be calculated by the OSAC Director, based on information reported in the FAFSA and the Oregon Opportunity Grant Domestic Partnership Reporting Form.

(a) For a dependent student, the family share is equal to the portion of the federally calculated expected family contribution that is based upon the financial resources (income from work and other sources, savings, and/or assets) of the student's parents, providing program funding levels are sufficient to serve all eligible students. If the student's parents are in an officially registered Oregon domestic partnership, information provided on the Oregon Opportunity Grant Domestic Partnership Reporting Form may also be used to determine the expected family contribution.

(b) For a married independent student (with or without dependents), the family share is equal to the student's federally calculated expected family contribution. If the student is part of an officially registered Oregon domestic partnership, information provided on the Oregon Opportunity Grant Domestic Partnership Reporting Form may also be used to determine the expected family contribution. When determining dependency status, the OSAC Director shall view students in officially registered domestic partnerships as independent.

(c) For a single independent student (with or without dependents) whose federal expected family contribution is less than the standard student share for a student attending a public 2-year postsecondary institution, the family share is $0.

(d) For a single independent student (with or without dependents) whose federal expected family contribution is greater than the standard student share for a student attending a public 2-year postsecondary institution, the family share is equal to the federal expected family contribution minus the student share for a student attending a public 2-year postsecondary institution.

(e) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) through (d) of this section, for the 2008-09 academic year, the Family Share for all students, both dependent and independent, is equal to the student's expected family contribution.

(f) Effective for academic years 2009-10 and beyond, the Family Share for single independent students is equal to the student's expected family contribution.

(4) "Federal Share". The federal share is based on how much the student or the student's family is expected to receive from the federal government in the form of Federal Pell Grants plus assumed federal higher education tax credits, as determined by the OSAC Director. The federal share excludes Academic Competitiveness Grants, National SMART Grants, Federal SEOG awards, and other federal funds such as Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarships.

(5) "State Share". The state share is equal to the standard cost of education minus the sum of the student share, the family share, and the federal share. The state share is the maximum amount that a student may receive as an Opportunity Grant. If the amount of the state share is less than the minimum award amount, as determined by the OSAC Director, the student will receive no award. If total state funding is not sufficient to cover full awards for all eligible students, the state share may be reduced proportionally utilizing a method determined by the OSAC Director.

Implementation of Shared Responsibility Model

Effective starting with the 2008-09 academic year, the Shared Responsibility Model shall be the method for determining a student's eligibility for the Opportunity Grant and the student's annual award amounts. Under this methodology, a qualified student's cost of education is shared with the student, the student's family, the federal government, and the state. The amount of a student's grant is equal to the state's share of the student's cost of education, as determined by the OSAC Director.

Opportunity Grant Amount

(1)(a) For students attending a public 2- or 4-year Oregon-based postsecondary institution, award amounts for the 2007-08 academic year are based upon a fixed percentage of the average tuition and standard fees plus the weighted average of nontuition costs across all institutional segments.

(b) For students attending a private nonprofit 4-year Oregon-based postsecondary institution, award amounts for the 2007-08 academic year are based upon a fixed percentage of the average tuition and standard fees at each institution plus the weighted average of nontuition costs across all institutional segments.

(c) An Opportunity Grant may vary in amount from $100 to an amount that shall not exceed 50 percent of the student's financial need, as determined by the OSAC Director. This provision expires upon full implementation of the Shared Responsibility Model.

(d) Effective starting with the 2008-09 academic year, an Opportunity Grant is based upon the state share, as calculated under provisions of the Shared Responsibility Model.

(2) Within the funds available, an Opportunity Grant for a student who is taking between 6 and 11 credit hours in a term or semester shall be 50 percent of the award made to a full-time student enrolled at the same institution. This section is effective starting with the 2006-07 academic year and expires at the end of the 2007-08 academic year.

(3) For concurrently enrolled students, the amount of the Opportunity Grant will be based on the school disbursing funds, unless otherwise approved by the OSAC Director.

(4) In the event that the OSAC Director determines that the total amount available to award as the state share to all qualified students is not sufficient to cover the total state share amount scheduled to be awarded to all students, the OSAC Director will implement one or more of the following strategies to limit awards. Examples of such strategies may include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) The OSAC Director may limit awards to only students who are enrolled full time;

(b) The OSAC Director may implement reductions of all awards using progressive prorata reductions based on a percentage of the student's expected family contribution;

(c) The OSAC Director may prescribe a specific date by which a student must apply to the Commission to qualify for a grant and may prescribe an additional date by which the award must be disbursed by school officials to the student.

