PORTLAND, Ore., July 17 –To the Editor of The Spokesman-Review: Will you kindly permit me to say through your columns, in reply to the many expressions of disappointment that continue to reach me from residents of Spokane because I was not permitted to be heard at the meeting of suffragists on the evening of June 28 as advertised, that neither Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton nor Mrs. La Reine Baker was in the least to blame.

I went to the meeting against my inclination, being tired, but did not want to disappoint my old-time friends, who were out in force to greet me. The blame rests wholly with the national president, Anna Shaw, who always demands the valedictory position and holds it to the exclusion of every else, if she can.

I have promised my friends to return to Spokane, if possible, before the suffrage campaign closes. Much regretting the petty jealousies of our gifted national president, whose position ought to hold her above such as exhibition of spite, I remain yours for liberty, ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY.

Cattle Market Is Steady.

For first class offerings the cattle market at North Portland is considered steady at former prices. Pressure continues in ordinary prices. Pressure while killers have taken hold of these offerings rather well, the prices have in the main been somewhat lower than former purchases.

There were no additional arrivals in the cattle pens for the day, but some held over stuff was sold. This was generally of inferior quality, therefore prices do not reflect conditions for better stuff.

At Chicago there was a steady tone in the cattle trade for the day. Kansas City cattle market ruled weak with a loss of 5c to 10c for the day. South Omaha cattle trade ruled steady for the day.

Today's general cattle market range:

Best steers	..... $7.75@7.85
Ordinary steers	..... 7.50
Poor steers	..... 6.75@7.25
Best heifers	..... 6.65
Best cows	..... 6.70
Medium cows	..... 6.25
Poor cows	..... 5.50
Fancy stags	..... 6.65
