Operate a lottery with the highest standards of security and integrity to earn maximum profits for the people of Oregon commensurate with the public good.

The Oregon Lottery® is the state's second largest funding source after personal income tax, contributing over $9 billion to state funding since 1985. The organization runs a complex business that earns profits in a responsible way to reduce potential social costs, such as gambling addiction.

From Past To Present

- In the midst of a severe recession, the Oregon Lottery was established in 1984 by Oregon voters to jump-start an ailing economy and support economic development and job creation throughout the state.
- On April 25, 1985, the Oregon Lottery issued its first Scratch-it game. By November of that year, Oregon's Game Megabucks™ followed as the first computer-operated lottery game in Oregon.
- The Oregon Lottery introduced Sports Action™ on September 6, 1989. This game was based on the outcome of professional football games. It was the first successful sports wagering game offered by any US lottery. Scoreboard, a second game based on the outcome of professional football, was introduced in 2003. At the request of the Oregon Legislature, both games ended in January 2007.
- By 1992, the Oregon Lottery was also offering Keno, Powerball®, Daily 4, Breakopens (pull-tabs), and Video Lottery™ games (poker only) throughout the state. The Video Lottery gaming system served as a milestone, as it was the first 24-hour, centrally controlled gaming system in the country.
- Current games in the Lottery's product portfolio include Scratch-its™, Oregon's Game Megabucks, Keno, Powerball, Mega Millions®, Pick 4™, Win For Life™, Lucky Lines™, and Raffle™, all of which are games whose numbers are drawn via computer and are known as draw games.
- The Lottery also offers Video Lottery games that include both poker and Vegas-style line games. Line games were added to Video Lottery terminals in 2005.