(d) The OSAC Director may make per capita reductions to future student grants if appropriations are determined to be inadequate to the needs of all eligible students whose applications are received by the announced application deadline for a specific academic year. When future disbursements of student grants are reduced, the OSAC Director will provide notification he or she deems adequate to college and university financial aid offices and affected students.

(e) The OSAC Director may base a recipient's maximum authorized award each term on the recipient's fall-term enrollment status if funds are not available to award grants to all qualified students whose applications are received by the announced application deadline for a specific academic year.

(5) Grandfathered awards for academic years 2008-09, 2009-10, and 2010-2011. Notwithstanding paragraph (1)(d) above, a qualified student who attended an eligible postsecondary institution at least half time during the 2007-08 academic year and remains continuously enrolled at least half time at the same institution is eligible for grandfathered awards for the 2008-09, 2009-10, and 2010-2011 academic years. A qualified student who attended more than one eligible postsecondary institutions as at least a half-time student during the 2007-08 academic year and remains continuously enrolled at least half time at one or more of the same institutions is also eligible for grandfathered awards for the 2008-09, 2009-10, and 2010-2011 academic years. For grandfathering-eligible students, awards are calculated using both the method in place during the 2007-08 academic year and the method for the Shared Responsibility Model, and students shall receive annual awards based on whichever of the two methods for calculating awards grants the student the greater amount of student assistance. Grandfathering of awards expires after the end of the 2010-11 academic year. Continuous enrollment is defined as completion of an academic year within any 12-month period.

(1) The rules in this division clarify procedures and requirements of Goal 14 regarding a local government adoption or amendment of an urban growth boundary (UGB). The rules in this division do not apply to the simplified UGB process under OAR chapter 660, division 38.

(2) The rules in this division interpret Goal 14 as amended by the Land Conservation and Development Commission (LCDC or commission) on or after April 28, 2005, and are not applicable to plan amendments or land use decisions governed by previous versions of Goal 14 still in effect.

(3) The rules in this division adopted on October 5, 2006, are effective April 5, 2007. The rules in this division amended on March 20, 2008, are effective April 18, 2008. The rules in this division adopted March 13, 2009, and amendments to rules in this division adopted on that date, are effective April 16, 2009, except as follows:

(a) A local government may choose to not apply this division to a plan amendment concerning the evaluation or amendment of a UGB, regardless of the date of that amendment, if the local government initiated the evaluation or amendment of the UGB prior to April 5, 2007;

(b) For purposes of this rule, "initiated" means that the local government either:

(A) Issued the public notice specified in OAR 660-018-0020 for the proposed plan amendment concerning the evaluation or amendment of the UGB; or

(B) Received LCDC approval of a periodic review work program that includes a work task to evaluate the UGB land supply or amend the UGB;

(c) A local government choice whether to apply this division must include the entire division and may not differ with respect to individual rules in the division.

(4) The rules in this division adopted on December 4, 2015, are effective January 1, 2016, except that a local government may choose to not apply the amendments to rules in this division adopted December 4, 2015 to a plan amendment concerning the amendment of a UGB, regardless of the date of that amendment, if the local government initiated the amendment of the UGB prior to January 1, 2016.

Land Inventory and Response to Deficiency

(1) When evaluating or amending a UGB, a local government must inventory land inside the UGB to determine whether there is adequate development capacity to accommodate 20-year needs determined in OAR 660-024-0040. For residential land, the buildable land inventory must include vacant and redevelopable land, and be conducted in accordance with OAR 660-007-0045 or 660-008-0010, whichever is applicable, and ORS 197.296 for local governments subject to that statute. For employment land, the inventory must include suitable vacant and developed land designated for industrial or other employment use, and must be conducted in accordance with OAR 660-009-0015.

(2) As safe harbors, a local government, except a city with a population over 25,000 or a metropolitan service district described in ORS 197.015(13), may use the following assumptions to inventory the capacity of buildable lands to accommodate housing needs:

(a) The infill potential of developed residential lots or parcels of one-half acre or more may be determined by subtracting one-quarter acre (10,890 square feet) for the existing dwelling and assuming that the remainder is buildable land;

(b) Existing lots of less than one-half acre that are currently occupied by a residence may be assumed to be fully developed.

(3) As safe harbors when inventorying land to accommodate industrial and other employment needs, a local government may assume that a lot or parcel is vacant if it is:

(a) Equal to or larger than one-half acre, if the lot or parcel does not contain a permanent building; or

(b) Equal to or larger than five acres, if less than one-half acre of the lot or parcel is occupied by a permanent building.

(4) If the inventory demonstrates that the development capacity of land inside the UGB is inadequate to accommodate the estimated 20-year needs determined under OAR 660-024-0040, the local government must amend the plan to satisfy the need deficiency, either by increasing the development capacity of land already inside the city or by expanding the UGB, or both, and in accordance with ORS 197.296 where applicable. Prior to expanding the UGB, a local government must demonstrate that the estimated needs cannot reasonably be accommodated on land already inside the UGB. If the local government determines there is a need to expand the UGB, changes to the UGB must be determined by evaluating alternative boundary locations consistent with Goal 14 and applicable rules at OAR 660-024-0060 or 660-024-0065 and 660-024-0067.

(5) In evaluating an amendment of a UGB submitted under ORS 197.626, the director or the commission may determine that a difference between the estimated 20-year needs determined under OAR 660-024-0040 and the amount of land and development capacity added to the UGB by the submitted amendment is unlikely to significantly affect land supply or resource land protection, and as a result, may determine that the proposed amendment complies with section (4) of this rule.

(6) When land is added to the UGB, the local government must assign appropriate urban plan designations to the added land, consistent with the need determination and the requirements of section (7) of this rule, if applicable. The local government must also apply appropriate zoning to the added land consistent with the plan designation or may maintain the land as urbanizable land until the land is rezoned for the planned urban uses, either by retaining the zoning that was assigned prior to inclusion in the boundary or by applying other interim zoning that maintains the land's potential for planned urban development. The requirements of ORS 197.296 regarding planning and zoning also apply when local governments specified in that statute add land to the UGB.

(7) Lands included within a UGB pursuant to OAR 660-024-0065(3) to provide for a particular industrial use, or a particular public facility, must be planned and zoned for the intended use and must remain planned and zoned for that use unless the city removes the land from the UGB.

(8) As a safe harbor regarding requirements concerning "efficiency," a local government that chooses to use the density and mix safe harbors in OAR 660-024-0040(8) is deemed to have met the Goal 14 efficiency requirements under:

(a) Sections (1) and (4) of this rule regarding evaluation of the development capacity of residential land inside the UGB to accommodate the estimated 20-year needs; and

(b) Goal 14 regarding a demonstration that residential needs cannot be reasonably accommodated on residential land already inside the UGB, but not with respect to:

(A) A demonstration that residential needs cannot be reasonably accommodated by rezoning non-residential land, and

(B) Compliance with Goal 14 Boundary Location factors.

Metro Boundary Location Alternatives Analysis

(1) When considering a Metro UGB amendment, Metro must determine which land to add by evaluating alternative urban growth boundary locations. For Metro, this determination must be consistent with the priority of land specified in ORS 197.298 and the boundary location factors of Goal 14, as follows:

(a) Beginning with the highest priority of land available, Metro must determine which land in that priority is suitable to accommodate the need deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050.

(b) If the amount of suitable land in the first priority category exceeds the amount necessary to satisfy the need deficiency, Metro must apply the location factors of Goal 14 to choose which land in that priority to include in the Metro UGB.

(c) If the amount of suitable land in the first priority category is not adequate to satisfy the identified need deficiency, Metro must determine which land in the next priority is suitable to accommodate the remaining need, and proceed using the same method specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this section until the land need is accommodated.

(d) Notwithstanding subsection (a) to (c) of this section, Metro may consider land of lower priority as specified in ORS 197.298(3).

(e) For purposes of this section, the determination of suitable land to accommodate land needs must include consideration of any suitability characteristics specified under section (5) of this rule, as well as other provisions of law applicable in determining whether land is buildable or suitable.

(2) Notwithstanding OAR 660-024-0050(4) and subsection (1)(c) of this rule, except during a legislative review of the Metro UGB, Metro may approve an application under ORS 197.610 to 197.625 for a Metro UGB amendment proposing to add an amount of land less than necessary to satisfy the land need deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050(4), provided the amendment complies with all other applicable requirements.

(3) The boundary location factors of Goal 14 are not independent criteria. When the factors are applied to compare alternative boundary locations and to determine the Metro UGB location, Metro must show that all the factors were considered and balanced.

(4) In determining alternative land for evaluation under ORS 197.298, "land adjacent to the UGB" is not limited to those lots or parcels that abut the UGB, but also includes land in the vicinity of the UGB that has a reasonable potential to satisfy the identified need deficiency.

(5) If Metro has specified characteristics such as parcel size, topography, or proximity that are necessary for land to be suitable for an identified need, Metro may limit its consideration to land that has the specified characteristics when it conducts the boundary location alternatives analysis and applies ORS 197.298.

(6) The adopted findings for a Metro UGB adoption or amendment must describe or map all of the alternative areas evaluated in the boundary location alternatives analysis. If the analysis involves more than one parcel or area within a particular priority category in ORS 197.298 for which circumstances are the same, these parcels or areas may be considered and evaluated as a single group.

(7) For purposes of Goal 14 Boundary Location Factor 2, "public facilities and services" means water, sanitary sewer, storm water management, and transportation facilities.

(8) The Goal 14 boundary location determination requires evaluation and comparison of the relative costs, advantages and disadvantages of alternative Metro UGB expansion areas with respect to the provision of public facilities and services needed to urbanize alternative boundary locations. This evaluation and comparison must be conducted in coordination with service providers, including the Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) with regard to impacts on the state transportation system. "Coordination" includes timely notice to service providers and the consideration of evaluation methodologies recommended by service providers. The evaluation and comparison must include:

(a) The impacts to existing water, sanitary sewer, storm water and transportation facilities that serve nearby areas already inside the Metro UGB;

(b) The capacity of existing public facilities and services to serve areas already inside the UGB as well as areas proposed for addition to the Metro UGB; and

(c) The need for new transportation facilities, such as highways and other roadways, interchanges, arterials and collectors, additional travel lanes, other major improvements on existing roadways and, for urban areas of 25,000 or more, the provision of public transit service.

660-024-0065

Establishment of Study Area to Evaluate Land for Inclusion in the UGB

(1) When considering a UGB amendment to accommodate a need deficit identified in OAR 660-024-0050(4), a city outside of Metro must determine which land to add to the UGB by evaluating alternative locations within a "study area" established pursuant to this rule. To establish the study area, the city must first identify a "preliminary study area" which shall not include land within a different UGB or the corporate limits of a city within a different UGB. The preliminary study area shall include:

(a) All lands in the city's acknowledged urban reserve, if any;

(b) All lands that are within the following distance from the acknowledged UGB:

(A) For cities with a UGB population less than 10,000: one-half mile;

(B) For cities with a UGB population equal to or greater than 10,000: one mile;

(c) All exception areas contiguous to an exception area that includes land within the distance specified in subsection (b) and that are within the following distance from the acknowledged UGB:

(A) For cities with a UGB population less than 10,000: one mile;

(B) For cities with a UGB population equal to or greater than 10,000: one and one-half miles;

(d) At the discretion of the city, the preliminary study area may include land that is beyond the distance specified in subsections (b) and (c).

(2) A city that initiated the evaluation or amendment of its UGB prior to January 1, 2016, may choose to identify a preliminary study area applying the standard in this section rather than section (1). For such cities, the preliminary study area shall consist of:

(a) All land adjacent to the acknowledged UGB, including all land in the vicinity of the UGB that has a reasonable potential to satisfy the identified need deficiency, and

(b) All land in the city's acknowledged urban reserve established under OAR chapter 660, division 21, if applicable.

(3) When the primary purpose for expansion of the UGB is to accommodate a particular industrial use that requires specific site characteristics, or to accommodate a public facility that requires specific site characteristics, and the site characteristics may be found in only a small number of locations, the preliminary study area may be limited to those locations within the distance described in section (1) or (2), whichever is appropriate, that have or could be improved to provide the required site characteristics. For purposes of this section:

(a) The definition of "site characteristics" in OAR 660-009-0005(11) applies for purposes of identifying a particular industrial use.

(b) A "public facility" may include a facility necessary for public sewer, water, storm water, transportation, parks, schools, or fire protection. Site characteristics may include but are not limited to size, topography and proximity.

(4) The city may exclude land from the preliminary study area if it determines that:

(a) Based on the standards in section (7) of this rule, it is impracticable to provide necessary public facilities or services to the land;

(b) The land is subject to significant development hazards, due to a risk of:

(A) Landslides: The land consists of a landslide deposit or scarp flank that is described and mapped on the Statewide Landslide Information Database for Oregon (SLIDO) Release 3.2 Geodatabase published by the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries (DOGAMI) December 2014, provided that the deposit or scarp flank in the data source is mapped at a scale of 1:40,000 or finer. If the owner of a lot or parcel provides the city with a site-specific analysis by a certified engineering geologist demonstrating that development of the property would not be subject to significant landslide risk, the city may not exclude the lot or parcel under this paragraph;

(B) Flooding, including inundation during storm surges: the land is within the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA) identified on the applicable Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM);

(C) Tsunamis: the land is within a tsunami inundation zone established pursuant to ORS 455.446;

(c) The land consists of a significant scenic, natural, cultural or recreational resource described in this subsection:

(A) Land that is designated in an acknowledged comprehensive plan prior to initiation of the UGB amendment, or that is mapped on a published state or federal inventory at a scale sufficient to determine its location for purposes of this rule, as:

(i) Critical or essential habitat for a species listed by a state or federal agency as threatened or endangered;

(ii) Core habitat for Greater Sage Grouse; or

(iii) Big game migration corridors or winter range, except where located on lands designated as urban reserves or exception areas;

(B) Federal Wild and Scenic Rivers and State Scenic Waterways, including Related Adjacent Lands described by ORS 390.805, as mapped by the applicable state or federal agency responsible for the scenic program;

(C) Designated Natural Areas on the Oregon State Register of Natural Heritage Resources;

(D) Wellhead protection areas described under OAR 660-023-0140 and delineated on a local comprehensive plan;

(E) Aquatic areas subject to Statewide Planning Goal 16 that are in a Natural or Conservation management unit designated in an acknowledged comprehensive plan;

(F) Lands subject to acknowledged comprehensive plan or land use regulations that implement Statewide Planning Goal 17, Coastal Shoreland, Use Requirement 1;

(G) Lands subject to acknowledged comprehensive plan or land use regulations that implement Statewide Planning Goal 18, Implementation Requirement 2;

(d) The land is owned by the federal government and managed primarily for rural uses.

(5) After excluding land from the preliminary study area under section (4), the city must adjust the area, if necessary, so that it includes an amount of land that is at least twice the amount of land needed for the deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050(4) or, if applicable, twice the particular land need described in section (3). Such adjustment shall be made by expanding the distance specified under the applicable section (1) or (2) and applying section (4) to the expanded area.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(6) For purposes of evaluating the priority of land under OAR 660-024-0067, the “study area” shall consist of all land that remains in the preliminary study area described in section (1), (2) or (3) of this rule after adjustments to the area based on sections (4) and (5), provided that when a purpose of the UGB expansion is to accommodate a public park need, the city must also consider whether land excluded under subsection (4)(a) through (c) of this rule can reasonably accommodate the park use.

(7) For purposes of subsection (4)(a), the city may consider it impracticable to provide necessary public facilities or services to the following lands:

(a) Contiguous areas of at least five acres where 75 percent or more of the land has a slope of 25 percent or greater, provided that contiguous areas 20 acres or more that are less than 25 percent slope may not be excluded under this subsection. Slope shall be measured as the increase in elevation divided by the horizontal distance at maximum ten-foot contour intervals;

(b) Land that is isolated from existing service networks by physical, topographic, or other impediments to service provision such that it is impracticable to provide necessary facilities or services to the land within the planning period. The city’s determination shall be based on an evaluation of:

(A) The likely amount of development that could occur on the land within the planning period;

(B) The likely cost of facilities and services; and,

(C) Any substantial evidence collected by or presented to the city regarding how similarly situated land in the region has, or has not, developed over time.

(c) As used in this section, “impediments to service provision” may include but are not limited to:

(A) Major rivers or other water bodies that would require new bridge crossings to serve planned urban development;

(B) Topographic features such as canyons or ridges with slopes exceeding 40 percent and vertical relief of greater than 80 feet;

(C) Freeways, rail lines, or other restricted access corridors that would require new grade separated crossings to serve planned urban development;

(D) Significant scenic, natural, cultural or recreational resources on an acknowledged plan inventory and subject to protection measures under the plan or implementing regulations, or on a published state or federal inventory, that would prohibit or substantially impede the placement or construction of necessary public facilities and services.

(8) Land may not be excluded from the preliminary study area based on a finding of impracticability that is primarily a result of existing development patterns. However, a city may forecast development capacity for such land as provided in OAR 660-024-0067(1)(d).

(9) Notwithstanding OAR 660-024-0050(4) and section (1) of this rule, except during periodic review or other legislative review of the UGB, the city may approve an application under ORS 197.610 to 197.625 for a UGB amendment to add an amount of land less than necessary to satisfy the land need deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050(4), provided the amendment complies with all other applicable requirements.

660-024-0067

Evaluation of Land in the Study Area for Inclusion in the UGB; Priorities

(1) A city considering a UGB amendment must decide which land to add to the UGB by evaluating all land in the study area determined under OAR 660-024-0065, as follows

(a) Beginning with the highest priority category of land described in section (2), the city must apply section (5) to determine which land in that priority category is suitable to satisfy the need deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050 and select for inclusion in the UGB as much of the land as necessary to satisfy the need.

(b) If the amount of suitable land in the first priority category is not sufficient to satisfy all the identified need deficiency, the city must apply section (5) to determine which land in the next priority is suitable and select for inclusion in the UGB as much of the suitable land in that priority as necessary to satisfy the need. The city must proceed in this manner until all the land need is satisfied, except as provided in OAR 660-024-0065(9).

(c) If the amount of suitable land in a particular priority category in section (2) exceeds the amount necessary to satisfy the need deficiency, the city must choose which land in that priority to include in the UGB by applying the criteria in section (7) of this rule.

(d) In evaluating the sufficiency of land to satisfy a need under this section, the city may use the factors identified in sections (5) and (6) of this rule to reduce the forecast development capacity of the land to meet the need.

(e) Land that is determined to not be suitable under section (5) of this rule to satisfy the need deficiency determined under OAR 660-024-0050 is not required to be selected for inclusion in the UGB unless its inclusion is necessary to serve other higher priority lands.

(2) Priority of Land for inclusion in a UGB:

(a) First Priority is urban reserve, exception land, and nonresource land. Lands in the study area that meet the description in paragraphs (A) through (C) of this subsection are of equal (first) priority:

(A) Land designated as an urban reserve under OAR chapter 660, division 21, in an acknowledged comprehensive plan;

(B) Land that is subject to an acknowledged exception under ORS 197.732; and

(C) Land that is nonresource land.

(b) Second Priority is marginal land: land within the study area that is designated as marginal land under ORS 197.247 (1991 Edition) in the acknowledged comprehensive plan.

(c) Third Priority is forest or farm land that is not predominantly high-value farm land: land within the study area that is designated for forest or agriculture uses in the acknowledged comprehensive plan and that is not predominantly high-value farmland as defined in ORS 195.300, or that does not consist predominantly of prime or unique soils, as determined by the United States Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service (USDA NRCS). In selecting which lands to include to satisfy the need, the city must use the agricultural land capability classification system or the cubic foot site class system, as appropriate for the acknowledged comprehensive plan designation, to select lower capability or cubic foot site class lands first.

(d) Fourth Priority is agricultural land that is predominantly high-value farmland: land within the study area that is designated as agricultural land in an acknowledged comprehensive plan and is predominantly high-value farmland as defined in ORS 195.300. A city may not select land that is predominantly made up of prime or unique farm soils, as defined by the USDA NRCS, unless there is an insufficient amount of other land to satisfy its land need. In selecting which lands to include to satisfy the need, the city must use the agricultural land capability classification system to select lower capability lands first.

(3) Notwithstanding section (2)(c) or (d) of this rule, land that would otherwise be excluded from a UGB may be included if:

(a) The land contains a small amount of third or fourth priority land that is not important to the commercial agricultural enterprise in the area and the land must be included in the UGB to connect a nearby and significantly larger area of land of higher priority for inclusion within the UGB; or

(b) The land contains a small amount of third or fourth priority land that is not predominantly high-value farmland or predominantly made up of prime or unique farm soils and the land is completely surrounded by land of higher priority for inclusion into the UGB.

(4) For purposes of categorizing and evaluating land pursuant to subsections (2)(c) and (d) and section (3) of this rule,

(a) Areas of land not larger than 100 acres may be grouped together and studied as a single unit of land;

(b) Areas of land larger than 100 acres that are similarly situated and have similar soils may be grouped together provided soils of lower agricultural or forest capability may not be grouped with soils of higher capability in a manner inconsistent with the intent of section (2) of this rule, which requires that higher capability resource lands shall be the last priority for inclusion in a UGB;

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (4)(a), if a city initiated the evaluation or amendment of its UGB prior to January 1, 2016, and if the analysis involves more than one lot or parcel or area within a particular priority category for which circumstances are reasonably similar, these lots, parcels and areas may be considered and evaluated as a single group;

(d) When determining whether the land is predominantly high-value farmland, or predominantly prime or unique, “predominantly” means more than 50 percent.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

(5) With respect to section (1), a city must assume that vacant or partially vacant land in a particular priority category is “suitable” to satisfy a need deficiency identified in OAR 660-024-0050(4) unless it demonstrates that the land cannot satisfy the specified need based on one or more of the conditions described in subsections (a) through (g) of this section: Existing parcelization, lot sizes or development patterns of rural residential land make that land unsuitable for an identified employment need; as follows:

(A) Parcelization: the land consists primarily of parcels 2-acres or less in size, or

(B) Existing development patterns: the land cannot be reasonably redeveloped or infilled within the planning period due to the location of existing structures and infrastructure.”

(b) The land would qualify for exclusion from the preliminary study area under the factors in OAR 660-024-0065(4) but the city declined to exclude it pending more detailed analysis.

(c) The land is, or will be upon inclusion in the UGB, subject to natural resources protections under Statewide Planning Goal 5 such that that no development capacity should be forecast on that land to meet the land need deficiency.

(d) With respect to needed industrial uses only, the land is over 10 percent slope, or is an existing lot or parcel that is smaller than 5 acres in size, or both. Slope shall be measured as the increase in elevation divided by the horizontal distance at maximum ten-foot contour intervals.

(e) With respect to a particular industrial use or particular public facility use described in OAR 660-024-0065(3), the land does not have, and cannot be improved to provide, one or more of the required specific site characteristics.

(f) The land is subject to a conservation easement described in ORS 271.715 that prohibits urban development.

(g) The land is committed to a use described in this subsection and the use is unlikely to be discontinued during the planning period:

(A) Public park, church, school, or cemetery, or

(B) Land within the boundary of an airport designated for airport uses, but not including land designated or zoned for residential, commercial or industrial uses in an acknowledged comprehensive plan.

(6) For vacant or partially vacant lands added to the UGB to provide for residential uses:

(a) Existing lots or parcels one acre or less may be assumed to have a development capacity of one dwelling unit per lot or parcel. Existing lots or parcels greater than one acre but less than two acres shall be assumed to have an aggregate development capacity of two dwelling units per acre.

(b) In any subsequent review of a UGB pursuant to this division, the city may use a development assumption for land described in subsection (a) of this section for a period of up to 14 years from the date the lands were added to the UGB.

(7) Pursuant to subsection (1)(c), if the amount of suitable land in a particular priority category under section (2) exceeds the amount necessary to satisfy the need deficiency, the city must choose which land in that priority to include in the UGB by first applying the boundary location factors of Goal 14 and then applying applicable criteria in the acknowledged comprehensive plan and land use regulations acknowledged prior to initiation of the UGB evaluation or amendment. The city may not apply local comprehensive plan criteria that contradict the requirements of the boundary location factors of Goal 14. The boundary location factors are not independent criteria; when the factors are applied to compare alternative boundary locations and to determine the UGB location the city must show that it considered and balanced all the factors. The criteria in this section may not be used to select lands designated for agriculture or forest use that have higher land capability or cubic foot site class, as applicable, ahead of lands that have lower capability or cubic foot site class.

(8) The city must apply the boundary location factors of Goal 14 in coordination with service providers and state agencies, including the Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) with respect to Factor 2 regarding impacts on the state transportation system, and the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) and the Department of State Lands (DSL) with respect to Factor 3 regarding environmental consequences. “Coordination” includes timely notice to agencies and service providers and consideration of any recommended evaluation methodologies.

(9) In applying Goal 14 Boundary Location Factor 2 to evaluate alternative locations under section (7), the city must compare relative costs, advantages and disadvantages of alternative UGB expansion areas with respect to the provision of public facilities and services needed to urbanize alternative boundary locations. For purposes of this section, the term “public facilities and services” means water, sanitary sewer, storm water management, and transportation facilities. The evaluation and comparison under Boundary Location Factor 2 must consider:
